SURPRISING VICTORY TAKEN BY DEMOCRATS IN LAWRENCE COUNTY

Guffey And Earle Carry City And County—Eroe Is Re-elected

SWICK LOSING TO ECKERT IN DISTRICT

Kelso Appears Winner Over Cartwright For County Assembly Place

In one of the most surprising upsets in many years Lawrence County joined the Democratic ranks on Tuesday, returning substantial majorities for all of the candidates of the Democratic ticket both in state and national offices. Guffey, Earle, Eckert, Eroe, Kelso and the other candidates for the various offices were returned winners in this county.

At four o'clock this morning 62 precincts of the 90 in the county had been reported, of which all the 34 in the city were included. The 62 precincts reported showed a Democratic lead for all candidates save those for General Assembly running from 3,500 to 4,000.

City Goes Democratic

The city of New Castle went Democratic by a heavy lead, as did Ellwood City. The South Side precincts rolled up tremendous majorities for the Democratic candidates, running as high as seven to one. In the city Senator David A. Reed polled 4,643 votes and Joseph F. Guffey 7,331.

William A. Schnader polled 4,958 votes for governor and George H. Earle 7,268 in the city.

For Congress J. Howard Swick polled 4,871 votes and Charles R. Eckert 7,458.

For General Assembly William J. Eroe, Jr., Democrat, the present incumbent, was returned a winner with a vote of 5,757. Joseph Leta, Jr., the Republican candidate, polled 4,123 and Robert M. Strickler, Jr., running as a candidate of the Prohibition Party and Independent, polled 2,457. William Erk, running on the Labor ticket, polled 112 votes, and Samuel McKee, Socialist, 90 votes.

In the second district for General Asembly it appears that James B. Kelso, Democrat, has defeated Paul J. Cartwright, Republican. In the 28 rural districts reported out of 56, Kelso has 4,291 votes and Cartwright 2,587. There appears little likelihood that Cartwright can overcome this lead in the precincts yet to be heard from.

Totals for 62 Precincts

For the 62 precincts in the city and county Swick has a total vote of 7,943 and Eckert 12,520; Reed has 7,922 and Guffey 11,174, while Schnader has 7,884 and Earle 10,545.

Other candidates on the Republican and Democratic tickets followed along at about the same ratio as did the heads of the tickets. For Secretary of Internal Affairs M. Harvey Taylor polled 7,240 votes as against 10,914 for Thomas Logue, Democrat.

For judge of superior court Chester H. Rhodes, Democrat, polled 10,628 votes as against Frank M. Trexler, Republican, 6,988. For lieutenant-governor Thomas Kennedy, Democrat, polled 11,355, and Harry B. Scott 7,022.

In the 26th congressional district it appears that Dr. J. Howard Swick, Republican incumbent for the past eight years, has been defeated. In Butler county he was barely holding his own, while in his home county of Beaver reports said that he was trailing Charles R. Eckert by several thousand votes. In Lawrence county he will be second to Eckert by 4,500, Swick getting a total of 7,943 and Charles R. Eckert 12,520. This makes it appear certain that Eckert has been elected.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 7.—Returns from 1,067 out of the 4,271 precincts in the state last night gave for U. S. senator: Truman (D.) 209,570; Patterson (R.) 91,532.

Donahey Leads Fess In Senate Contest In Ohio

Republican Candidate For Governor Has Slight Lead Over Davy

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 7.—Former Governor A. V. Donahey, Democrat, who got away to an early lead over U. S. Senator Simeon D. Fess, Republican, in returns from Ohio's senatorial contest, found his majority steadily increasing tonight as additional counties reported their vote.

At 11 p. m. Donahey was out in front of Fess, arch critic of the Roosevelt new deal, by more than 14,000 votes. The vote from 449 of Ohio's 8,559 precincts gave Donahey 49,841 and Fess 35,345.

The gubernatorial contest between Martin L. Davey, Democrat, and Clarence J. Brown, Republican, was a nip-and-tuck affair, with the Republican candidate holding a tenuous majority.

Returns from 449 precincts gave Brown (R.) 43,999 and Davey (D.) 43,551.

Close Race For U. S. Senator In Michigan

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Nov. 7.—Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R.) and Frank A. Picard (D.) were running neck-and-neck, according to early returns from 157 scattered Michigan precincts.

The 157 precincts gave Picard 26,670; Vandenberg 26,549.

Senator Vandenberg's apparent failure to pile up a strong majority in the outstate districts was counted as an indication of defeat, since Picard's greatest strength lies in the metropolitan district.

No Liquor Or Beer In Scott Township

It was learned early today that in Tuesday's election residents of Scott township voted against the sale of liquor and beer.

A count showed that 195 voted against, while 107 voters were in favor of the sale of liquor and beer.

With returns from 3,059 of the state's 10,721 precincts, many of them incomplete, Merriam had rolled up a lead of over 38,000 and in view of the fact that he continued to lead in Los Angeles county, he had apparently defeated Sinclair.

Los Angeles, Nov. 6.—1876 of 3574 precincts in Los Angeles county gave:

Sweep In Many States Made By Democrats In Tuesday Election

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—A Democratic sweep, comparable to that of two years ago, appeared tonight to have been the result of today's balloting in the bitterly contested off-year election.

The Democrats are assured of retaining control of Congress.

While it will be some time before the exact figures on the partisan line-up of Congress are available, it was evident tonight that the Democrats have added to their majority in the Senate and that they have lost but little, if any, in the already heavily Democratic House. In the East, New York and Massachusetts went heavily Democratic.

Re-elect Lehman

The Democrats re-elected Gov. Herbert H. Lehman in New York by what appeared a near record vote, and re-elected Senator R. S. Copeland as well.

In Massachusetts they elected Mayor James M. Curley of Boston as governor and re-elected Senator Davis I. Walsh.

In New Jersey everything pointed to a sweeping Democratic victory and the defeat of Senator Hamilton F. Kean, Republican.

Elect Ex-Gov. Donahey

The Democrats appeared to have elected Ex-Governor Donahey in Ohio to succeed another anti-new dealer, Senator Simeon D. Fess.

In Indiana, Sherman Minton, Democrat, was slightly leading another anti-new deal Republican, Senator Arthur Robinson.

In Missouri Judge Harry S. Truman, Democrat, was rolling up a commanding lead over Senator Patterson, Republican.

Illinois went heavily Democratic in the state-wide election of congressmen-at-large.

"Horse Race" in Two States

In Rhode Island and Connecticut, where Republican senators were up for re-election, there was every indication of a "horse race" in both states. It appeared that the final vote will be necessary to determine the winners in these states.

Philadelphia Is Carried By G. O. P. By Slight Margin

Reed Is Given Majority Of About 5,000 In Complete Tabulation

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—Philadelphia, the largest county in Pennsylvania, went Republican in today's election by a narrow margin.

Complete unofficial returns from the county's 1,283 voting districts late tonight produced a victory—but a hard-earned one—for United State Senator David A. Reed, running for re-election, Attorney General William A. Schnader, the gubernatorial nominee, and all the other Republican candidates for statewide office.

Shattering all precincts for this metropolis, a strong center of Republicanism for generations, the Democratic candidates came within a narrow margin of administering a defeat to their adversaries.

Senator Reed squeezed through to victory by the slender majority of only 4,085 votes over his Democratic rival, Joseph F. Guffey. A similar tight battle was waged between Schnader and George H. Earle, Democratic candidate for governor.

Final unofficial returns from all districts in the county give: Senator—Reed (R) 335,690; Guffey (D) 331,604.

Governor—Schnader (R) 344,048; Earle (D) 323,260.

Michigan Swings Back To G. O. P. In Tuesday's Voting

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Nov. 7.—Michigan, traditional stronghold of the G. O. P., apparently was swinging back into the Republican ranks today.

Republicans led in the outstate, and the expected Democratic majority in the Detroit metropolitan area had failed to materialize at three a. m.

For senator 828 precincts, including 100 in Wayne county, gave Picard (D.) 121,284; Vandenberg (R.) 149,337.

APPROVE NEW DEAL

(International News Service)

HELEN, Mont., Nov. 7.—The New Deal was given hearty approval in Montana today in one of the largest votes in history. Scattered but incomplete returns from all sections of the state showed Burton K. Wheeler (D.) re-elected to his third term in the United States Senate. He was leading Former Federal Judge George M. Bourquin (R.) by three to one.

New Wilmington Votes Out Liquor

Overwhelming Vote Against Sale Cast In Boro—Against Voting Machines

There will be no liquor or beer for sale in New Wilmington for the next four years. Neither will there be any voting machines. Both liquor and voting machines took a decisive beating in the election on Tuesday. In addition the swimming pool will be leased to the boro.

In the vote on liquor and beer sales the score was:

For the sale of liquor 37, against the sale of liquor 414.

For voting machines, 54. Against voting machines, 355. For the lease of the swimming pool, Yes 301, No, 144.

Earle Claims Election As State Governor

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—Despite the lead held by his Republican opponent in returns from more than half of the state's 7,956 precincts, George H. Earle, Democratic candidate for governor, early today claimed victory.

In a statement issued shortly after midnight, Earle declared.

"I am elected governor of Pennsylvania by the same approximate majority that the last Democratic governor, Robert E. Pattison, had, that is about 46,000.

Pinchot's Home Town Democratic

(International News Service)

MILFORD, Pa., Nov. 7. — Gov. Gifford Pinchot's home county went Democratic in yesterday's election, virtually complete returns showed today.

By small, but nonetheless effective, margins Pike county voters rendered majorities to both Joseph F. Guffey, senatorial nominee, and George H. Earle, gubernatorial candidate, on the Democratic ticket.

This, in spite of the fact that Governor Pinchot, the county's most distinguished resident, actively supported the Republican cause in the campaign.

RHODE ISLAND

(International News Service)

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 7.—The Democratic "New Deal" sweep in Rhode Island, with a plurality of between 25,000 and 35,000 votes, early today was carrying a United State senator, governor and an entire state ticket into office.

Ex-United States Senator Peter Goelet Gerry, (D) appeared an easy victor over United States Senator Felix Hebert (R).

Three Democrats Win Congress Seats In Philadelphia

Gain Is Made By Democrats In Metropolitan G. O. P. Stronghold

(International) News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 7.—The New Deal tidal wave rolled over Philadelphia and swept three Democratic congressmen into office, displacing Republicans.

It was the first time in years that the state's heretofore acknowledged citadel of Republicanism had elected a congressional delegation of seven that was not 100 per cent G. O. P.

Incomplete but substantial returns showed the Roosevelt New Deal was to gain at least two more Democratic congressmen at the expense of the Republicans.

The Philadelphia Democratic winners were: Frank J. G. Dorsey, who defeated James J. Connolly, the Republican incumbent; Michael J. Stack, who defeated Robert L. Davis, the Republican nominee, and J. Burwood Daly, who defeated George W. Edmonds, a Republican incumbent.

Holt Is Leading In West Virginia

Youthful Democratic New Dealer Leads Dr. Henry Hatfield For Senate

(International News Service)

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 7.—Youthful Rush D. Holt, an out-and-out Democrat new dealer, continued to draw away from Dr. Henry D. Hatfield, staunch administration critic, tonight in their race for election as United States senator from West Virginia.

Although only 29 years old and his eligibility for the office a matter of question because of his age, Holt was running far ahead of his Republican opponent.

A total of 1,110 out of the state's 2,338 precincts showed the following results:

Holt, 240,926; Hatfield, 184,046.

Holt's campaign headquarters predicted that his majority would exceed 100,000 votes.

All six Democratic congressmen, candidates for re-election, were leading their Republican opponents as tabulation of the day's balloting progressed.

Kansas Remains Republican And Also Votes Dry

(International News Service)

TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 7.—Kansas remained Republican and dry on the basis of latest returns tonight which showed Gov. Alf. M. Landon, Republican incumbent, virtually assured of re-election and defeat of the proposal to repeal the state's 54-year-old bone dry law practically certain.

First Time In Present Generation Democrat Has Won For Senate

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 7.—Fighting stubbornly to bring President Roosevelt's "New Deal" into Pennsylvania, Joseph F. Guffey, Pittsburgh Democrat, saw his lead over United States Senator David A. Reed, Republican incumbent, shrink to 16,000 votes at 4 a. m. today.

Final returns were awaited from 1,446 of the state's 7,956 precincts. Reed has not conceded defeat and Guffey has made no statement.

Attorney General William A. Schnader, Republican candidate for governor, still outdistanced his Democratic rival, George H. Earle. The 6,510 precincts gave Schnader 1,253,998 votes to Earle's 1,233,328.

International News Service Staff Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7—One of the nation's outstanding critic of President Roosevelt's new deal, David A. Reed, was being vehemently beaten back by the Democratic aspirant for his seat in the United States senate this morning as returns from yesterday's epochal election in Pennsylvania took a sudden and surprising turn.

After trailing his adversary through most of the night, Joseph F. Guffey, ardent champion of the president's recovery program, jumped swiftly into the lead this morning.

With nearly two thirds of the state's 7,956 precincts reporting Guffey grasped a 28,000 vote margin over Reed in one of the most surprising developments of this surprising election.

The battle between Reed, who has never minced words in his deprecation of new deal acts and Guffey, the national administration's patronage dispenser in this state, thus took its rightful place as the most thrilling encounter of the exciting contests culminated by the election of yesterday.

It marked the first time within the memory of the present generation that a Democrat has seriously challenged a Republican's right to a place in the senate as a representative of traditionally Republican Pennsylvania.

Guffey Forges Ahead

Pittsburgh, Nov. 7.—Swinging the torch of President Roosevelt's "New Deal" over Pennsylvania's electorate, Joseph F. Guffey, Democrat, forged steadily ahead at 2:30 a. m. today in his race for a United States senatorial seat against the incumbent Republican, David A. Reed.

Overcoming a lead of more than 4,000 votes given Reed by Philadelphia, Guffey increased his advantage to approximately 42,000 votes on returns from 6,347 of the state's 7,956 districts. His margin grew steadily as late returns trickled in from isolated regions and industrial areas.

Striving to emulate the achievement of his running mate, George H. Earle, Democratic candidate for governor, narrowed the margin between himself and Attorney General William A. Schnader, Republican aspirant to the governor's chair.

Schnader-Earle Close

Schnader saw his early lead tumbled while Earle's increased on the suburban vote. The Republican candidate polled 1,185,993 votes to 1,184,648 for Earle in 6,347 precincts.

Half Dozen Democrats Apparently Win Seats In State Body

By G. EVERETT DOYING
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Nov. 7. — At least half a dozen Democrats, including two from Philadelphia, apparently were swept into state senate seats now held by Republicans in yesterday's balloting, returns showed today.

Veteran Senator Bertram Frazier trailed John J. McCreesh, Democrat, by nearly 2,000 votes in complete unofficial returns from the Sixth Philadelphia District.

Likewise, Democratic candidate Walter S. Pyrko was leading John J. McKinley Republican, for the 8th Philadelphia District seat vacated voluntarily by Senator Thaddeus S. Krause.

Other Republicans trailing early this morning included:

Senators Joseph G. Armstrong and Morris Einstein, Allegheny; Chauncey W. Parkinson, Greene, and Harry Bell, Fayette.

In addition, Democratic candidates for the seats now held by Republican Senators William D. Pethick, Wayne, and Harry B. Scott, Centre, also were leading their Republican rivals in returns tabulated.

Republicans definitely had elected five incumbents: Senators Andrew J. Serdoni, unopposed in Luzerne; John W. Howell, Lackawanna; James S. Boyd, Montgomery, and Samuel W. Salus and George W. Woodward, Philadelphia.

REPUBLICANS WIN

(International News Service)

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 7.—New Deal candidates for major offices in New Hampshire appeared to have barely been nosed out of the decision of the electorate here as late returns today from 260 towns and wards out of 294 indicated that H. Styles Bridges, Republican candidate, would succeed Governor John G. Winant.

Latest returns, not including Democratic strongholds which might cut down the totals to require a recount, gave Bridges 73,199 as against John L. Sullivan Democrat, 66,694.

CONGRESS CONTROL MARGIN INCREASED

Many Veteran Republicans Go Down In Landslide Of Nation's Balloting

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—A smashing vindication of the Roosevelt new deal was rolled up today on a tidal wave of Democratic votes that swept the country from coast to coast.

No party in the country's history has ever ascended the political heights occupied by the Democrats this morning in the wake of yesterday's record balloting for an off year.

In the 74th Congress, the Democrats will have more than two-thirds of the Senate, the first time in history that one party has enjoyed such an advantage.

Add To Top-Heavy Majority

As for the House of Representatives, the so-called popular branch, it appeared today on the face of incomplete returns that the Democrats have actually added to their already top-heavy majority, instead of losing seats as the Republicans hoped and expected—and, in fact, as the Democrats themselves expected.

If the Democrats have increased their representation in the National House, as appears probable, it marks the second time in a century of politics that the party in power has increased its strength in an off-year. Bye-elections invariably have gone against the "ins." The single exception in a hundred years was in 1902 when the Republicans added

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Dear Pa Newc:

Concerning the art / in Tuesday's paper regarding the buzzard that was shot by Kenneth Schell, R. F. D. No. 1. No doubt this bird was an adult turkey buzzard and this bird has a large range. It's territory seems to be generally the tropical line and in summer time it ranges to the British provinces of North America. This bird is rarely known to venture eastward into the New England states, and I think the buzzard is quite out of its territory when it is found about these parts. The weight of an adult buzzard is about five pounds. The general color of the plumage is black mingled with brown. The back and shoulders are of a black hue spotted with bronze and green and purple. The bill of the male is pure white. There is one other bird that is taken for the buzzard, it is the black vulture and the only one of this species known, and is confined to the tropical portions of North America.

Control Of State Congress Delegation Won By Democrats

By SIDNEY H. EIGES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Nov. 7.—Their Republican opposition battered away by the new deal tidal wave in yesterday's balloting, Democrats today stepped into complete control of Pennsylvania's congressional delegation for the first time in a political age.

The Democrats increased their representation from 12 to 20 of the 34 members and were expected to win three additional seats as the day wore on.

The traditionally solid 100 per cent Republican representation of seven was shattered in Philadelphia and three Democratic candidates were swept into office as congressmen while four G. O. P. nominees achieved victory by dangerously small margins.

McFadden Defeated.

The major upset was the defeat of Rep. Louis T. McFadden of Canton, veteran Republican congressman, beaten by slightly more than 1,000 votes by C. Elmer Dietrich, Democrat of Tunkhannock.

McFadden, relentless sniper at the new deal, gained national attention several years ago by his abortive attempt to impeach President Hoover for which he was read out of the party for a time but recently had been reinstated.

McFadden's defeat gave the 15th

Republican Barriers Of 50 Years Broken

By GEORGE R. HOLMES

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Smashing through Republican barriers that have been impregnable for more than a century, Franklin D. Roosevelt and his new deal policies rolled up today the greatest political triumph that has been recorded in an off-year election since the Civil War.

Pennsylvania went Democratic. That fact alone tells the story of Tuesday's balloting. For when Pennsylvania fell there fell the citadel of Republicanism and those political precepts which have dominated the American government, with few exceptions, for 60 years.

Make Arrest In Kidnaping Of June Robles

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Oscar H. Robson has been arrested by Department of Justice agents charged with extortion in connection with the kidnaping of June Robles, 6, of Tucson, Ariz.

Robson was arrested on a charge of extortion under the Lindbergh law for demanding through the United States mails a ransom of $15,000 for the return of June Robles who was kidnaped from Tucson, Ariz., on April 25, last.

The girl was held for approximately 16 days in a virtual grave in the desert eight miles from Tucson.

Department of Justice agents under the direction of Joseph E. P. Dunn, head of the Los Angeles office of the division of investigation, compared numerous handwriting specimens with ransom notes written to Fernando Robles, father of the girl.

Handwriting of Robson was found to be identical with the penmanship of the extortion letters, according to the department.

California Voters Turn Down Sinclair's "Epic" Program At Polls

By ELLIS H. MARTIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7.—The margin by which the voters of California rejected the candidacy of Upton Sinclair and his utopian epic plan to "end poverty in California" grew today as additional returns were tabulated.

Gov. Frank F. Merriam, Republican, was leading by 152,000 votes over the former Socialist who captured the Democratic nomination with 7,101 precincts of the state's 10,721 tabulated. Indications were his plurality would be well over 200,000. The vote stood:

Merriam (R) 632,985; Sinclair (D) 480,298.

Haight Poor Third

Raymond L. Haight, the third candidate, who ran as a "middle roader" on the Commonwealth-Progressive ticket, was a poor third polling 146,664 votes in the same number of precincts.

United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson, who had only nominal Socialist opposition, having won the Republican, Democratic and Progressive nomination, was given a huge testimonial vote which may exceed 1,500,000 votes.

Although they lost the governorship race the Democrats apparently gained some seats in the California congressional delegation.

WILL ROGERS says:

(Special to The News)

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Nov. 7.—It's kinder early in the evening out here and not much news yet. I would rather have a man counting for me at the polls, than I would voting for me.

History has proven that there is nothing in the world as alike as two candidates. They look different 'till they get in, and then they all act the same.

I am anxious to see how they classify these newly elected. Some are Republicans, but New Dealers; some are Democrats, but not New Dealers; some are Democrats, just to use the label; some are Republicans, just to try and keep an old custom alive.

This next Congress is sure going to be a pack of mongrels.

Yours,

Will Rogers

U. S. SENATE TO HAVE SEVENTY DEMOCRATS

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Smashing all records since the birth of the republic, the Democratic party today apparently had won 70 seats in the senate of the 74th congress.

The Democrats shattered all modern precedents by capturing a two-thirds majority of the senate—the first held by either party since the Civil war when southern senators resigned their posts. It appeared the new senate would line up with:

70 Democrats, 24 Republicans, 1 Farmer-Laborite and 1 Progressive.

This would give the Democrats a plurality of 44 votes on partisan issues and four votes more than a two-thirds majority. It will give the Democrats a net gain of ten seats in yesterday's elections.

In 34 senatorial contests, the Republicans captured but five seats. These were in California, where Senator Hiram W. Johnson also won the Democratic nomination, Delaware, Michigan, North Dakota and Vermont. They lost 11 seats in all, 10 to the Democrats and one when "Young Bob" Lafollette changed from a Republican label to a Progressive standard in Wisconsin.

The Democratic gains were recorded apparently in Connecticut, Indiana, Maryland, Missouri, New Jersey, New Mexico, Ohio, Rhode Island, West Virginia and, of all places, Pennsylvania. The Keystone state, by choosing Joseph F. Guffey over David A. Reed, elected its first Democratic senator in history.

A number of Republican critics of the "new deal" went crashing to defeat. These included the venerable Republican sage, Senator Simeon D. Fess in Ohio, the lusty Arthur R. Robinson in Indiana and the sedate Felix Hebert in Rhode Island.

Kelso Winner For Legislature

Democratic Candidate For State Assembly Wins In County

LEADS CARTWRIGHT BY MORE THAN 2,300

Both seats in the general assembly from Lawrence county were won by the Democrats on Tuesday. In addition to the first district James B. Kelso of North Beaver township, Democrat won the second district seat and with William J. Eroe, Jr., will make a solid Democratic delegation in the house.

Mr. Kelso ran far ahead of his Republican opponent Paul J. Cartright of Ellwood City getting 6717 votes to Cartwright's 4376. Not only did Kelso win the rural vote but he won a smashing victory in Ellwood City, something unprecedented in Lawrence county politics. There is no record of a rural candidate on the Democratic ticket defeating an Ellwood Republican in the general election.

There were two other candidates for general assembly in the second district, Nelson on the Socialist ticket getting 92 votes and Peebles on the Prohibition ticket getting 382 votes.

Fifth Victim Of Massacre Dies Of Wounds

(International News Service)

HAZLETON, Pa., Nov. 7.—The fifth victim of the Kelayres election eve massacre died today in the Hazleton State Hospital.

He was Dominick Perna, 37, of Kelayres, among the first to be mowed down in the deadly cross fire of bullets that spat death into the ranks of Democratic marchers last Monday night.

Joseph Bruno, Republican "boss" of Kline township in which Kelayres is located, and a dozen others, mostly members of his family, were still held incommunicado at the Schuylkill county jail in Pottsville today in connection with the slayings and the wounding or more than a score of other persons, many of them women.

Perna, who lost a leg several years ago in a mine accident, was virtually torn to pieces by the hail of gunfire. The bullets riddled his chest, right arm, both hands and body.

Statements have been obtained from all those held, according to state police, and they may be given

Defeats Fess For Seat In U. S. Senate From State Of Ohio

DAVEY WINNER FOR GOVERNOR

By CARL L. TURNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 7.—Ohio responded generously today to the appeal of the national administration for support of the "New Deal."

By their ballots voters of the Buckeye state removed from the United States Senate one of the most persistent and vociferous critics of the president's recovery program, Sen. Simeon D. Fess, Republican.

His seat in the next congress will be occupied by Ex-Gov. A. V. "Honest Vic" Donahey, Democrat, who was swept into office by a landslide. His majority doubtless will approach 300,000, on the basis of latest returns.

Apparently the Ohio voters also decided to vest control of the state government in the hands of the Democratic party for another two years.

Davey Is Winner

With about two-thirds of the state's 8,559 precincts reporting, Martin L. Davey, Democratic nominee for governor, had rolled up a lead of 39,000 votes over his Republican opponent, Clarence J. Brown.

To make the Democratic victory almost complete, practically all of the 18 Democratic congressmen appeared to have been re-elected. Republicans gave them a scare in the sixth and fourteenth districts and in the twenty-first, the Democratic incumbent, Robert W. Crosser, was trailing Frank W. Sonak, (R) but the majority party leaders privately had anticipated the loss of at least four seats. Democrats chuckled at the difficulty in which Rep. Chester C. Bolton (R) found himself in seeking re-election in the twenty-second district. Bolton was chairman of the Republican national congressional campaign committee.

Democratic Legislator Is Winner By Large Majority

LETA IS SECOND; STRICKLER THIRD

William J. Eroe, Jr., present Democratic assemblyman from New Castle, was re-elected Tuesday, November 6, for his second term. The complete vote from the 34 precincts of the city show Eroe getting 5757 votes, with Joseph Leta, Jr., Republican, in second place with 4133 votes.

Robert M. Strickler, Jr., who was defeated in the Republican primaries for the nomination ran in the general election on the Prohibition and Independent tickets. He polled 2467 votes.

William E. Erk, who polled 101 votes in the Republican primary, ran on the Labor ticket and increased his primary vote by 11, polling 112 votes in the general election. Samuel McKee, running as the candidate of the Socialist party, received 90 votes.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 7.—Assured of victory, Democratic candidates for U. S. senator and governor piled up a commanding lead today in the election that saw the overthrow of Republican dominance of Pennsylvania politics for approximately a half century.

Late returns left little doubt of the overwhelming victory scored by Joseph F. Guffey over Senator David A. Reed, Republican incumbent. Ballots cast in 7,319 of the state's 7,956 precincts gave Guffey 1,403,610 votes against 1,305,796, or a majority of 97,814 over his opponent.

Earle's victory in the gubernatorial race was not so overwhelming, but he managed to register a lead of 64,999 in the 7,319 dis-

Only One Wet Victory Seen In County Vote

All Townships Except Shenango Vote Dry In Tuesday Election

From the returns in Tuesday's election it appears that every district in Lawrence county voting on the local option in the sale of beer and liquor has voted dry with the exception of Shenango township. The figures show Pulaski township voting dry but it is said that there may be an appeal, due to the invalidating of a number of votes in New Bedford.

New Wilmington voted dry in stalwart fashion. The drys polled 414 and the wets 54. This was the most outstanding victory for the drys in the county. Washington township voted dry by a vote of 71 to 64, a narrow victory. Volant voted dry by a vote of 42 to 9.

Now we will hear the old Bronx cheer, and here and there we'll see some grins, for in elections as you know, some one loses and some one wins. And those who lost can lick their wounds and wonder when the lightnin' struck, and those who won remember this, you've won a smile from Lady Luck. For victory is never safe, there's figh's to come and work to do, and there will come another day when some one else will battle through. So losers, winners, all of us, had better buckle down, and say we're interested in our state, the weather's forty-six today.

SURPRISING VICTORY TAKEN BY DEMOCRATS IN LAWRENCE COUNTY

Guffey And Earle Carry City And County—Eroe Is Re-elected

SWICK LOSING TO ECKERT IN DISTRICT

Kelso Appears Winner Over Cartwright For County Assembly Place

In one of the most surprising upsets in many years Lawrence County joined the Democratic ranks on Tuesday, returning substantial majorities for all of the candidates of the Democratic ticket both in state and national offices. Guffey, Earle, Eckert, Eroe, Kelso and the other candidates for the various offices were returned winners in this county.

At four o'clock this morning 62 precincts of the 90 in the county had been reported, of which all the 34 in the city were included. The 62 precincts reported showed a Democratic lead for all candidates save those for General Assembly running from 3,500 to 4,000.

City Goes Democratic

The city of New Castle went Democratic by a heavy lead, as did Ellwood City. The South Side precincts rolled up tremendous majorities for the Democratic candidates, running as high as seven to one. In the city Senator David A. Reed polled 4,643 votes and Joseph F. Guffey 7,331.

For Congress J. Howard Swick polled 4,871 votes and Charles R. Eckert 7,458.

For General Assembly William J. Eroe, Jr., Democrat, the present incumbent, was returned a winner with a vote of 5,757. Joseph Leta, Jr., the Republican candidate, polled 4,123 and Robert M. Strickler, Jr., running as a candidate of the Prohibition Party and Independent, polled 2,457. William Erk, running on the Labor ticket, polled 112 votes, and Samuel McKee, Socialist, 90 votes.

In the second district for General Asembly it appears that James B. Kelso, Democrat, has defeated Paul J. Cartwright, Republican. In the 28 rural districts reported out of 56, Kelso has 4,291 votes and Cartwright 2,587. There appears little likelihood that Cartwright can overcome this lead in the precincts yet to be heard from.

Totals for 62 Precincts

For the 62 precincts in the city and county Swick has a total vote of 7,943 and Eckert 12,520; Reed has 7,922 and Guffey 11,174, while Schnader has 7,884 and Earle 10,845.

Other candidates on the Republican and Democratic tickets followed along at about the same ratio as did the heads of the tickets. For Secretary of Internal Affairs M. Harvey Taylor polled 7,240 votes as against 10,914 for Thomas Logue, Democrat.

For judge of superior court Chester H. Rhodes, Democrat, polled 10,628 votes as against Frank M. Trexler, Republican, 6,988. For lieutenant-governor Thomas Kennedy, Democrat, polled 11,355, and Harry B. Scott 7,022.

In the 26th congressional district it appears that Dr. J. Howard Swick, Republican incumbent for the past eight years, has been defeated. In Butler county he was barely holding his own, while in his home county of Beaver reports said that he was trailing Charles R. Eckert by several thousand votes. In Lawrence county he will be second to Eckert by 4,500, Swick getting a total of 7,943 and Charles R. Eckert 12,520. This makes it appear certain that Eckert has been elected.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 7.—Returns from 1,067 out of the 4,271 precincts in the state last night gave for U. S. senator: Truman (D.) 209,570; Patterson (R.) 91,532.

Donahey Leads Fess In Senate Contest In Ohio

Republican Candidate For Governor Has Slight Lead Over Davy

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 7.—Former Governor A. V. Donahey, Democrat, who got away to an early lead over U. S. Senator Simeon D. Fess, Republican, in returns from Ohio's senatorial contest, found his majority steadily increasing tonight as additional counties reported their vote.

At 11 p. m. Donahey was out in front of Fess, arch critic of the Roosevelt new deal, by more than 14,000 votes. The vote from 449 of Ohio's 8,559 precincts gave Donahey 49,841 and Fess 35,345.

The gubernatorial contest between Martin L. Davey, Democrat, and Clarence J. Brown, Republican, was a nip-and-tuck affair, with the Republican candidate holding a tenuous majority.

Returns from 449 precincts gave Brown (R.) 43,999 and Davey (D.) 43,551.

Close Race For U. S. Senator In Michigan

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Nov. 7.—Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R.) and Frank A. Picard (D.) were running neck-and-neck, according to early returns from 157 scattered Michigan precincts.

The 157 precincts gave Picard 26,670; Vandenberg 26,549.

Senator Vandenberg's apparent failure to pile up a strong majority in the outstate districts was counted as an indication of defeat, since Picard's greatest strength lies in the metropolitan district.

Sweep In Many States Made By Democrats In Tuesday Election

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—A Democratic sweep, comparable to that of two years ago, appeared tonight to have been the result of today's balloting in the bitterly contested off-year election.

The Democrats are assured of retaining control of Congress.

While it will be some time before the exact figures on the partisan line-up of Congress are available, it was evident tonight that the Democrats have added to their majority in the Senate and that they have lost but little, if any, in the already heavily Democratic House. In the East, New York and Massachusetts went heavily Democratic.

Re-elect Lehman

The Democrats re-elected Gov. Herbert H. Lehman in New York by what appeared a near record vote, and re-elected Senator R. S. Copeland as well.

In Massachusetts they elected Mayor James M. Curley of Boston as governor and re-elected Senator Davis I. Walsh.

In New Jersey everything pointed to a sweeping Democratic victory, and the defeat of Senator Hamilton F. Kean, Republican.

Elect Ex-Gov. Donahey

The Democrats appeared to have elected Ex-Governor Donahey in Ohio to succeed another anti-new dealer, Senator Simeon D. Fess.

In Indiana, Sherman Minton, Democrat, was slightly leading another anti-new deal Republican, Senator Arthur Robinson.

In Missouri Judge Harry S. Truman, Democrat, was rolling up a commanding lead over Senator Patterson, Republican.

Illinois went heavily Democratic in the state-wide election of congressmen-at-large.

"Horse Race" in Two States

In Rhode Island and Connecticut, where Republican senators were up for re-election, there was every indication of a "horse race" in both states. It appeared that the final vote will be necessary to determine the winners in these states.

Philadelphia Is Carried By G. O. P. By Slight Margin

Reed Is Given Majority Of About 5,000 In Complete Tabulation

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—Philadelphia, the largest county in Pennsylvania, went Republican in today's election by a narrow margin.

Complete unofficial returns from the county's 1,283 voting districts late tonight produced a victory—but a hard-earned one—for United State Senator David A. Reed, running for re-election, Attorney General William A. Schnader, the gubernatorial nominee, and all the other Republican candidates for statewide office.

Shattering all precincts for this metropolis, a strong center of Republicanism for generations, the Democratic candidates came within a narrow margin of administering a defeat to their adversaries.

Senator Reed squeezed through to victory by the slender majority of only 4,086 votes over his Democratic rival, Joseph F. Guffey. A similar tight battle was waged between Schnader and George H. Earle, Democratic candidate for governor.

Final unofficial returns from all districts in the county give: Senator—Reed (R) 335,690; Guffey (D) 331,604.

Governor—Schnader (R) 344,048; Earle (D) 323,260.

For Lieutenant Governor—Scott (R) 340,460; Kennedy (D) 324,538.

Michigan Swings Back To G. O. P. In Tuesday's Voting

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Nov. 7.—Michigan, traditional stronghold of the G. O. P., apparently was swinging back into the Republican ranks today.

Republicans led in the outstate, and the expected Democratic majority in the Detroit metropolitan area had failed to materialize at three a. m.

For senator 828 precincts, including 100 in Wayne county, gave Picard (D.) 121,284; Vandenberg (R.) 149,337.

APPROVE NEW DEAL

(International News Service)

HELEN, Mont., Nov. 7.—The New Deal was given hearty approval in Montana today in one of the largest votes in history. Scattered but incomplete returns from all sections of the state showed Burton K. Wheeler (D.) re-elected to his third term in the United States Senate. He was leading Former Federal Judge George M. Bourquin (R.) by three to one

New Wilmington Votes Out Liquor

Overwhelming Vote Against Sale Cast In Boro—Against Voting Machines

There will be no liquor or beer for sale in New Wilmington for the next four years. Neither will there be any voting machines. Both liquor and voting machines took a decisive beating in the election on Tuesday. In addition the swimming pool will be leased to the boro.

In the vote on liquor and beer sales the score was:

For the sale of liquor 37, against the sale of liquor 414.

For voting machines, 54. Against voting machines, 355. For the lease of the swimming pool, Yes 301, No, 144.

"I am elected governor of Pennsylvania by the same approximate majority that the last Democratic governor, Robert E. Pattison, had, that is about 40,000.

Pinchot's Home Town Democratic

(International News Service)

MILFORD, Pa., Nov. 7. — Gov. Gifford Pinchot's home county went Democratic in yesterday's election, virtually complete returns showed today.

By small, but nonetheless effective, margins Pike county voters rendered majorities to both Joseph F. Guffey, senatorial nominee, and George H. Earle, gubernatorial candidate, on the Democratic ticket.

This, in spite of the fact that Governor Pinchot, the county's most distinguished resident, actively supported the Republican cause in the campaign.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 7.—The Democratic "New Deal" sweep in Rhode Island, with a plurality of between 25,000 and 35,000 votes, early today was carrying a United State senator, governor and an entire state ticket into office.

Ex-United States Senator Peter Goelet Gerry, (D) appeared an easy victor over United States Senator Felix Hebert (R).

HARRISBURG, Nov. 7.—The New Deal tidal wave rolled over Philadelphia and swept three Democratic congressmen into office, displacing Republicans.

It was the first time in years that the state's heretofore acknowledged citadel of Republicanism had elected a congressional delegation of seven that was not 100 per cent G. O. P.

Youthful Democratic New Dealer Leads Dr. Henry Hatfield For Senate

(International News Service)

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 7.—Youthful Rush D. Holt, an out-and-out Democrat new dealer, continued to draw away from Dr. Henry D. Hatfield, staunch administration critic, tonight in their race for election as United States senator from West Virginia.

Although only 29 years old and his eligibility for the office a matter of question because of his age, Holt was running far ahead of his Republican opponent.

A total of 1,110 out of the state's 2,338 precincts showed the following results:

Holt, 240,926; Hatfield, 184,046.

Holt's campaign headquarters predicted that his majority would exceed 100,000 votes.

All six Democratic congressmen, candidates for re-election, were leading their Republican opponents as tabulation of the day's balloting progressed.

First Time In Present Generation Democrat Has Won For Senate

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 7.—Fighting stubbornly to bring President Roosevelt's "New Deal" into Pennsylvania, Joseph F. Guffey, Pittsburgh Democrat, saw his lead over United States Senator David A. Reed, Republican incumbent, shrink to 16,000 votes at 4 a. m. today.

Final returns were awaited from 1,446 of the state's 7,956 precincts. Reed has not conceded defeat and Guffey has made no statement.

Attorney General William A. Schnader, Republican candidate for governor, still outdistanced his Democratic rival, George H. Earle. The 6,510 precincts gave Schnader 1,253,998 votes to Earle's 1,233,328.

By HARRY BERGMAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7 —One of the nation's outstanding critic of President Roosevelt's new deal, David A. Reed, was being vehemently beaten back by the Democratic aspirant for his seat in the United States senate this morning as returns from yesterday's epochal election in Pennsylvania took a sudden and surprising turn.

After trailing his adversary through most of the night, Joseph F. Guffey, ardent champion of the president's recovery program, jumped swiftly into the lead this morning.

With nearly two thirds of the state's 7,956 precincts reporting Guffey grasped a 28,000 vote margin over Reed in one of the most surprising developments of this surprising election.

The battle between Reed, who has never minced words in his deprecation of new deal acts and Guffey, the national administration's patronage dispenser in this state, thus took its rightful place as the most thrilling encounter of the exciting contests culminated by the election of yesterday.

It marked the first time within the memory of the present generation that a Democrat has seriously challenged a Republican's right to a place in the senate as a representative of traditionally Republican Pennsylvania.

Guffey Forges Ahead

Pittsburgh, Nov. 7.—Swinging the torch of President Roosevelt's "New Deal" over Pennsylvania's electorate, Joseph F. Guffey, Democrat, forged steadily ahead at 2:30 a. m. today in his race for a United States senatorial seat against the incumbent Republican, David A. Reed.

Overcoming a lead of more than 4,000 votes given Reed by Philadelphia, Guffey increased his advantage to approximately 42,000 votes on returns from 6,347 of the state's 7,956 districts. His margin grew steadily as late returns trickled in from isolated regions and industrial areas.

Striving to emulate the achievement of his running mate, George H. Earle, Democratic candidate for governor, narrowed the margin between himself and Attorney General William A. Schnader, Republican aspirant to the governor's chair.

Schnader-Earle Close

Schnader saw his early lead tumbled while Earle's increased on the suburban vote. The Republican candidate polled 1,185,993 votes to 1,184,648 for Earle in 6,347 precincts.

Half Dozen Democrats Apparently Win Seats In State Body

HARRISBURG, Nov. 7. — At least half a dozen Democrats, including two from Philadelphia, apparently were swept into state senate seats now held by Republicans in yesterday's balloting, returns showed today.

Veteran Senator Bertram Frazier trailed John J. McCreesh, Democrat, by nearly 2,000 votes in complete unofficial returns from the Sixth Philadelphia District.

Likewise, Democratic candidate Walter S. Pytko was leading John J. McKinley Republican, for the 8th Philadelphia District seat vacated voluntarily by Senator Thaddeus S. Krause.

Other Republicans trailing early this morning included:

Senators Joseph G. Armstrong and Morris Einstein, Allegheny; Chauncey W. Parkinson, Greene, and Harry Bell, Fayette.

In addition, Democratic candidates for the seats now held by Republican Senators William D. Pethick, Wayne, and Harry B. Scott, Centre, also were leading their Republican rivals in returns tabulated.

Republicans definitely had elected five incumbents: Senators Andrew J. Sordoni, unopposed in Luzerne; John W. Howell, Lackawanna; James S. Boyd, Montgomery, and Samuel W. Salus and George W. Woodward, Philadelphia.

REPUBLICANS WIN

(International News Service)

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 7.—New Deal candidates for major offices in New Hampshire appeared to have barely been nosed out of the decision of the electorate here as late returns today from 260 towns and wards out of 294 indicated that H. Styles Bridges, Republican candidate, would succeed Governor John G. Winant.

Latest returns, not including Democratic strongholds which might cut down the totals to require a recount, gave Bridges 73,199 as against John L. Sullivan Democrat, 66,694.

DEMOCRATIC ASSEMBLY FOR NEW YORK

Gov. Lehman Is Also Re-elected

Carries With His Re-election Democratic Legislature Returns Show

LEHMAN GIVEN HUGE MAJORITY

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Swept back into office on a Democratic tidal wave, Governor Herbert H. Lehman today had carried with him a Democratic assembly—something his two predecessors President Roosevelt and former Governor Al Smith never were able to accomplish.

With several hundred upstate districts missing, Governor Lehman's plurality over his Republican opponent, Robert Moses, as estimated at 820,000 with a possibility it might exceed his record breaking plurality of 847,000 of two years ago.

Lehman snowed Moses under in New York City to the tune of 800,462.

Control Legislature.

In addition to winning control of the assembly for the first time in 21 years, the Democrats increased their majority in the senate by three seats.

Senator Royal S. Copeland defeated his Republican opponent, E. Harold Cluett, Troy collar maker, by a plurality estimated at 600,000.

Governor Lehman also carried into office with him the entire state Democratic ticket and the two Democratic candidates at large, Mrs. Caroline O'Day and Matthew J. Merritt.

CONTROL OF STATE CONGRESS IS WON BY DEMOCRATS

district ,commonly known as the "horseshoe" district, which embraces Bradford, Columbia, Montour, Pike, Susquehanna, Sullivan, Wayne and Wyoming counties, with its first Democratic congressman in years.

Democratic leaders interpreted the smashing congressional victory as an overwhelming vote of confidence in President Roosevelt and his policies.

Heavy Democratic votes in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, in the hard and soft coal regions and in the industrial sections of western Pennsylvania, opened wide the congressional doors to an influx of Democrats

The result was more than state and national Democratic leaders anticipated. They had previously expressed satisfaction with being able to retain the 12 seats they held in the 73rd congress.

Three Win In Philadelphia.

The three victorious Democratic candidates in Philadelphia were J. Burrwood Daly, Frank J. G. Dorsey and Michael J. Stack.

One of the greatest upsets—and they were numerous in the congressional fights—was the victory of James H. Gildea, militant Coaldale editor, who was the Democratic nominee in the 13th district, comprising Schuylkill and Northumberland counties.

Gildea defeated State Rep. David W. Bechtel, chosen by Republican conferees following the death of Rep. G. Frank Brumm, the incumbent, who had been renominated. Gildea was swept into office along with the Democratic majority rolled up in Schuylkill county in whose northern section lies the mining village of Kelayres, scene of a wild massacre of five men when gunfire raked a Democratic parade Monday night.

J. Howard Swick, Republican congressman from the 26th district, Beaver, Butler and Lawrence counties, for four terms went down to a crushing defeat before Charles R. Eckert of Beaver, the Democratic nominee. Industrial unrest in the district was believed to have contributed in great measure to Swick's defeat.

Another veteran Pennsylvania congressman, Clyde Kelly, who held the Republican, Prohibition, Citizens and Independent nominations, was badly defeated by his Democratic rival. State Rep. James L. Quinn, in the 31st Allegheny district,, where Democras rolled up large majorities for the ticket.

In one of the strangest battles in the congressional election, Michael J. Muldowney, Republican candidate in the 32nd Allegheny district, was ousted from office by Theodore L. Moritz, Democrat, who is Mayor William N. McNair's secretary and man of all trades.

COUNTRY SWEPT BY DEMOCRATIC WAVE TUESDAY

to their number following the McKinley assassination.

The Republicans not only lost heavily in the senatorial and congressional contests, but in the governorship races as well.

Seasoned political observers could scarcely believe their eyes as the returns rolled in, recounting Democratic successes in territory considered doubtful or predominantly Republican.

Republican Senators Lose

While it will take the final count to make things official, the Democrats appear to have definitely defeated Republican senators in Connecticut, Indiana, Maryland, Missouri, New Jersey, New Mexico, Ohio, Rhode Island and West Virginia, for a net gain of nine seats. They already have 60 seats in the Senate, which gives them three more than two-thirds. And all this in addition to holding their own seats which were at stake in yesterday's balloting.

In three other Republican states—rock-ribbed Pennsylvania, Michigan and Delaware—Republican senators were teetering on the edge of defeat.

Senator David A. Reed was trailing Joseph F. Guffey in Pennsylvania, which almost qualifies for Ripley's "Believe It Or Not" column, Pennsylvania has never been represented in Washington by a Democratic senator. Even when the Democrats combined with the (T. T.) Roosevelt Bull Moosers they could not defeat old Boies Penrose. Yet today it appeared that Reed was whipped, although Guffey's election in all probability will be challenged.

If Reed's apparent defeat proves final, and in some Republican sources it is conceded, the New Dealers' cup will be filled to overflowing.

Concentrate On Trio

The Democrats concentrated their fire upon three G. O. P. senators—Reed in Pennsylvania, Fess in Ohio, and Robinson in Indiana. They were the most outspoken critics of the New Deal. They were dubbed the "Three Musketeers" in the senate, and they carried opposition from the senate floor to the hustings.

Apparently they all have been defeated.

Nothing could be calculated to give the Democratic New Dealers more satisfaction than the defeat of this trio—Reed, Fess and Robinson. In defeating Reed, the Democrats not only could knock off a severe and outstanding opponent of the New Deal, but a Republican presidential possibility to boot.

The Democrats not only gained in congress, but they fared pretty well in the governorships, thirty-three of which were at stake in the balloting.

Sinclair Defeated

They lost one over which they are shedding few tears—in California. Upton Sinclair, a Democratic convert from Socialism, eloped with the Democratic gubernatorial nomination on his ambitious "epic" plan for rehabilitating the downtrodden and those whom President Roosevelt has characterized as the "underpriviliged." Sinclair's candidacy tore California wide open and resulted in more of a class war than a political contest. Late returns indicate his defeat at the hands of Frank F. Merriam, conservative Republican, who succeeded to the governorship upon the death of the popular "Jimmy" Rolph.

Both parties view this election in the light of 1936, when a president, as well as a new congress, must be selected by the voters.

Had Senator Reed been re-elected by one of Pennsylvania's traditional Republican majorities undoubtedly he would have been a prominent candidate for the presidential nomination. As it is, he has been shuffled into the discard by the distribution of cards in the New Deal.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenburg of Michigan, looms as a potentiality, if the final returns from Michigan return him a victor on any substantial basis.

Wadsworth To Forefront

One of the new Republican presidential possibilities who came through the Democratic fire unscathed and untouched was Rep. "Jim" Wadsworth of New York. His loyal 39th district returned him to congress by a normal majority, while all about him Republicans were being snowed under.

Unquestionably, Wadsworth will be a marked man in the 74th congress, and in the presidential skirmishing for 1936. He is a man of knowledged ability, a former senator, a pioneer wet who chose to attack prohibition and go down to defeat on the issue in 1926, when it was politically more healthful to be dry. Wadsworth will be a conspicuous figure in the next congress as a result of the election.

There was little sectional in the Democratic sweep. It embraced the entire country.

Sweeps Country

Starting in normally Republican Maine last September, when a Democratic governor and two Democratic congressmen were elected, the Democratic tide moved through New England yesterday, down along the Atlantic coast, went westward into the pivotal states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, marched through the grain belt, crossed the Rockies and penetrated the northwest.

Assaying the causes of the G. O. P. debacle, the worst in history, Republican spokesmen were inclined today to put it down to:

First, the personal popularity of President Roosevelt.

Second, the financial benefits that have accrued to individuals and to states through expenditure of federal funds.

Nearly 20,000,000 persons are on federal relief rolls of one sort or another. Taking the hindsight viewpoint, the Republicans rather ruefully conceded today that it was hardly in the cards for these millions, many of whom are voters, to vote against their benefactors in Washington.

Or, as Al Smith sagely observed some weeks ago: "Nobody has ever yet shot Santa Claus."

They didn't shoot Santa Claus yesterday. Nor did they shoot many Democrats either. Mostly it was Republicans who got shot.

REPUBLICAN BARRIERS OF 50 YEARS BROKEN

Not even the first Roosevelt (T. R.) in his hey-day, plus Woodrow Wilson and the famous schism of 1912, could accomplish what the new deal accomplished yesterday.

The result:

The Democrats picked up 10 seats in the senate, increasing their total to 70, or four more than two-thirds. Neither party has ever approached those figures.

In the face of all precedent, the Democrats held their own in the house of representatives, if, indeed they did not increase their already overwhelming majority. It will take the final figures to tell the story, but it will not be surprising if they reveal 320 Democrats in the 74th Congress, as compared with the 313 Democrats elected two years ago in the Roosevelt landslide.

FIFTH VICTIM OF MASSACRE DIES OF WOUNDS

a preliminary hearing today if feeling subsides sufficiently in the township, still dazed by the suddenness with which death was visited upon the victims.

State police were in possession of what they described as an "arsenal" of "rifles, shotguns and revolvers found in the home of Joseph Bruno and in the apartment of his nephew, Paul, who lived across the street. It was from these two houses, according to witnesses, that the deadly stream of lead poured into the parade.

Kline township yesterday turned in a majority of 715 for the Democratic ticket and Kelayres gave the Democrats 662 votes as against 24 for the Republicans who under Bruno's rule had for years captured virtually all the votes.

DEMOCRATS ELECT STATE GOVERNOR AND U. S. SENATOR

tricts. He polled 1,404,869 votes against 1,339,870 for Attorney General William A. Schnader, the Republican candidate.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—Shedding its time-worn cloak of Republicanism, Pennsylvania at last succumbed to the lure of the new deal today.

In a stunning uprising against hoary tradition the nation's second largest state recorded a thumping triumph for President Roosevelt and the new Democratic regime by choosing Joseph F. Guffey, lusty champion of the national administration for United States senate, and George H. Earle, erstwhile American minister to Austria, for the governorship.

Returns this morning in the tabulation of ballots cast in yesterday's epoch-making election served only to emphasize the decisiveness of the electorate's verdict.

With little more than a thousand of the state's 7,956 polling districts still unaccounted for, Guffey was enjoying a lead of more than 76,000 votes over his Republican adversary, David Aiken Reed, the commonwealth's incumbent senior senator whose distaste for the new deal never lacked blunt expression.

Earle Ahead

While not faring as well as his senatorial running mate, Earle was steadily drawing away from his Republican foe, Attorney General William A. Schnader. The Democratic candidate's margin over Schnader approached 30,000 ballots.

In cold figures the story of the disaster which overtook the entrenched Republicans in yesterday's dramatic election can be crisply told in this fashion:

Of Pennsylvania's 7,956 precincts 6,797 give:

For senator: Guffey 1,311,245; Reed 1,234,896.

For governor: Earle 1,293,979; Schnader 1,264,963.

Latest returns trickling in from all sections of the state also made it appear this morning that Guffey and Earle were carrying their lesser runningmates along with them on the road to victory.

Lieutenant-Governor

Thomas A. Kennedy, international secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers of America, enjoyed a lead of 30,850 ballots in his battle for the lieutenant-governorship with the Republican nominee, State Senator Harry B. Scott. In 5,527 precincts Kennedy had amassed an impressive total of 1,047,798 votes, as against 1,016,948 for Scott.

The same number of precincts accorded Thomas A. Logue, the Democratic candidate for secretary of internal affairs, a majority of 13,930 over his Republican opponent, M. Harvey Taylor, who also is chairman of the state G. O. P. committee. Logue's aggregate of votes was 1,026,604, while 1,002, 674 ballots were chalked up for Taylor.

A margin of 14,106 votes in 5,627 precincts was held by Chester H. Rhodes, the Democratic candidate for the superior court judge, over the Republican incumbent, Judge Frank M. Trexler. Rhodes had garnered 1,033,715 ballots, compared with 1,019,609 for the veteran Republican jurist.

Unparalleled Situation

Almost as unparalleled as the election of Pennsylvania's first Democratic senator was the startling overthrow of the Republican control of the state's congressional delegation. Returns today gave the Democrats eight additional congressmen, with the prospect that the party will capture three more seats, giving them sole control of Pennsylvania's congressional delegation, consisting of 34 members.

The Democratic party, through both Guffey and Davis L. Lawrence, state chairman, claimed a decisive victory today. Republican spokesmen failed to dispute the claim publicly, although they clung to the desperate hope that returns from the counties yet to be heard from, most of them embracing rural regions, may salvage at least part of the wreckage.

It was Allegheny county that turned the trick, aided and abetted by numerous other western and central areas of the state, where the working and agricultural classes still look to the New Deal to improve their lot.

Reed Gets Slight Lead

While Philadelphia, the largest of the state's 67 counties, accorded Reed a slim margin of little more than 4,000 votes and Schnader a better lead of more than 20,000, Allegheny, the second largest county, insubsequent returns administered a stinging defeat to the Republicans and overcame what little comfort the G. O. P. had derived from the eastern Pennsylvania returns.

Of the 946 voting districts in Allegheny county, 868 this morning contributed the following:

For senator: Guffey 210,961; Reed 130,128.

For governor: Earle 207,788; Schnader 138,580.

Fletcher Says You Don't Have To Stay Licked

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—"When you are licked, you are licked, but you don't have to stay licked."

That was the only statement forthcoming from Republican National Chairman Henry P. Fletcher today.

Senator Daniel O. Hastings of Delaware, the only other Republican leader to appear at GOP headquarters, said:

"Yesterday's election demonstrates that the new deal, like a dangerous disease, must run its course, and that the crisis has not yet been reached."

LAWRENCE COUNTY GOES DEMOCRATIC

one majority and did nearly the same thing in Ellwood City, Bessemer and Hillsville. In the northern and eastern precincts in New Castle Guffey held a slight edge in some precincts, but the precincts carried by David A. Reed were slight leads in most cases. In 89 precincts out of 90 in Lawrence county Joseph F. Guffey polled 13,570 votes, as against 9,641 for David A. Reed.

Schnader Fares Little Better

For governor William A. Schnader fared slightly better than his runningmate, but trailed his Democratic opponent. Mr. Schnader polled 10,183 votes as against 13,666 for George H. Earle. For lieutenant-governor Harry B. Scott, Republican, polled 9,541 as against 13,779 for Thomas Kennedy.

For secretary of internal affairs M. Harvey Taylor, Republican, polled 9,722 votes as against 13,228 for Thomas A. Logue. For judge of superior court Frank M. Trexler, present incumbent, polled 9,735 votes as against 13,476 for Chester H. Rhodes. The results of the race for Congress and General Assembly are seen in other columns.

Lawrence county was thought to be safe in the Republican column, but the Democratic sweep in the other counties seemed to be contagious and Lawrence swept along in the van.

The results of Tuesday's election gives Pennsylvania a Democratic administration for the next four years, although the state treasurer and auditor general's department will still be Republican.

by a vote of 136 to 25. Neshannock township voted dry by a vote of 264 to 154. Pulaski township voted dry by a vote of 335 to 314. In this township the charge is made that 29 ballots were thrown out because the voter marked "Yes" instead of marking a cross in the wet column.

Plaingrove township voted dry by a vote of 140 to 52. Slippery Rock township voted dry by a vote of 225 to 69. Scott township voted dry by a vote of 195 to 107. Three precincts out of four in Shenango township show that the township has gone wet. The three precincts total 168 dry and 295 wet. The fourth precinct will not overcome this wet lead.

Mr. Eroe served in the session of 1933 and the two special sessions following and now enters his second term. He will be accompanied by James B. Kelso in the second district, also a Democrat.

NEW ENGLAND TOWN KEEPS UP RECORD

First To Report Election Result

All Votes Cast And Counted At New Ashford, Mass., By 7 A. M.

ALL OF VOTERS ARE GIVEN BREAKFAST

(International News Service)

(BULLETIN)

NEW ASHFORD, Mass. Nov. 6 Maintaining its record for being the first town in the United States to report a complete vote in the elections, this Berkshire Hills community today showed a Democratic increase by two votes.

Figures in gubernatorial race were:

Bacon (R) 22, Curley (D) 10, Goodwin (Ind.) 1. This compared with the 1932 vote for governor of: Youngman (R) 23, Ely (D) 8. Curly gained two votes over Ely's total of 1932, while Bacon lost 1. There were 36 votes cast this year, as against 33 in 1932. The senatorial figures this year were: Walsh (D) 19, Washburn (R) 13. This compared with the 1932 vote for United States Senator: Butler (R) 29: Coolidge (D) 4.

When the polls opened shortly before 6 a. m. about 20 voters, who had come from their homes in outlying sections by automobiles, were already gathered there. When the total electorate had cast ballots at 6:32 a m., and the count began, it began to rain hard.

Following tabulation of the vote, State Senator Thomas J. Plunkett (R) who is seeking re-election, gave the whole town a breakfast in the schoolhouse.

Monday of this week a visitor in Gaston park asked me how long I expected the squirrels to stay there as he informed me that the fox and grey squirrels were great roamers. I informed the visitor that the squirrels would stay in the park as long as they were given protection and food. I showed the gentleman squirrels that had been in the park for three years. One grey squirrel that is minus his right forepaw has fed at a feeding station for over two years, and many other squirrels that come and bark for food at feeding time. The squirrel population at Gaston park is growing every year, as well as other wild life that inhabits the park district. A three hundred dollar fine is imposed upon any one who molests them.

Farmer Labor Candidate Is Leading Race

(International News Service)

ST. PAUL, Nov. 7.—Governor Floyd B. Olson, Farmer-Labor candidate to succeed himself, was holding his lead in his race for re-election tonight, although Martin A. Nelson, Republican, was cutting into his lead as the reports from the rural districts came in early today.

Olson had 119,269 votes in return from 570 of the state's 3,699 precincts as compared to 84,458 votes for Nelson.

Henrick Shipstead had a safe lead over Einar Hoidale, strong Roosevelt supporter, in the race for the Senate.

Curley Ahead For Governor

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Nov. 7.—In latest returns early today, former Mayor James M. Curley, Democrat, was leading Lieutenant-Governor Gaspar G. Bacon, Republican, in the gubernatorial race by 78,800 votes. The lead was based on returns from 196 towns, and seven cities complete, and all but five of Boston's 367 precincts.

Frank A. Goodwin, independent candidate, ran far behind both his rivals.

President Casts Ballot At Hyde Park Town Hall

Accompanied By First Lady And Mother—Rain Falls Steadily

(International News Service)

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Nov. 6.—Franklin D. Roosevelt, as an ordinary American citizen, cast his ballot in New York state's election in the village town hall today.

Accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, and the first lady, the executive motored the mile from his home to the town hall through a steady rain to vote.

The elder Mrs. Roosevelt was the first to enter one of the green curtained voting machine booths. When she came out, the president and his wife entered the two booths and voted.

After the voting, the president motored back to his comfortable home, and saw newspaper men for a few minutes.

"How did you vote, Mr. President?" was the first jocular query shot at the executive as he talked to reporters.

"How did I vote? Ha, ha," grinned the president.

As a matter of fact the president's vote was no secret. He announced before he left Washington that he intended supporting Governor Herbert Lehman for re-election. Later, it was learned, he also intended to vote for the re-election of Senator Royal S. Copeland.

Dear Pa Newc:

Monday of this week a visitor in Gaston park asked me how long I expected the squirrels to stay there as he informed me that the fox and grey squirrels were great roamers. I informed the visitor that the squirrels would stay in the park as long as they were given protection and food. I showed the gentleman squirrels that had been in the park for three years. One grey squirrel that is minus his right forepaw has fed at a feeding station for over two years, and many other squirrels that come and bark for food at feeding time. The squirrel population at Gaston park is growing every year, as well as other wild life that inhabits the park district. A three hundred dollar fine is imposed upon any one who molests them.

President Casts Ballot At Hyde Park Town Hall

Accompanied By First Lady And Mother—Rain Falls Steadily

(International News Service)

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Nov. 6.—Franklin D. Roosevelt, as an ordinary American citizen, cast his ballot in New York state's election in the village town hall today.

Accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, and the first lady, the executive motored the mile from his home to the town hall through a steady rain to vote.

The elder Mrs. Roosevelt was the first to enter one of the green curtained voting machine booths. When she came out, the president and his wife entered the two booths and voted.

After the voting, the president motored back to his comfortable home, and saw newspaper men for a few minutes.

"How did you vote, Mr. President?" was the first jocular query shot at the executive as he talked to reporters.

"How did I vote? Ha, ha," grinned the president.

As a matter of fact the president's vote was no secret. He announced before he left Washington that he intended supporting Governor Herbert Lehman for re-election. Later, it was learned, he also intended to vote for the re-election of Senator Royal S. Copeland.

WOMAN'S CLUB TAKES TRIP THROUGH EUROPE

Mr. Ramsey made a colorful picture as he appeared in his Holland costume, red blouse with embroidered collar, full black trousers, astrakhan cap and wooden shoes. He has traveled the past fourteen years in the European countries and Russia as newspaper correspondent and he said truly, he thought the world has gone mad and instead of nations trying to understand each other and promoting peace through this understanding, they are further apart than they were during the days of the world war.

He went on to say that each country wishes peace, but, he added, their own particular kind of peace, while they go on adding to their armaments and training.

He spoke of various ways in which a friendly understanding can be promoted and some of the things he mentioned are being done, such as economic projects, social projects and athletic contests, such as the Olympic, where the youth of the countries meet in friendly contest.

There are more causes for war at the present time in the European countries than there were in 1914; there is more secret diplomacy and more men under military training than there were at that time.

In urging the women to promote peace he said the nations would have to stop glorifying war and educate the younger people to the horrors of war; to glorify leadership, education and service.

Despite the downpour of rain Monday evening, it didn't dampen the spirits of the participants at the annual Fall bridge party sponsored by the Junior B. P. W. members in the spacious ball room of The Castleton Hotel.

The occasion was largely attended, and the girls made their entrance to the lobby of the hotel, some in exquisite formal attire, others in smart sport ensembles, all of which lent attractiveness to the scene. Miss Lucille Emery, president of the organization was busily engaged in seeing that each guest was properly taken care of, assisted by her capable committee, headed by Miss Maree Biddle, general chairman. A hundred and eighty guests were present.

COURTROOM BROADCASTING

RESOLUTIONS of the New York County Lawyers' Association condemning broadcasting of judicial proceedings will accord with what most persons regard as seemly, especially in cases where a person is on trial for his life or where the exploitation of scandal is the compelling cause of public interest. Even if both parties to a trial and the responsible presiding judge permitted such a broadcast, there are reasons of law, as well as considerations of property, which would make the experiment hazardous.

When the question of broadcasting the coming trial of Bruno Richard Hauptmann came up recently Governor Moore remarked decisively that, knowing the presiding judge as he did, he could say that the proceedings would be orderly and dignified and there would be no broadcasting.

There seems to be no record of broadcasting a court trial in this country, although American courts are not entirely exempt from the reproach of having at times permitted unseemly hippodroming of notorious cases. The soviet has used the radio in certain cases of supposedly "judicial" proceedings to make propaganda for its side. When it was assumed that General Smedley Butler faced a court-martial for certain remarks about Signor Mussolini, Secretary Adams promptly vetoed a tentative plan for broadcasting the proceedings. The radio has its place in educating on public matters. But it does not belong in the arrangements for fair, orderly and dignified procedure in a court of justice.

TRAIN TOMORROW'S DRIVERS TODAY!

High schools throughout the country are being called upon by leading educators to enact a major role in solving the automobile accident problem. Their is the task, it is said, to put a more careful and competent generation of motor car drivers on the streets and highways by making instructions in safe driving a credited part of the regular scholastic curriculum.

As a contribution to this cause, and to give the schools definite tools with which to work, the Education Division of the National Safety Council in New York City has prepared a textbook on the subject called: "Good Driving—A Manual for the High Schools." The book was prepared under the direction of a secondary school committee consisting of such men as Dr. Thomas Gosling, Director of the Junior Red Cross; Francis L. Bacon, principal of the Evanston, Ill., Township High School; Prof. E. K. Fretwell of Columbia, and Prof. Robbins B. Stoeckel of Yale.

In brief, the manual attempts to describe what an automobile is and how to operate it. It is illustrated with charts and photographs and contains a list of reference material for those who wish to develop special topics. Six units of instruction are outlined: Automobile in modern life, the automobile, the driver, the operation of an automobile on the highway, accidents, and accident prevention.

The importance of this work is emphasized by the fact that in some states there is no law to prevent a child from stepping from the tiller of his kiddie car to the wheel of a high powered automobile. Last year automobiles killed nearly 30,000 persons.

The opportunity for high schools to perform an invaluable service to humanity could hardly be greater.

A MARKET OF OPTIMISTS

The motor industry, largest user of steel, stands almost alone on the advanced path of recovery and plans more and better automobiles for 1935, and as a means to this the expenditure of many millions for plant alteration and expansion, and the spending for more business is not confined to makers of the less expensive models.

A manufacturer of a higher-priced car, selling only a few thousand automobiles a year, will expend more than $6,000,000 at once—to re-equip and expand its plant in preparation for increased operations during 1935. The company reports orders enough for two months' production.

The motor industry has many advantages peculiar to the nature of its product, but in the movement toward recovery it has one advantage originating in its market—it deals mainly with buyers who represent but one or two minds to be convinced a purchase is desirable and discreet. The motor industry sells the heaviest item that is added to possessions of a householder and enjoys the individual confidence and freedom of choice that goes with buying of shoes, hats and furniture.

The industry's success, contrasted with that of other heavy industry, is a moral tribute to the hope and courage of thousands of individual customers.

EVERYONE HIS OWN CENSOR

Otis Skinner contends that as the drama is "a mirror held up to nature" and portrays the trend of the times, any cleansing process in the stage must begin in the present-day social system.

Mr. Skinner makes it clear that he has no desire to justify vulgarity and indecency and he holds no brief for playwrights and managers who indulge in them for box-office purposes. He points to "Macbeth," "Hamlet" and "Romeo and Juliet" as proof that crime and sex have ever been present in the drama; but there ar right and wrong ways of presenting them.

Few will disagree with Mr. Skinner when he says that good taste must be the arbiter. He is opposed to the cinema play that "turns a gunman into a god." His contention is that this sort of crime in the drama, clothed in false glamour, is both inartistic and immoral. Naturally he has little faith in censorship. His remedy for the ills mentioned is to the point: "Each person should be a potential censor. If a bad play comes to your community, then stay away from it."

This is good advice, as theory. But it is not always possible to have fore-knowledge of a play's merits or demerits. In a broad way Mr. Skinner's ideas of censorship are sound. The difficulty is in having them effectuated by a sufficient number of playgoers to insure the desired result.

If it seems to be a fight, it's wrestling. If it seems to be wrestling, it's a fight. If it seems to be both, it's something about disarmament.

A pleasant thought to aid your digestion. That $19,500,000,000 which we tossed down a rathole in Europe would have supplied each unemployed man in the United States with $5,000 worth of food and shelter

LOYALTY PAYS DIVIDENDS

One of the finest things in the world is loyalty.

Loyalty indicates appreciation and gratefulness for favors received.

People who truly love their families, their home towns and their country are going to be loyal whatever else they do.

Things may not go to suit them at times and reforms may be needed.

But loyalty demands other methods than turning traitor to get what is needed.

Because your parents do not willingly permit you to do certain things that they think are unwise and detrimental to your best good, you don't go outside and berate them, do you?

Not if you are loyal to those who fed, clothed, and housed you when you were helpless.

If it was their duty to care for and protect you when you were very young, it is certainly your duty to try other means to get larger liberties than talking behind their backs to our school friends.

If you think to improve your standing by tearing down the reputation that your elders have built up, you will find it works in reverse.

If your education does not teach you to respect age and revere your home, community and country with loyalty there is something wrong with you.

IMPERFECTIONS

Sometimes I bring home friends to dine
When she is not prepared
A very common fault of mine,
As she has oft declared.
And then again when she has planned
My favorite dish for me,
For reasons she can't understand
I don't come home for tea.

I leave the dresser drawers pulled out.
A careless man am I.
I toss discarded clothes about,
Which causes her to sigh.
I call to her to find my things,
Which I should plainly see,
A needless task, which often brings
Her scolding up to me.

As hand and foot she waits on me
She sadly shakes her head
Why must I so indifferent be
To everything she's said.
Why can't I look upon the shelf!
Does not the thought occur
That I should wait upon myself
Without disturbing her?

"Yet were I perfect," I reply,
"Another man I'd be
And you might soon begin to sigh
To know the old-time me.
Should I become the best of men
As soon as I was gone
You'd want the husband back again
Who needed waiting on."

FARSEEING "GOB"

There is said to be a cook on the U. S. S. Holland, who is literary and mixes authors with stew.

"Before I get breakfast, I read Bacon" he told the gobs in one of his desk lectures. "For dinner I consult Lamb. I never cook biscuits without reading Browning first."

"Listen, brother," a gob interrupted, "don't read Burns next time before you give us pancakes for breakfast."

BEING CAREFUL

He was an actor of the old school inspecting his "diggings". With a regal air he surveyed the bedroom and noted the absence of a washstand. In dignified tones he inquired: "And where do I perform my ablusions?"

"If it's a new trick, you don't do it here," replied the landlady, sharply, "you'll do it at the theater. I had two chairs busted by an acrobat last week."

The people again have spoken. Long live the people.

If anything goes wrong in the next two years the Republicans will not be blamed for it. There are no Republicans in office any more where they can do any good or any harm.

President Roosevelt is going to give all government employes the salaries back they were cut off of some time ago. There are several millions of them. Those not on the government payroll will have to get along the best they can.

The price of building roads has not come down since the World War. This is in spite of the fact that labor and materials have slumped quite a bit. It used to be that brick paving was put down for along about twelve thousand dollars a mile. There are streets in New Castle that were paved at that rate right now.

The country that finds it possible to follow out the dictates of all it's graduating essays is going to get well first.

Roosevelt has survived the final test. He raised the price of salt pork and still holds the Democratic vote.

So far we have heard nothing about the price of turkeys for Thanksgiving this year. We have not heard whether the turkeys are numerous or not. One thing we do know, however, is that a lot of people can get along without turks at Thanksgiving or at any other time for that matter.

I don't even feel sorry for the miser who hurried to the lecture advertised as free, only to learn it was spoken in a foreign language.

We have never heard of any one who really knew the address of Santa Claus.

Some fellows keep posted by going into a cigar stand after a light and reading the headlines on the newsstand.

The public debt of the Irish Free State has increased from $25,000,000 to $85,000,000, but we aren't impressed.

It's impossible for us over here to become interested in small change.

Mrs. Vincent Astor wants a new deal for the immigrant, but there is more than a possibility that they wouldn't appreciate having about a third of them ploughed under.

The statement of that Hoosier schoolmaster that $50 more spent on the education of Dillinger might have "made him a useful citizen" looks to us like another of those Indiana idiocies.

Another fifty dollars wouldn't have made a dent in Dillinger's mental equipment.

It's our observation that the Forgotten Man is always remembered when taxes are being passed around.

It is a pretty good bet, as a result of Uncle Sam's experience, that the next countries that decide to war, will have to use their own money.

Yea, even the genus husband can be soft-soaped by the soft word that turneth away wrath.

The hunting season is also a good time for cats to keep under cover. A skinned cat cannot be told easily from a skinned rabbit.

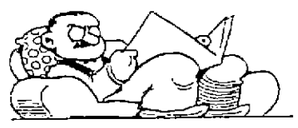
"This summer," says a fashion writer, "will see more pajamas on the beaches."

Particularly on the peaches on the beaches.

Maybe it would help the building trades if the government paid us to burn our houses.

The soldiers cannot be blamed for asking that the bonus be paid to them after the billions of dollars have been thrown out in Washington to those who have not the claim the soldiers have. The soldiers ought to have the bonus laws passed before they go to war. We base our opinion on the fact that we saw practically every soldier who left New Castle on his way to the war. This also includes the nurses we took in our automobile to the railroad stations at all hours of the night and early morning.

The South remains pro-Roosevelt, despite the shortage of hog meat. But wait till he cuts production on calomel.



The boss of the family is the one who gets to read the paper before it is wrinkled and mixed up.

Before marriage mother said she couldn't tell whether pap was in deep thought or dumb. But since, she's found out.

IN ALL FAMILIES

Dear Hints and Dints: Another family affair. It is Friday night. Mom has just cleared off the table and is preparing to wash the dishes.

Mom—"Sister, come here and wipe the dishes, there's plenty of time before getting ready for the dance."

Sister (upstairs doing nothing and enjoying doing it)—"Oh, Mom, I can't, I'm busy curlin' my hair. Get Willie to do it."

Mom—"Willie is going to his Boy Scout meeting and is getting into his uniform and—"

Sis—"Well, as Pop."

Mom (calling to Pop in living room)—"Pop, come out here and help me with these dishes. I'll never get over to Mrs. Breen's for that recipe tonight if you don't."

Pop—"Why in heck can't you get daughter to help you, this is the third time I've tried to read this radio article this evening."

Mom—"That's you all over. Whenever I want any help from you you're just to do this or that for the third time. I never saw a man as lazy as you are, I suppose you are afraid to get your hands wet. Why I ever married you is more than I can see. I wish they had had that companionate idea when we were first engaged, a trial like that would certainly show me where I made my first big mistake, why—"

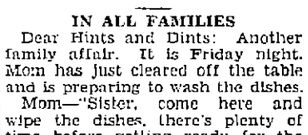
Pop—"Alright, alright, save your breath, I'm coming, where's the dish towel, shall I pour hot water on these?"

Mom—"So you're over anxious to help now, are you? Well, let me tell you this—"

And so on.

JERRY.

The statement is made that Germany is arming for war secretly, illegally and rapidly. About one more war and there will be nothing left of Germany except unpaid war bills.



Radio isn't so bad now. Most people can play or read right along and never hear it.

Both Capital and Labor are willing to buy the hatchet. All that remains is to choose the neck.

It's worse not to give anything than not to get anything.

The Byrd party has discovered an extensive ice-ridden plateau. In view of what we know about the Antarctic we aren't at all surprised.

The House of David has no copyright on whiskers.

LONGING

How cruel, indeed is Father Time!
How heartless and how stern!
O, if the joyous days of old
Might waken and return!
The maid with whom I used to go.
Who shielded me from strife,
Is somewhere in the great, wide world,
But she's somebody's wife.
How swiftly speed the changing years
From youth and dream and fun
Until we waken from our sleep
To find the glad days done,
Then memories are wonderful
And priceless as we go
Adown the trails alone which we
Were wont to love and know,
O, let the Light of Love be dim
'Neath Friendships glaring gleam.
And bring again the old delight
And youth's forsaken dream
Good times, free and evenings fleet—
I would I might renew
Acquaintance with the scene of old
Both lyric-like and true.

The World At A Glance

Can Hauptmann Be Convicted? Will Condon Swear To Identification? Backwoods' Jury To Demand "Facts"

Central Press
New York Bureau
235 East 45th street
By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—A reaction toward Bruno Richard Hauptmann is beginning to be felt in New York.

The state of New Jersey, gripped by the emotionalism that arose upon the arrest of Hauptmann as the "kidnaper of the Lindbergh baby", maneuvered to try Hauptmann for murder. The state of New Jersey has its wish. If emotionalism still holds sway on Jan. 2, Hauptmann may be convicted. But legal minds in New York say that so far the state has made no case—that is, no case based on facts.

And, from now on, emotionalism may swing the other way. Hauptmann's new counsel, Edward J. Reilly of Brooklyn, is a master-mind at creating emotional sympathy for a defendant. That might have been the reason why Mrs. Hauptmann deposed James M. Fawcett, a "civil" lawyer, for Reilly, a "criminal" lawyer.

And the associate counsel in New Jersey, Lloyd Fisher, of Flemington, N. J., where the trial will be held, may be expected to know the type of home folk on the jury very well.

Whereas Attorney General David T. Wilentz of New Jersey, who took the prosecution out of local hands to attend to himself, is likely to have an uphill fight with that backwoods jury.

THE JURY

The jury folk who will determine Hauptmann's fate will be of old American stock—but they may look with tolerance on this stolid German. Both they and he are stoics.

That jury will judge the case as a case, in spite of emotionalism on both sides—according to present indications.

It will demand the facts.

And facts in regard to Hauptmann are few and far between.

With the exception of the finding of the ransom money, the Lindbergh case remains a mystery.

Hauptmann may be the guilty man, but so far the assumption remains solely in the minds of people. There is no tangible evidence that Hauptmann ever was connected with the case, except the ransom money. Even the ladder has not been connected with Hauptmann, in spite of the fact that he is a carpenter.

That Hauptmann lived better, that he took trips, mean nothing much when one realizes he and his wife had $6,000 or so invested prior to the crime.

Besides, Hauptmann did not live very well. He and his wife lived frugally.

The defense is ready with all that—and more, too.

For example, the defense (no matter who the lawyer is) always has claimed that it has witnesses to prove that Hauptmann was in New York, not New Jersey, on the day and the evening of the crime.

LINDBERGH AND JAFSIE

Suppose the defense calls Colonel Lindbergh to the stand?

Can he identify Hauptmann?

No.

Suppose the defense calls Dr. John F. Condon, the "Jafsie" who paid the ransom in the New York cemetery, to the stand, if the prosecution will not?

Will he identify Hauptmann as the mysterious "John" to whom he handed over the money?

The prosecution is fearful that the defense will cause "Jafsie" to admit he is not certain. Yet the defense must meet the fact that Dr. Condon has announced he will swear that Hauptmann is the one person he contacted in the ransom payment—and there certainly are no witnesses to contradict that.

Dr. Condon visited Hauptmann in jail recently.

It was freely remarked that Dr. Condon finally had made a definite identification then.

But Hauptmann says Dr. Condon came to him to aid Dr. Condon, himself, in throwing light on the story.

Why?

In this queerest of all modern mysteries, Dr. Condon had begun to feel that some of the public was beginning to suspect he knew more than he had told! Thus, the veteran college instructor, worried and harassed, had come to seek the light of an accused man!

That Dr. Condon made a definite identification of Hauptmann seems hardly likely.

Now, of Colonel Lindbergh, who suffered the tragedy, does make an appearance, how much will that weigh with the jury?

If the defense calls him, evidently the defense believes the benefit will be with the defense, not with the prosecution. There is a shrewd psychology in that. The people of that region had looked upon the colonel's estate as an intrusion on their domain.

Readers may say: "What has that to do with this case?"

We merely can answer: "When a case rests on intangible evidence, emotional factors often are accepted as facts."

THE MONEY

Well, what of that ransom money found hidden away in the Hauptmann garage?

That certainly is damaging evidence—for an extortion case.

This, however, is a murder case.

What will the defense be on that?

The defense will blame a dead man—Isidor Fisch, the Bronx fur dealer who died of tuberculosis on a trip to Germany.

What did Fawcett, Hauptmann's former counsel, say: Said he:

"I have received a number of letters from persons who said Isidor Fisch was frequently known as John Fisch. If I can establish this fact it will be one more link to indicate that Fisch, from whom Hauptmann received the ransom money, was the kidnaper 'John' of St. Raymond's cemetery (where 'Jafsie' paid the ransom)."

RANSOM NOTES

Then there are the ransom notes.

Assuredly—say experts — Hauptmann wrote those.

But the defense plans to call experts to prove—as assuredly—that Hauptmann did not write them.

Courts invariably are skeptical of the opinions of hand writing experts.

WHAT THEN?

There is no attempt here to build up a defense for Hauptmann.

We merely are giving an idea of what the defense will be—and we haven't mentioned the half of it (due to space limitations).

Nor have we mentioned all the arguments that the prosecution has at its command.

But we do know this—which worries police and prosecution — that Hauptmann underwent days of third degree, the most devastating kind, third degree of the mind, efforts to trip the mind and the tongue, day and night, and he came through admitting virtually nothing. Even on public cross-examination in his extradition hearing, he admitted nothing to incriminate him for murder.

And some of the most skilled police operatives believe that if Hauptmann was concerned in the kidnaping, he was only one of two or three. But they can't name the others. They are not even sure of the one.

TODAY Is The Day

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 7.

The World War Day By Day—Nov. 7, 1914—Virtually the entire town was in ruins from the bombardment. The defenders used nitro-glycerine plentifully and blew up what was left of the Iltis, Bismarck, Moltke and Kaiser forts. The wireless station hummed its last message to Berlin. Governor Meyer-Waldeck ordered white flags hoisted and sent an officer under a flag of truce to the Anglo-Japanese lines to arrange the surrender.

Thus terminated German rule in the Pacific. The fall of Tsingtau deprived Germany not only of the Kiaochow leasehold, her last possession on the Asiatic mainland, but of her only strategic possession outside of Europe.

The defense was hopeless from the first, and was made only for the honor of the German flag. For two months the German garrison almost wholly composed of 2,500 reservists who were living in China held out against the air, land and sea attacks of the 20,000 Japanese and 1,000 British and Indian troops. Japanese officers paid unstinted tribute to the bravery of the Germans, who fought tenaciously to the last, and courteously allowed the German officers the freedom of the town after the surrender.

Some day, American newspapers published President Wilsons proclamation of neutrality in the war between Turkey and the Central Powers. As Entente ambassadors departed bag and baggage, the American enjoy, Oscar Straus, became the protector of the interests of a half dozen governments.

History Up-to-Date—Nov. 7, 1811—William Henry "Tippecanoe" Harrison, 9th and shortest-termed President of the U. S. (one month), won his nickname. Aged 38, he led 300 regular infantry and cavalry and 500 militia to victory over 3000 to 5000 Shawnee, Creek and Seminole warriors led by Chief Tecumseh of the Shawnees, at Tippecanoe Creek, in Indiana. Tecumseh survived, to become a brigadier-general in the British army.

The ghouls were never punished for the crime.

Nov. 7, 1876—Ghouls perpetrated the most celebrated case of body-snatching in American history. The corpse of A. T. Stewart, New York merchant, was stolen from a downtown Manhattan graveyard, shipped to Canada, held for two years until $20,000 was paid by the family.

Nov. 7, 1917—Almost on the 70th anniversary of the issuance of the historic Manifest der Kommunisten by Henrich Karl Marx and Friedrich Engels, Bolsheviks in Petrograd rose in the epochal 25th of October Revolution (according to the Greek calendar.) Alexander Kerensky, dictator, proclaimed loudly to the population that he had taken the necessary measures to suppress any attempt at revolt. In reality he had no no troops back of him except two battalions of military cadets and a company of women soldiers. "The self-constituted commander-in chief of the Russian army relied on speeches against machine-guns, as the Chinese generals of 1860 had relied on painted dragons against the rifles of the English and French expeditionary force."

Bolshevik sailors surrounded the Winter Palace, and after a brief scrap with the women arrested the women. Kerensky had disappeared. He made good his escape by connivance of the chief of the British diplomatic mission, Bruce Lockhart

NO REGIMENTATION NEEDED

SOME time ago the New York newspapers carried notices of the death of Franklin Simon, well known merchant of the nation's metropolis and founder of one of the city's big department stores. Mr. Simon, according to the dispatches, was a man of vision. He was credited with having been the first of the New York business men to visualize the future and to perceive that Fifth Avenue, above 34th Street, would become the city's fashionable shopping district. He acted accordingly, built his business there, began offering fashionable styles at what were considered reasonable prices, and became one of New York's merchant princes.

All of which led the New York Times to state: "One thought forces itself to the front of the mind in surveying the rise of a business like that built by Mr. Simon. It would have been impossible had he been hampered at every step by government regulation and meddlesomeness. What need of imposing a 'code' on a man like him? He was his own code, always one of honor and humanity."

Of course the regimenters, who like to talk about the age of competition without government interference as the day when we were ruled by the law of the jungle, would say that Mr. Simon's case was the exception which proves the rule. But this is not true. Greed and graft in business are exceptions and not the rule. There are thousands of business men of real integrity all over this nation. They gain success not by using the tooth and claw, and not by leaning on the government for support. They work long and patiently without watching the clock, practice the rules of honesty and fair dealing, and do not waste their time and money in the fond belief that in the long run Uncle Sam will take care of them anyhow.

DEATH IN HASTE

It is haste that causes most fatal automobile accidents.

This is the conclusion to be drawn from an analysis of figures collected by statisticians of an insurance company.

The figures related to accidents occurring last year and were obtained from official sources in various centers. They dealt particularly with fatal accidents of the kind in which the driver was at fault. In 33 per cent of these cases, the driver was found to have been exceeding the speed limit. The same percentage held with respect to the driver's trying to take the right-of-way when he was not entitled to it. In more than five per cent of the cases, the driver was guilty either of passing a standing street car, cutting in, passing another car on a curve or hill or passing on the wrong side. Cases in which the driver went completely off the highway amounted to more than 18 per cent. Nine per cent of the accidents were charged simply to reckless driving.

The various causes listed when lumped together, the insurance company statisticians emphasized, could be labeled "heedless, needless haste."

In other words, more than 90 per cent of the accidents studied were caused by drivers being "in a hurry"—their overeagerness to get to some place or to no place in particular.

The lesson is very plain—less hurry and less speed.

A SWAT IN TIME

Perhaps we can blame the sun spots (if there are any visible now). Perhaps the moon is off her proper course. Perhaps it has resulted from the depression. Perhaps it is the weather. Perhaps we have become careless and neglected our duties. Or perhaps, after all, it has resulted from a hundred and one other causes.

But, nevertheless, we are certain that there have been more pesky, dirty, troublesome flies this season than in many years.

It is too late to bother now about the cause of our plight, but definite action can be taken to prevent its recurrence. Scientists tell us that the early winter fly is the greatest menace of them all. Before the winter is over he will have provided for the birth of about one hundred million children or other descendants, who will bother us next spring.

We can see that these flies are different now than they were early in the summer. They have lost their pep and agility. Now they lazily hover near the cealing or amble slowly across the window pane. It seems that they are glad to be inside, where it is warm and where their endless system of propagation can flourish.

Our moral must now be evident. Instead of killing two birds with one stone, we now have the opportunity of killing hundreds of millions of potential flies with but a single stroke, (if we are good swatters).

PRESIDENTIAL YEARNING

The hidden ambitions of successful men are interesting things, when we can find out about them. Many an industrial leader secretly wishes he had become a prospector or a musician; many a general would be a locomotive engineer or an Arctic explorer if he followed the dictates of his own heart.

But the most surprising of all these suppressed desires is the one recently attributed to the late President Coolidge.

Arthur Hopkins, theatrical producer, says that Mr. Coolidge always wanted to be an actor. Mr. Hopkins says that he and John Barrymore learned this, some years ago, while guests of President Coolidge at a White House luncheon.

The president, he says, not only wanted to be an actor, but was convinced that he would have been a pretty good one.

Few men ever win more success than Mr Coolidge found in his chosen field of politics. It is strange indeed to learn that beneath it all there lurked a hidden yen for the glamour of footlights and grease paint.

We hope we're not shot for asking, but is that love affair on the coast McAdoo about nothing?

UNDERSTAND THE TRUTH BEHIND THE HURTING CRITICISM

Aren't you too sensitive and easily hurt?

Reprimanded in a way you know you deserve, you are offended at the person who really is doing you a favor.

Needed reproof is valuable to the person who receives it.

Do you ever welcome criticism in such a spirit?

You may have been for some years, unfortunately, in a position that did not permit anyone to criticize you.

But for this you might be much more perfect in many ways than you are today.

You might be more enlightened, more tolerant, more just.

Criticism brings out the best that is inside.

Otherwise there is inferior drifting instead of superior acting.

Most criticism fails of good results because it is not done in a friendly and helpful manner.

The censor is too personal and tinged with anger, perhaps, and criticism should be in the right spirit to be constructive.

Personal likes or dislikes should not temper complaints.

On the other hand, if you are criticized, be wise enough to see the justice of it and profit by it by forgetting the spirit in which it is given.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THAT GOMORRAH

Recent protests by the better class of Chicago citizens over the wave of crime stimulated by legal liquor, recall the visit to that city of John Burns, British labor leader. While making a speech at a labor mass meeting, a man in the audience got up and introduced himself as the chief of police.

"You are quoted in the newspapers as saying that Chicago is a pocket edition of hell," the chief accused him. "If you made that remark, you must withdraw it or you cannot continue your speech."

Mr. Burns was not dismayed in the least. "If that is what the papers said," he replied to the chief, "I have not been correctly quoted. What I said was, that hell is a pocket edition of Chicago."

After the laughter had subsided there was no further interruptions.

Weekly Health Talks

"Prize fighters are able to take physical punishment that would kill the average man. Over a series of years they have so developed the protective muscles of their bodies that the steam hammer blows to which they have to submit in most instances do not result in serious injury. But even this type of man can be badly injured and fatally so, as the records will show. It follows that if any one sustans a severe blow on any portion of the body, the extent of the injury, even though appearing to be slight on the surface, should be ascertained by seeking professional advice," state Dr. Theodore B. Appel, State Secretary of Health.

"Recently a man died following a blow that ruptured his bladder. Skull injuries that do not even seriously bruise the scalp have caused severe concussion of the brain. Skulls can even be fractured with the outward evidences of injury being exceedingly slight.

"While the body is marvelously constructed to give maximum protection to the internal organs, and this even under unusual circumstances, this fact by no means should be relied upon when one has received a severe blow, even though the surface injury be slight.

"Hospitals contain many records where the neglect of a supposedly superficial blow that had seriously involved the liver, brain, bladder, spleen or some other internal organ directly resulted in death.

"For instance, the other day a man tripped over a chair, struck a wooden stool and did not even get a black and blue spot to prove his casualty. He gave the matter no further thought for the time being. What he unfortunately did not know was that he had slightly ruptured his liver. And he gradually bled to death.

"Of course, most blows or body bumps are superficial. One gets a discolored skin at the point of contact, and in due time the thing clears up. But this fact should by no means deter one from seeking professional advice immediately when he has received a hard blow on the head or on the trunk of the body, even though the injury marks may be faint.

"There is perhaps better than a fifty to one chance that the injury is as superficial as it appears to be. However, though the odds are thus much in one's favor against serious injury, no one has any logical right to act upon that assumption.

"It certainly will not cost much to be assured that the blow or injury is of little consequence. On the other hand, if things are worse than they appear to be, one's life may be saved for his trouble."

Speaking of preachers, Henry Ward Beecher was said to have been the highest paid preacher of his day Not only was he able to preach a sermon that lifted the soul heavenward, but he was gifted with a fund of humor that kept his congregation in fine spirits. You may be sure that there was no sleepers in the pews of his famous church. In private gatherings, the Reverend Doctor was a delight. For he was never averse to telling anecdotes in which the joke was on himself. One of these stories, which he was fond of telling was about the time he was walking through Brooklyn Heights—one of Brooklyn's ritzy sections where the homes were, for the most part, in brown stone architecture with a stairway leading to the "parlor floor." It was at that period in American history when door-bells were rung by pulling at a knob. The Doctor noticed at the door of one of the homes, two little boys trying hard to reach the doorbell, but try as they would, they were just too short to give the knob the necessary horizontal pull. Soft in heart, like most preachers, the Reverend gentleman climbed the stairs and asked the boys whether he could help them, to which they gladly assented. A long pull and a strong pull from the able Doctor and from the inside came the jangle of the bell, whereat the boys, turning on their heels, started down the stairs, calling back to their Good Samaritan, "Come on, Mister—run like hell!"

Most European Governments Shaky Soviet Russia's Most Secure U. S. S. R. Sees German-Japan Alliance

Central Press

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—No government in Europe is safe, except that of Soviet Russia.

And Soviet Russia believes it is threatened by a war.

A Soviet government document, just received in the United States, alleges that Germany and Japan have formed an alliance to "drive Russia out of Europe and to cut it off in the Orient."

No one ever has accomplished that task. No one probably ever will. Many have tried.

Germany, so the allegations go, would try to sweep into Russia from the west, winning Poland over by promising her a large slice. Japan would attend to the far East.

But, as a former European correspondent pointed out to me today, the peoples of all countries yearn for peace. Even with the virus of nationalism and hatred and emotionalism being poured into them now by militaristic governments the people still yearn for peace.

Wherever there is fighting it is because people are trying to throw off oppressive governments.

CRY FOR LIBERTY

And Japan will hardly fight—unless the government sees in a "patriotic" war the only means of preserving itself. The Japanese people, beset by famine and financial troubles, are in no mood to listen to further demands from a top-heavy and expensive government.

And what would the voice of Italy be if Premier Benito Mussolini permitted it to be heard?

Nor would Chancellor Adolf Hitler be constructing bomb-proof cellars if he considered his government safe.

In Austria a militaristic minority killed off many of the best of the people or drove them from their homes. When the Socialists of Austria, equivalent to our Democrats, were swept from being, an oppressive darkness settled on the land—but, some day, there will be light again.

Spain, too, is governed by dark reaction. A people maddened by despair may rise to bloody acts, and in freeing themselves, go beyond the limits of social reform.

These are no imaginations, but the reports of trained observers.

ENGLAND, TOO

Much is made of England's apparent prosperity.

But information from Englishmen themselves, English writers on economics for example, indicate that England is yet to see her New Deal.

The poor in England not only are many, but very poor. And, if there is real wealth flowing into England, the majority of people are dissatisfied with its distribution.

France, and its allied countries of Belgium and Holland, are undergoing financial throes that presage severe governmental eruptions. It is a lossup whether France will swing to fascism, or to the left. Present cabinet developments point to eventual extreme divisions.

U. S.

Seldom has any American administration except Lincoln's undergone such attacks as the Roosevelt administration — and yet won so many victories.

No administration ever has had its ear closer to the ground. Wall Street has begun to be fascinated (and horrified) by the administration's ability to sense the opinions of the masses.

BRECKENRIDGE

In the heat of a national congressional campaign, one candidacy seems to have been overlooked by the people—but not by the administration.

Colonel Henry Breckenridge, attorney and friend of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, carried on a more slashing anti-Roosevelt campaign in running for U. S. senator in New York as an independent and did the Republicans. The Republicans, realizing the popularity of President Roosevelt, often pulled their punches.

Breckenridge not only did not pull his punches, but added a few. And the administration thought many of them were "below the belt."

Breckenridge, ostensibly a Democrat, went far to the right of even the most conservative Republicans.

But the administration observed one thing — even though Colonel Lindbergh hauled Breckenridge around in his plane during the campaign, the presence of Colonel Lindbergh did not seem to add to the vote-getting possibilities of Colonel Breckenridge.

TODAY Is The Day

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 6

The World War Day-By-Day—Nov. 6, 1914—Karl Hans Lody died for his country, the first German spy to be shot in the Tower of London.

At the war's outbreak the German intelligence service of England collapsed at one blow: that is, just when Geremany needed it most the supply of news failed. Berlin, for instance, did not know until the men were in the firing line, of the movement of the first 100,000 of the British Expeditionary Force to France.

Britain had spotted all German intelligence men, kept tabs on them, and cleverly bided its time. When war became assured, it quietly arrested and isolated them; and to conceal this fact continued to send false reports in their name to Wilhelmstrasse!

Thus Lody's job was doubly dangerous when he arrived in England in the guise of a neutral American, with a stolen American passport bearing the name of Charles A. Inglis. He acted the part of an American well, from experience. When a disability caused his retirement from the German navy with the rank of lieutenant, he had become an agent for a German steamship line in the U. S. He had acquired an American wife, an American accent.

Lody was in Berlin that fateful August 1. As he was medically unfit for active service, he was selected to go to England as a spy, to report movements of the British fleet and its losses. He traveled by way of Norway to Edinburgh, which put him in the proximity of the most important British naval base, and sent his information by letter or telegram to one Burchard in Stockholm, by whom it was forwarded to Berlin.

A telegram aroused suspicion of him: "Mustcancel. Johnson last four days very ill. Shall start shortly." This was an indication to Berlin that the British fleet was to leave the Firth of Forth in four days. He was not aware that Britain was scrutinizing all correspondence for the Scandinavia.

Britain's radio and telegraph systems are controlled by her post office. Her "black chamber" gets a copy of every message transmitted or received in times of war or emergency. Every piece of mail also is gone over for possible secret messages.

When Lody noticed for the first time he was being observed, he boldly went to the police and complained of the annoyance, they were causing him, an innocent American subject. The police did not drop their surveillance, but they were more careful about it, for they weren't sure yet. This enabled Lody to disappear from Edinburgh. When his trail was picked up next he was in London reconnoitring the defensive measures being taken against Zeppelin attacks. A letter he sent to Karl I. Stammer in Berlin, signed Nazi, was intercepted and his fate was sealed.

His judges were Maj. Gen. Lord Cheviesmore and eight other officers. One of the most distinguished men at the British bar, George Elliott, was assigned as counsel. Elliott lauded him as a hero, saying, "I defend him as a man faithfully devoted to his land .... Many would gladly do for England what he has done for Germany, and may actually be doing it at this moment. Whatever his

TO WAITING EUROPE

(All Europe is waiting for Americans to start collecting art again. Dr. Wilhelm Valentiner.)

When both capital and labor
Shall decide once more to neighbor
And to share each other's troubles,
Man to man and heart to heart again;
When the poor man and the scholar
Know the value of a dollar;
When a profit isn't shameful
We may start collecting art again.

When the generation younger
Isn't faced by cold and hunger
And we see a sign of business
Back in office, shop and mart again;
When to reap is not a blunder
And we've done with plowing under,
Tell the waiting Europeans
We may start collecting art again.

When we hire the men we've laid off;
When the war debts have been paid off;
When the mortgage has been lifted
And our idle factories start again;
When it's safe once more to borrow,
And with faith we face tomorrow;
When our earnings meet our taxes
We may start collecting art again.

But I fear 'tis truth I'm stating
'Tis a long time they'll be waiting
Ere to hand them hard-earned dollars
We shall ever think it smart again.
Until friendship we're assured of.
This is one disease we're cured of.
They may never live to greet us
When we start collecting art again.

NO REGIMENTATION NEEDED

SOME time ago the New York newspapers carried notices of the death of Franklin Simon, well known merchant of the nation's metropolis and founder of one of the city's big department stores. Mr. Simon, according to the dispatches, was a man of vision. He was credited with having been the first of the New York business men to visualize the future and to perceive that Fifth Avenue, above 34th Street, would become the city's fashionable shopping district. He acted accordingly, built his business there, began offering fashionable styles at what were considered reasonable prices, and became one of New York's merchant princes.

All of which led the New York Times to state: "One thought forces itself to the front of the mind in surveying the rise of a business like that built by Mr. Simon. It would have been impossible had he been hampered at every step by government regulation and meddlesomeness. What need of imposing a 'code' on a man like him? He was his own code, always one of honor and humanity."

Of course the regimenters, who like to talk about the age of competition without government interference as the day when we were ruled by the law of the jungle, would say that Mr. Simon's case was the exception which proves the rule. But this is not true. Greed and graft in business are exceptions and not the rule. There are thousands of business men of real integrity all over this nation. They gain success not by using the tooth and claw, and not by leaning on the government for support. They work long and patiently without watching the clock, practice the rules of honesty and fair dealing, and do not waste their time and money in the fond belief that in the long run Uncle Sam will take care of them anyhow.

DEATH IN HASTE

It is haste that causes most fatal automobile accidents.

This is the conclusion to be drawn from an analysis of figures collected by statisticians of an insurance company.

The figures related to accidents occurring last year and were obtained from official sources in various centers. They dealt particularly with fatal accidents of the kind in which the driver was at fault. In 33 per cent of these cases, the driver was found to have been exceeding the speed limit. The same percentage held with respect to the driver's trying to take the right-of-way when he was not entitled to it. In more than five per cent of the cases, the driver was guilty either of passing a standing street car, cutting in, passing another car on a curve or hill or passing on the wrong side. Cases in which the driver went completely off the highway amounted to more than 16 per cent. Nine per cent of the accidents were charged simply to reckless driving.

The various causes listed when lumped together, the insurance company statisticians emphasized, could be labeled "heedless, needless haste."

In other words, more than 90 per cent of the accidents studied were caused by drivers being "in a hurry"—their overeagerness to get to some place or to no place in particular.

The lesson is very plain—less hurry and less speed.

A SWAT IN TIME

Perhaps we can blame the sun spots (if there are any visible now). Perhaps the moon is off her proper course. Perhaps it has resulted from the depression. Perhaps it is the weather. Perhaps we have become careless and neglected our duties. Or perhaps, after all, it has resulted from a hundred and one other causes.

But, nevertheless, we are certain that there have been more pesky, dirty, troublesome flies this season than in many years.

It is too late to bother now about the cause of our plight, but definite action can be taken to prevent its recurrence. Scientists tell us that the early winter fly is the greatest menace of them all. Before the winter is over he will have provided for the birth of about one hundred million children or other descendants, who will bother us next spring.

We can see that these flies are different now than they were early in the summer. They have lost their pep and agility. Now they lazily hover near the cealing or amble slowly across the window pane. It seems that they are glad to be inside, where it is warm and where their endless system of propagation can flourish.

Our moral must now be evident. Instead of killing two birds with one stone, we now have the opportunity of killing hundreds of millions of potential flies with but a single stroke, (if we are good swatters).

PRESIDENTIAL YEARNING

The hidden ambitions of successful men are interesting things, when we can find out about them. Many an industrial leader secretly wishes he had become a prospector or a musician; many a general would be a locomotive engineer or an Arctic explorer if he followed the dictates of his own heart.

But the most surprising of all these suppressed desires is the one recently attributed to the late President Coolidge.

Arthur Hopkins, theatrical producer, says that Mr. Coolidge always wanted to be an actor. Mr. Hopkins says that he and John Barrymore learned this, some years ago, while guests of President Coolidge at a White House luncheon.

The president, he says, not only wanted to be an actor, but was convinced that he would have been a pretty good one.

Few men ever win more success than Mr Coolidge found in his chosen field of politics. It is strange indeed to learn that beneath it all there lurked a hidden yen for the glamour of foothights and grease paint.

We hope we're not shot for asking, but is that love affair on the coast McAdoo about nothing?

Washington reports that Tugwell's part in the AAA will be behind the scenes. The farmers remaining behind the plow.

The government will employ an army of 25,000 to discover what the depression and the drought have done to the farmers. The farmers, meanwhile, will continue to find out for themselves.

UNDERSTAND THE TRUTH BEHIND THE HURTING CRITICISM

Aren't you too sensitive and easily hurt?

Reprimanded in a way you know you deserve, you are offended at the person who really is doing you a favor.

Needed reproof is valuable to the person who receives it.

Do you ever welcome criticism in such a spirit?

You may have been for some years, unfortunately, in a position that did not permit anyone to criticize you.

But for this you might be much more perfect in many ways than you are today.

You might be more enlightened, more tolerant, more just.

Criticism brings out the best that is inside.

Otherwise there is inferior drifting instead of superior acting.

Most criticism fails of good results because it is not done in a friendly and helpful manner.

The censor is too personal and tinged with anger, perhaps, and criticism should be in the right spirit to be constructive.

Personal likes or dislikes should not temper complaints.

On the other hand, if you are criticized, be wise enough to see the justice of it and profit by it by forgetting the spirit in which it is given.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THAT GOMORRAH

Recent protests by the better class of Chicago citizens over the wave of crime stimulated by legal liquor, recall the visit to that city of John Burns, British labor leader. While making a speech at a labor mass meeting, a man in the audience got up and introduced himself as the chief of police.

"You are quoted in the newspapers as saying that Chicago is a pocket edition of hell," the chief accused him. "If you made that remark, you must withdraw it or you cannot continue your speech."

Mr. Burns was not dismayed in the least. "If that is what the papers said," he replied to the chief, "I have not been correctly quoted. What I said was, that hell is a pocket edition of Chicago."

After the laughter had subsided there was no further interruptions.

Weekly Health Talks

"Prize fighters are able to take physical punishment that would kill the average man. Over a series of years they have so developed the protective muscles of their bodies that the steam hammer blows to which they have to submit in most instances do not result in serious injury. But even this type of man can be badly injured and fatally so, as the records will show. It follows that if any one sustans a severe blow on any portion of the body, the extent of the injury, even though appearing to be slight on the surface, should be ascertained by seeking professional advice," state Dr. Theodore B. Appel, State Secretary of Health.

"Recently a man died following a blow that ruptured his bladder. Skull injuries that do not even seriously bruise the scalp have caused severe concussion of the brain. Skulls can even be fractured with the outward evidences of injury being exceedingly slight.

"While the body is marvelously constructed to give maximum protection to the internal organs, and this even under unusual circumstances, this fact by no means should be relied upon when one has received a severe blow, even though the surface injury be slight.

"Hospitals contain many records where the neglect of a supposedly superficial blow that had seriously involved the liver, brain, bladder, spleen or some other internal organ directly resulted in death.

"For instance, the other day a man tripped over a chair, struck a wooden stool and did not even get a black and blue spot to prove his casualty. He gave the matter no further thought for the time being. What he unfortunately did not know was that he had slightly ruptured his liver. And he gradually bled to death.

"Of course, most blows or body bumps are superficial. One gets a discolored skin at the point of contact, and in due time the thing clears up. But this fact should by no means deter one from seeking professional advice immediately when he has received a hard blow on the head or on the trunk of the body, even though the injury marks may be faint.

"There is perhaps better than a fifty to one chance that the injury is as superficial as it appears to be. However, though the odds are thus much in one's favor against serious injury, no one has any logical right to act upon that assumption.

"It certainly will not cost much to be assured that the blow or injury is of little consequence. On the other hand, if things are worse than they appear to be, one's life may be saved for his trouble."

The use of the word "certainly" as a means of emphasis in relation to matters on which no doubt has been cast, is a colloquialism, and its over-use is monotonous.

For sterling drama, nothing exceeds a little act which took place yesterday afternoon when a 4 year old boy got loose in the glassware department of a local store. And when the 4 year old passed happily out the front door without having broken a single piece, the clerks heaved sighs of relief and prayed to a kind Providence to send nothing worse than a bull or an earthquake the next time. It was really very amusing to a disinterested party to watch the thrill of maternal pride in the knowingness of the child as he explored with supreme indifference the shelves of delicate ware, and the despairing intensity of the clerks on the other hand who were forced to look on and even smile for fear of losing a sale.

AND NOW I'LL TELL ONE

Speaking of preachers, Henry Ward Beecher was said to have been the highest paid preacher of his day Not only was he able to preach a sermon that lifted the soul heavenward, but he was gifted with a fund of humor that kept his congregation in fine spirits. You may be sure that there was no sleepers in the pews of his famous church. In private gatherings, the Reverend Doctor was a delight. For he was never averse to telling anecdotes in which the joke was on himself. One of these stories, which he was fond of telling was about the time he was walking through Brooklyn Heights—one of Brooklyn's ritzy sections where the homes were, for the most part, in brown stone architecture with a stairway leading to the "parlor floor." It was at that period in American history when door-bells were rung by pulling at a knob. The Doctor noticed at the door of one of the homes, two little boys trying hard to reach the doorbell, but try as they would, they were just too short to give the knob the necessary horizontal pull. Soft in heart, like most preachers, the Reverend gentleman climbed the stairs and asked the boys whether he could help them, to which they gladly assented. A long pull and a strong pull from the able Doctor and from the inside came the jangle of the bell, whereat the boys, turning on their heels, started down the stairs, calling back to their Good Samaritan, "Come on, Mister—run like hell!"

Most European Governments Shaky Soviet Russia's Most Secure U. S. S. R. Sees German-Japan Alliance

Central Press

Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—No government in Europe is safe, except that of Soviet Russia.

And Soviet Russia believes it is threatened by a war.

A Soviet government document, just received in the United States, alleges that Germany and Japan have formed an alliance to "drive Russia out of Europe and to cut it off in the Orient."

No one ever has accomplished that task. No one probably ever will. Many have tried.

Germany, so the allegations go, would try to sweep into Russia from the west, winning Poland over by promising her a large slice. Japan would attend to the far East.

But, as a former European correspondent pointed out to me today, the peoples of all countries yearn for peace. Ever, with the virus of nationalism and hatred and emotionalism being poured into them now by militaristic governments the people still yearn for peace.

Wherever there is fighting it is because people are trying to throw off oppressive governments.

CRY FOR LIBERTY

And Japan will hardly fight—unless the government sees in a "patriotic" war the only means of preserving itself. The Japanese people, beset by famine and financial troubles, are in no mood to listen to further demands from a top-heavy and expensive government.

And what would the voice of Italy be if Premier Benito Mussolini permitted it to be heard?

Nor would Chancellor Adolf Hitler be constructing bomb-proof cellars if he considered his government safe.

In Austria a militaristic minority killed off many of the best of the people or drove them from their homes. When the Socialists of Austria, equivalent to our Democrats, were swept from being, an oppressive darkness settled on the land—but, some day, there will be light again.

Spain, too, is governed by dark reaction. A people maddened by despair may rise to bloody acts, and in freeing themselves, go beyond the limits of social reform.

These are no imaginations, but the reports of trained observers.

ENGLAND, TOO

Much is made of England's apparent prosperity.

But information from Englishmen themselves, English writers on economics for example, indicate that England is yet to see her New Deal.

The poor in England not only are many, but very poor. And, if there is real wealth flowing into England, the majority of people are dissatisfied with its distribution.

Labor is winning all the bye elections and scored significant victories in the recent municipal elections. The Tory government may be out within a year.

FRANCE

France, and its allied countries of Belgium and Holland, are undergoing financial throes that presage severe governmental eruptions. It is a lossup whether France will swing to fascism, or to the left. Present cabinet developments point to eventual extreme divisions.

U. S.

Seldom has any American administration except Lincoln's undergone such attacks as the Roosevelt administration — and yet won so many victories.

No administration ever has had its ear closer to the ground. Wall Street has begun to be fascinated (and horrified) by the administration's ability to sense the opinions of the masses.

BRECKENRIDGE

In the heat of a national congressional campaign, one candidacy seems to have been overlooked by the people—but not by the administration.

Colonel Henry Breckenridge, attorney and friend of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, carried on a more slashing anti-Roosevelt campaign in running for U. S. senator in New York as an independent and did the Republicans. The Republicans, realizing the popularity of President Roosevelt, often pulled their punches.

Breckenridge not only did not pull his punches, but added a few. And the administration thought many of them were "below the belt."

Breckenridge, ostensibly a Democrat, went far to the right of even the most conservative Republicans.

But the administration observed one thing — even though Colonel Lindbergh hauled Breckenridge around in his plane during the campaign, the presence of Colonel Lindbergh did not seem to add to the vote-getting possibilities of Colonel Breckenridge.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 6

The World War Day-By-Day—Nov. 6, 1914—Karl Hans Lody died for his country, the first German spy to be shot in the Tower of London.

At the war's outbreak the German intelligence service of England collapsed at one blow: that is, just when Geremany needed it most the supply of news failed. Berlin, for instance, did not know until the men were in the firing line, of the movement of the first 100,000 of the British Expeditionary Force to France.

Britain had spotted all German intelligence men, kept tabs on them, and cleverly bided its time. When war became assured, it quietly arrested and isolated them; and to conceal this fact continued to send false reports in their name to Wilhelmstrasse!

Thus Lody's job was doubly dangerous when he arrived in England in the guise of a neutral American, with a stolen American passport bearing the name of Charles A. Inglis. He acted the part of an American well, from experience. When a disability caused his retirement from the German navy with the rank of lieutenant, he had become an agent for a German steamship line in the U. S. He had acquired an American wife, an American accent.

Lody was in Berlin that fateful August 1. As he was medically unfit for active service, he was selected to go to England as a spy, to report movements of the British fleet and its losses. He traveled by way of Norway to Edinburgh, which put him in the proximity of the most important British naval base, and sent his information by letter or telegram to one Burchard in Stockholm, by whom it was forwarded to Berlin.

House Control For Democrats

Election Yesterday May Give Democrats Control Of Legislature

UPHEAVAL WAS UNPRECEDENTED

By G. EVERETT DOYING
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Nov. 7.—On the crest of a New Deal juggernaut, Democrats apparently swept into numerical control of the state house of representatives today, at the same time destroying the two-thirds Republican majority in the state senate.

Neither accomplishment has been duplicated by the Democratic party in Pennsylvania since the turn of the century.

Bolstered by an unanimous Democratic delegation to the General Assembly from Allegheny county, on the basis of nearly complete returns from yesterday's election, the heretofore minority element in the house was practically certain to exceed the constitutional majority of 105.

The Democratic membership in the senate, now seven, likely will be increased at the next session to beyond the present estimated minimum of 17 seats.

Probable Makeup

With only 72 districts—40 now held by Republicans and 29 by Democrats—undecided this morning, the membership of the General Assembly convening on January 1 stood:

Democrats 75.
Republicans 61.

In the present assembly those same seats are held by 37 Democrats and 99 Republicans, thus creating a gain for the Democrats of 38 seats.

By holding all the Democratic seats yet undecided—a feat not improbable on the face of mounting majorities for the party ticket as a whole—and winning just one more Republican seat, the Democrats will have reached a membership of 105 in the house.

Democrats were leading in nearly a dozen Republican districts as the day wore on.

Tabulations of unofficial returns showed that Republican incumbents successful in their quest for another term number 40 from the 136 districts accounted for. Half as many Democratic incumbents also were re-elected. Republicans were elected to 19 seats held in the existing legislature by Republicans and the same was true of 15 Democrats. Republicans gained two Democratic seats and lost 40 of their own.

Unprecedented as was the complete Democratic sweep of the 27 Allegheny county seats in the house chamber, it was no greater surprise than the unseating of 10 Republicans in Philadelphia to increase the Democratic party's membership in the delegation from the eastern metropolis to 16. The remaining Democratic gains were scattered throughout the state.

House gains by the Democrats were no more startling, however, than the toppling of at least half a dozen stalwart Republican leaders in the senate. These incumbents were trailing far behind, in most cases, their Democratic opponents. Four other Republican candidates seeking election to seats voluntarily abandoned by their G. O. P. holders were defeated by Democrats.

Is "Trench of Bayonets" a Hoax?

Hotel and tourist interests at Verdun, France, are alarmed over rumors that the famed "trench of bayonets" there, shown above, does not contain bones of a company of poilus said to have been buried alive when their trench collapsed but is merely a stack of abandoned rifles and bayonets. Thousands of American tourists yearly visit the trench which is protected from weather by a concrete canopy erected by contributions of American school children. (Central Press)

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Seventh Ward Takes Count Honors Again

Call At 7:25 Last Night Brought First Tally From Fire House Precinct

Precinct No. 1 of the seventh ward, located at the Cherry street fire station, was first with the latest last night, so far as The News' tabulation of election returns were concerned.

A telephone rang in the editorial rooms at 7:25 p. m. and on the other end of the wire a member of the election board announced that district's governorship tally—it was 271 for Earle and 95 for Schnader.

Within a moment or two another phone rang and then another, and within a short time all three precincts of the seventh ward, always the first section to report, had their first counts in.

From other sections of the city the returns began to stream in at eight o'clock, and throughout the evening the return "scorekeepers" kept pencils sailing. In some of the larger districts the election boards completed their counts in record time.

Your Wrong If You Believe—That it gets too cold for snow to fall.

This is disproven by the fact that snow falls in the coldest parts of the world. However, many of the heaviest snows do fall during milder periods of winter. This, it is explained by the Weather Bureau, is because most rains or snows come on the easterly to southerly winds. Cold winds, then, are from the wrong directions to bring much snow.

Also, you're wrong if you believe—

That aheavy coat of fur upon animals forecasts a severe winter.

That water rots the hair and causes baldness.

Revolutionary oils give new protection against severe winter conditions

USERS SAVE MORE THAN OIL COSTS

CHANGING piston rings is costly business. That's why motorists welcome the new ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS for Winter. These oils have such extremely high film-strength that they definitely minimize wear . . . particularly under severe operating conditions such as the warming-up period on cold days, when piston wear can be 65 times greater than normal.

Between engine pistons and cylinder walls, the clearances are less than the thickness of a piece of paper. The thin film of motor oil in that space must be strong enough to prevent metal-to-metal contact under all conditions; otherwise, costly wear results.

The high film-strength of ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS for Winter means an extra margin of safety . . . for your engine . . . and for your purse! In fact, we believe you will get ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS practically "for nothing" throughout the life of your car, because of the large savings they should bring in repair bills. Cold weather is here. Give your car this new protection right now. * * * For best results, drain your crankcase before putting in the correct winter grade of the new ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS.

Restore Back Pay Under NRA Code

Feuchtwanger Informed That Millions Are Restored To Workers

According to a bulletin received by Marcus Feuchtwanger, local NRA chairman, millions of dollars have been restored in back pay, since the creation of the Compliance Division of the NRA on October 26, 1933.

The division has been instrumental, the bulletin states, in restoring approximately two millions in back wages to many thousands of workers in the NRA codes. This sum represents the difference between the wages actually paid to workers and the amounts they should have received under applicable code provisions.

In addition to this figure, 16 code authorities report that up to September 29, 1934, they had effected wage restrictions amounting to $523,119.59 which was paid to approximately 70,000 workers.

Farm Calendar

Timely Reminders From The Pennsylvania State College School Of Agriculture

Store Winter Vegetables—Store beets, carrots, turnips, cabbage, celery, and potatoes in a cool, slightly moist place, onions in a dry cool place, and pumpkins, squash, and sweet potatoes in a dry, fairly warm place.

Feed Syrup To Bees—To prevent dysentery, feed each colony of bees from 10 to 12 pounds of sugar as a thick syrup. This syrup can be made from 2½ parts of white granulated sugar and one part of water by volume. Heat only enough to dissolve the sugar and make a smooth syrup.

Plant Spring-flowering Bulbs—Bulbous materials can be planted outdoors for early spring blooming. Some of the smaller bulbs, such as scillas, grape hyacinths, crocuses, and snowdrops, may be planted under shrubs or in the rock garden.

Produce Winter Eggs—Records kept on Pennsylvania flocks show that winter egg laying is necessary for the highest and most profitable egg production. The high-producing flocks laid practically two and one-third dozens more eggs per hen during the months of good prices than did the low-producing group of flocks.

Feed To Meet Needs—Dairymen who produce the cheapest milk weigh or measure the grain for each cow. Guernseys and Jerseys should receive one pound of grain for three pounds of milk produced, while Holsteins should get one pound of grain for 3½ or 4 pounds of milk. The amount will vary somewhat with the richness of the milk.

Rural People Stage Plays—Considerable dramatic talent is coming to light among rural people. Groups select their own plays and choose a local person for director. They enter county tournaments from which the winners go to district tournaments and the winner of the latter participate in the state tournament.

Vast Audiences Acclaim John Charles Thomas

Will Be Heard In Concert At Cathedral Auditorium November 22

Over a hundred and ten thousand people, crowded the great open air stadium, in the Soldiers Field at Chicago for the fifth annual Chicagoland Music Festival concert held in August, at which John Charles Thomas, the eminent American baritone, was the featured soloist, and the only professional artist engaged for this gala program.

"The finest of all American baritones, and one of the greatest in the whole world of opera and concert," was the statement of Edward Moore, well known commentator on musical events for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, in his review of the program. Moore added further that "Thomas was the great hit of the program, and he comes nearer to being a whole opera cast in himself than any other singer alive today."

Last year he appeared as the only soloist with the Metropolitan opera orchestra and chorus at a popular concert in the arena of the Madison Square Garden in New York, and an audience of over ten thousand insisted, with deafening applause, whistling and cheering, that the artist add half a dozen encores to his scheduled numbers.

Approximately seventeen thousand people were in the Hollywood Bowl in Los Angeles last summer for the concert at which Thomas was the soloist with the Bowl Philharmonic Orchestra, and the not-to-be-denied demand for encores continued so long that the final numbers of the scheduled program had to be eliminated because of the lateness of the hour.

Later in the same season in Los Angeles, Thomas sang for over six thousand in the Shrine Auditorium at a regular concert and within a week appeared before two audiences each of over four thousand, one on the campus of Standard University, and the other at the University of California.

John Charles Thomas will be heard in concert at the Cathedral on Thursday, November 22nd. Ticketrs are $2.20, $1.65, $1.10 and 85c, including tax. Reserved seats now on sale at Snyder Piano Co.

THIRTY MILLION VOTERS CASTING BALLOTS IN U. S.

this year of 1934 is no normal year, and not being a normal year, all the signs and portents by which politicians usually take ther bearings, go by the boards.

It is not normal for upward of 20,000,000 people to be on the dole in this country. It is not normal for upward of 10,000,000 people to be unemployed. It is not normal for industry to be regimented as it is today; for agriculture to be coddled and subsidized as it is today; for the federal government to be as intimate in the affairs of the average citizen as it is today.

By and large, the Republicans have conducted their campaign with the object of creating individual resentment against this condition of affairs. Their principal candidates and speakers have inveighed against it; have sought to arouse a feeling of revulsion against the encroachments of the federal government into the fields of private initiative and enterprise.

New Deal At Stake

The results of today's balloting will determine how successful they have been; will determine whether the new deal will continue its experimental way, or lapse into the more familiar channels of "rugged individualism" and normal industrial self-government.

Whatever happens, it is hardly in the cards for the Republicans to win control of the 74th congress, which meets in January. The existing Democratic majorities are too great to overturn, except in the event of a political miracle which no one—including the Republicans—expects.

The chief Republican hope is to cut down these existing Democratic majorities; to make a showing sufficiently large as to impress the country with the sentiment against the new deal; against the existing order of things.

To do that, the Republicans must make serious inroads into the Democratic majority in the house of representatives, and win some of their more important senatorial contests.

The present membership of the house of representatives is 309 Democrats, 114 Republicans, five Farmer-Laborites, and seven vacancies.

See G. O. P. Gain

The most optimistic—and it is optimistic—Republican prediction is a gain of from 60 to 70 seats in the house. Granting the prediction came true, the Democrats still would have a comfortable majority.

In the senate, the lineup is 60 Democrats, 30 Republicans, and one Farmer-Laborite.

Here the situation, from the Republican standpoint, is even more hopeless than the house. Thirty-four senators are up for election. Those in the deep south are safely Democratic. And the Democrats are reasonably certain of winning Republican seats in Maryland, New Jersey, Missouri, Ohio and Indiana. They have favorably regarded chances for victory in Rhode Island, West Virginia and Connecticut. They may lose in New Mexico and Wyoming.

In any event, barring those same political miracles that no one expects, the Democrats stand to pick up from four to six seats in the senate, which will insure them control of the upper house until 1940. In the 74th congress they will have two-thirds of the senate, or very close to it, thereby breaking a record of years standing.

Hopeless as regards the senate, the chief Republican hopes center in the house, all of whose members are up for election. In the elections to the house, rather than the senate, do the politicians consider the real test of the new deal's popularity.

The maximum Republican hope, as stated by Chairman Henry P. Fletcher, is sixty to seventy seats now held by Democrats. Privately, the Republicans figure on about twenty to forty.

The curtain never fell on a stranger off-year election.

Curiously apathetic in some states, the campaign has been red-hot in others. California has been torn asunder by the gubernatorial candidacy of Upton Sinclair, the reconstructed Socialist, who ran off with the Democratic nomination. Pennsylvania has been rent by the senatorial conflict between David A. Reed, the Republican incumbent, and Joseph F. Guffey, the Democratic aspirant.

It is symptomatic of the general confusion and criss-crossing of old and reliable landmarks, that the Democrats figure they have a real chance of unhorsing Reed in Pennsylvania this year. The mere suggestion of a Democratic senator from rock-like Republican Pennsylvania would be fantastic in normal years. But this is not a normal year.

Hopes Women Will Adopt This Habit As Well as Men
Glass of hot water each morning helps us look and feel clean, sweet, fresh.
Happy, bright, alert—vigorous and vivacious—a good clear skin; a natural, rosy complexion and freedom from illness are assured only by clean, healthy blood. If only every woman and likewise every man could realize the wonders of the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place.
Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.
An inside bath is had by drinking, each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.
Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds; and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.

Farm Calendar

Timely Reminders From The Pennsylvania State College School Of Agriculture

Store Winter Vegetables—Store beets, carrots, turnips, cabbage, celery, and potatoes in a cool, slightly moist place, onions in a dry cool place, and pumpkins, squash, and sweet potatoes in a dry, fairly warm place.

Feed Syrup To Bees—To prevent dysentery, feed each colony of bees from 10 to 12 pounds of sugar as a thick syrup. This syrup can be made from 2½ parts of white granulated sugar and one part of water by volume. Heat only enough to dissolve the sugar and make a smooth syrup.

Plant Spring-flowering Bulbs—Bulbous materials can be planted outdoors for early spring blooming. Some of the smaller bulbs, such as scillas, grape hyacinths, crocuses, and snowdrops, may be planted under shrubs or in the rock garden.

Produce Winter Eggs—Records kept on Pennsylvania flocks show that winter egg laying is necessary for the highest and most profitable egg production. The high-producing flocks laid practically two and one-third dozens more eggs per hen during the months of good prices than did the low-producing group of flocks.

Feed To Meet Needs—Dairymen who produce the cheapest milk weigh or measure the grain for each cow. Guernseys and Jerseys should receive one pound of grain for three pounds of milk produced, while Holsteins should get one pound of grain for 3½ or 4 pounds of milk. The amount will vary somewhat with the richness of the milk.

Rural People Stage Plays—Considerable dramatic talent is coming to light among rural people. Groups select their own plays and choose a local person for director. They enter county tournaments from which the winners go to district tournaments and the winner of the latter participate in the state tournament.

Vast Audiences Acclaim John Charles Thomas

Will Be Heard In Concert At Cathedral Auditorium November 22

Over a hundred and ten thousand people, crowded the great open air stadium, in the Soldiers Field at Chicago for the fifth annual Chicagoland Music Festival concert held in August, at which John Charles Thomas, the eminent American baritone, was the featured soloist, and the only professional artist engaged for this gala program.

"The finest of all American baritones, and one of the greatest in the whole world of opera and concert," was the statement of Edward Moore, well known commentator on musical events for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, in his review of the program. Moore added further that "Thomas was the great hit of the program, and he comes nearer to being a whole opera cast in himself than any other singer alive today."

Last year he appeared as the only soloist with the Metropolitan opera orchestra and chorus at a popular concert in the arena of the Madison Square Garden in New York, and an audience of over ten thousand insisted, with deafening applause, whistling and cheering, that the artist add half a dozen encores to his scheduled numbers.

Approximately seventeen thousand people were in the Hollywood Bowl in Los Angeles last summer for the concert at which Thomas was the soloist with the Bowl Philharmonic Orchestra, and the not-to-be-denied demand for encores continued so long that the final numbers of the scheduled program had to be eliminated because of the lateness of the hour.

Later in the same season in Los Angeles, Thomas sang for over six thousand in the Shrine Auditorium at a regular concert and within a week appeared before two audiences each of over four thousand, one on the campus of Standard University, and the other at the University of California.

John Charles Thomas will be heard in concert at the Cathedral on Thursday, November 22nd. Ticketrs are $2.20, $1.65, $1.10 and 85c, including tax. Reserved seats now on sale at Snyder Piano Co.

THIRTY MILLION VOTERS CASTING BALLOTS IN U. S.

this year of 1934 is no normal year, and not being a normal year, all the signs and portents by which politicians usually take their bearings, go by the boards.

It is not normal for upward of 20,000,000 people to be on the dole in this country. It is not normal for upward of 10,000,000 people to be unemployed. It is not normal for industry to be regimented as it is today; for agriculture to be coddled and subsidized as it is today; for the federal government to be as intimate in the affairs of the average citizen as it is today.

By and large, the Republicans have conducted their campaign with the object of creating individual resentment against this condition of affairs. Their principal candidates and speakers have inveighed against it; have sought to arouse a feeling of revulsion against the encroachments of the federal government into the fields of private initiative and enterprise.

New Deal At Stake

The results of today's balloting will determine how successful they have been; will determine whether the new deal will continue its experimental way, or lapse into the more familiar channels of "rugged individualism" and normal industrial self-government.

Whatever happens, it is hardly in the cards for the Republicans to win control of the 74th congress, which meets in January. The existing Democratic majorities are too great to overturn, except in the event of a political miracle which no one—including the Republicans—expects.

The chief Republican hope is to cut down these existing Democratic majorities; to make a showing sufficiently large as to impress the country with the sentiment against the new deal; against the existing order of things.

To do that, the Republicans must make serious inroads into the Democratic majority in the house of representatives, and win some of their more important senatorial contests.

The present membership of the house of representatives is 309 Democrats, 114 Republicans, five Farmer-Laborites, and seven vacancies.

See G. O. P. Gain

The most optimistic—and it is optimistic—Republican prediction is a gain of from 60 to 70 seats in the house. Granting the prediction came true, the Democrats still would have a comfortable majority.

In the senate, the lineup is 60 Democrats, 30 Republicans, and one Farmer-Laborite.

Here the situation, from the Republican standpoint, is even more hopeless than the house. Thirty-four senators are up for election. Those in the deep south are safely Democratic. And the Democrats are reasonably certain of winning Republican seats in Maryland, New Jersey, Missouri, Ohio and Indiana. They have favorably regarded chances for victory in Rhode Island, West Virginia and Connecticut. They may lose in New Mexico and Wyoming.

In any event, barring those same political miracles that no one expects, the Democrats stand to pick up from four to six seats in the senate, which will insure them control of the upper house until 1940. In the 74th congress they will have two-thirds of the senate, or very close to it, thereby breaking a record of years standing.

Hopeless as regards the senate, the chief Republican hopes center in the house, all of whose members are up for election. In the elections to the house, rather than the senate, do the politicians consider the real test of the new deal's popularity.

The maximum Republican hope, as stated by Chairman Henry P. Fletcher, is sixty to seventy seats now held by Democrats. Privately, the Republicans figure on about twenty to forty.

The curtain never fell on a stranger off-year election.

Curiously apathetic in some states, the campaign has been red-hot in others. California has been torn asunder by the gubernatorial candidacy of Upton Sinclair, the reconstructed Socialist, who ran off with the Democratic nomination. Pennsylvania has been rent by the senatorial conflict between David A. Reed, the Republican incumbent, and Joseph F. Guffey, the Democratic aspirant.

It is symptomatic of the general confusion and criss-crossing of old and reliable landmarks, that the Democrats figure they have a real chance of unhorsing Reed in Pennsylvania this year. The mere suggestion of a Democratic senator from rock-like Republican Pennsylvania would be fantastic in normal years. But this is not a normal year.

Dance Hall Floors Are Being Taxed

Police Chief Sends Notices That Dance Tax Must Be Paid

Proprietors of beer gardens who maintain a dance floor for patrons must pay a license of $15 per year and a permit fee of $1 each night, if dancing is permitted, according to a notice sent by Chief of Police John F. Haven to the different proprietors today.

Many of the beer places throughout the city have space allotted for dancing and all of them will have to comply with the state law before November 10, the chief of police announced today.

The act of 1931 provides that any dance to which the public generally may gain admission with or without the payment of a fee, is a pugile dance and in order to hold such a dance, a permit is required for which the fee is $1 for each public dance.

Under this ruling, according to the chief, any person who has a place where customers or patrons can dance, must pay a fee of $1 for each dance, which would be for each day when dancing is permitted.

The act also requires that the place must be licensed and that the license fee is $15 a year and it can only be licensed after the mayor has caused a thorough inspection to be made to see that it is a safe place from a fire and health standpoint and that it is conducted in an orderly and lawful manner.

The mayor has the authority, at any time, to revoke the license and stop dancing in the place if he believes that any ordinance is being violated or any rule, regulation or law is being broken, the law declares.

In some of the beer parlors here dancing is permitted every night in the week. In some other places dancing occurs semi-weekly. Most of the dance floors are crowded with dancers at these times.

ENDEAVORERS HAVE SCAVENGER HUNT

The rain did very little to dampen the ardor of the searchers Monday evening, who left the Central Presbyterian church at 8 o'clock on a scavenger hunt. The members of the Christian Endeavor society were loaded into 7 cars, each group given a list of what was to be brought in, and out they started.

After a search here and there delving into strange places, Dr. C. B. Wingerd and his group returned, weary but successful in getting all the articles suggested: a spinning wheel, a watch that wound with a key; a burned out radio tube, a city directory 5 years old; a telephone directory 2 years old; a Liberty 2 years old; a protractor, knitting needle, iron helmet, knapsack, inner tube and burned out light bulb.

As the other groups returned, much merriment was caused by the tales of the hunt and then all were invited to the dining room where Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Campbell had prepared a "hamburg fry" for the hungry group. Martha Cwisher and Viola Maxwell were the committee on arrangements.

MRS. LEWIS ATTENDS BRILLIANT WEDDING

Using the same ring that had been used at the wedding of the bride's maternal grandmother 65 years ago, Miss Gertrude Marjorie Davis, of Norwood, Pa., a niece of Mrs. J. C. Lewis of Edison avenue, was united in marriage to George Edmund Johnson, of Prospect Park, Pa., Saturday evening, November 3.

Mrs. Lewis was among the large number of guests at the wedding, a brilliant affair in the Norwood Methodist Episcopal church, with the Rev. George Conners, pastor, as officiant.

The bride was distinctively beautiful in a white satin gown, made on Princess lines with long train. Her veil was tiara style, held in place with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white orchids, roses and lilies of the valley and her only jewel was a platinum dinner ring, the gift of the groom.

Miss Ruth Davis, her sister, was maid of honor, wearing a gown of royale purple velvet with matching hat and gold Grecian slippers. Junior bridesmaids were Virginia Jamison of Norwood and Rilla Cluley of Prospect Park. Little Jean Cluley, niece of the groom, was flower girl, and Russell E. Teasdale of Mt. Lebanon, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer. Bridesmaids were classmates of the bride, including Ruth Riggall, Ruth Hicks, Eleanor Fowler of Prospect Park, and Mrs. Elsie Trumbo of Baltimore, Md. The bridal party was beautifully gowned in modish transparent velvets while the children wore dainty frocks and suits. Dr. Joseph Miller of Philadelphia was best man.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Jessie Davis, the bride's older sister, sang several nuptial melodies, accompanied by Miss Jane Meyers of Coraopolis, Pa., who played a lovely program of wedding music.

Supplementing the ceremony, a reception for 150 guests was held at the Norwood Century club. The bride and groom departed, later, on a trip to Montreal, Canada, concluding which they will reside at Aldan, Pa.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Mozart Davis of Norwood, a suburb of Philadelphia, former residents of Pittsburgh. She is a graduate of West Chester State Teachers college, and has been teaching for the past four years in the Norwood schools. She is well known in New Castle, where she has visited frequently at the Lewis home. Mr. Johnson attended Drexal Institute and now holds a responsible position with the Westinghouse company.

QUOTA CLUB HEARS HEAD OF SCHOOLS

A beautiful "November" table greeted the eyes of the members of the Quota Club Monday evening as they gathered in the private dining room at the Elk's club for the weekly dinner meeting. A centerpiece formed of a basket of friut was artistically arranged by Mrs. Orra Snyder. Miss Marian Ferver, Dr. Rozella Popp and Miss Hannah Trodden were the hostesses.

The speaker of the evening was Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of the New Castle schools, who spoke most interestingly on the Federal Emergency Relief Education, giving the Quotarians an enlightening picture of the object of the project.

Miss Katherine Hite presided at the business session when plans were made to attend the Harrisburg celebration November 24 in honor of Myrtle B. Duke, past international president.

The members will again assemble next Monday evening in the club dining room.

Thirty Gather

The Sturdevant home on West Garfield avenue was a beautiful setting Monday evening for the meeting of thirty Queen Esther society members of the Third United Presbyterian church and their teacher, Mrs. Bernard Hook.

Hostesses of the evening were the Misses Grace and Eva Houk and Mrs. Robert Allshouse, the latter of Youngstown, O.

The evening's work was in charge of the president Miss Pearl Colnot. Miss Thelma Rose led the scripture. A number of beautiful selections were rendered by a quartet comprised of Miss Kitty Hopper, Mrs. Ed. O'Neill, Miss Reba Sines and Mrs. Mac McDermott. Last but not least, and coming as a complete surprise to Mrs. Allshouse, was the entrance of her five year old daughter, Donna Jean, with an umbrella full of lovely handkerchiefs. This shower was presented to Mrs. Allshouse, who recently moved from New Castle to Avondale avenue, Youngstown, O. Mrs. Allshouse responded graciously.

Games and contests were enjoyed and prizes were won by Mrs. Ed. O'Neill and Miss Lilly Davies. Activities were in charge of Miss Kitty Hopper, Mrs. William McBride and Miss Reba Sines.

At a seasonable hour a delicious repast was served and the hostesses were assisted by Mrs. Fred Sturdevant.

The next meeting will be in the form of a Christmas party on December 2 with Mrs. Clarence Love, Mrs. Lloyd Wimer and Miss Lilly Davies as hostesses. The place will be arranged later.

Anniversary Honored

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Porter, were pleasantly surprised by relatives on Saturday afternoon in their home at Walmo, when they assembled to help celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary. Twenty participated, and after an informal period of pastimes dinner was served. The guests of honor were presented with a lovely dinner set and other gifts appropriate to the occasion. Those in attendance were Mrs. J. B. Love, Mr. and Mrs. John McGrath, of New Castle, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnston and Mrs. Mayme Robins, of Sharpsville, Mrs. Jennie Thompson, Ernest Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. David Thompson and children of Pulaski, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Porter, Lois and Elizabeth Porter, Mrs. Edith Polen, of East Palestine, O. and others from the immediate vicinity.

Polish Falcon Club

The Komisya Sokolic, of the Polish Falcons Nest 146, held a business and social session, recently at the Falcon Hall, on Miller street.

After routine business had been transacted, the members heard a very interesting talk on Poland, by Miss Matilda Pigon. She gave a description of Warsaw, the capital city and spoke about the beautiful city of Krakow.

Refreshments were served by Miss Klara Kielar, Mrs. Catherine Klamut and Mrs. Anna Gierad, the social hour being enlivened by games.

The next meeting is scheduled for Friday, November 16 with the hostesses: Misses Mary Mazurkiewicz, Helen Noga and Matilda Pigon.

Today Is The Day

fate may be, he will meet it as a brave man."

Lody himself, in his farewell letter to his wife, gratefully admitted he had received a fair hearing.

Sir Robert Baden-Powell writes, "In the Lower House they spoke of him as a patriot who had died on the battlefield of his country."

History Up-To-Date—Nov. 6, 1638—James Gregory was born in Aberdeen, one of a Scottish family which produced 14 notable men of science. He was 25 when he invented the reflecting telescope, to which we owe our intimate knowledge of other universes. He was using it to show some of his students the satellites of Jupiter when he was suddenly struck with blindness. The shock killed him a few days later.

Nov. 6, 1865—The warship without a country ended its career. The Confederate privateer Shenandoah, Capt. Waddell, put in at Liverpool and was seized by British authorities. Waddell explained that he destroyed more than 30 federal ships in the Pacific in June, July and August before he learned the war had ended in May.

The Shenandoah, the most destructive of all Confederate ships, never touched a Confederate port.

Nov. 6, 1894—Citizens of Brooklyn and other neighboring towns voted to make New York the world's largest city, by approving consolidation.

But Brooklyn is still the third largest community in the United States, the seventh largest in the world.

Notable Nativities—It is a day conspicuously identified with musical history—it is the anniversary of the death of Tschaikovsky, and the birthday of Antoine Sax, John Philip Sousa and Ignace Paderewski.

Antoine Sax, b. 1814, in Belgium. He was 21 when he discovered a new principle in the making of wind instruments, namely, that it is the proportions given to a column of air vibrating in a sonorous tube that determine the timbre. Hence the wide throat of the saxaphone, which he invented. Sax was 40 when Sousa was born, and 46 when Ignace Paderewski came into the world in Poland. Little Ignace wanted to be a violinist, but a great teacher of the violin in Berlin told him, "You will never be a musician." Saint-Saens called him "a genius who happens to play the piano." Next to playing the piano, he likes to play billiards.

Other notable nativities:

Sir John Alcock, b. 1892, British airman, first to make a non-stop flight across the Atlantic, in 1919. He died the same year in a crash in France.

Edsel Ford, b. 1893, automotive scion....John Francis Neylan, b. 1885, eminent Pacific coast lawyer ....Ernest M. Hopkins, b. 1877, educator....Harold Ross, b. 1892, in Aspen, Colorado, editor of The New Yorker....Tony Canzoneri, b. 1908, prize-fighter....Francis Lederer, b. 1906, Bohemian-born Hollywood actor....Walter Johnson, b. 1887, baseball player and manager.... Mathew M. Neely, b. 1874, senator from West Virginia....Louis Murphy, b. 1875, senator from Iowa.

You're Wrong If You Believe—That because of gas, liquid fire, bombs, machine guns, etc., the death rate in the World War was the highest in history.

Conrad A. Henrich, McKeesport, Pa., doubts this statement.

The total number of deaths was, of course higher, but this was due to the fact the greatest number of men, who ever went to war, were engaged. The death rate per 1,000 was smaller than in many previous wars. Only about eight per cent of the wounded failed to survive. Eighty per cent of the wounded were able to return to service, thanks to modern surgery and asepsis.

Also, you're wrong if you believe—

That cocoa is made from cocoanut.

That Balboa discovered the Pacific Ocean.

That bloodhounds are dependable trackers of men.

ENDEAVORERS HAVE SCAVENGER HUNT

The rain did very little to dampen the ardor of the searchers Monday evening, who left the Central Presbyterian church at 8 o'clock on a scavenger hunt. The members of the Christian Endeavor society were loaded into 7 cars, each group given a list of what was to be brought in, and out they started.

After a search here and there delving into strange places, Dr. C. B. Wingerd and his group returned, weary but successful in getting all the articles suggested: a spinning wheel, a watch that wound with a key; a burned out radio tube, a city directory 5 years old; a telephone directory 2 years old; a Liberty 2 years old; a protractor, knitting needle, iron helmet, knapsack, inner tube and burned out light bulb.

As the other groups returned, much merriment was caused by the tales of the hunt and then all were invited to the dining room where Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Campbell had prepared a "hamburg fry" for the hungry group. Martha Cwisher and Viola Maxwell were the committee on arrangements.

MRS. LEWIS ATTENDS BRILLIANT WEDDING

Using the same ring that had been used at the wedding of the bride's maternal grandmother 65 years ago, Miss Gertrude Marjorie Davis, of Norwood, Pa., a niece of Mrs. J. C. Lewis of Edison avenue, was united in marriage to George Edmund Johnson, of Prospect Park, Pa., Saturday evening, November 3.

Mrs. Lewis was among the large number of guests at the wedding, a brilliant affair in the Norwood Methodist Episcopal church, with the Rev. George Conners, pastor, as officiant.

The bride was distinctively beautiful in a white satin gown, made on Princess lines with long train. Her veil was tiara style, held in place with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white orchids, roses and lilies of the valley and her only jewel was a platinum dinner ring, the gift of the groom.

Miss Ruth Davis, her sister, was maid of honor, wearing a gown of royale purple velvet with matching hat and gold Grecian slippers. Junior bridesmaids were Virginia Jamison of Norwood and Rilla Cluley of Prospect Park. Little Jean Cluley, niece of the groom, was flower girl, and Russell E. Teasdale of Mt. Lebanon, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer. Bridesmaids were classmates of the bride, including Ruth Riggall, Ruth Hicks, Eleanor Fowler of Prospect Park, and Mrs. Elsie Trumbo of Baltimore, Md. The bridal party was beautifully gowned in modish transparent velvets while the children wore dainty frocks and suits. Dr. Joseph Miller of Philadelphia was best man.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Jessie Davis, the bride's older sister, sang several nuptial melodies, accompanied by Miss Jane Meyers of Coraopolis, Pa., who played a lovely program of wedding music.

Supplementing the ceremony, a reception for 150 guests was held at the Norwood Century club. The bride and groom departed, later, on a trip to Montreal, Canada, concluding which they will reside at Aldan, Pa.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Mozart Davis of Norwood, a suburb of Philadelphia, former residents of Pittsburgh. She is a graduate of West Chester State Teachers college, and has been teaching for the past four years in the Norwood schools. She is well known in New Castle, where she has visited frequently at the Lewis home. Mr. Johnson attended Drexal Institute and now holds a responsible position with the Westinghouse company.

Accuse Three Of Theft Of Scales

Large Scales Stolen From Jones Property On New Bedford Road

TRIO APPREHENDED BY POLICE WORK

Paul Kish, Steve Markovitch and Frank Haluk, of Youngstown, are held in the Lawrence county jail on charges of breaking, entering and larceny, the result of the theft of a Pitles farm scale, weighing 2,400 pounds and of several tons capacity, from the John Jones property at the junction of the New Castle-New Bedford and Five Points road at 2 a. m. Monday. The theft was solved, arrests made and scales recovered by state police, constables and Youngstown detectives within 36 hours. The scales were valued at $200.

According to State Trooper William Roswell, who was aided by Constables J. D. Fallon and Jess Kennedy in the investigation, Kish is a coal hauler and recently went to Jones who operates a gasoline station at the intersection of Route 422 and the Five Points road. He represented himself as a "feed man" from Salem, O. He borrowed a tape measure from Jones in the rear of who's property the scales were located. They were used for weighing coal. Kish was driving a big truck.

On Monday night Kish is alleged to have driven to the Jones station and to have purchased gasoline, and at 2 a. m. the Jones family heard their dogs barking. Believing that the dogs were barking at hunters they paid small attention to the noise, but when they awakened at 7:30 a. m. Tuesday, discovered the scales which weighs 2,400 pounds had been dismantled and hauled away. They notified the state police here and Roswell was assigned to the investigation. Fallon and Kennedy were called in as aides.

While Roswell was making the investigation the same truck which Kish is alleged to have driven to the gasoline station, traveled along Route 422 and it was located at the Cupling mine, loaded with coal. Markovitch and Haluk were placed under arrest and when Kish came to inquire into a charge that his truck had been overloaded, he also was placed under arrest by Roswell.

The three men were grilled and later Roswell and Constable Kennedy with Detectives Lewis Colavin and Earl Hoffman, of the Youngstown police department, visited the home of Ernest Tacsik, 204 North Maryland avenue, Youngstown. They found the girders of the scales in the cellar and other parts of the scales in a garage at the Tacsik prope They were recovered and brought here.

The three men will get a hearing on the charges either today or tomorrow, according to State Trooper Roswell.

The jury commissioners will select the names from the registry lists in the different precincts of the city and county, and also from names sent in by members of the county committees and others. The names must all be checked by the jury commissioners to see if the persons are properly registered and are eligible for jury duty.

Prothonotary R. M. Campbell and members of his force were busy today taking in election returns and certifying for payments the accounts of the judges of election making returns. After the bills are approved they are taken to the county commissioners office, where they are certified to the county controller, who gives a warrant on the treasurer for payment of the election expenses. Returns are made in two envelopes, together with unused ballots and other supplies. One of the envelopes is sealed and is not to be opened until the official count is made. The other envelope is left open for the inspection of any one who may be interested in the returns.

Judges Hildebrand and Chambers will hold a session of common pleas court, beginning on Monday, November 12. This is for the trial of civil cases. It will be the last common pleas session before the regular quarter sessions court in December.

CUT THIS OUT

Excellent Recipe For Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness And Head Noises

If you know of some one who is trouble with Catarrhal Deafness, head noises or ordinary catarrh cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. Scientists for a long time past have recognized that catarrh is a constitutional disease and necessarily requires consutition treatment.

Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear which frequently means total deafness, or else the disease may be driven down the air passages towards the lungs which is equally as dangerous. The following formula which is used extensively is a constitutional treatment and should prove especially efficacious to sufferers.

Secure from Eckerd's or your druggist 1 ounce of Parmint (Double strength) Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and hearing improve as the inflammation in the eustachian tubes is reduced. Parmint used in this way acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system and has a tonic action that helps to obtain the desired results. The preparation is easy to make, costs little and is pleasant to take. Every person who has catarrh or head noises or is hard of hearing should give this treatment a trial.

OILS GET TOUGH; GIVE ENGINES NEW WINTER PROTECTION

High film-strength serves to minimize wear during crucial warming-up period

CUTS REPAIR BILLS TO THE BONE

IT'S news when oils get as tough as ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS for Winter. Good news . . . because that toughness means longer life for automobile engines and lower upkeep for automobile owners.

Winter is just around the corner. Cold weather is already here. Your car needs the protection of these new oils just as quickly as you can provide it . . . because piston wear can be 65 times greater than normal during the warming-up period on cold days! Only an extremely thin film of oil is present on the cylinder walls when a cold engine is started; and if this oil-film is not tough enough to prevent metal-to-metal contact, scoring and scuffing can easily be caused.

ATLANTIC has discovered a way to give its oils so tough a film that we believe it the greatest improvement in motor oils since the invention of the automobile. Change to these oils now. The amount you SAVE on repairs should more than pay for the oils throughout your ownership of the car. * * * For best results, drain your crankcase before putting in the correct winter grade of ATLANTIC MOTOR OIL.

Education Week Is Being Observed

Sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's clubs, education Week is being observed this week, with the schools of the cities holding special programs all during the week. The chief objective in the week's observation will be to interest the parents of the city in their schools. Visiting days will be announced and it is hoped that all parents will manage to attend at least one school during the week.

Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of New Castdle Schools has prepared a series of short articles.

The first one which bears on the "Increased Responsibility of The Public Schools" follows:

In the development of the public schools of this country, each decade has enlarged our conception of their function, and the constantly increasing complexities of modern life have presented new responsibilities. The original purpose of public education to promote literacy and provide an enlightened citizenship has been enlarged until the schools are now called upon to recognize a very definite social and political relationship and transform themselves into specific institutions for the advancement and welfare of the state. They are now recognized by all thoughtful people as an indispensable agency in an enlightened democracy.

During the World War President Wilson told us that we were fighting "to make the world safe for democracy." The public schools and the higher institutions of learning are called upon "to make democracy safe for the world." It is a platitude to say that if we are to have universal suffrage we must have an enlightened electorate. However much we may give play to our emotions regarding the sovereign ballot the regrettable fact still remains that a few citizens vote and many are voted. Democracy will never be safe for the world until a safe majority of our citizens are able and willing to vote and vote with intelligence.

Income Limited

The present economic crisis has seriously limited the available income of the schools and at the same time it has added to their responsibilities to a degree not realized by those not closely connected with their operation. With greatly reduced facilities there is a very distinct necessity for more service. Crowded classrooms attended by large numbers of undernourished and scantily clad children, limited educational supplies and other factors present problems which the general public does not fully appreciate. Nevertheless the rational patriotism and professional devotion of the teachers of America have made them willing to bear their burdens cheerfully and carry on like true soldiers in the public service. They have recognized in this great crisis an opportunity to exemplify in their own lives the principles of patriotism which they have endeavored to inculcate in the lives of their pupils.

The sober judgment of the American public is beginning to assert itself and the people are coming to realize that the public schools are able to render an indispensable service during great crisis in the lives of the people. Thousands of children in the great urban centers find in the public schools physical comforts, a human touch, and a character development which no other institution provides. This is true under normal social and economic conditions, but it is especially true in times of great distress.

It has been said that the future of America depends upon the children of today. It is a better statement of the case to say that the future of America depends upon what the responsible citizens of today do with the children of today. More and more the public is beginning to grasp that thought and as a result increased responsibilities are placed upon the schools.

The increased responsibility of the schools is the result of a constantly increasing recognition of their importance on the part of the general public. The demand for service by the schools has increased so rapidly during recent years that school authorities have found it impossible to meet that demand because of financial limitations.

Education Week Is Being Observed

Sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's clubs, education Week is being observed this week, with the schools of the cities holding special programs all during the week. The chief objective in the week's observation will be to interest the parents of the city in their schools. Visiting days will be announced and it is hoped that all parents will manage to attend at least one school during the week.

Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of New Castdle Schools has prepared a series of short articles.

The first one which bears on the "Increased Responsibility of The Public Schools" follows:

In the development of the public schools of this country, each decade has enlarged our conception of their function, and the constantly increasing complexities of modern life have presented new responsibilities. The original purpose of public education to promote literacy and provide an enlightened citizenship has been enlarged until the schools are now called upon to recognize a very definite social and political relationship and transform themselves into specific institutions for the advancement and welfare of the state. They are now recognized by all thoughtful people as an indispensable agency in an enlightened democracy.

During the World War President Wilson told us that we were fighting "to make the world safe for democracy." The public schools and the higher institutions of learning are called upon "to make democracy safe for the world." It is a platitude to say that if we are to have universal suffrage we must have an enlightened electorate. However much we may give play to our emotions regarding the sovereign ballot the regrettable fact still remains that a few citizens vote and many are voted. Democracy will never be safe for the world until a safe majority of our citizens are able and willing to vote and vote with intelligence.

Income Limited

The present economic crisis has seriously limited the available income of the schools and at the same time it has added to their responsibilities to a degree not realized by those not closely connected with their operation. With greatly reduced facilities there is a very distinct necessity for more service. Crowded classrooms attended by large numbers of undernourished and scantily clad children, limited educational supplies and other factors present problems which the general public does not fully appreciate. Nevertheless the rational patriotism and professional devotion of the teachers of America have made them willing to bear their burdens cheerfully and carry on like true soldiers in the public service. They have recognized in this great crisis an opportunity to exemplify in their own lives the principles of patriotism which they have endeavored to inculcate in the lives of their pupils.

The sober judgment of the American public is beginning to assert itself and the people are coming to realize that the public schools are able to render an indispensable service during great crisis in the lives of the people. Thousands of children in the great urban centers find in the public schools physical comforts, a human touch, and a character development which no other institution provides. This is true under normal social and economic conditions, but it is especially true in times of great distress.

It has been said that the future of America depends upon the children of today. It is a better statement of the case to say that the future of America depends upon what the responsible citizens of today do with the children of today. More and more the public is beginning to grasp that thought and as a result increased responsibilities are placed upon the schools.

The increased responsibility of the schools is the result of a constantly increasing recognition of their importance on the part of the general public. The demand for service by the schools has increased so rapidly during recent years that school authorities have found it impossible to meet that demand because of financial limitations.

Must Give Way To Fire Trucks

Motorcycle Patrolman To Arrest Erring Autoists For Interference

"Fire trucks, police cars and ambulances have the right of way here and whenever an autoist hears a siren or sees one of them coming the autoist should pull to the right side of the street and if necessary stop and let them go by" said Chief of Police John Haven today in commenting upon the desire that none of the trucks or cars suffer interference.

It is said that the motorcycle patrolman will answer fire alarms and arrest any autoist who interferes with the progress of the fire trucks.

On almost every fire calls at least two trucks respond, the one from the immediate section of the blaze and the service truck from the central fire department. As a rule the car of the chief or assistant chief of the fire department precedes the fire trucks. As his siren and also that of the trucks blows there is scarcely any excuse for blocking the fire equipment. Automibiles which follow the trucks to a blaze interefere with the firemen and their drivers will be arrested it is said.

Male Drivers In Most Accidents

Failure of motorists to live up to their responsibilities as users of the highways, rather than defective equipment or ordinary traffic hazards, is the most frequent cause of accidents.

R. W. Boisinger, president of the New Castle Motor Club, bases his statement on recent accident studies made by the National Headquarters of the American Automobile Association.

"These studies" he said; "serve to emphasize the part that carelessness and disregard for the rights of others plays in the staggering toll of fatalities and injuries resulting from highway mishaps. For example, a study of 1933 accidents shows that in eight out of ten the vehicles involved were going straight ahead. In an equal number, the weather was clear and the surface of the highway dry. And in more than nine out of ten, the vehicles were in apparently good condition.

"Male drivers are involved in 91.69 per cent of accidents and female drivers in the remaining 8.31 per cent."

"Other interesting statistics with regard to highway accidents were cited as follows:

"More people were killed and injured in highway accidents on Sundays than any other day of the week. This is due to the greater use of rural highways and concentration of traffic on highways leading to resorts and play places.

"The danger hour for accidents is from five to six o'clock in the afternoon, although there are more deaths from accidents which occur between seven and eight o'clock in the evening."

DEVELOPED BY AMERICAN INITIATIVE

THE telephone was invented in America.

American enterprise and initiative took it and from it developed telephone service as we know it today.

Fundamental research and discovery provided the equipment.

Then, energetic promotion of the telephone business made industry conscious of the value of this entirely new method of rapid personal communication.

THE usefulness of the telephone in the home was also demonstrated—it enlarges horizons, it breaks the monotony of house work for wives and mothers, it extends friendships and social contacts, contributing to greater comfort and ease of living.

Rural America was approached—and the farmer quickly sensed the advantage of telephone service. American rural life today enjoys a communication service practically unknown in the rest of the world.

AMERICAN initiative with American inventive genius and American business methods has produced—and will continue to produce—the best telephone service in the world. Every Pennsylvania Bell Telephone user shares in that service. We urge its broader and broader use because telephone service as America knows it contributes much to the American way of living.

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF PENNSYLVANIA

Associated with the Bell System—participating in and benefiting from the telephone research, telephone development and nation-wide telephone experience which have given America the world leadership in telephone service.

Saar Vote In January May Begin New War In Europe, Rotary Hears

Before the New Castle Rotary club, meeting in The Castleton on Monday, an American newspaper correspondent to European countries prophesized that Sunday, January 13, 1935 "may be the day of the beginning of a new world catastrophe unless the powers of England, France and Italy band themselves together to tell Hitler to stay in his own backyard."

Saar Vote Is Factor

E. C. Ramsey, a resident of Titusville and correspondent for a syndicate subsidiary to the Associated Press, made the declaration and he elaborated his startling prediction this way:

"On that day the German residents of the Saar valley will go to the polls and vote for one of three things, to have the Saar continued under the present League of Nations administration, to return to German allegiance, or to submit to the allegiance of France.

"The vote result will decide things—and unfortunate it will be if she votes for French or German allegiance! Hitler of Germany will act if the Saar votes any way except to continue under the League's supervision."

Herr Hitler, whom Mr. Ramsey himself describes as a "political spasm," may unleash a new world conflict as a result of that vote that day, in the opinion of the speaker. Only the united stand of the other European powers can be counted on to stop him—"to tell him to stay in his own backyard."

France Demands Cash

Ramsey said that if the election is favorable to Germany, France shall demand the immediate payment in gold for the Saar—and Germany, the speaker said, could not pay it. France has served notice "that Germany shall not touch it until she lays down the hard gold."

For almost two hours the Rotarians, soldierly attentive to the speaker who brought to them a first-hand picture of conditions throughout the troubled continent, heard the newsman describe "European leaders as wanting peace, but each of them peace of their own kind."

He asserted that "understanding" is the need in the European chaos of today, an understanding that will allow the leaders of all the countries to appreciate the problems of each other.

Premier Mussolini drew considerable attention during the address, and the turbulent state of affairs between Japan and Russia was noted.

War In Every Quarter

"I've come direct from Europe and I've found there is evidence of war in every quarter," Mr. Ramsey told the clubmen. "Everyone is talking peace and preparing for war."

Of Hitler the speaker later said: "Personally, I think he's a political spasm. He'll probably die in convulsions some day. And you know he's throwing some nasty fits these days."

For half an hour after finishing his prepared address Mr. Ramsey answered a barrage a questions fired by his listeners.

Guests for the day included Rotarian Bert Stevenson, of San Juan, Porto Rico, here for his annual visit; Rotarian M. Cannon, Jr., of Syracuse, N. Y., and Alvin Shenkan, son of Rotarian Emanuel Shenkan of this city.

Ministers Hear Dr. H. H. Halley

Plans Are Being Made For Union Thanksgiving Service

Dr. H. H. Halley, Bible recital-lecturer, of Chicago, who is conducting a series of services in Highland U. P. church, was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Ministerial Association Monday.

Dr. Halley, who was introduced by Rev. D. M. Ferguson, chose as his subject, "If I Were a Pastor Again". He stressed the importance of people going to church because they want to, rather than through a sense of duty, and spoke of the pulpit as being the teaching agency of the church.

The devotional period, conducted by Dr. C. H. Heaton, was followed by a business session presided over by the president, Dr. G. S. Bennett.

A committee was named for the Union Thanksgiving service, in which the downtown and Northside churches will participate: Dr. C. H. Heaton, Dr. N. A. White, Dr. C. B. Wingerd.

The program committee announced that for the next meeting, on November 19, Police matron, Mrs. Minnie McKibben, will be present and give a talk on some phase of her work.

Thru the courtesy of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce the Association has been warned regarding certain parties that are selling "Go to Church" stamps. This is a racket that has been worked in other cities of Pennsylvania, and the association desires to protect the various church societies from these out of town promoters. Details of this matter can be had from the secretary or the Chamber of Commerce.

Will Designate Streets For Coasters — Fix Auto Speed Limit

CITY WILL NOT BE RESPONSIBLE

Owing to the proximity of winter weather and its accompanying snowfalls, members of council yesterday viewed certain thoroughfares which the Parent-Teachers association months ago asked council to set aside for sled riding purposes, this winter.

Council indicated today that, at a future meeing, a bill would be submitted designating certain streets on which sled riding will not be prohibited. The bill to be introduced will also designate the speed of automobiles and trucks on such streets.

By having the bill provide that sled riding is not prohibited on the streets, the measure once enacted into a city law will not make the city liable for accident as the city cannot close any street to traffic for sled riding purposes, according to Solicitor White.

Create Speed Limit

The only way the city can close a street is on account of danger. If a person owns property along a street access to and from the property cannot be prohibited, hence council's intention of passing a measure stating that "sled riding is not prohibited" and creating a speed limit on such streets.

Streets Mentioned

Council indicated today that the proposed ordinance will say that sled riding is not prohibited on thoroughfares as follows:

Lathrop street, East Washington to William streets.

Stanton avenue, from Rose avenue south.

Delaware avenue, Moody to Park avenue.

Leasure avenue, Albert street to Highland avenue.

"Snakes Rest" hill, leading from Wilmington avenue into the hollow.

Locust street, from Moody avenue south.

West Rebecca Way, east to Harbor street.

West North street.

"We are going to arrange things this winter, so that, there will be no sled riders hitching sleds to automobiles or trucks" said Solicitor White in commenting on the proposed city law. "If anyone is caught doing so he or she will be taken into custody, his sled confiscated and he or she will be turned over to the juvenile officer or held at the city police station until their parents call for them and agree that their children will stop the practice. Autoists who permit hitching to their cars will be fined," he said.

Council has not acted officially on the matter but according to Councilman Davies it will be brought before the body in official meeting in the near future. Council is decided that it will take no action that will make the city responsible for accidents.

Japan's Common Sense.

How Many Would Die?

Smuggling Chinese.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

JAPAN IS busy fortifying South Sea islands that she holds under mandate of the League of Nations, and complaint is made aimlessly.

Nothing to surprise anybody in that fortification news. Japan is an intelligent country.

It takes a country with statesmanship in the dodo class, like ourselves, to possess Guam, and fail to fortify the place because polite Britishers, acting as mouthpiece for Japan, requested us not to do so.

IT IS ONLY fair to tell Japan and other countries, beginning to look upon the United States as an "easy mark," easy to rob by borrowing money, easy to beat in war, that we are not as weak in all lines as we are in statesmanship.

We are fairly able inventors, and good manufacturers. Among the men that patrol the highways of California and other states, typical of American youth, you could easily select 1,000 that, on even terms, could beat two thousand of any other country. And this is mentioned as plain matter of fact, free from boasting.

ALSO, OUR Japanese friend, for whom we have only the kindest feelings, are warned to look with suspicion on national cocksureness, based on conquest of China and Russia.

Beating China was about as dangerous and difficult as for a mouse to gnaw holes in a large cheese.

And beating Russia under the Czars and Grand Dukes was beating nothing at all.

Nobody questions the great fighting power of Japan, but it has still to be tested and proved. A trial with new Russia under Stalin would be enlightening.

NO COMPARISON between the fighting power of Japan and the United States is necessary because there will never be any such FIGHTING and comparisons, as Samuel Johnson remarked, are odious.

Friendliness is shown in the greeting given by Japan to our national hero, "Babe" Ruth.

Sixty-five thousand Japanese paid good yen to see Ruth play baseball in Tokio, and Ruth's victory by 17 to 1 was applauded heartily.

It will not always be 17 to 1. Those that have watched the Japanese swim, play tennis, etc., know that if Japan wants to play baseball Japan WILL play baseball.

FOR YOUR information, without any guarantee from one who has not visited California since the campaign began, the best informed man in that state sends this message:

"Upton Sinclair will NOT be elected."

If the prediction proves accurate, it means postponement of an experiment that may have to come sooner or later.

It might have been a little expensive, but perhaps it would have been as well to make that experiment along with others. The wise surgeon performing a major abdominal operation "snips off" the vermiform appendix as he passes it.

PRESIDENT KNUBEL, of the United Lutheran Church of America, worries about the future of religion. Anti-religious forces, he says, are growing constantly in this and other countries, hundreds of millions of people are "spiritually blind." The Rev. Dr. Knubel asks:

"How do you know that in two years from now you might not be asked to die for your faith?"

Let ue hope it will not be as bad as that, while wondering respectfully how many would be willing to die, or like the ancient martyrs, court death for the sake of martyrdom?

THERE ARE various ways of making a living in America, that finds it so difficult to conquer lawlessness. One way is to smuggle in Chinese, inflicting fearful hardships upon the unfortunate immigrant Chinese, and charging them from $1,000 to $1,500 for bringing them here.

Smuggling Chinese is connected with the opium traffic; while smuggling Chinese you can also smuggle with each one a considerable amount of opium.

Federal agents looking for opium found eighteen frightened Chinese in an isolated house in New Jersey, guarded by a powerful Negro from Trinidad and five police dogs that would have mangled the unfortunate creatures had they tried to escape. Friends expected to bring the fee for smuggling them in failed to appear, hence their detention.

The eighteen were included in a party of thirty-eight Chinese, taken from China one month ago, hidden in the hold of a freight steamer. Four, becoming very ill, were thrown overboard; sixteen, whose friends paid the smuggling fee, were liberated.

This will interest Attorney General Cummings and President Roosevelt.

THE ACHIEVEMENT of the admirable fliers, Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith and his pilot, Capt. P. G. Taylor, proves that the United States knows how to build airplanes.

The plane that came across the Pacific from Honolulu, 2,408 miles, in 15 hours, beating by ten hours the best record, is an American Lockheed plane, built at Glendale, Cal., and the engine was built by the American Pratt & Whitney Aircraft company.

If the United States should ever get really interested in building the world's greatest air fleet, as it will do, or bitterly regret it, the material is at hand.

FAST COMMERCIAL flying will take a new start when Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, best American air fighter developed in the big war, starts to beat the Pacific-to-Atlantic flight record with a transport plane, carrying six passengers besides himself and two other pilots, with a dead load of 5,750 pounds.

Rickenbacker's plan is to fly at an average height of seventeen thousand feet, pilots and passengers supplied with oxygen artificially. Rickenbacker hopes to fly the 2,626 miles in less than ten hours.

EVERY WEEK, according to their able guardian, Dr. Defoe, the five little Dionne quintuplet girls look more and more alike.

Necklaces and lockets with their initials will be fastened around their little necks to avoid mistakes.

The five babies are now more than five months and one week old, proving what good care will do. Before the Dionne girls arrived, no quintuplets had ever lived as much as fifty minutes.

Continue War On Marihuana

Illicit Traffic In Drug Broken Up In Larger Cities

START DRIVE ON PEDDLERS

HARRISBURG, Nov. 7.—Harold V. Smith, chief of the State Health Department's narcotic division, today reported that while the large city rings dealing in the illicit marihuana traffic have been broken up, a State-wide drive is now under way to eliminate activities of peddlers in many less populous centers.

Facts reaching the narcotic division, based on investigations made by both Federal and State agents, reveal a larger traffic in the sale of these insanity-provoking cigarettes than was at first expected.

"While effective measures have been taken in the large cities to limit the activities of centralized rings dealing in marihuana cigarettes, nevertheless there has developed a net work of activities, State-wide in scope, that has developed a real problem for Federal and State enforcement officers," said Smith. "The effect of this weed upon persons using it is a release of normal inhibitions. It is therefore being introduced to groups of young men and women as a stimulating and unrestraining whoopee adjunct.

"The Department of Health and Federal officials have repeatedly warned parents, as well as school children, concerning the direful consequences of the use of marihuana. Repressive measures, often quietly undertaken and quietly concluded, have been successful. However, the real weapon against this traffic lies in an informed public. Parents and teachers should advise their children to avoid any advances made by strangers or even friends to use cigarettes containing marihuana."

Campaign In Behalf Of Two Issues At New Wilmington

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Nov. 7.—Westminster College students and members of the New Wilmington high school students body were actively engaged in political campaigning on Monday night and early Tuesday. The college band, directed by Professor D. O. Cameron, headed a parade through New Wilmington and Lawrence county on Monday night; while the high school band, directed by Elizabeth Rose, headed a parade early Tuesday.

Two local issues brought out the college and high school students. One was the local option vote concerning the sale of intoxicating liquors in the college town. New Wilmington voted out liquor selling. The second local issue was the acquistion of the swimming pool by the borough. The outdoor swimming pool, built by the swimming pool association with private subscriptions and the sale of bonds, would be taken over by the borough. This issue was also won.

Westminster College students and officials were vitally interested in both issues, desiring that no liquor be sold in town and that the town acquire the outdoor swimming pool.

WIDESPREAD HUNT FOR MISSING NEW YORK GIRL

High School Girl Missing For Week

Disappeared After Hallowe'en Party—May Be Kidnap Victim

ADOPTED DAUGHTER OF WEALTHY MAN

(International News Service)

NEW YORK Nov. 6—Thought to be the victim of either an organized kidnap ring or a madman, pretty Jane Merrell, 14 year old Forest Hills high school student, today was the object of one of the most widespread police hunts in a metropolitan history.

The girl, an adopted daughter of a wealthy realty owner, disappeared on Halowe'en while garbed in a masquerade costume which she had worn at a party for 20 of her young friends in her home.

Kept Disappearance Secret

For four days police kept the news of her disappearance a secret, but when an intensive hunt had failed to uncover a single clue as to her whereabouts the girl's absence was made known.

Merrell told the police that at the conclusion of the Hallowe'en party in his home, Jane and her friends decided to make a round of visits to other homes in the neighborhood in accordance with Hallowe'en custom. Her friends, impatient, went on ahead and she to join them at the first stop.

She was not seen again after leaving the house.

Report Girl Home

New York, Nov. 6.—Fourteen-year-old Jane Merrell, object of a city-wide search since her disappearance in Ragamuffin costume on Hallowe'en, was back at her home today after being found, according to reports, on 79th street between Second and Third avenues.

A mysterious ban of details of her return was clamped down by police who declined to vouchsafe any information concerning her whereabouts during the five-day search. It was stated only that she had been found by Detective Edward Collins.

After questioning by police, Jane was taken to the home of her foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Merrell, in Forest Hills.

HELPS WHOLE FAMILIES

Attention, MOTHERS, to what every doctor knows to be a fact, and what they say to avoid

If you have children who are occasionally constipated, you should know this.

If you are "not yourself" because of a constipated condition, don't blame it on your blood condition, or your age, but first try this treatment that safely relieves sluggishness in children or adults.

The Proper Treatment

You can't safely relieve the bowels with any medicine if you can't regulate the dose. To regulate dosage, you should have a liquid laxative. When necessary to repeat, you can gradually reduce the dose. And that is the secret of safe relief from a sluggish, constipated condition at any age.

A liquid laxative can be measured. Its action can be thus controlled. If properly made, of such natural laxative elements as senna and cascara, it forms no habit — even in the youngest child. And such a laxative will help the bowels to help themselves.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is an approved liquid laxative containing herbs, active senna, and cascara, and is the one widely used. You can always obtain it at any drug store. Why not make the "liquid test" which has attracted so much attention of late? It helps nearly everyone who tries it. It may make you feel better overnight. The children will like it, too; Syrup Pepsin has a delightful taste.

If you will risk sixty cents to discover the safe, pleasant action of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, we believe bowel worries will be over for your household.

BE CAREFUL

IF any laxative is dipsetic (makes you thirsty).

IF it affects your appetite.

IF you need more today than the first time you took it.

IF it drains the system (by too watery a movement).

IF a bad "burning" is felt.

IF there is severe griping.

35,000,000 Will Vote. Important Issue In Florida.

Never Pay The U. S. A. Earth Surgery Some Day.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

THIS IS an important election year. Thirty to thirty-five million voters will vote for thirty-four United States Senators, thirty-three governors and four hundred and thirty-two members of the House of Representatives in forty-seven states, Maine having already voted.

Before the elections forty-nine million citizens registered, only one million less than two years ago when Mr. Roosevelt was running against Mr. Hoover, but five million more than registered in 1928, when Mr. Hoover was elected. Such heavy registration shows unusual interest in politics.

By Wednesday you will know what the voters think they want, although you will not know why more than the ten millions that registered did not take the trouble to vote. That is a secret of the American character.

IN THIS election Florida has been much interested in the vote for a constitutional amendement expected to take a large part of the moving picture industry from Hollywood to Florida.

This amendment would exempt from all taxation of every kind any moving picture enterprise in Florida for the next fifteen years, no taxes on payrolls, personal property, real estate profits, or anything.

FLORIDA HAS in hand a much more important proposition, one that will mean infinitely more to Florida's prosperity and sets a good example for other states. It is the proposition to exempt from taxation homes not exceeding a certain reasonable amount in value.

Tax-exempt homes of modest value would enable a father and mother to be sure of raising a family without having the roof and the rest of the house taken away by tax collectors.

THERE ARE no taxes on churches. Buildings in which the souls of men are saved should not be taxed.

There are no taxes on orphan asylums or schools not operated for profit in which children are educated.

Could there be anything more idiotic than taxing heavily, far more heavily than the rich man's house, in proportion to value, the home in which a father and mother raise a family of children?

Would the founder of Christianity who said "Suffer little children to come unto Me and forbid them not" have approved of taxation on the house in which the father and mother of these children work to bring them up for the benefit of the state? Is anything more sacred, even the church, orphan asylum or school, than the protection, care and raising of children?

Every Florida man and woman voting to exempt modest homes from taxation will have cast a vote for civilization and human decency.

The announcement that a man may live, work and spend his accumulations in a modest home in Florida, free from taxation, will do more to develop that state in population and prosperity than anything else that could possibly happen.

YOU REMEMBER, it is not long ago, how eagerly American financiers were lending to anybody in Europe, Asia, Africa or South America that would borrow.

Among other sums lent, eight thousand million marks about two billions of dollars, were sent in private, long and medium term loans to Germany, interest of these loans amounting to five hundred million marks, about one hundred and twenty-five million dollars a year.

Germany at first announced that it would pay only forty per cent of the interest on this loan. Now it announces that it will not pay anything, interest or principal.

ON THE DAWES and Young loans, representing our national loans to Germany, all payments were stopped, some time ago.

Whatever you do, DON'T PAY THE UNITED STATES seems to be the established European policy.

Germany's recently announced intention to pay monies borrowed in England makes the motto the more interesting. The "no payment" affects the United States only.

Germany, dissatisfied with the quantity of goods the United States buys from Germany, hopes the "no pay" policy will compel larger purchases.

Perhaps President Roosevelt will find some adequate reply to this German announcement. Grover Cleveland would have found a reply.

IN SLIGHT harmless earthquakes in the state of Washington, nobody was hurt, a few pictures rattled on the walls.

The learned G. E. Goodspeed, professor of geology, says "there is a big fault" running north and south at a place where old Mount Si joins with a more recent geological formation of cascade mountain rock.

The rock settles at the "fault," shakes the earth, produces the earthquake. Fortunately Washington has deep alluvial soil that takes up the shock.

Perhaps in the millions of years ahead of us science will engage in "earth surgery," cutting out the earthquake-producing "faults" as dentists operate on teeth or tree surgeons on trees. Control of the sea, the earth and its climate have hardly begun.

PETROGRAD reports a treasure buried long ago, eleven hundred silver coins and many pieces of plain silver. The coins are Saxon, Danish, Czech, Italian, some with eleventh century dates.

A hunter digging a hole in the forest to set a bear trap found the treasure near Lake Ladoga. It may have belonged to merchants afraid of bandits.

Such treasures are found frequently near the Baltic. An ancient German law to which Goethe refers in the second part of Faust permitted the farmer to keep for himself all treasure turned over by his plow. If found otherwise it belonged to the ruler of the state.

The idea of the plow was to persuade farmers to plow deep, increasing fertility, more important to the nation's wealth than any buried treasure.

"Dizzy" Modestly Says "Oh, $25,000 Will Be Enough For 1935"

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 6.—Possibility that baseball's greatest brother act, featuring the famous Dean duo, Dizzy and Daffy, might be signed before nightfall for a run of at least another year under the St. Louis Cardinals loomed today.

Dizzy and Daffy, here following their exhibition and vaudeville tour, have had one conference with the Cardinal officials and are expected to have another sometime this morning before the scheduled departure for New York of President Sam Breadon of the Cardinals.

A special meeting of the Cardinal board of directors immediately after the conference was regarded as significant.

Hunters report that rabbits seem to be not as plentiful this year as in previous seasons. Although many have been bringing home the limit each day, others have hunted without getting a shot. Pheasants appear to be plentiful in spite of last year's open season. Lawrence county was unusually well stocked with these birds from the Jordan State Game farm this year. Tiny Baby Shows Excellent Progress

Baby Born Sept. 29, Weighing Two Pounds And Six Ounces Gains Steadily

One of the smallest babies born in New Castle in some years and, incidentally, the youngest patient in the New Castle hospital, is Fred Benninghoff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Benninghoff, of 101 West Wallace avenue, who weighed two pounds and six ounces, on Saturday morning, September 29, the date of his birth.

Five hours after his birth, the infant became a patient in the New Castle hospital. Since then, the baby has spent the first 39 days of his life in an attractive incubator in the maternity department of the institution. He will be kept in this for the next four or five weeks, the attending physician stated. This morning the infant was placed on a scale and tipped the beams at three pounds and two ounces.

The baby fed daily through an infant feeder. Medical men of the city and vicinity are watching with interest this unusual case. The attending physician stated today that due to the scientific improvement of medical science, during the past few years, the baby has a normal chance for life. The painstaking efforts of attendants of the hospital has been an aid to the continual growth of the child.

Ask Donations For Henry Home

Friday And Saturday Are Donation Days For Local Home

GOOD RESPONSE IS ANTICIPATED

There can be nothing of much greater importance in a community than caring for its children. Every parent is or should be alive to the vital necessity of building his children physically, mentally and morally. Unfortunately there are some little tads who do not know a mother's or a father's care. Such youngsters as these must depend upon the Margaret L. Henry Childrens Home for care and affection, for food and clothing and all the things that go with a home.

Some of the finest characters in New Castle give their time and ability to the Home. Creed, sect or religion are not considered in the makeup of the officers. The president of the Home is Marcus Feuchtwanger. The Honorary President is David S. Pyle. C. L. McMillen is the secretary, Thomas W. Dickey is treasurer, and the directors are the following. Rufus C. Patterson, Samuel Klafter, Joseph Hannon, Alex Crawford Hoyt, Judge R. L. Hildebrand, Judge James A. Chambers, Roger W. Rowlend. Frank A. Schulz, James W. Barnes, Fred C. Wolford, George T. Weingartner and Robetr L. Wallace.

Need Help

These men have carried the load. Some little help is given the home by the county, enough for the maintenance of about 11 children. The rest of the 50 or more that are guests must depend upon the beneficence of such agencies as the Community Chest and the generosity of private citizens.

Each year it has been customary for the people to donate fruit, vegetables and sugar to the home and the women in charge have canned the donations for the winter months. This year these donations are not forcoming and it now becomes necessary to ask the general public for contributions of canned goods.

Friday and Saturday of this week, November 9 and 10, has been set as Donation Days for the Margaret L. Henry Home. Dried fruits and vegetables, macaroni and spaghetti, corn meal, soap powder, canned fruits and canned vagetables, jellies, jams and preserves, pickles or chowder, black and white sewing machine thread No. 60, white boil proof elastic ¼ inch, all of these things are needed. Citizens are asked to bring or send their contributions to 6 West Washington street. Charles W. Read has been appointed chairman of the Donation Days.

For the purpose of gathering the contributions in and seeing that arrangements are made for collecting contributions the following committee of men and women has been named by Mr. Read. Mr. and Mrs. James W. Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Dickey, Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Feuchtwanger. Mr. and Mrs. A. Crawford Hoyt, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Klafter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Read, Mr. and Mrs. Bart Richards, Mr. and Mrs. Roger W. Rowland, Mr. and Francis E. Sowersby, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Wolford and Robert L. Wallace.

PRINCETON

Anna Fishburn spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Shaffer.

Mrs. Mary White, who has been ill for the past two weeks, is still confined to her bed.

Mr. and Mrs. Lafe Shaffer were dinner guests Sunday, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Shaffer.

Mrs. Margaret Wilson, who recently moved to Dayton, Pa., and been very ill, is improving in health.

Rev. McBride and Elmer Baird of Lowellville, were guests of Mr. Baird's relatives in this vicinity, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Fisher and family of Portersville, were guests in the home of Mrs. Margaret Myers, on Sunday.

The Women's Missionary Society of the Princeton church will meet all day Thursday, November 15 with Mrs. Adda Wilson.

LONG TIME OFFICE HOLDER LOSES

(International News Service)

MARTINEZ, Cal., Nov. 7.—R. R. Veale, sheriff on Contra Costa county for the last 44 years, apparently was doomed for defeat today in his race for re-election. A check of 95 of 155 precincts gave John Miller 5,299 votes and Veale 3,946.

Sheriff Veale is the "grand old man of sheriffs" in America, having held office for a longer period than any other peace official.

The state of Delaware still retains the whipping post as a means of punishment for criminals.

Rickenbacker Plans New Hop

Will Make One-Stop Flight Across Continent With Eleven Passengers

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 6.—A spectacular one-stop flight from Los Angeles to New York in a high-powered, twin-motor passenger airplane carrying eleven persons will be attempted some time this week by Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, famous flyer, in an effort to smash the transcontinental record of thirteen hours and two minutes which he established last February.

Rickenbacker said today he hopes to streak on a "bee line" from coast to coast in about twelve hours, making one stop at Kansas City for refueling.

This will be the first time a passenger plane will make the transcontinental flight with but one stop.

Trees Planted On Watersheds

Companies Realize Importance Of Protecting Source Of Supply

HARRISBURG, Nov. 6.—"Water companies in Pennsylvania, both private and municipal, realize the importance of a complete forest cover on their watersheds," said Director Charles R. Meek of the Bureau of Forest Extension. "During 1934, thirty-three privately owned water companies and forty municipalities purchased over 1,100,000 trees from the Department of Forests and Waters, most of which were planted about reservoirs, along streams and near springs."

The largest planting was made by the Hanover Municipal Water Works with 160,000 seedlings and transplants. Following closely was the City of Franklin which planted 140,000.

"For watersheds," Mr. Meek continued, "evergreens are preferred as the needles are not likely to accumulate in the water. Experience has shown that red, white, pitch, Banks, and Scotch pines are preferable and can be planted anywhere in the State with reasonable assurance of success."

Seedlings for reforestation purposes may be purchased from the Department of Forests and Waters at $2 per thousand, and transplants at $5 per thousand.

Income Tax Ruling Made

Taxpayers Can Deduct Charitable Gifts From Capital Gains In Reports

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—The supreme court today ruled that taxpayers can deduct charitable gifts from capital gains in making their income tax returns.

Three cases involving the question were before the court on appeal of the government, all from the second circuit court of appeals in New York. The government sought to compel taxpayers to use the maximum 15 per cent charitable deduction allowed by law only against ordinary net income, excluding capital gains taxes at a different rate.

Wealthy taxpayers chiefly are affected. Under the decision the government may lose large sums in taxes.

For a Bad Cough, Mix This Better Remedy at Home

Quicker, Lasting Relief. Big Saving! No Cooking!

Here's an old home remedy your mother knew, but, for real results, it is still the best thing ever known for severe coughs. Try it once, and you'll swear by it.

It's no trouble at all. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking is needed—a child could do it.

Now put 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of actually better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for four times the money. It keeps perfectly, tastes fine, and lasts a family a long time.

And there is positively nothing like it for quick action. You can feel it take hold instantly. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm, soothes and heals the inflamed membranes, and clears the air passages. No cough remedy, at any price, could be more effective.

Pinex is a compound of Norway Pine, in concentrated form, famous as a healing agent for throat and bronchial membranes. It is guaranteed to please you, or money refunded.

WIDESPREAD HUNT FOR MISSING NEW YORK GIRL

High School Girl Missing For Week

Disappeared After Hallowe'en Party—May Be Kidnap Victim

ADOPTED DAUGHTER OF WEALTHY MAN

(International News Service)

NEW YORK Nov. 6—Thought to be the victim of either an organized kidnap ring or a madman, pretty Jane Merrell, 14 year old Forest Hills high school student, today was the object of one of the most widespread police hunts in a metropolitan history.

The girl, an adopted daughter of a wealthy realty owner, disappeared on Halowe'en while garbed in a masquerade costume which she had worn at a party for 20 of her young friends in her home.

Kept Disappearance Secret

For four days police kept the news of her disappearance a secret, but when an intensive hunt had failed to uncover a single clue as to her whereabouts the girl's absence was made known.

Merrell told the police that at the conclusion of the Hallowe'en party in his home, Jane and her friends decided to make a round of visits to other homes in the neighborhood in accordance with Hallowe'en custom. Her friends, impatient, went on ahead and she to join them at the first stop.

She was not seen again after leaving the house.

Report Girl Home

New York, Nov. 6.—Fourteen-year-old Jane Merrell, object of a city-wide search since her disappearance in Ragamuffin costume on Hallowe'en, was back at her home today after being found, according to reports, on 79th street between Second and Third avenues.

A mysterious ban of details of her return was clamped down by police who declined to vouchsafe any information concerning her whereabouts during the five-day search. It was stated only that she had been found by Detective Edward Collins.

After questioning by police, Jane was taken to the home of her foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Merrell, in Forest Hills.

35,000,000 Will Vote. Important Issue In Florida.

Never Pay The U. S. A. Earth Surgery Some Day.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

THIS IS an important election year. Thirty to thirty-five million voters will vote for thirty-four United States Senators, thirty-three governors and four hundred and thirty-two members of the House of Representatives in forty-seven states, Maine having already voted.

Before the elections forty-nine million citizens registered, only one million less than two years ago when Mr. Roosevelt was running against Mr. Hoover, but five million more than registered in 1928, when Mr. Hoover was elected. Such heavy registration shows unusual interest in politics.

By Wednesday you will know what the voters think they want, although you will not know why more than the ten millions that registered did not take the trouble to vote. That is a secret of the American character.

IN THIS election Florida has been much interested in the vote for a constitutional amendement expected to take a large part of the moving picture industry from Hollywood to Florida.

This amendment would exempt from all taxation of every kind any moving picture enterprise in Florida for the next fifteen years, no taxes on payrolls, personal property, real estate profits, or anything.

FLORIDA HAS in hand a much more important proposition, one that will mean infinitely more to Florida's prosperity and sets a good example for other states. It is the proposition to exempt from taxation homes not exceeding a certain reasonable amount in value.

Tax-exempt homes of modest value would enable a father and mother to be sure of raising a family without having the roof and the rest of the house taken away by tax collectors.

THERE ARE no taxes on churches. Buildings in which the souls of men are saved should not be taxed.

There are no taxes on orphan asylums or schools not operated for profit in which children are educated.

Could there be anything more idiotic than taxing heavily, far more heavily than the rich man's house, in proportion to value, the home in which a father and mother raise a family of children?

Would the founder of Christianity who said "Suffer little children to come unto Me and forbid them not" have approved of taxation on the house in which the father and mother of these children work to bring them up for the benefit of the state? Is anything more sacred, even the church, orphan asylum or school, than the protection, care and raising of children?

Every Florida man and woman voting to exempt modest homes from taxation will have cast a vote for civilization and human decency.

The announcement that a man may live, work and spend his accumulations in a modest home in Florida, free from taxation, will do more to develop that state in population and prosperity than anything else that could possibly happen.

YOU REMEMBER, it is not long ago, how eagerly American financiers were lending to anybody in Europe, Asia, Africa or South America that would borrow.

Among other sums lent, eight thousand million marks about two billions of dollars, were sent in private, long and medium term loans to Germany, interest of these loans amounting to five hundred million marks, about one hundred and twenty-five million dollars a year.

Germany at first announced that it would pay only forty per cent of the interest on this loan. Now it announces that it will not pay anything, interest or principal.

ON THE DAWES and Young loans, representing our national loans to Germany, all payments were stopped, some time ago.

Whatever you do, DON'T PAY THE UNITED STATES seems to be the established European policy.

Germany's recently announced intention to pay monies borrowed in England makes the motto the more interesting. The "no payment" affects the United States only.

Germany, dissatisfied with the quantity of goods the United States buys from Germany, hopes the "no pay" policy will compel larger purchases.

Perhaps President Roosevelt will find some adequate reply to this German announcement. Grover Cleveland would have found a reply.

IN SLIGHT harmless earthquakes in the state of Washington, nobody was hurt, a few pictures rattled on the walls.

The learned G. E. Goodspeed, professor of geology, says "there is a big fault" running north and south at a place where old Mount Si joins with a more recent geological formation of cascade mountain rock.

The rock settles at the "fault," shakes the earth, produces the earthquake. Fortunately Washington has deep alluvial soil that takes up the shock.

Perhaps in the millions of years ahead of us science will engage in "earth surgery," cutting out the earthquake-producing "faults" as dentists operate on teeth or tree surgeons on trees. Control of the sea, the earth and its climate have hardly begun.

PETROGRAD reports a treasure buried long ago, eleven hundred silver coins and many pieces of plain silver. The coins are Saxon, Danish, Czech, Italian, some with eleventh century dates.

A hunter digging a hole in the forest to set a bear trap found the treasure near Lake Ladoga. It may have belonged to merchants afraid of bandits.

Such treasures are found frequently near the Baltic. An ancient German law to which Goethe refers in the second part of Faust permitted the farmer to keep for himself all treasure turned over by his plow. If found otherwise it belonged to the ruler of the state.

The idea of the plow was to persuade farmers to plow deep, increasing fertility, more important to the nation's wealth than any buried treasure.

Observations In 7th Ward

Seven or eight additional light bulbs have been put on special duty in the seventh ward fire department in honor of the election.....Some conception of the size of a Pullman can be obtained when it is at a standstill on the Liberty street overhead. One of the cars extends the entire width of Liberty street with sidewalks included.....J. A. Prater, of Wabash avenue used to live in Missouri and has been through the famous Jesse James underground tunnel. The tunnel extended from Jesse James' home to the barn and was used successfully as a means of escape when in a "tight place." Mr. Prater talked to James' mother and found her very likeable.. ..Dave Kyle, out the Mt. Jackson way, can remember shaking hands with Garfield, that ill-fated president who was the victim of an assassin's bullet. Of course Mr. Kyle was just a little tike at the time. Garfield was in Petersburg, Ohio.

BEARS BEAT TIGERS

The Wabash Bears defeated the Tubetown Tigers Saturday by the score of 35 to 0 but on Sunday lost to the Mahoning Wildcats by the score of 25 to 7. Wildcat stars were Albert Panella, Bennie Russo and Alfonso Russo. Starring for the Bears were Tommelleo, Dominick, and Pacuttia.

The Pitt Panthers tied to the Wayne team 6 to 6, with touchdowns for the respective teams made by Joe Pisana and Guy Lateana. These teams will meet again Friday.

REPORT LESS BUNNIES

Hunters report that rabbits seem to be not as plentiful this year as in previous seasons. Although many have been bringing home the limit each day, others have hunted without getting a shot. Pheasants appear to be plentiful in spite of last year's open season. Lawrence county was unusually well stocked with these birds from the Jordan State Game farm this year. Some quail and some squirrels have been brought home by Mahoningtown hunters from the local vicinity.

Tiny Baby Shows Excellent Progress

Baby Born Sept. 29, Weighing Two Pounds And Six Ounces Gains Steadily

One of the smallest babies born in New Castle in some years and, incidentally, the youngest patient in the New Castle hospital, is Fred Benninghoff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Benninghoff, of 101 West Wallace avenue, who weighed two pounds and six ounces, on Saturday morning, September 29, the date of his birth.

Five hours after his birth, the infant became a patient in the New Castle hospital. Since then, the baby has spent the first 39 days of his life in an attractive incubator in the maternity department of the institution. He will be kept in this for the next four or five weeks, the attending physician stated. This morning the infant was placed on a scale and tipped the beams at three pounds and two ounces.

The baby fed daily through an infant feeder. Medical men of the city and vicinity are watching with interest this unusual case. The attending physician stated today that due to the scientific improvement of medical science, during the past few years, the baby has a normal chance for life. The painstaking efforts of attendants of the hospital has been an aid to the continual growth of the child.

HELPS WHOLE FAMILIES

Attention, MOTHERS, to what every doctor knows to be a fact, and what they say to avoid

If you have children who are occasionally constipated, you should know this.

If you are "not yourself" because of a constipated condition, don't blame it on your blood condition, or your age, but first try this treatment that safely relieves sluggishness in children or adults.

The Proper Treatment

You can't safely relieve the bowels with any medicine if you can't regulate the dose. To regulate dosage, you should have a liquid laxative. When necessary to repeat, you can gradually reduce the dose. And that is the secret of safe relief from a sluggish, constipated condition at any age.

A liquid laxative can be measured. Its action can be thus controlled. If properly made, of such natural laxative elements as senna and cascara, it forms no habit — even in the youngest child. And such a laxative will help the bowels to help themselves.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is an approved liquid laxative containing herbs, active senna, and cascara, and is the one widely used. You can always obtain it at any drug store. Why not make the "liquid test" which has attracted so much attention of late? It helps nearly everyone who tries it. It may make you feel better overnight. The children will like it, too; Syrup Pepsin has a delightful taste.

If you will risk sixty cents to discover the safe, pleasant action of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, we believe bowel worries will be over for your household.

BE CAREFUL

IF any laxative is dipsetic (makes you thirsty).

IF it affects your appetite.

IF you need more today than the first time you took it.

IF it drains the system (by too watery a movement).

IF a bad "burning" is felt.

IF there is severe griping.

Safeguarding Health Of School Children

Safeguarding the health of school children is one of the most important functions of education. In the following article Dr. Mary J. Baker, director of health for the New Castle public schools, discusses the subject.

SAFEGUARDING THE HEALTH OF SCHOOL CHILDREN

The modern trend in health work among school children has so definitely and directly changed its course in the past few years that the whole educational system has been affected by it.

The new thought in the development of a health education program that will safeguard the health of school children is to produce a scientific program of recognized educational value emphasizing hygiene, health citizenship and attitudes, along with the development of a progressive and corrective education program and health service.

The part education plays in producing a nation of healthy people is larger than the public realizes and it is very necessary that any growing program be based on actual needs as shown by incontrovertible facts, rather than upon general theories. As a result the threefold idea as mentioned above has been developed.

The aims of the health instruction program are vital to any community. These aims are: first, to instruct children so that they may conserve and improve their own health; second, to establish in them the habits and principles of living that will assure abundant vigor and vitality through their entire life, thus providing the basis for the greatest possible happiness and service in personal, family and community life; third, to improve the individual and community life of the future and thus develop a healthier nation and race.

Physical education is passing from the contortionistic stage into a scientific program that will be of value to every school child in correcting those postural defects which are already present and prevent others from developing. The new program plans to give to every child the same opportunity for competitive and constructive play, thereby offering the greatest good possible to the greatest number possible.

Adequate health service to safeguard the child's health includes first-class periodic health and dental examinations and first aid and accident prevention, as well as disease prevention. Due to lack of funds and the slow education of the laity, this service has not been developed to its full possibilities Nevertheless, its growth has been so rapid as to amaze the profession as well as the general public.

The New Castle public schools are giving their pupils the benefit of all aspects of this well-rounded program in so far as their curtailed budget allows. The platoon system used in New Castle makes it possible to have competent health teachers who not only teach health education and supervise the play periods, but who also aid in carrying out the health service program.

At the present time we have a vaccination law that gives adequate protection against smallpox. Sixty-five per cent of our children are protected against diphtheria, having been immunized by our present health service. The dental program, while limited greatly, has been adequate in caring for several thousand children who otherwise would have been without any dental care.

In its present status our health education program for safeguarding the health of our school children emphasizes all aspects of health—physical, mental, social and moral.

Roosevelt Views Democratic Gains With Quiet Ease

Spends Day At Home With Family As He Receives Returns Of Election

(International News Service)

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Nov. 7.—Tired, but supremely happy, President Roosevelt remained silent within his comfortable home on the Hudson river here today, and watched late returns roll into reveal the most sweeping Democratic victory in decades.

Only members of the President's family heard the executive's naturally jubilant comments upon the results of the most important test of the new deal in the regard of the people.

Mr. Roosevelt was awake early and while still in bed scanned the newspapers showing startling Democratic gains in hitherto Republican strongholds.

Schnader Not Yet Conceding His Defeat

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—Still refusing stubbornly to concede defeat without qualification, Attorney General William A. Schnader, Republican candidate who in the face of latest returns was unsuccessful in his attempt to win the governorship of Pennsylvania, today nevertheless indirectly congratulated his Democratic adversary, George H. Earle.

"I fought a hard clean fight, enjoyed every minute of it and have no regrets," the attorney general declared in a statement issued at his hotel here.

"I am happy to have made thousands of new friends," Schnader continued, "to all of my friends, old and new, who worked so hard in my behalf, and to the host of voters who supported me I extend my hearty thanks.

"On the face of returns I am defeated. If I am, I congratulate Mr. Earle heartily. But, my friends in certain parts of the state advise me not to concede the correctness of the returns.

"Until I look into the reasons for their thus advising me, I shall have nothing further to say."

Girl's Screams Bring Police

Man Is Held And Girl Is In Hospital As Result Of Response

Gladys Adams, formerly of 907 Twenty-Sixth street, Beaver Falls, but who has recently lived on the second floor of the old State Bank building in South Jefferson street, is in the Jameson Memorial hospital and A. E. Kelly, alias A. E. Kelarn, who came here from Beaver Falls, is in the city jail charged with suspicion and will be held pending the outcome of the girl's injuries.

According to the city police report, Kelly is alleged to have administered a beating to the girl about 4 a. m. today and it is possible that she has a fracture of the skull. Her face was badly swollen and it is said that the inside of her mouth was lacerated.

Lieutenant Elder and Patrolmen Thomas and Harper were on the Public Square at 4 a. m. when they heard a girl scream. They entered the second floor above the State Bank and found both Kelly and Miss Adams in a room where Miss Adams had been living, it is said.

Both were taken to the city police station. Kelly was locked up and a physician had Miss Adams sent to the Jameson Memorial hospital.

The cause of the quarrel was not brought out when Kelly appeared before Mayor Mayne in police court.

According to Kelly he formerly lived at 3214 Fourth avenue, Beaver Falls, and also in Cleveland. His home is in New Kensington and he is a landscape engineer by occupation, he told the mayor.

W. E. Baugham Received Hip Injury In Auto Accident Tuesday Afternoon

Officials of the New Castle hospital reported some improvement in the condition of W. E. Baugham, 61, of 124 East New Castle street, Zelienople, who was injured in an automobile accident about a mile and a half from Weigletown on the Butler-New Castle highway Tuesday afternoon.

The man received an injury to his right hip and bruises of the face and body. Baugham was headed toward New Castle, followed by a car driven by Dale Gilliland, 248 East Neshannock avenue, New Wilmington. According to reports, the Zelienople man was on the right side of the highway and suddenly turned left into a private driveway, without making a signal, and his car was struck by the vehicle driven by Gilliland. Gilliland and Art Weiker, who were riding in the same car, escaped injuries.

Beaver, Butler Counties Send Democrats, Too

There will be some new faces in the general assembly from Lawrence Butler and Beaver counties in the session of 1935, all of them Democratic. Lawrence county sends two Democrats as against one before, Butler county sends two as against none before and Beaver county sends three as against one before. The only Republican from the Lawrence-Beaver district will be Senator A. S. Batchelor of Monaca and he is a holdover.

Governor Pinchot On Fishing Trip

(International News Service)

MILFORD, Pa., Nov. 7.—Unable to "stand Guffey or Earle" during the heated political campaign, Gov. Gifford Pinchot turned to a fishing trip today to ease his sorrow over the Democratic win scored in yesterday's balloting.

Although the chief executive was not delighted by the victories Joseph F. Guffey in the senatorial race or George H. Earle in the gubernatorial contest, he urged Republicans to cooperate with them in obtaining social legislation, contending the G. O. P. is honor-bound, even in defeat, to carry out their platform promises.

State Democrats Are Jubilant

Victories Are Claimed For Entire State Ticket By Lawrence

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 7.—Supreme joy came to Pennsylvania's Democrats today as this rock-ribbed Republican state tumbled into the Democratic ranks for the first time in ages.

So great was their jubilation that the Democrats ignored final returns and proclaimed themselves victors. While Joseph M. Guffey, Pittsburgh, graciously acknowledged his triumph in the senatorial race over the Republican stalwart, Senator David A. Reed, David L. Lawrence, Democratic state chairman, claimed victories for "the entire Democratic ticket".

Both he and Guffey said the outcome was a victory for President Roosevelt and the "New Deal".

"While complete figures are not available," Lawrence said, "it appears that the next legislature will be Democratic and that a majority of the Pennsylvania delegation in Congress will also be Democratic."

He predicted Guffey's majority would reach 100,000 and Earle's 50,000.

Guffey regarded the outcome as "notice to every reactionary in America that the people are back of the President and his program."

For the people of Pennsylvania, Lawrence regarded it as a "red-letter day, marking the emancipation of millions from the yoke of the Mellon-Grundy industrial and financial autocracy."

Guffey thanked his supporters and assured them he will go "to Washington to represent and serve them—all of them."

Japan Denies Islands Are Being Fortified

By JAMES R. YOUNG
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1934, By International News Service)

TOKYO, Nov. 6.—Japan is "fortifying" her mandated islands in the Pacific with factories, and the "gunpowder" stored there is nothing more formidable than sugar, an official spokesman for the Japanese navy told International News Service today.

His half-facetitious statement was prompted by renewed charges voiced at Geneva that Japan is strengthening her military and naval position by erecting fortifications on the former German island possessions in the Pacific that were given to her under mandate at the close of the World war.

Ever since the issue was first raised more than a year ago, Japan has steadfastly insisted that she is violating no provisions of the mandate by improving and developing the islands placed under her charge.

The allegations voiced before the League of Nations mandates commission at Geneva that fortifications are being built are naturally of great interest to the United States, as the Japanese islands are close to the Philippines and the American island of Guam.

The Geneva commission has called upon the Japanese government fo. an official explanation, and it may safely be assumed that Tokyo's formal answer will be identical with the navy office's statement to International News Service—namely that factories do not constitute fortifications and sugar could never be used as gunpowder.

Despite all charges and inferences to the contrary, Japan insists she has never violated the international regulations imposed under the mandates and has never restricted international traffic. The government makes the significant point, however, that all ports in the mandates are not equipped for the entrance and clearance of foreign vessels.

This point may be brought out in answer to the report that an American vessel carrying scientists was not permitted to dock in the Ladrone islands, the group Japan was accused of fortifying before yesterday's session of the league mandate's commission.

Editor Is Heard At U. C. T. Rally

Recovery Is Businessman's Job, Columbus Man Declares At Dinner

Upon the shoulders of America's businessmen—its salesmen, its merchants and its manufacturer's—rests the job of restoring business prosperity to the nation, James G. Daly, Columbus, editor of "Sample Case" national salesmen's magazine, declared before a dinner audience of 60 local members of the United Commercial Travelers at the Elks club last night.

The editor challenged the group to "get together" to form a united front in the drive to restore the economic order as it once was.

Around the dinner tables as Mr. Daly spoke, sat the members of the New Castle Council, No. 408 U. C. T. and guests who came from the New Castle district and other points. Two visiting U. C. T. officers were also present.

Presiding as chairman of the program was Charles A. Brookover past senior councillor of the local group. Judge R. Lawrence Hildebrand, who delivered a short address, introduced Mr. Day.

Devoting his message to a timely topic for businessmen, Editor Daly, the supreme junior councillor of the national U. C. T. organization and a leader in its drive to revive business, asserted emphatically that "it's up to businessmen to set the country right again."

Wyatt R. Campbell was chairman of arrangements for the evening.

Editor Daly speaks tonight before a booster rally sponsored by the United Commercial Travelers at Beaver Falls. He also spoke here before a mass meeting of men's Bible classes of the city churches at the First M. E. church on "We Like Sheep Have Gone Astray."

W. O. "Red" Williams led the pep singing last night with E. E. Branstetter as pianist.

Cow On Highway, Auto Is Wrecked

Hromyak Swerves Machine, Plunges Into Pole On Mt. Jackson Road

Two automobile accidents in which no persons were injured occurred during the past 24 hours on Lawrence County highways, according to State Highway patrolmen. One of the accidents was caused by a cow which was on the highway.

According to Patroiman Stoopes, Joseph Hromyak, 105 West Wallace avenue, was driving on the Mt. Jackson road near where a turn is made for Petersburg, O.

He saw a cow on the highway and in an effort to avoid hitting the bovine swerved his car and it struck a telephone pole almost completely ruining his automobile, according to Stoopes.

Patrolman Hoyman, reported that Miss Elva Caplan, Wampum, was driving beyond Willow Grove toward Wampum on Route 18 and the lights from the machine of J. A. Miekle, R. D. 8, New Castle, blinded her.

Miss Caplan's car which was ascending the hill and Mielke's auto which was descending the hill, collided. No one was injured.

Textile Workers Must Be Re-Hired

Textile Strike Cannot End Satisfactorily Until Workers Are Re-Hired

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—The textile strike cannot be satisfactorily ended and peace restored to the industry until all workers who left the plants during the strike, and who did not engage in lawless violence, are returned to their former positions.

This announcement was made today by the textile labor relations board, which said that this was a fundamental issue which must be met.

"The board expects the industry to reemploy those who were in the mills before the strike without further delay, and without discrimmination," the statement said. "Other important matters concerning the industry demand the attention of the board and should receive it."

The textile strike was terminated in September. In the majority of mills those who went out on strike have been taken back without question, but the board is still receiving numberous complaints that strikers are not being rehired and that many are being evicted from company houses.

Rickenbacker Plans New Hop

Will Make One-Stop Flight Across Continent With Eleven Passengers

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 6.—A spectacular one-stop flight from Los Angeles to New York in a high-powered, twin-motor passenger airplane carrying eleven persons will be attempted some time this week by Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, famous flyer, in an effort to smash the transcontinental record of thirteen hours and two minutes which he established last February.

Rickenbacker said today he hopes to streak on a "bee line" from coast to coast in about twelve hours, making one stop at Kansas City for refueling.

This will be the first time a passenger plane will make the transcontinental flight with but one stop.

Trees Planted On Watersheds

Companies Realize Importance Of Protecting Source Of Supply

HARRISBURG, Nov. 6.—"Water companies in Pennsylvania, both private and municipal, realize the importance of a complete forest cover on their watersheds," said Director Charles R. Meek of the Bureau of Forest Extension. "During 1934, thirty-three privately owned water companies and forty municipalities purchased over 1,100,000 trees from the Department of Forests and Waters, most of which were planted about reservoirs, along streams and near springs."

The largest planting was made by the Hanover Municipal Water Works with 160,000 seedlings and transplants. Following closely was the City of Franklin which planted 140,000.

"For watersheds," Mr. Meek continued, "evergreens are preferred as the needles are not likely to accumulate in the water. Experience has shown that red, white, pitch, Banks, and Scotch pines are preferable and can be planted anywhere in the State with reasonable assurance of success."

Seedlings for reforestation purposes may be purchased from the Department of Forests and Waters at $2 per thousand, and transplants at $5 per thousand.

Income Tax Ruling Made

Taxpayers Can Deduct Charitable Gifts From Capital Gains In Reports

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—The supreme court today ruled that taxpayers can deduct charitable gifts from capital gains in making their income tax returns.

Three cases involving the question were before the court on appeal of the government, all from the second circuit court of appeals in New York. The government sought to compel taxpayers to use the maximum 15 per cent charitable deduction allowed by law only against ordinary net income, excluding capital gains taxes at a different rate.

Wealthy taxpayers chiefly are affected. Under the decision the government may lose large sums in taxes.

For a Bad Cough, Mix This Better Remedy at Home
Quicker, Lasting Relief. Big Saving! No Cooking!
Here's an old home remedy your mother knew, but, for real results, it is still the best thing ever known for severe coughs. Try it once, and you'll swear by it.
It's no trouble at all. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking is needed—a child could do it.
Now put 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of actually better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for four times the money. It keeps perfectly, tastes fine, and lasts a family a long time.
And there is positively nothing like it for quick action. You can feel it take hold instantly. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm, soothes and heals the inflamed membranes, and clears the air passages. No cough remedy, at any price, could be more effective.
Pinex is a compound of Norway Pine, in concentrated form, famous as a healing agent for throat and bronchial membranes. It is guaranteed to please you, or money refunded.

Titans Prepare For Waynesburg Game

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Nov. 7. Coaches Bill and Tom Gilbane and a squad of 24 Westminster College players will leave here late Friday afternoon for Waynesburg where Frank Wolf's Waynesburg College Yellowjackets will be played Saturday in an important district game.

The Titans, with three victories and one tie game in competition with teams in their own class, face the outstanding small-college eleven in Waynesburg. The Jackets defeated Geneva 19-0 last Saturday, and Westminster looks for the hardest game on the schedule.

No injuries resulted from the Grove City game last Saturday, and the Gilbane brothers will probably start the same eleven men who faced the Grovers. These include Arrowsmith, Sweeney, Laraway, and Staples in the backfield; and Austen, Watt, Burry, Young, Helmick, Straw, and Franklin on the line.

The Titans will travel by bus and will make their headquarters Friday night and Saturday morning either in Washington or in Waynesburg. A large crowd of students will follow the team, but most of these will not leave until Saturday morning.

Following the Waynesburg game, the Titans play Muskingum on Friday afternoon, November 16; and Geneva at home on November 24 to close the hard ten-game schedule.

MEMORY LANE

Most of us believe that the sport heroes shall linger in the memories of the fans down through the ages but such is not the case. The greatest of the stars and the feats they performed are erased from the memory in time, and it doesn't take very long for them to be forgotten either.

Here are twenty questions with which you can brush up on your memory work. If you can get fourteen of them right you deserve promotion:

1—What was the result of the Peter Jackson-Jim Corbett fight of May, 1890?

2—Who captained the famous "Four Horseman" Notre Dame team of 1924?

3—Who won the world's singles tennis title in 1933 at Wimbledon, England?

4—Who was the first woman to swim the English Channel?

5—Who were the 1924 World Series winners?

6—With whom did Charlie Grimm begin his major league career?

7—In what year was the first Dempsey-Tunney championship fight held?

8—Who led the American league in batting in 1922?

9—In what year did Hal Rhyne first play in the major leagues?

10—Who was named as Poland's outstanding athlete for 1933?

11—In what sport did the following become famous: De Hart Hubbard, Duke Kahanamoka, Frank Taberski, Tommy Milton?

12—In what round did Gene Tunney knock out Tommy Gibbons in 1925?

13—Who won the Boston Marathon last April?

14—Who managed the Brooklyn baseball team in 1900?

15—Where and to whom did Battling Siki lose the light heavyweight title?

16—What university did Walter Eckersall attend?

17—Who played in the 1925 Rose Bowl game and who won?

18—What universities did the following track stars attend: Henry Brocksmith, Frank Wykoff, Eddie Tolan, Emmett Toppino, Bill Carr, Carl Coan, and Ralph Hill?

19—How many times has Pitt played in the Rose Bowl games and how many of the games did they win?

20—What university did Ted Lyons of the Chicago Whitesox attend?

The best conditions for growing lilies of the valley are found in a location where there can be heat below, light from above and shade from the sides. Over a radiator, not so close as to be too hot, is a good situation; the sides can be shaded by fastening a cylinder of paper around the container so that the light strikes from above.

New Castle, Sharon Prepare For Battle

New Castle High Faces Tough Battle At Sharon Saturday; Orange Team Anxious

New Castle High school "Red Hurricane" football team will find an anxious eleven in Sharon High Saturday waiting for revenge for the defeat handed them last year at Taggart Stadium.

It is no secret that Coach Dave Stewart would like to win the New Castle game more than any one on the 1934 schedule. Sharon came here last year with a highly touted team and took a licking, and for that reason they would like to even things up with the Lawrence Countians.

With Raskowski, Fleming, Cox, Donegan and Steritz not likely to see action against Sharon, the locals are going to be up against tough opposition.

The game Saturday will start at 2:30 o'clock. The game will be played in the new Sharon High stadium.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

While hunting on a farm near Waynesburg, Pa., Jim Kent, a constable of that district, shot four times and killed six squirrels which may not be good arithemetic but appears to be exceptional shooting. His first shot brought down a pair of bushytails. His second and third were good for singles and on the fourth shot he doubled again. He has refused to name the spot where he made his record.

Staging one of his sensational stretch finishes, C. V. Whitney's Equipoise splashed mud and water in the faces of five rivals to win the Whitney gold trophy, headline event of the United Hunts one day meeting at Belmont park yesterday.

Back from a tour of Ireland, England and France, which he postponed until he could regain his welterweight title from Barney Ross, Jimmy McLarnin bounded ashore at New York City and announced he would like to take a few more cracks at Ross.

Dizzy and Paul Dean, hurling aces for the World championship Cardinals conferred with President Sam Breadon anent their 1935 salary yesterday, reached no decision and will not go into a huddle with Breadon again until next January. Dizzy wants $25,000, and Paul, $15,000, for next year.

PISTONS CAN WEAR 65 TIMES FASTER ON WINTER DAYS

Atlantic Winter Oils minimize this danger by providing higher film-strength

IMPROVEMENT HAILED AS REVOLUTIONARY

WINTER puts a tremendous strain on your automobile. Tests show that piston wear can be 65 times greater than normal during the warming-up period on cold days. That's when you need an oil that gives an extra margin of protection. And you get it . . . with the new ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS for Winter!

These oils have a remarkable new characteristic . . . EXTREMELY HIGH FILM-STRENGTH. They will prolong the life of the working parts of your engine, and should definitely mean fewer repair bills for you.

Film-strength is important because if an oil is not strong enough, it is apt to allow metal-to-metal contact in your engine . . . and costly wear is caused. This is particularly true during cold weather.

Play safe! Don't gamble with your engine . . . it's too expensive. Change now to the correct winter grade of the new ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS. * * * You will get the best results if you use them undiluted, so we suggest that you be sure to drain your crankcase before putting in ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS for Winter.

Colleges Charge Too Much Money For Grid Games

Would Have Bigger Crowds At Reduced Prices, Says Davis J. Walsh

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—College football, which is succeeding in not making much money this year in a very furious way, is seriously alarmed, they tell me, by the shortage of sucker money at this time and is wondering just what can be done about it. I don't profess to know what can or will be done about it, only what won't. They won't reduce the price of tickets, this suggestion being in line with that impulsive, broad-minded way I have with other peoples money.

Nevertheless, the answer is found in the 15,000 to 25,000 crowds where back in the flash era you couldn't get in without a dispensation from Washington, and in the play those dollar seats get back there behind the end zone where you see the ball game strictly on the bias. Even in this case, they're asking too much for too little.

Prices Too High

It isn't that football interest is off! On the contrary, it was never so tremendous as it has been this season, with millions being bet every Saturday in pools and handbooks. But at $3.50 and $4.40 a ticket, it's simpler to read the papers the next morning.

The crowds at both ends of the Pitt Stadium and the acres of empty seats along the sidelines were a rebuke to the management at the recent Pitt-U. S. C. game. Considering its background, it might have sold the place out, if the price was right. The same thing happened with Columbia and Cornell on Saturday, with only 15,000 in the stands. There's more than 15,000 Columbia men alone on the campus of any given school day.

Many Empty Seats

On the same afternoon, Harvard and Princeton, re-united after eight years, played to a half-empty stadium. So did Yale and the Army a few weeks ago, with Fordham and Tennessee doing only 25,000 Saturday.

The big ten seems to be having a fair year on the books but the west coast crowds are not what they were, if accounts of the big games out there are credible. Of course, you can't sell U. S. C. on its record this year and California, I suspect, couldn't even be given away. But in the days of the gold rush out there they were asking in August for tickets in November.

Probably the only sections that have not felt the pinch are the south and certain spots in the middle west. The south, for instance, never went for the big money idea. It, therefore, can get a bottle of rubbing alcohol without going to the First National Bank.

He was hunting with Kenneth Smith of Aliquippa in the vicinity of Slippery Rock. Last hunting season they were hunting together on the first day, and Smith got a fox.

They have been matched for a 12 round battle at Buenos Aires. The arena in which they will fight has a capacity of 40,000. The date of the bout is November 24.

His opponent will be Tony Falco of Philadelphia who set back Jackson for the loss of his first decision in the east.

The Cincinnati National Football franchise and players will be transferred to St. Louis this week...Dizzy and Paul Dean have now turned their thoughts toward what salary they will ask for next season. They would like $40,000 between them, $25,000, for Dizzy and $15,000, for Paul.

Andrews, Unions Are Deadlocked

Two New Castle Bowling Teams Tied For First Place

ANDREWS HIGH FOR ONE GAME

In the Beaver-Lawrence County Tenpin league there still exists a tie for first place between the Andrews Unions, both from New Castle. The best matches of the week were furnished by the tailenders, the Webbers getting 2752 against West Aliquippa's 2873, both of these totals being high for the past week's bowling. In this match Shaffolo again was the class of the setto, getting a 644 total, Carl being a second best with 590 for his team. In the first game West Aliquippa totalled 1040 to win its only game, while the Webbers, by rolling three consistent 900 scores, managed to win the odd game. Holcomb with a 591, showed his team-mates the way, followed by Bauer with 566.

The Unions-Ludwig games furnished the most excitement and hair-raising finish when after each team had put a game in the win column the third game ended in a tie, necessitating a roll off in which the visitors won by seven pins, principally due to Minor striking out in the extra frame. For the Unions, Thompson's efforts were noteworthy in that he scored 12 consecutive strikes, they coming, however, in two separate games. His total of 631 was high for the match, Morrow being an able assistant in their wins with a 583. For Ludwig, Merle again showed his teammates the way with a 562, closely followed by Wires 556 and Martin 545.

The Andrews team won the odd game from the American Legion team with a 2712 against the Legion's 2646. Zahorsky with a 608, the best of the match, tried to stave off defeat, but the concerted effort of Picarro and McCormick with 593 and 554 respectively were not to be denied. Cline, a newcomer in the Andrews lineup, got off to a good start with a 194.

At Ellwood City, the visiting Beaver Falls Boosters dropped two games to Captain McDonald's Shelby team, in which the winners in the total score excelled only by 29 pins. McDonald's 580 was high for the match while Vollmer's 544 was second best. But two double centuries were cracked in the three games, one by McDonald, 216, and the other by Kerstatter, 200.

The team standing at the end of the fifth week's competition is as follows:

New Castle Will Play At Sharon

"Red Hurricane" Starts Preparing For Invasion Of Sharon Saturday

New Castle high school "Red Hurricane" football team will go to Sharon Saturday for a tussle with the big Orange and Black clad warriors of Sharon high. Coach Phil Bridenbaugh started practice this afternoon. The squad was given a rest Monday after the hard battle with New Kensington.

New Castle will be rather well crippled up for the game at Sharon, with Captain Raskowski, Fleming, Cox, Siritz and Donegan doubtful to see action in the game.

Coach Bridenbaugh will start to build a new team this week. The coach was not well pleased with the 0-0 tie with New Ken high. Sharon will give New Castle a tough engagement at the new spacious Sharon high stadium.

Injured Lions May Play Against Penn

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Nov. 6.—Unless more Penn State football players are injured during the coming week of practice, the Nittany Lions should be able to put their most powerful lineup of the season on Franklin Field this Saturday for the University of Pennsylvania game.

In addition to Captain Merrill Morrison, halfback, who has been out of the last three encounters, two wingmen, Frank Smith and Lee Sunday, should be off the disabled list. Smith is a regular while Sunday is a first line reserve end.

Morrison could have played against Syracuse Saturday, but Coach Bob Higgins thought it best not to take any chances with the Nittany leader in hopes that he will be in fine mettle for the Quaker game. Morrison will be playing in his home town this week, having graduated from Central High School with Lou Kreizman, regular Nittany guard.

Shenango-Union To Play Friday

Union High Will Go To Shenango High Field For Game Friday Afternoon

Shenango high football team and Union high gridders will battle it out Friday afternoon for second place in the county championship race. Both teams have lost to Bessemer high which leaves the Fredericks coached team the titleholders. The game at Shenango will start at 3 o'clock.

Coach Davey Boyd is drilling the Unionites hard this week in preparation for the game, and Coach Eddie Raney is also giving Shenango a lot of attention this week.

EINTRACHTS TO MEET

By JOHN J. MAHER, JR.

QUICK KICKS

The unbeaten and untied list of major football teams has now dwindled to nine, with Army, Dartmouth and Chicago having been eliminated last Saturday. Only Navy, Princeton, Syracuse, Tulane, Alabama, Minnesota, Illinois, Michigan State and Washington remain....Lieutenant-Commander John H. Brown, Jr., football officer at the Naval Academy, was an all-American guard there in 1913 and was line coach in the three following years...Coach Carl Snavely likes his North Carolina football players to be rough and tough but he will not let them swear or drink beer...Minnesota's victory over Michigan was their first on their home field over the Wolverines since 1892...Gil Dobie, Cornell mentor, has coached more undefeated football teams than any coach in the "big time", an even dozen... Julie Bescos, captain and end at Southern California, kept in condition during the summer by digging ditches.

When Charles Goodwin, star end of the West Virginia U. team, was a freshman he was too confident to suit Coach Earle Neale, so the coach made him walk the campus with a sign on his back reading, "I'm Cocky". The next week Goodwin wore a sign of his own design which read, "I'm Still Cocky."... Buzz Borries of the Navy has scored ten touchdowns this season and averaged ten points a game...When Detroit and Michigan State play their football game, the Titans will be quiet familiar with the plays of their foe. The entire Detroit team scouted State in the Carnegie Tech game...Although Columbia has an enrollment of 35,000 students, a majority of them are taking post graduate work and are ineligible for football...The Wake Forest college line this year averages 207 pounds and the entire first team averages 199 pounds.

Dick Harlow, coach at Western Maryland, has worked a defense against forward passing that draws the guards back and gives him more men to cover passes than there are receivers...Some of Frank Carideo's Missouri squad got in shape this summer by carrying equipment to regions infected with mosquitoes... Eugene "Scrapiron" Young, the Notre Dame trainer who dashes out on the field to fix up the football team during time-out periods, was formerly a two-miler on the Irish track team...Northwestern has defeated Notre Dame only once since they began playing in 1899...Toots Douglas, who played football for Tennessee and Navy, once made a kick that covered 108 yards...There were some 2,000,000 bricks used in the construction of the Notre Dame stadium. If they were laid end to end they would stretch from the campus to Cleveland, a distance of 300 miles.

When St. Mary's, from away out on the Pacific coast, played its first game of intercollegiate football it was defeated by the University of California....Football is still considered as the most dangerous sport with polo second and wrestling third....Sewanee's football team played Texas, Tulane, Louisiana, Mississippi, and the Texas Aggies on five successive days in 1889 and beat them all....Jim Thorpe scored a total of 198 points for the Carlisle Indians in 1912....Fred Poole, Iowa State punter, averaged 54.4 yards against Iowa, which is one of the best punting records in modern football....Jack Dodd, Nebraska freshman, can kick a football equally well with either foot ....To pass the time away on bus rides, a favorite diversion of football players used to be to try and write down, from memory, all the states of the union. Yale players were doing it one day and one of the fellows came out a little better than the others. However, his teammates protested when they learned he had included Southern California and Tulane.

Morris-Harvey Is Next For Crimson

Coach Bill Amos Will Shift Starting Lineup This Week, Not Satisfied

GROVE CITY, Nov. 6.—The Crimson football squad went back to pre-season methods today as Coach Bill Amos inaugurated a week of practice in preparation for the Morris-Harvey game Saturday. The daily drills will consist largely of tackling and blocking, for the Grover coach was thoroughly displeased with this type of play in Saturday's 2-2 deadlock with Westminster.

Monday was a holiday to permit the Crimson gridders to recover from the bruising battle with the Titans, but the pressure was redoubled when the players reported today. Beaten by a weak Allegheny club, and tied by Westminster, the success of the Grove City season hinges on the last two games, and especially with the Thiel game, so that Amos is redoubling his efforts to correct glaring faults in fundamentals.

The tackling dummy was brought out for the first time in a month, and this work is to be supplemented with long sessions of tackling and blocking work on the field. All linemen are slated for strenuous work, since the Crimson backs were afforded scant protection in the Westminster game.

Grovers Start Floor Practice

Coach Bob Thorn Calls Out Candidates For Grove City Basketball Team

GROVE CITY, Nov. 6.—More than 40 candidates are expected to report to Bob Thorn this evening, in response to the first call for basketball practice. With only Tomko, Soich and Trembath left from the regulars of last season, there will be keen competition on the squad.

Until after Thanksgiving, when the football men will report for indoor work, three evenings will be used each week for basketball practice.

YOUNG PIRATES WIN TWO

Young Pirates over the week end won two football games, handing the Mercer All-Stars a 21 to 6 defeat Saturday and the Colored All-Stars 18 to 0 Sunday. Captain Granato played a fine game against both teams. The Young Pirates are out for the city junior championship.

Waynesburg To Prepare To Meet Titans Saturday

Spectators Will Watch Battle Between Two Diminutive Halfbacks

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Nov. 6—Football rivalry between Waynesburg and Westminster College will be renewed at Waynesburg Saturday November 10, when the Jackets and Titans meet in a pre-Armistice Day clash.

The game holds plenty of "fan appeal" in that a lively battle between two of the district's diminutive halfbacks "Rabb" Currie of Waynesburg and Ray Sweeney of Westminster is expected to rival in interest the game itself.

Both of these youths have been outstanding ball carriers in western Pennsylvania the past few seasons and their grid exploits will live long after they have hung up their spangles for the last time. It will be the next to final appearance on the Waynesburg home grounds of the speedy Rab and the fact that he will be pitted against his prototype from New Wilmington adds much interest to the game.

Waynesburg and Westminster last played in 1932, when the Yellow Jackets took a fiercely fought game by a six to nothing count at Westminster. The upstate school is still smarting under the sting of that two year old setback and naturally will be pointed to avenge the defeat.

A triumph for either eleven in the Waynesburg-Westminster encounter will add much to their final district standing this year as both clubs have been leaders in minor college ratings in recent seasons.

The game will mark the first appearance in Waynesburg of Westminster's new football mentors, the Gilbane brothers and the critical Greene county grid fans are anxious to witness the system of play taught by the two former Brown University stars and to compare it with the original "Krazy Kwilt" system devised by Frank Wolf, the resourceful Waynesburg coach.

Correct this sentence: "It was a clean game," said the coach, "without unnecessary roughness".

Japan Denies Islands Are Being Fortified

By JAMES R. YOUNG
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1934, By International News Service)

TOKYO, Nov. 6.—Japan is "fortifying" her mandated islands in the Pacific with factories, and the "gunpowder" stored there is nothing more formidable than sugar, an official spokesman for the Japanese navy told International News Service today.

His half-facetitious statement was prompted by renewed charges voiced at Geneva that Japan is strengthening her military and naval position by erecting fortifications on the former German island possessions in the Pacific that were given to her under mandate at the close of the World war.

Ever since the issue was first raised more than a year ago, Japan has steadfastly insisted that she is violating no provisions of the mandate by improving and developing the islands placed under her charge.

The allegations voiced before the League of Nations mandates commission at Geneva that fortifications are being built are naturally of great interest to the United States, as the Japanese islands are close to the Philippines and the American island of Guam.

The Geneva commission has called upon the Japanese government for an official explanation, and it may safely be assumed that Tokyo's formal answer will be identical with the navy office's statement to International News Service—namely that factories do not constitute fortifications and sugar could never be used as gunpowder.

Despite all charges and inferences to the contrary, Japan insists she has never violated the international regulations imposed under the mandates and has never restricted international traffic. The government makes the significant point, however, that all ports in the mandates are not equipped for the entrance and clearance of foreign vessels.

This point may be brought out in answer to the report that an American vessel carrying scientists was not permitted to dock in the Ladrone islands, the group Japan was accused of fortifying before yesterday's session of the league mandate's commission.

Cow On Highway, Auto Is Wrecked

Hromyak Swerves Machine, Plunges Into Pole On Mt. Jackson Road

Two automobile accidents in which no persons were injured occurred during the past 24 hours on Lawrence County highways, according to State Highway patrolmen. One of the accidents was caused by a cow which was on the highway.

According to Patrolman Stoopes, Joseph Hromyak, 105 West Wallace avenue, was driving on the Mt. Jackson road near where a turn is made for Petersburg, O.

He saw a cow on the highway and in an effort to avoid hitting the bovine swerved his car and it struck a telephone pole almost completely ruining his automobile, according to Stoopes.

Patrolman Hoyman, reported that Miss Elva Caplan, Wampum, was driving beyond Willow Grove toward Wampum on Route 18 and the lights from the machine of J. A. Mielke, R. D. 8, New Castle, blinded her.

Miss Caplan's car which was ascending the hill and Mielke's auto which was descending the hill, collided. No one was injured.

Editor Is Heard At U. C. T. Rally

Recovery Is Businessman's Job, Columbus Man Declares At Dinner

Upon the shoulders of America's businessmen—its salesmen, its merchants and its manufacturer's—rests the job of restoring business prosperity to the nation, James G. Daly, Columbus, editor of "Sample Case" national salesmen's magazine, declared before a dinner audience of 60 local members of the United Commercial Travelers at the Elks club last night.

The editor challenged the group to "get together" to form a united front in the drive to restore the economic order as it once was.

Around the dinner tables as Mr. Daly spoke, sat the members of the New Castle Council, No. 408 U. C. T. and guests who came from the New Castle district and other points. Two visiting U. C. T. officers were also present.

Presiding as chairman of the program was Charles A. Brookover past senior councillor of the local group. Judge R. Lawrence Hildebrand, who delivered a short address, introduced Mr. Day.

Devoting his message to a timely topic for businessmen, Editor Daly, the supreme junior councillor of the national U. C. T. organization and a leader in its drive to revive business, asserted emphatically that "it's up to businessmen to set the country right again."

Wyatt R. Campbell was chairman of arrangements for the evening.

Editor Daly speaks tonight before a booster rally sponsored by the United Commercial Travelers at Beaver Falls. He also spoke here before a mass meeting of men's Bible classes of the city churches at the First M. E. church on "We Like Sheep Have Gone Astray."

W. O. "Red" Williams led the pep singing last night with E. E. Branstetter as pianist.

Textile Workers Must Be Re-Hired

Textile Strike Cannot End Satisfactorily Until Workers Are Re-Hired

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—The textile strike cannot be satisfactorily ended and peace restored to the industry until all workers who left the plants during the strike, and who did not engage in lawless violence, are returned to their former positions.

This announcement was made today by the textile labor relations board, which said that this was a fundamental issue which must be met.

"The board expects the industry to reemploy those who were in the mills before the strike without further delay, and without discrimmination," the statement said. "Other important matters concerning the industry demand the attention of the board and should receive it."

The textile strike was terminated in September. In the majority of mills those who went out on strike have been taken back without question, but the board is still receiving numberous complaints that strikers are not being rehired and that many are being evicted from company houses.

"In addition to helping individuals and families, the Red Cross work of service to veterans, public health nursing, home hygiene, first aid, life saving and junior Red Cross must go on," the governor said. "I urge every Pennsylvanian who can possibly do so to contribute to the Red Cross for 1935 so that a great and good work can go on."

Believe Koppel Man Is Suicide

Recover Body Of Batista Benetti In Beaver River In Koppel Yesterday

THOUGHT TO HAVE JUMPED FROM BRIDGE

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 7.—The body of a man, who was only identified this morning was recovered from the Beaver river, two miles below Koppel, yesterday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock. He was Batista Benetti, aged about 50 of Koppel.

The circumstances of the case point to a suicide. Mr. Jacobs, a foreman of the P. and L. E. Railroad found a Stetson hat and overcoat of a man on the Koppel bridge yesterday afternoon. Other evidence near-by and on the banks of the river indicated that someone had jumped off the bridge.

When the body of the man had been recovered and identified, officials interviewed the family of the man and proclaimed the suicide theory a certainty. Benetti had been despondent over ill health and had been sulky of late. He is survived by his widow and five children.

Ellwood City Is Democratic

Democratic Candidates Carry Every Ward In Surprise Election Here Tuesday

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 7.—Ellwood City, which has been a Republican stronghold for years, has gone Democratic in a big way after Tuesday's election.

The Democrats won out in the city nearly 3 to 1. Their candidates carried every ward. Even the third ward, which has always polled a strong Republican vote, went Democrat to the above ratio.

Paul Cartwright, Republican nominee for the state legislature, did not carry his city or his own ward. A big vote was cast in the city. The total was 3,367. The vote by wards was as follows: First 664, second (first precinct) 629, second precinct 235, third ward 649, fourth (first precinct 425, second precinct 424, fifth 341.

With one exception the surrounding vicinity went Democrat. Ellwood To Meet New Brighton Hi

Benedictmen Hope To Redeem Themselves At Lincoln Field On Saturday

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 7.—With only two games left to play and being put in an embarrassing position, the Ellwood City high eleven has settled down to some hard work in an effort to redeem itself for its showing against Aliquippa high last Saturday, when New Brighton invades this city on Saturday.

The locals are priming for New Brighton and are showing some of their former zip, pep and determination. The Ellwoodians realize that they will be up against a tough proposition next Saturday with New Brighton. The Roarkmen have come along gradually to be rated as a formidable foe. They lost to Ambridge 6-0, where Aliquippa lost 14-0. New Brighton presents a hard running backfield led by Teddy Mujwit, sensational performer. If the Tubers are to stop the Crimson they will have to prepare a defense for him.

Local fans and supporters of the Benedict eleven are disappointed with its showing. They are convinced that the team has strength and ability, but has lost its spark for no apparent reason. They are being accused of laying down. The team does not relish this at all and has made it known by its workouts on the field. An altogether different and improved performance is expected Saturday.

Classes Fill Y. W. Building

Large Crowds Of Young People Turn Out For New Orchestra And Chorus

With various groups filling every part of the building the Y. W. C. A. resembled a school and conservatory of music Tuesday night.

There was a huge turn-out of young men and women for the orchestra and chorus. The orchestra, organized a week ago, is under the supervision of Prof. Jos. F. Replogle, while the chorus, organized last night, is in charge of Mrs. Replogle. Both are being very enthusiastically received. More members will be accepted for both musical groups and another meeting will be held next Tuesday. Mrs. Robert Fleming donated to the orchestra a large amount of sheet music.

At the same time a class in review shorthand was being conducted by Miss Genevieve Riddle and was attended by fifty young women. Simultaneously the True Blue Circle, composed of Shenango Pottery girls, enjoyed an evening of recreation.

A few hours previously 100 Girl Reserves from Benjamin Franklin junior high enjoyed roller skating and bowling in the gymnasium.

The young people of New Castle are showing great interest in the various classes offered by the "Y." They are fortunate in having expert teachers volunteer their leadership, making possible the classes free of any fees.

This afternoon the home-making class will meet for a demonstration of the care of electrical equipment, while on Thursday afternoon the class in remodeling of clothes will meet, followed in the evening at 7:30 o'clock by the gym class.

Japanese Will Renounce Treaty

Japan's Future Naval Policy Has Already Been Decided Upon, Is Report

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 6—So positive is Japan's intention to denounce the Washington treaty, with its 5-5-3 naval ratio, before the end of this year, that naval authorities in Tokyo have completed technical preparations for the step, it was stated today in a Reuter dispatch from Tokyo.

The impasse brought about in the London preliminary naval conversations by Japan's demands for "equality of security" has brought Japan to the final decision to abbrogate the treaty and risk a ship-building race with the United States and Great Britain.

Japan's future naval policy has already been decided upon by naval members of the supreme war council, Reuter's said.

Confirmation of her future policy now awaits only the approval of the emperor's privy council.

Decision of Japan not to renew the Washington treaty, due to expire in 1936, will not affect holding of the 1933 naval conference.

Colleges Charge Too Much Money For Grid Games

Would Have Bigger Crowds At Reduced Prices, Says Davis J. Walsh

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—College football, which is succeeding in not making much money this year in a very furious way, is seriously alarmed, they tell me, by the shortage of sucker money at this time and is wondering just what can be done about it. I don't profess to know what can or will be done about it, only what won't. They won't reduce the price of tickets, this suggestion being in line with that impulsive, broad-minded way I have with other peoples money.

Nevertheless, the answer is found in the 15,000 to 25,000 crowds where back in the flash era you couldn't get in without a dispensation from Washington, and in the play those dollar seats get back there behind the end zone where you see the ball game strictly on the bias. Even in this case, they're asking too much for too little.

Prices Too High

It isn't that football interest is off! On the contrary, it was never so tremendous as it has been this season, with millions being bet every Saturday in pools and handbooks. But at $3.50 and $4.40 a ticket, it's simpler to read the papers the next morning.

The crowds at both ends of the Pitt Stadium and the acres of empty seats along the sidelines were a rebuke to the management at the recent Pitt-U. S. C. game. Considering its background, it might have sold the place out, if the price was right. The same thing happened with Columbia and Cornell on Saturday, with only 15,000 in the stands. There's more than 15,000 Columbia men alone on the campus of any given school day.

Many Empty Seats

On the same afternoon, Harvard and Princeton, re-united after eight years, played to a half-empty stadium. So did Yale and the Army a few weeks ago, with Fordham and Tennessee doing only 25,000 Saturday.

The big ten seems to be having a fair year on the books but the west coast crowds are not what they were, if accounts of the big games out there are credible. Of course, you can't sell U. S. C. on its record this year and California, I suspect, couldn't even be given away. But in the days of the gold rush out there they were asking in August for tickets in November.

Probably the only sections that have not felt the pinch are the south and certain spots in the middle west. The south, for instance, never went for the big money idea. It, therefore, can get a bottle of rubbing alcohol without going to the First National Bank.

King Levinsky To Seek Annulment

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Nov. 6. — If King Levinsky, the heavyweight ex-fish peddler, has his way he will get an annulment of his marriage to Roxanne Eveleyn Glickman, fan dancer.

Levinsky today had an answer to his wife's suit for divorce on file. She had charged cruelty and infidelity. The heavyweight charged in his answer that the marriage was part of conspiracy to exploit his name.

Ralph Miller Shoots Red Fox

Ralph Miller, of Vine street, this city, was the first to bag a fox in this vicinity this year, he having brought down a red fox on the first day of the season, according to reports received today. He was hunting with Kenneth Smith of Aliquippa in the vicinity of Slippery Rock. Last hunting season they were hunting together on the first day, and Smith got a fox.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Primo Carnera, former heavyweight champion who was decrowned by Max Baer, has turned his fists again toward making a livelihood and his next opponent will be Victorio Campolo, Argentina heavyweight. They have been matched for a 12 round battle at Buenos Aires. The arena in which they will fight has a capacity of 40,000. The date of the bout is November 24.

Mexico City detectives are searching for W. H. Hollifield, of Los Angeles and two Mexicans, promoters of the Arizmendi-Armstrong bout held at Mexico City. Each of the principals was to have been paid $10,000. The promoters took a fade-out powder, and the fighters didn't get their $10,000, each.

Young Peter Jackson, lightweight who proved a phenom in California, muffed his first chance in New York when he dropped a decision but his pleading has earned him a chance to redeem himself at Madison Square garden. His opponent will be Tony Falco of Philadelphia who set back Jackson for the loss of his first decision in the east.

The Cincinnati National Football franchise and players will be transferred to St. Louis this week...Dizzy and Paul Dean have now turned their thoughts toward what salary they will ask for next season. They would like $40,000 between them, $25,000, for Dizzy and $15,000, for Paul.

Andrews, Unions Are Deadlocked

Two New Castle Bowling Teams Tied For First Place

ANDREWS HIGH FOR ONE GAME

In the Beaver-Lawrence County Tenpin league there still exists a tie for first place between the Andrews Unions, both from New Castle. The best matches of the week were furnished by the tailenders, the Webbers getting 2752 against West Aliquippa's 2873, both of these totals being high for the past week's bowling. In this match Shaffolo again was the class of the setto, getting a 644 total, Carl being a second best with 590 for his team. In the first game West Aliquippa totalled 1040 to win its only game, while the Webbers, by rolling three consistent 900 scores, managed to win the odd game. Holcomb with a 591, showed his team-mates the way, followed by Bauer with 566.

The Unions-Ludwig games furnished the most excitement and hair-raising finish when after each team had put a game in the win column the third game ended in a tie, necessitating a roll off in which the visitors won by seven pins, principally due to Minor striking out in the extra frame. For the Unions, Thompson's efforts were noteworthy in that he scored 12 consecutive strikes, they coming, however, in two separate games. His total of 631 was high for the match, Morrow being an able assistant in their wins with a 583. For Ludwig, Merle again showed his teammates the way with a 562, closely followed by Wires 556 and Martin 545.

The Andrews team won the odd game from the American Legion team with a 2712 against the Legion's 2646. Zahorsky with a 608, the best of the match, tried to stave off defeat, but the concerted effort of Picarro and McCormick with 593 and 554 respectively were not to be denied. Cline, a newcomer in the Andrews lineup, got off to a good start with a 194.

At Ellwood City, the visiting Beaver Falls Boosters dropped two games to Captain McDonald's Shelby team, in which the winners in the total score excelled only by 29 pins. McDonald's 580 was high for the match while Vollmer's 544 was second best. But two double centuries were cracked in the three games, one by McDonald, 216, and the other by Kerstatter, 200.

The team standing at the end of the fifth week's competition is as follows:

Team Standing	W.	L.	Pct.
Andrews	10	5	.666
Unions	10	5	.666
American Legion	9	6	.600
Shelby Social	8	7	.533

Beaver Falls Boosters	7	8	.466

CROTON-WEST SIDE TIE

Croton Juniors and the West Side A. C. battled to a tie 0-0 at Lee avenue field Sunday afternoon in a Junior league game. West Side never threatened the Croton goal line, while Croton had several chances to score, but lacked the punch to put over touchdowns.

New Castle Will Play At Sharon

"Red Hurricane" Starts Preparing For Invasion Of Sharon Saturday

New Castle high school "Red Hurricane" football team will go to Sharon Saturday for a tussle with the big Orange and Black clad warriors of Sharon high. Coach Phil Bridenbaugh started practice this afternoon. The squad was given a rest Monday after the hard battle with New Kensington.

New Castle will be rather well crippled up for the game at Sharon, with Captain Raskowski, Fleming, Cox, Stritz and Donegan doubtful to see action in the game.

Coach Bridenbaugh will start to build a new team this week. The coach was not well pleased with the 0-0 tie with New Ken high. Sharon will give New Castle a tough engagement at the new spacious Sharon high stadium.

Injured Lions May Play Against Penn

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Nov. 6.—Unless more Penn State football players are injured during the coming week of practice, the Nittany Lions should be able to put their most powerful lineup of the season on Franklin Field this Saturday for the University of Pennsylvania game.

In addition to Captain Merrill Morrison, halfback, who has been out of the last three encounters, two wingmen, Frank Smith and Lee Sunday, should be off the disabled list. Smith is a regular while Sunday is a first line reserve end.

Morrison could have played against Syracuse Saturday, but Coach Bob Higgins thought it best not to take any chances with the Nittany leader in hopes that he will be in fine mettle for the Quaker game. Morrison will be playing in his home town this week, having graduated from Central High School with Lou Kreizman, regular Nittany guard.

Shenango-Union To Play Friday

Union High Will Go To Shenango High Field For Game Friday Afternoon

Shenango high football team and Union high gridders will battle it out Friday afternoon for second place in the county championship race. Both teams have lost to Bessemer high which leaves the Fredericks coached team the titleholders. The game at Shenango will start at 3 o'clock.

Coach Davey Boyd is drilling the Unionites hard this week in preparation for the game, and Coach Eddie Raney is also giving Shenango a lot of attention this week.

EINTRACHTS TO MEET

The members of the Eintrachts young men's basketball team will have a practice session tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Eintracht hall with Coach Norman Buckingham directing the rehearsal. It is important that all members of the floor team report tonight. The Eintrachts expect to put a winning team on the floor this season.

THE SPORT PATROL

By JOHN J. MAHER, JR.

QUICK KICKS

The unbeaten and untied list of major football teams has now dwindled to nine, with Army, Dartmouth and Chicago having been eliminated last Saturday. Only Navy, Princeton, Syracuse, Tulane, Alabama, Minnesota, Illinois, Michigan State and Washington remain....Lieutenant-Commander John H. Brown, Jr., football officer at the Naval Academy, was an all-American guard there in 1913 and was line coach in the three following years...Coach Carl Snavely likes his North Carolina football players to be rough and tough but he will not let them swear or drink beer...Minnesota's victory over Michigan was their first on their home field over the Wolverines since 1892...Gil Dobie, Cornell mentor, has coached more undefeated football teams than any coach in the "big time", an even dozen... Julie Bescos, captain and end at Southern California, kept in condition during the summer by digging ditches.

When Charles Goodwin, star end of the West Virginia U. team, was a freshman he was too confident to suit Coach Earle Neale, so the coach made him walk the campus with a sign on his back reading, "I'm Cocky". The next week Goodwin wore a sign of his own design which read, "I'm Still Cocky."... Buzz Borries of the Navy has scored ten touchdowns this season and averaged ten points a game...When Detroit and Michigan State play their football game, the Titans will be quiet familiar with the plays of their foe. The entire Detroit team scouted State in the Carnegie Tech game...Although Columbia has an enrollment of 35,000 students, a majority of them are taking post graduate work and are ineligible for football...The Wake Forest college line this year averages 207 pounds and the entire first team averages 199 pounds.

Dick Harlow, coach at Western Maryland, has worked a defense against forward passing that draws the guards back and gives him more men to cover passes than there are receivers...Some of Frank Carideo's Missouri squad got in shape this summer by carrying equipment to regions infected with mosquitoes... Eugene "Scrapiron" Young, the Notre Dame trainer who dashes out on the field to fix up the football team during time-out periods, was formerly a two-miler on the Irish track team...Northwestern has defeated Notre Dame only once since they began playing in 1899...Toots Douglas, who played football for Tennessee and Navy, once made a kick that covered 108 yards...There were some 2,000,000 bricks used in the construction of the Notre Dame stadium. If they were laid end to end they would stretch from the campus to Cleveland, a distance of 300 miles.

When St. Mary's, from away out on the Pacific coast, played its first game of intercollegiate football it was defeated by the University of California....Football is still considered as the most dangerous sport with polo second and wrestling third....Sewanee's football team played Texas, Tulane, Louisiana, Mississippi, and the Texas Aggies on five successive days in 1889 and beat them all....Jim Thorpe scored a total of 198 points for the Carlisle Indians in 1912....Fred Poole, Iowa State punter, averaged 54.4 yards against Iowa, which is one of the best punting records in modern football....Jack Dodd, Nebraska freshman, can kick a football equally well with either foot ....To pass the time away on bus rides, a favorite diversion of football players used to be to try and write down, from memory, all the states of the union. Yale players were doing it one day and one of the fellows came out a little better than the others. However, his teammates protested when they learned he had included Southern California and Tulane.

Morris-Harvey Is Next For Crimson

Coach Bill Amos Will Shift Starting Lineup This Week, Not Satisfied

GROVE CITY, Nov. 6.—The Crimson football squad went back to pre-season methods today as Coach Bill Amos inaugurated a week of practice in preparation for the Morris-Harvey game Saturday. The daily drills will consist largely of tackling and blocking, for the Grover coach was thoroughly displeased with this type of play in Saturday's 2-2 deadlock with Westminster.

Monday was a holiday to permit the Crimson gridders to recover from the brulsing battle with the Titans, but the pressure was redoubled when the players reported today. Beaten by a weak Allegheny club, and tied by Westminster, the success of the Grove City season hinges on the last two games, and especially with the Thiel game, so that Amos is redoubling his efforts to correct glaring faults in fundamentals.

The tackling dummy was brought out for the first time in a month, and this work is to be supplemented with long sessions of tackling and blocking work on the field. All linemen are slated for strenuous work, since the Crimson backs were afforded scant protection in the Westminster game.

Grovers Start Floor Practice

Coach Bob Thorn Calls Out Candidates For Grove City Basketball Team

GROVE CITY, Nov. 6.—More than 40 candidates are expected to report to Bob Thorn this evening, in response to the first call for basketball practice. With only Tomko, Soich and Trembath left from the regulars of last season, there will be keen competition on the squad.

Until after Thanksgiving, when the football men will report for indoor work, three evenings will be used each week for basketball practice.

YOUNG PIRATES WIN TWO

Young Pirates over the week end won two football games, handing the Mercer All-Stars a 21 to 6 defeat Saturday and the Colored All-Stars 18 to 0 Sunday. Captain Granato played a fine game against both teams. The Young Pirates are out for the city junior championship.

Waynesburg To Prepare To Meet Titans Saturday

Spectators Will Watch Battle Between Two Diminutive Halfbacks

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Nov. 6—Football rivalry between Waynesburg and Westminster College will be renewed at Waynesburg Saturday November 10, when the Jackets and Titans meet in a pre-Armistice Day clash.

The game holds plenty of "fan appeal" in that a lively battle between two of the district's diminutive halfbacks "Rabb" Currie of Waynesburg and Ray Sweeney of Westminster is expected to rival in interest the game itself.

Both of these youths have been outstanding ball carriers in western Pennsylvania the past few seasons and their grid exploits will live long after they have hung up their spangles for the last time. It will be the next to final appearance on the Waynesburg home grounds of the speedy Rab and the fact that he will be pitted against his prototype from New Wilmington adds much interest to the game.

Waynesburg and Westminster last played in 1932, when the Yellow Jackets took a fiercely fought game by a six to nothing count at Westminster. The upstate school is still smarting under the sting of that two year old setback and naturally will be pointed to avenge the defeat.

A triumph for either eleven in the Waynesburg-Westminster encounter will add much to their final district standing this year as both clubs have been leaders in minor college ratings in recent seasons.

The game will mark the first appearance in Waynesburg of Westminster's new football mentors, the Gilbane brothers and the critical Greene county grid fans are anxious to witness the system of play taught by the two former Brown University stars and to compare it with the original "Krazy Kwilt" system devised by Frank Wolf, the resourceful Waynesburg coach.

Correct this sentence: "It was a clean game," said the coach, "without unnecessary roughness".

Japanese Will Renounce Treaty

Japan's Future Naval Policy Has Already Been Decided Upon, Is Report

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 6—So positive is Japan's intention to denounce the Washington treaty, with its 5-5-3 naval ratio, before the end of this year, that naval authorities in Tokyo have completed technical preparations for the step, it was stated today in a Reuter dispatch from Tokyo.

The impasse brought about in the London preliminary naval conversations by Japan's demands for "equality of security" has brought Japan to the final decision to abbrogate the treaty and risk a ship-building race with the United States and Great Britain.

Japan's future naval policy has already been decided upon by naval members of the supreme war council, Reuter's said.

Confirmation of her future policy now awaits only the approval of the emperor's privy council.

Decision of Japan not to renew the Washington treaty, due to expire in 1936, will not affect holding of the 1933 naval conference.

Dispute Arises Over Vote In Shenango Township Precinct

County Home Residents Are Refused Right To Vote In Township

Some dispute developed early today in the voting in the Second Precinct of Shenango township when the residents of the County Home attempted to vote. Fifty-six of them had been registered in the precinct but when fifteen of them went to the polls today the board refused to permit them to vote on the grounds that they were not legal residents of the township and were not entitled to vote there.

County Solicitor William McElwee was asked for an informal opinion in the question and said, "while this is not a formal, written opinion, I believe that the guests of the County Home are not entitled to vote in Shenango township. They are entitled to register and vote in the precinct from which they came, but I believe the board was right in refusing them ballots."

If any of the guests attempt to vote this afternoon the board will refuse them the right, and immediately after a petition will be presented to the court asking for a ruling in the matter.

Gas Price War Has Been Licked

Secretary Ickes Reports Victory In Forcing End Of Gas Price War

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—In a whirlwind campaign of little more than a week, the oil administration headed by Secretary of Internor Ickes was able to report today on the eve of the elections that it had completely "licked" the hot oil and gas price war situation.

The campaign is now in its second phase, a series of arrests and grand jury indictment of various East Texas operators and others in the oil industry on counts varying from violation of the labor provisions of the oil code, to attempting to ship illegally produced oil out of the state.

Modification of various government contract forms and other certificate requirements announced by Secretary Ickes were interpreted as reflecting confidence that for time one of the most serious challenges to stabilization of the oil business has been met.

Early Tabulation Promised Tonight

Voting Machines Will Help Speed Up Counting In Many Localities

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 6— Early tabulation of Pennsylvania's vote tonight was forecast by the use of voting machines in more than one third of the state's 7,956 precincts, including many of the populous voting districts.

Machines will be used in 2,688 districts outside of Allegheny county. There, according to the latest word at the elections bureau, machines were to be ready for use in the third class cities and in several Pittsburgh wards.

Voters in Washington county will be passing upon a referendum to determine whether they want voting machines.

Donora Youth Is Slugging Victim

Mysterious Attacker Is Hunted By Police; Youth Clubbed With Revolver

(International News Service)

DONORA, Pa., Nov. 6.—Eleven-year-old Joseph Suarez' story of how he was slugged, gagged and bound by a short, stockily-built man today sent Donora police searching for the mysterious attacker.

The unconscious youth, who said he had been clubbed by a revolver, was found in the yard of the Suarez home by his father, Raphael, on his return home from work.

Joseph said he was accosted by the man, who with drawn revolver, told him:

"Come along with me and don't make any noise, or I'll kill you."

In the Suarez back yard, the lad was knocked to the ground, his mouth filled with dirt and a gag of rags and newspapers and left unconscious.

State Elections Bitterly Fought

New York, Ohio, Illinois, Wisconsin, Etc., Naming Officials

LAFOLLETTE PARTY FACES GREAT TEST

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—New York voters trekked to the polls today to elect a governor and other state officials, United States senator, 45 congressmen, a new chief judge of the court of appeals and two associate judges, 201 members of the legislature, numerous supreme court justices and a small army of local officials.

Indications pointed to the re-election of Governor Herbert H. Lehman, Democrat, and the entire state ticket, by a substantial plurality.

Melvin C. Eaton, Republican state chairman, declared Robert Moses, G. O. P. candidate for governor, would defeat Governor Lehman by at least 100,000.

Ohio On Spot

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 6.—Pivotal Ohio which two years ago returned a 74,000 majority for Franklin D. Roosevelt, went to the polls today to record a verdict on his "new deal."

Concensus of political observers was that it would be in the president's favor, though probably not without some reservations.

Defeat of Republican Senator Simeon D. Fess, who finds little to commend and much to abhor in the "new deal," was predicted on all sides, with the betting here about 3 to 1 on ex-Gov. A. V. "Honest Vic" Donahey, Democrat.

While they are passing judgment on Fess and Donahey, Ohio's two and a half million voters will elect either former Lieutenant Gov. Clarence J. Brown, Republican, or former Democratic Congressman Martin L. Davey, as governor for the next two years.

The Democrats' anticipated success in the U. S. senatorial contest was expected to be tinctured by the loss of a few of their congressional seats. Republicans, left with but six seats after the 1933 landslide, hoped to add at least four more today.

Fair In Chicago

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—Fair weather promised an outpouring of 3,000,000 or more voters in Illinois today as the polls opened with Democratic leaders confidently predicting victory in the off-year election.

Interest throughout the state centered in the battles over congressional seats, which were the objects of furious campaigns that were waged until the eleventh hour. The governorship is not at stake.

Twenty-five district congressmen and two congressmen-at-large are to be elected. Nineteen Democrats and eight Republicans make up the present Illinois delegation in the national house of representatives.

Hot Contest

(International News Service)

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 6—Wisconsin voters went to the polls today to decide a hotly-contested governorship test which saw the new LaFollette third party confronted with its severest test.

Opposing the new third party candidate for the governorship, Philip LaFollette, were: A. G. Schmedeman, the incumbent Democratic governor; Howard T. Greene, Republican, and George A. Nelson, Socialist.

United States Senator Robert M. LaFollette was virtually assured of re-election at the head of his party, but a close fight was anticipated in his brother's bid for the governorship.

Olson Or Regan

(International News Service)

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 6.—Minnesota was expected today to re-elect its Farmer-Laborite governor, Floyd B. Olson, over John E. Regan, Democrat, and Martin A. Nelson, Republican.

Fair weather promised a large vote.

Observers foresaw a close race between United States Senator Hendrix Shipstead, Farmer-Laborite; Einar Hoidale, Democrat, and N. J. Holmberg, Republican, for the senatorship.

RAIL ENGINEER HEARD BY LIONS

Chief Engineer R. P. Forsberg Of P. & L. E. Makes Noon Address

"Some of the Foundation Stones Upon Which a Successful American Railroad is Built" was the topic of an address which R. P. Forsberg, Pittsburgh, chief engineer of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, delivered before the Lions club meeting Tuesday.

Choosing four of the outstanding ones—the physical side, character, service and courtesy—Mr. Forsberg, speaking under the auspices of the speakers' committee of the Committee on Public Relations of the Eastern Railroads, discussed for 30 minutes the far-reaching benefits which they yield. The talk was highly inspirational and likened individuals to railroads.

"That railroad that forgets service or courtesy or any of the other foundation stones is paying small dividends, if any, to its stockholders," the railroad officer declared, "and is in danger of being taken over by the sheriff."

The club was informed that "Donation Days" for the Margaret L. Henry Children's home will be held November 9 and 10. Inter-club events with the Meadville Lions were also announced.

Discharge Jury In Kidnap Case

Jury At Wheeling Unable To Agree On Fate For Two Men In Kidnap Plot

(International News Service)

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 6.—Their fate undecided by a deadlocked jury, Thurman Brown and Harry Thornton, charged with conspiring to kidnap Mrs. Elizabeth Bloch Harriss, tobacco heiress, today awaited the decision of the United States attorney's office to decide whether they will be retried.

A jury of farmers and laborers which had deliberated for 10 hours over the week-end was discharged when the foreman announced he believed it useless to require further deliberations.

Defense attorneys were expected to fight any effort by the government to try the case at the Elkins term of court and have already asked that bonds of $100,000 each for the men be lowered.

SURPRISING VICTORY TAKEN BY DEMOCRATS IN LAWRENCE COUNTY

Guffey And Earle Carry City And County—Eroe Is Re-elected

SWICK LOSING TO ECKERT IN DISTRICT

Kelso Appears Winner Over Cartwright For County Assembly Place

In one of the most surprising upsets in many years Lawrence County joined the Democratic ranks on Tuesday, returning substantial majorities for all of the candidates of the Democratic ticket both in state and national offices. Guffey, Earle, Eckert, Eroe, Kelso and the other candidates for the various offices were returned winners in this county.

At four o'clock this morning 62 precincts of the 90 in the county had been reported, of which all the 34 in the city were included. The 62 precincts reported showed a Democratic lead for all candidates save those for General Assembly running from 3,500 to 4,000.

City Goes Democratic

The city of New Castle went Democratic by a heavy lead, as did Ellwood City. The South Side precincts rolled up tremendous majorities for the Democratic candidates, running as high as seven to one. In the city Senator David A. Reed polled 4,643 votes and Joseph F. Guffey 7,331.

William A. Schnader polled 4,958 votes for governor and George H. Earle 7,268 in the city.

For Congress J. Howard Swick polled 4,871 votes and Charles R. Eckert 7,458.

For General Assembly William J. Eroe, Jr., Democrat, the present incumbent, was returned a winner with a vote of 5,757. Joseph Leta, Jr., the Republican candidate, polled 4,123 and Robert M. Strickler, Jr., running as a candidate of the Prohibition Party and Independent, polled 2,457. William Erk, running on the Labor ticket, polled 112 votes, and Samuel McKee, Socialist, 90 votes.

In the second district for General Asembly it appears that James B. Kelso, Democrat, has defeated Paul J. Cartwright, Republican. In the 28 rural districts reported out of 56, Kelso has 4,291 votes and Cartwright 2,587. There appears little likelihood that Cartwright can overcome this lead in the precincts yet to be heard from.

Totals for 62 Precincts

For the 62 precincts in the city and county Swick has a total vote of 7,943 and Eckert 12,520; Reed has 7,922 and Guffey 11,174, while Schnader has 7,884 and Earle 10,845.

Other candidates on the Republican and Democratic tickets followed along at about the same ratio as did the heads of the tickets. For Secretary of Internal Affairs M. Harvey Taylor polled 7,240 votes as against 10,914 for Thomas Logue, Democrat.

For judge of superior court Chester H. Rhodes, Democrat, polled 10,628 votes as against Frank M. Trexler, Republican, 6,988. For lieutenant-governor Thomas Kennedy, Democrat, polled 11,355, and Harry B. Scott 7,022.

In the 26th congressional district it appears that Dr. J. Howard Swick, Republican incumbent for the past eight years, has been defeated. In Butler county he was barely holding his own, while in his home county of Beaver reports said that he was trailing Charles R. Eckert by several thousand votes. In Lawrence county he will be second to Eckert by 4,500, Swick getting a total of 7,943 and Charles R. Eckert 12,520. This makes it appear certain that Eckert has been elected.

Ninety-one of 100 precincts in Beaver give Swick, Republican, 13,568; Eckert, Democrat, 25,536.

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 7.—Returns from 3,067 out of the 4,271 precincts in the state last night gave for U. S. senator: Truman (D.) 269,570; Patterson (R.) 91,532.

Donahey Leads Fess In Senate Contest In Ohio

Republican Candidate For Governor Has Slight Lead Over Davy

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 7.—Former Governor A. V. Donahey, Democrat, who got away to an early lead over U. S. Senator Simeon D. Fess, Republican, in returns from Ohio's senatorial contest, found his majority steadily increasing tonight as additional counties reported their vote.

At 11 p. m. Donahey was out in front of Fess, arch critic of the Roosevelt new deal, by more than 14,000 votes. The vote from 449 of Ohio's 8,559 precincts gave Donahey 49,841 and Fess 35,345.

The gubernatorial contest between Martin L. Davey, Democrat, and Clarence J. Brown, Republican, was a nip-and-tuck affair, with the Republican candidate holding a tenuous majority.

Returns from 449 precincts gave Brown (R.) 43,999 and Davey (D.) 43,551.

Close Race For U. S. Senator In Michigan

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Nov. 7.—Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R.) and Frank A. Picard (D.) were running neck-and-neck, according to early returns from 157 scattered Michigan precincts.

The 157 precincts gave Picard 26,670; Vandenberg 26,549.

Senator Vandenberg's apparent failure to pile up a strong majority in the outstate districts was counted as an indication of defeat, since Picard's greatest strength lies in the metropolitan district.

No Liquor Or Beer In Scott Township

It was learned early today that in Tuesday's election residents of Scott township voted against the sale of liquor and beer.

A count showed that 195 voted against, while 107 voters were in favor of the sale of liquor and beer.

Sinclair Loses Epic Contest In California

Republicans Claim Margin Of Victory Will Be From 200,000 To 350,000

PARTIAL REPORT SHOWS 87,000 LEAD

Merriam Is Re-elected Governor To Succeed Himself On Tuesday

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6. — Defeat of Upton Sinclair, Epic-Democrat candidate for governor in California by a plurality of unwards of 200,000 was indicated tonight.

Returns from 5,072 precincts of the state's 10,721 gave Gov. Merriam a lead of 87,000.

Republican headquarters claimed the margin of victory would be between 250,000 and 300,000.

Tabulation of 5,072 of the state's 10,721 precincts at 10:30 p. m. gave: Merriam (R) 493,199; Sinclair (D) 406,637; Haight (CP) 108,777.

Continues To Hold Lead

San Francisco, Nov. 7. —Gov. Frank F. Merriam, Republican tonight continued to hold a slightly growing lead over Upton Sinclair, Epic-Democrat, in California's hot governorship race.

With returns from 3,059 of the state's 10,721 precincts, many of them incomplete, Merriam had rolled up a lead of over 38,000 and in view of the fact that he continued to lead in Los Angeles county, he had apparently defeated Sinclair.

The vote for 3,059 precincts stood: Merriam 311,676; Sinclair 273,482; Haight 69,259.

Los Angeles, Nov. 6.—1876 of 3574 precincts in Los Angeles county gave:

Merriam 227,609; Sinclair 201,949; Haight 48,678.

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—Illinois and Chicago gave President Roosevelt and the New Deal a big pat on the back today.

Returns from Chicago (Cook county) and down state sections tonight generally indicated a tremendous Democratic landslide.

Political experts estimated that Cook county will return a Democratic majority of around 500,000.

Florida Votes Wet Tuesday

(BULLETIN)
International News Service)

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Nov. 7. — Florida appeared to have gone wet by a 3 to 1 majority tonight on the strength of scattered returns in the fight to repeal the state dry law. In fifteen precincts the vote stood: For repeal 295; against 95.

Fifty precincts returned a 3 to 1 majority in favor of the Homestead Act which will exempt homes valued at $5,000 or less from all taxation.

All five Democratic congressmen were unopposed.

Pulaski Township Votes Dry, Report

Sweep In Many States Made By Democrats In Tuesday Election

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—A Democratic sweep, comparable to that of two years ago, appeared tonight to have been the result of today's balloting in the bitterly contested off-year election.

The Democrats are assured of retaining control of Congress.

While it will be some time before the exact figures on the partisan line-up of Congress are available, it was evident tonight that the Democrats have added to their majority in the Senate and that they have lost but little, if any, in the already heavily Democratic House. In the East, New York and Massachusetts went heavily Democratic.

Re-elect Lehman

The Democrats re-elected Gov. Herbert H. Lehman in New York by what appeared a near record vote, and re-elected Senator R. S. Copeland as well.

In Massachusetts they elected Mayor James M. Curley of Boston as governor and re-elected Senator Davis I. Walsh.

In New Jersey everything pointed to a sweeping Democratic victory, and the defeat of Senator Hamilton F. Kean, Republican.

Elect Ex-Gov. Donahey

The Democrats appeared to have elected Ex-Governor Donahey in Ohio to succeed another anti-new dealer, Senator Simeon D. Fess.

In Indiana, Sherman Minton, Democrat, was slightly leading another anti-new deal Republican, Senator Arthur Robinson.

In Missouri Judge Harry S. Truman, Democrat, was rolling up a commanding lead over Senator Patterson, Republican.

Illinois went heavily Democratic in the state-wide election of congressmen-at-large.

"Horse Race" in Two States

In Rhode Island and Connecticut, where Republican senators were up for re-election, there was every indication of a "horse race" in both states. It appeared that the final vote will be necessary to determine the winners in these states.

Philadelphia Is Carried By G. O. P. By Slight Margin

Reed Is Given Majority Of About 5,000 In Complete Tabulation

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—Philadelphia, the largest county in Pennsylvania, went Republican in today's election by a narrow margin.

Complete unofficial returns from the county's 1,283 voting districts late tonight produced a victory—but a hard-earned one—for United State Senator David A. Reed, running for re-election, Attorney General William A. Schnader, the gubernatorial nominee, and all the other Republican candidates for statewide office.

Shattering all precincts for this metropolis, a strong center of Republicanism for generations, the Democratic candidates came within a narrow margin of administering a defeat to their adversaries.

Senator Reed squeezed through to victory by the slender majority of only 4,086 votes over his Democratic rival, Joseph F. Guffey. A similar tight battle was waged between Schnader and George H. Earle, Democratic candidate for governor.

Final unofficial returns from all districts in the county give: Senator—Reed (R) 335,690; Guffey (D) 331,604.

Governor—Schnader (R) 344,048; Earle (D) 323,260.

For Lieutenant Governor—Scott (R) 340,460; Kennedy (D) 324,538.

Michigan Swings Back To G. O. P. In Tuesday's Voting

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Nov. 7.—Michigan, traditional stronghold of the G. O. P., apparently was swinging back into the Republican ranks today.

Republicans led in the outstate, and the expected Democratic majority in the Detroit metropolitan area had failed to materialize at three a. m.

For senator 828 precincts, including 100 in Wayne county, gave Picard (D.) 121,284; Vandenberg (R.) 149,337.

APPROVE NEW DEAL

(International News Service)

HELEN, Mont., Nov. 7.—The New Deal was given hearty approval in Montana today in one of the largest votes in history. Scattered but incomplete returns from all sections of the state showed Burton K. Wheeler (D.) re-elected to his third term in the United States Senate. He was leading Former Federal Judge George M. Bourquin (R.) by three to one

New Wilmington Votes Out Liquor

Overwhelming Vote Against Sale Cast In Boro—Against Voting Machines

There will be no liquor or beer for sale in New Wilmington for the next four years. Neither will there be any voting machines. Both liquor and voting machines took a decisive beating in the election on Tuesday. In addition the swimming pool will be leased to the boro.

In the vote on liquor and beer sales the score was:

For the sale of liquor 37, against the sale of liquor 414.

For voting machines, 54. Against voting machines, 355. For the lease of the swimming pool, Yes 301, No. 144.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—Despite the lead held by his Republican opponent in returns from more than half of the state's 7,956 precincts, George H. Earle, Democratic candidate for governor, early today claimed victory.

In a statement issued shortly after midnight, Earle declared.

"I am elected governor of Pennsylvania by the same approximate majority that the last Democratic governor, Robert E. Pattison, had, that is about 40,000.

Pinchot's Home Town Democratic

(International News Service)

MILFORD, Pa., Nov. 7. — Gov. Gifford Pinchot's home county went Democratic in yesterday's election, virtually complete returns showed today.

By small, but nonetheless effective, margins Pike county voters rendered majorities to both Joseph F. Guffey, senatorial nominee, and George H. Earle, gubernatorial candidate, on the Democratic ticket.

This, in spite of the fact that Governor Pinchot, the county's most distinguished resident, actively supported the Republican cause in the campaign.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 7.—The Democratic "New Deal" sweep in Rhode Island, with a plurality of between 25,000 and 35,000 votes, early today was carrying a United State senator, governor and an entire state ticket into office.

Ex-United States Senator Peter Goelet Gerry, (D) appeared an easy victor over United States Senator Felix Hebert (R).

Three Democrats Win Congress Seats In Philadelphia

Gain Is Made By Democrats In Metropolitan G. O. P. Stronghold

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 7.—The New Deal tidal wave rolled over Philadelphia and swept three Democratic congressmen into office, displacing Republicans.

It was the first time in years that the state's heretofore acknowledged citadel of Republicanism had elected a congressional delegation of seven that was not 100 per cent G. O. P.

Incomplete but substantial returns showed the Roosevelt New Deal was to gain at least two more Democratic congressmen at the expense of the Republicans.

The Philadelphia Democratic winners were: Frank J. G. Dorsey, who defeated James J. Connolly, the Republican incumbent; Michael J. Stack, who defeated Robert L. Davis, the Republican nominee, and J. Burwood Daly, who defeated George W. Edmonds, a Republican incumbent.

Holt Is Leading In West Virginia

Youthful Democratic New Dealer Leads Dr. Henry Hatfield For Senate

(International News Service)

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 7.—Youthful Rush D. Holt, an out-and-out Democrat new dealer, continued to draw away from Dr. Henry D. Hatfield, staunch administration critic, tonight in their race for election as United States senator from West Virginia.

Although only 29 years old and his eligibility for the office a matter of question because of his age, Holt was running far ahead of his Republican opponent.

A total of 1,110 out of the state's 2,338 precincts showed the following results:

Holt, 240,926; Hatfield, 184,046.

Holt's campaign headquarters predicted that his majority would exceed 100,000 votes.

All six Democratic congressmen, candidates for re-election, were leading their Republican opponents as tabulation of the day's balloting progressed.

Kansas Remains Republican And Also Votes Dry

(International News Service)

TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 7.—Kansas remained Republican and dry on the basis of latest returns tonight which showed Gov. Alf. M. Landon, Republican incumbent, virtually assured of re-election and defeat of the proposal to repeal the state's 54-year-old bone dry law practically certain

SCHNADER—EARLE IN CLOSE BATTLE FOR STATE GOVERNOR

Schnader Has Slight Lead With Two Thirds Of State Reported

GUFFEY LEADS REED BY 16,000

First Time In Present Generation Democrat Has Won For Senate

(BULLETIN)
International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 7.—Fighting stubbornly to bring President Roosevelt's "New Deal" into Pennsylvania, Joseph F. Guffey, Pittsburgh Democrat, saw his lead over United States Senator David A. Reed, Republican incumbent, shrink to 16,000 votes at 4 a. m. today.

Final returns were awaited from 1,446 of the state's 7,956 precincts. Reed has not conceded defeat and Guffey has made no statement.

Attorney General William A. Schnader, Republican candidate for governor, still outdistanced his Democratic rival, George H. Earle. The 6,510 precincts gave Schnader 1,253,998 votes to Earle's 1,233,328.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7—One of the nation's outstanding critic of President Roosevelt's new deal, David A. Reed, was being vehemently beaten back by the Democratic aspirant for his seat in the United States senate this morning as returns from yesterday's epochal election in Pennsylvania took a sudden and surprising turn.

After trailing his adversary through most of the night, Joseph F. Guffey, ardent champion of the president's recovery program, jumped swiftly into the lead this morning.

With nearly two thirds of the state's 7,956 precincts reporting Guffey grasped a 26,000 vote margin over Reed in one of the most surprising developments of this surprising election.

The battle between Reed, who has never minced words in his deprecation of new deal acts and Guffey, the national administration's patronage dispenser in this state, thus took its rightful place as the most thrilling encounter of the exciting contests culminated by the election of yesterday.

It marked the first time within the memory of the present generation that a Democrat has seriously challenged a Republican's right to a place in the senate as a representative of traditionally Republican Pennsylvania.

Guffey Forges Ahead

Pittsburgh, Nov. 7.—Swinging the torch of President Roosevelt's "New Deal" over Pennsylvania's electorate, Joseph F. Guffey, Democrat, forged steadily ahead at 2:30 a. m. today in his race for a United States senatorial seat against the incumbent Republican, David A. Reed.

Overcoming a lead of more than 4,000 votes given Reed by Philadelphia, Guffey increased his advantage to approximately 42,000 votes on returns from 6,347 of the state's 7,956 districts. His margin grew steadily as late returns trickled in from isolated regions and industrial areas.

Striving to emulate the achievement of his running mate, George H. Earle, Democratic candidate for governor, narrowed the margin between himself and Attorney General William A. Schnader, Republican aspirant to the governor's chair.

Schnader-Earle Close

Schnader saw his early lead tumbled while Earle's increased on the suburban vote. The Republican candidate polled 1,185,993 votes to 1,184,648 for Earle in 6,347 precincts.

State Senate Places Won By Democrats

Half Dozen Democrats Apparently Win Seats In State Body

By G. EVERETT DOYING
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Nov. 7. — At least half a dozen Democrats, including two from Philadelphia, apparently were swept into state senate seats now held by Republicans in yesterday's balloting, returns showed today.

Veteran Senator Bertram Frazier trailed John J. McCreesh, Democrat, by nearly 2,000 votes in complete unofficial returns from the Sixth Philadelphia District.

Likewise, Democratic candidate Walter S. Pytko was leading John J. McKinley Republican, for the 8th Philadelphia District seat vacated voluntarily by Senator Thaddeus S. Krause.

Other Republicans trailing early this morning included:

Senators Joseph G. Armstrong and Morris Einstein, Allegheny; Chauncey W. Parkinson, Greene, and Harry Bell, Fayette.

In addition, Democratic candidates for the seats now held by Republican Senators William D. Pethick, Wayne, and Harry B. Scott, Centre, also were leading their Republican rivals in returns tabulated.

Republicans definitely had elected five incumbents: Senators Andrew J. Sordoni, unopposed in Luzerne; John W. Howell, Lackawanna; James S. Boyd, Montgomery, and Samuel W. Salus and George W. Woodward, Philadelphia.

REPUBLICANS WIN

(International News Service)

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 7.—New Deal candidates for major offices in New Hampshire appeared to have barely been nosed out of the decision of the electorate here as late returns today from 260 towns and wards out of 294 indicated that H. Styles Bridges, Republican candidate, would succeed Governor John G. Winant.

Latest returns, not including Democratic strongholds which might cut down the totals to require a recount, gave Bridges 73,199 as against John L. Sullivan Democrat, 66,694.

IOWA RESULTS

Red Cross Roll Call Will Open Here On Sunday

Dinner Wednesday Evening Will Bring Workers Together For Instruction

HOPE TO ENROLL MANY MEMBERS

Plans will be completed for the annual Roll Call of the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross, which opens Sunday, November 11, lasting through Thanksgiving Day, when the annual dinner for the workers in the rural districts of the county will take place Wednesday at the Elks Home, at 6 p. m.

Headed by County Superintendent of Schools, John C. Syling, and his assistant, Alex McCready, of New Wilmington, the workers will start their task of enrolling the county residents next week, and will receive their final instructions at the dinner tomorrow evening.

An exceptional program has been arranged for the dinner, which will bring Dr. William DeKlein, medical director of the National Red Cross here to address the workers and the members of the executive committee of the chapter.

The Red Cross is supported in the city by the Community Chest, but depends on the annual Roll Call to enroll members in the district outside the city. This enables the Chapter to carry on its local program, and also assists with the national program of the American Red Cross.

Last year, the Red Cross assisted in 103 disasters through the United States and its possessions, in addition to furnishing assistance to 330,000 veterans or their families, and aiding 30,000 men in the regular service.

Red Cross volunteers made thousands of braille books, whereby the blind are able to read; taught life saving to 72,000 persons; trained 130,000 persons in First Aid; instructed 62,000 women and girls in Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick; and many other services.

CALLS ALL-BRAN NATIONAL NATURAL LAXATIVE

Delicious Cereal Checked His Constipation

Here is an unsolicited letter from Mr. Daniels:

"For many years I have been habitually constipated, and have used all sorts of laxatives. So, in fairness to Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, I heartily claim it to be a most wonderful remedy for constipation.

"Need I tell you that I have long since ceased using laxatives? Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is the National Natural Laxative. If it were used by every family in the United States for breakfast, we would have a much healthier race of people."—Mr. John Daniels, 1090 Third St., North Bergen, N. J.

Tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN furnishes "bulk" to exercise the intestines and vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Isn't this food much pleasanter than risking pills and drugs? Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Stock Market Is Dull Today

Election Virtually Ignored In Transactions In Market Today

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The stock market virtually ignored the election results by turning dull and sluggish today with considerable profit taking.

U. S. Steel and Bethlehem after opening moderately higher turned dull and yielded part of their gains. The motor shares including Chrysler and General Motors were heavy and dipped moderately.

Such selling as did make its appearance seemed to center on the railroad shares. There was little to feature the utility shares.

Liquor shares were strong under the leadership of Schenley apparently reflecting the west victories in Kansas and three other states.

Rail equipments were firm under the lead of Pullman.

PITTSBURGH—A total of 17,000 bottles—not a milk container in the lot—were retrieved by the city bureau of sanitation in the Pitt stadium following the recent Pitt-Minnesota football game.

Most of the bottles, chiefly whisky enclosures, were reclaimed by bottle firms who hauled them away without expense to the city.

Tuesday Elections In U. S. Landslide For Democrats

Country Swept By Democratic Wave Tuesday

Election Result Is Unprecedented In History Of Nation

CONGRESS CONTROL MARGIN INCREASED

Many Veteran Republicans Go Down In Landslide Of Nation's Balloting

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—A smashing vindication of the Roosevelt new deal was rolled up today on a tidal wave of Democratic votes that swept the country from coast to coast.

No party in the country's history has ever ascended the political heights occupied by the Democrats this morning in the wake of yesterday's record balloting for an off year.

In the 74th Congress, the Democrats will have more than two-thirds of the Senate, the first time in history that one party has enjoyed such an advantage.

Add To Top-Heavy Majority

As for the House of Representatives, the so-called popular branch, it appeared today on the face of incomplete returns that the Democrats have actually added to their already top-heavy majority, instead of losing seats as the Republicans hoped and expected—and, in fact, as the Democrats themselves expected.

If the Democrats have increased their representation in the National House, as appears probable, it marks the second time in a century of politics that the party in power has increased its strength in an off-year. Bye-elections invariably have gone against the "ins." The single exception in a hundred years was in 1902 when the Republicans added

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Dear Pa Newc:

Concerning the art[illegible] in Tuesday's paper regarding the buzzard that was shot by Kenneth Schell, R. F. D. No. 1. No doubt this bird was an adult turkey buzzard and this bird has a large range. It's territory seems to be generally the tropical line and in summer time it ranges to the British provinces of North America. This bird is rarely known to venture eastward into the New England states, and I think the buzzard is quite out of its territory when it is found about these parts. The weight of an adult buzzard is about five pounds. The general color of the plumage is black mingled with brown. The back and shoulders are of a black hue spotted with bronze and green and purple. The bill of the male is pure white. There is one other bird that is taken for the buzzard, it is the black vulture and the only one of this species known, and is confined to the tropical portions of North America.

Control Of State Congress Delegation Won By Democrats

By SIDNEY H. EIGES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Nov. 7.—Their Republican opposition battered away by the new deal tidal wave in yesterday's balloting, Democrats today stepped into complete control of Pennsylvania's congressional delegation for the first time in a political age.

The Democrats increased their representation from 12 to 20 of the 34 members and were expected to win three additional seats as the day wore on.

The traditionally solid 100 per cent Republican representation of seven was shattered in Philadelphia and three Democratic candidates were swept into office as congressmen while four G. O. P. nominees achieved victory by dangerously small margins.

McFadden Defeated.

The major upset was the defeat of Rep. Louis T. McFadden of Canton, veteran Republican congressman, beaten by slightly more than 1,000 votes by C. Elmer Dietrich, Democrat of Tunkhannock.

McFadden, relentless sniper at the new deal, gained national attention several years ago by his abortive attempt to impeach President Hoover for which he was read out of the party for a time but recently had been reinstated.

McFadden's defeat gave the 15th

Republican Barriers Of 50 Years Broken

By GEORGE R. HOLMES

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Smashing through Republican barriers that have been impregnable for more than a century, Franklin D. Roosevelt and his new deal policies rolled up today the greatest political triumph that has been recorded in an off-year election since the Civil War.

Pennsylvania went Democratic. That fact alone tells the story of Tuesday's balloting. For when Pennsylvania fell there fell the citadel of Republicanism and those political precepts which have dominated the American government, with few exceptions, for 60 years.

Make Arrest In Kidnaping Of June Robles

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Oscar H. Robson has been arrested by Department of Justice agents charged with extortion in connection with the kidnaping of June Robles, 6, of Tucson, Ariz.

Robson was arrested on a charge of extortion under the Lindbergh law for demanding through the United States mails a ransom of $15,000 for the return of June Robles who was kidnaped from Tucson, Ariz., on April 25, last.

The girl was held for approximately 16 days in a virtual grave in the desert eight miles from Tucson.

Department of Justice agents under the direction of Joseph E. P. Dunn, head of the Los Angeles office of the division of investigation, compared numerous handwriting specimens with ransom notes written to Fernando Robles, father of the girl.

Handwriting of Robson was found to be identical with the penmanship of the extortion letters, according to the department.

Republican Wins Senate Seat In Vermont Battle

(International News Service)

MONTPELIER, Vt., Nov. 7.—One of the "new deal's" staunchest critics—Senator Warren R. Austin, Republican—today retained his senatorial toga, defeating his Democratic rival, Fred C. Martin, by a margin of 3,700 votes.

Vermont's lone Republican congressman and the entire G. O. P. slate ticket were swept into office by comfortable margins.

OIL CITY, Nov. 7.—After a nip and tuck battle, D. J. Driscoll, Democrat, of St. Marys, was declared the winner against Leon H. Gavin of Oil City, Republican, in the 20th district, Clarion, Elk, Forest, Mercer, Venango and Warren counties.

Congressman Swick Loses Along With Other Republicans Tuesday

NEW CONGRESSMAN BEAVER COUNTY MAN

Along with the other Republican candidates, Congressman J. Howard Swick was carried down to defeat in the Democratic landslide on Tuesday. In 270 precincts out of 275 in the Lawrence-Beaver-Butler district, the 26th Congressional District, Charles R. Eckert, Democrat polled 52,218 votes as against 34,456 for Dr. Swick. The vote by counties follows.

Lawrence county, 89 precincts out of 90—
Swick 10,204
Eckert 13,858

Beaver county, complete—
Swick 14,162
Eckert 26,843

Swick 10,090
Eckert 11,517

Sinclair Defeat Most Decisive In California

California Voters Turn Down Sinclair's "Epic" Program At Polls

By ELLIS H. MARTIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7.—The margin by which the voters of California rejected the candidacy of Upton Sinclair and his utopian epic plan to "end poverty in California" grew today as additional returns were tabulated.

Gov. Frank F. Merriam, Republican, was leading by 152,000 votes over the former Socialist who captured the Democratic nomination with 7,101 precincts of the state's 10,721 tabulated. Indications were his plurality would be well over 200,000. The vote stood:

Merriam (R) 632,985; Sinclair (D) 480,298.

Haight Poor Third

Raymond L. Haight, the third candidate, who ran as a "middle roader" on the Commonwealth-Progressive ticket, was a poor third polling 146,664 votes in the same number of precincts.

United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson, who had only nominal Socialist opposition, having won the Republican, Democratic and Progressive nomination, was given a huge testimonial vote which may exceed 1,500,000 votes.

Although they lost the governorship race the Democrats apparently gained some seats in the California congressional delegation.

For the first time in the history of Lawrence county, at least in the experience of modern citizens, the county went completely Democratic on Tuesday, Nov. 6. (Special to The News)

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Nov. 7.—It's kinder early in the evening out here and not much news yet. I would rather have a man counting for me at the polls, than I would voting for me.

History has proven that there is nothing in the world as alike as two candidates. They look different 'till they get in, and then they all act the same.

I am anxious to see how they classify these newly elected. Some are Republicans, but New Dealers; some are Democrats, but not New Dealers; some are Democrats, just to use the label; some are Republicans, just to try and keep an old custom alive.

This next Congress is sure going to be a pack of mongrels.

U. S. SENATE TO HAVE SEVENTY DEMOCRATS

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Smashing all records since the birth of the republic, the Democratic party today apparently had won 70 seats in the senate of the 74th congress.

The Democrats shattered all modern precedents by capturing a two-thirds majority of the senate—the first held by either party since the Civil war when southern senators resigned their posts. It appeared the new senate would line up with:

70 Democrats, 24 Republicans, 1 Farmer-Laborite and 1 Progressive.

This would give the Democrats a plurality of 44 votes on partisan issues and four votes more than a two-thirds majority. It will give the Democrats a net gain of ten seats in yesterday's elections.

In 34 senatorial contests, the Republicans captured but five seats. These were in California, where Senator Hiram W. Johnson also won the Democratic nomination, Delaware, Michigan, North Dakota and Vermont. They lost 11 seats in all, 10 to the Democrats and one when "Young Bob" Lafollette changed from a Republican label to a Progressive standard in Wisconsin.

The Democratic gains were recorded apparently in Connecticut, Indiana, Maryland, Missouri, New Jersey, New Mexico, Ohio, Rhode Island, West Virginia and, of all places, Pennsylvania. The Keystone state, by choosing Joseph F. Guffey over David A. Reed, elected its first Democratic senator in history.

A number of Republican critics of the "new deal" went crashing to defeat. These included the venerable Republican sage, Senator Simeon D. Fess in Ohio, the lusty Arthur R. Robinson in Indiana and the sedate Felix Hebert in Rhode Island.

Kelso Winner For Legislature

Democratic Candidate For State Assembly Wins In County

LEADS CARTWRIGHT BY MORE THAN 2,300

Both seats in the general assembly from Lawrence county were won by the Democrats on Tuesday. In addition to the first district James B. Kelso of North Beaver township, Democrat won the second district seat and with William J. Eroe, Jr., will make a solid Democratic delegation in the house.

Mr. Kelso ran far ahead of his Republican opponent Paul J. Cartright of Ellwood City getting 6717 votes to Cartwright's 4376. Not only did Kelso win the rural vote but he won a smashing victory in Ellwood City, something unprecedented in Lawrence county politics. There is no record of a rural candidate on the Democratic ticket defeating an Ellwood Republican in the general election.

There were two other candidates for general assembly in the second district, Nelson on the Socialist ticket getting 92 votes and Peebles on the Prohibition ticket getting 382 votes.

Fifth Victim Of Massacre Dies Of Wounds

(International News Service)

HAZLETON, Pa., Nov. 7.—The fifth victim of the Kelayres election eve massacre died today in the Hazleton State Hospital.

He was Dominick Perna, 37, of Kelayres, among the first to be mowed down in the deadly cross fire of bullets that spat death into the ranks of Democratic marchers last Monday night.

Joseph Bruno, Republican "boss" of Kline township in which Kelayres is located, and a dozen others, mostly members of his family, were still held incommunicado at the Schuylkill county jail in Pottsville today in connection with the slayings and the wounding or more than a score of other persons, many of them women.

Perna, who lost a leg several years ago in a mine accident, was virtually torn to pieces by the hail of gunfire. The bullets riddled his chest, right arm, both hands and body.

Statements have been obtained from all those held, according to state police, and they may be given

Defeats Fess For Seat In U. S. Senate From State Of Ohio

DAVEY WINNER FOR GOVERNOR

By CARL L. TURNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 7.—Ohio responded generously today to the appeal of the national administration for support of the "New Deal."

By their ballots voters of the Buckeye state removed from the United States Senate one of the most persistent and vociferous critics of the president's recovery program, Sen. Simeon D. Fess, Republican.

His seat in the next congress will be occupied by Ex-Gov. A. V. "Honest Vic" Donahey, Democrat, who was swept into office by a landslide. His majority doubtless will approach 300,000, on the basis of latest returns.

Apparently the Ohio voters also decided to vest control of the state government in the hands of the Democratic party for another two years.

Davey Is Winner

With about two-thirds of the state's 8,559 precincts reporting, Martin L. Davey, Democratic nominee for governor, had rolled up a lead of 39,000 votes over his Republican opponent, Clarence J. Brown.

To make the Democratic victory almost complete, practically all of the 38 Democratic congressmen appeared to have been re-elected. Republicans gave them a scare in the sixth and fourteenth districts and in the twenty-first, the Democratic incumbent, Robert W. Crosser, was trailing Frank W. Sotak, (R) but the majority party leaders privately had anticipated the loss of at least four seats. Democrats chuckled at the difficulty in which Rep. Chester C. Bolton (R) found himself in seeking re-election in the twenty-second district. Bolton was chairman of the Republican national congressional campaign committee.

Latest returns showed him running 36 votes behind his Democratic opponent, William C. Dixon.

LETA IS SECOND; STRICKLER THIRD

William J. Eroe, Jr., present Democratic assemblyman from New Castle, was re-elected Tuesday, November 6, for his second term. The complete vote from the 34 precincts of the city show Eroe getting 5757 votes, with Joseph Leta, Jr., Republican, in second place with 4123 votes.

Robert M. Strickler, Jr., who was defeated in the Republican primaries for the nomination ran in the general election on the Prohibition and Independent tickets. He polled 2457 votes.

William E. Erk, who polled 101 votes in the Republican primary, ran on the Labor ticket and increased his primary vote by 11, polling 112 votes in the general election Samuel McKee, running as the candidate of the Socialist party, received 90 votes.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 7.—Assured of victory, Democratic candidates for U. S. senator and governor piled up a commanding lead today in the election that saw the overthrow of Republican dominance of Pennsylvania politics for approximately a half century.

Late returns left little doubt of the overwhelming victory scored by Joseph F. Guffey over Senator David A. Reed, Republican incumbent. Ballots cast in 7,319 of the state's 7,956 precincts gave Guffey 1,403,610 votes against 1,305,796, or a majority of 97,814 over his opponent.

Only One Wet Victory Seen In County Vote

All Townships Except Shenango Vote Dry In Tuesday Election

From the returns in Tuesday's election it appears that every district in Lawrence county voting on the local option in the sale of beer and liquor has voted dry with the exception of Shenango township. The figures show Pulaski township voting dry but it is said that there may be an appeal, due to the invalidating of a number of votes in New Bedford.

New Wilmington voted dry in stalwart fashion. The drys polled 414 and the wets 54. This was the most outstanding victory for the drys in the county. Washington township voted dry by a vote of 71 to 64, a narrow victory. Volant voted dry by a vote of 41 to 9.

Dispute Arises Over Vote In Shenango Township Precinct

County Home Residents Are Refused Right To Vote In Township

Some dispute developed early today in the voting in the Second Precinct of Shenango township when the residents of the County Home attempted to vote. Fifty-six of them had been registered in the precinct but when fifteen of them went to the polls today the board refused to permit them to vote on the grounds that they were not legal residents of the township and were not entitled to vote there.

County Solicitor William McElwee was asked for an informal opinion in the question and said, "while this is not a formal, written opinion, I believe that the guests of the County Home are not entitled to vote in Shenango township. They are entitled to register and vote in the precinct from which they came, but I believe the board was right in refusing them ballots."

If any of the guests attempt to vote this afternoon the board will refuse them the right, and immediately after a petition will be presented to the court asking for a ruling in the matter.

Gas Price War Has Been Licked

Secretary Ickes Reports Victory In Forcing End Of Gas Price War

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—In a whirlwind campaign of little more than a week, the oil administration headed by Secretary of Internor Ickes was able to report today on the eve of the elections that it had completely "licked" the hot oil and gas price war situation.

The campaign is now in its second phase, a series of arrests and grand jury indictment of various East Texas operators and others in the oil industry on counts varying from violation of the labor provisions of the oil code, to attempting to ship illegally produced oil out of the state.

Modification of various government contract forms and other certificate requirements announced by Secretary Ickes were interpreted as reflecting confidence that for time one of the most serious challenges to stabilization of the oil business has been met.

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 6— Early tabulation of Pennsylvania's vote tonight was forecast by the use of voting machines in more than one third of the state's 7,956 precincts, including many of the populous voting districts.

Machines will be used in 2,688 districts outside of Allegheny county. There, according to the latest word at the elections bureau, machines were to be ready for use in the third class cities and in several Pittsburgh wards.

Voters in Washington county will be passing upon a referendum to determine whether they want voting machines.

Donora Youth Is Slugging Victim

Mysterious Attacker Is Hunted By Police; Youth Clubbed With Revolver

(International News Service)

DONORA, Pa., Nov. 6.—Eleven-year-old Joseph Suarez' story of how he was slugged, gagged and bound by a short, stockily-built man today sent Donora police searching for the mysterious attacker.

The unconscious youth, who said he had been clubbed by a revolver, was found in the yard of the Suarez home by his father, Raphael, on his return home from work.

Joseph said he was accosted by the man, who with drawn revolver, told him:

"Come along with me and don't make any noise, or I'll kill you."

In the Suarez back yard, the lad was knocked to the ground, his mouth filled with dirt and a gag of rags and newspapers and left unconscious.

State Elections Bitterly Fought

New York, Ohio, Illinois, Wisconsin, Etc., Naming Officials

LAFOLLETTE PARTY FACES GREAT TEST

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—New York voters trekked to the polls today to elect a governor and other state officials, United States senator, 45 congressmen, a new chief judge of the court of appeals and two associate judges, 201 members of the legislature, numerous supreme court justices and a small army of local officials.

Indications pointed to the re-election of Governor Herbert H. Lehman, Democrat, and the entire state ticket, by a substantial plurality.

Melvin C. Eaton, Republican state chairman, declared Robert Moses, G. O. P. candidate for governor, would defeat Governor Lehman by at least 100,000.

Ohio On Spot

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 6.—Pivotal Ohio which two years ago returned a 74,000 majority for Franklin D. Roosevelt, went to the polls today to record a verdict on his "new deal."

Concensus of political observers was that it would be in the president's favor, though probably not without some reservations.

Defeat of Republican Senator Simeon D. Fess, who finds little to commend and much to abhor in the "new deal," was predicted on all sides, with the betting here about 3 to 1 on ex-Gov. A. V. "Honest Vic" Donahey, Democrat.

While they are passing judgment on Fess and Donahey, Ohio's two and a half million voters will elect either former Lieutenant Gov. Clarence J. Brown, Republican, or former Democratic Congressman Martin L. Davey, as governor for the next two years.

The Democrats' anticipated success in the U. S. senatorial contest was expected to be tinctured by the loss of a few of their congressional seats. Republicans, left with but six seats after the 1933 landslide, hoped to add at least four more today.

Fair In Chicago

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—Fair weather promised an outpouring of 3,000,000 or more voters in Illinois today as the polls opened with Democratic leaders confidently predicting victory in the off-year election.

Interest throughout the state centered in the battles over congressional seats, which were the objects of furious campaigns that were waged until the eleventh hour. The governorship is not at stake.

Twenty-five district congressmen and two congressmen-at-large are to be elected. Nineteen Democrats and eight Republicans make up the present Illinois delegation in the national house of representatives.

Hot Contest

(International News Service)

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 6—Wisconsin voters went to the polls today to decide a hotly-contested governorship test which saw the new LaFollette third party confronted with its severest test.

Opposing the new third party candidate for the governorship, Philip LaFollette, were: A. G. Schmedeman, the incumbent Democratic governor; Howard T. Greene, Republican, and George A. Nelson, Socialist.

United States Senator Robert M. LaFollette was virtually assured of re-election at the head of his party, but a close fight was anticipated in his brother's bid for the governorship.

Olson Or Regan

(International News Service)

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 6.—Minnesota was expected today to re-elect its Farmer-Laborite governor, Floyd B. Olson, over John E. Regan, Democrat, and Martin A. Nelson, Republican.

Fair weather promised a large vote.

Observers foresaw a close race between United States Senator Hendrix Shipstead, Farmer-Laborite; Einar Holdale, Democrat, and N. J. Holmberg, Republican, for the senatorship.

RAIL ENGINEER HEARD BY LIONS

Chief Engineer R. P. Forsberg Of P. & L. E. Makes Noon Address

"Some of the Foundation Stones Upon Which a Successful American Railroad is Built" was the topic of an address which R. P. Forsberg, Pittsburgh, chief engineer of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, delivered before the Lions club meeting Tuesday.

Choosing four of the outstanding ones—the physical side, character, service and courtesy—Mr. Forsberg, speaking under the auspices of the speakers' committee of the Committee on Public Relations of the Eastern Railroads, discussed for 30 minutes the far-reaching benefits which they yield. The talk was highly inspirational and likened individuals to railroads.

"That railroad that forgets service or courtesy or any of the other foundation stones is paying small dividends, if any, to its stockholders," the railroad officer declared, "and is in danger of being taken over by the sheriff."

The club was informed that "Donation Days" for the Margaret L. Henry Children's home will be held November 9 and 10. Inter-club events with the Meadville Lions were also announced.

Jury At Wheeling Unable To Agree On Fate For Two Men In Kidnap Plot

(International News Service)

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 6.—Their fate undecided by a deadlocked jury, Thurman Brown and Harry Thornton, charged with conspiring to kidnap Mrs. Elizabeth Bloch Harriss, tobacco heiress, today awaited the decision of the United States attorney's office to decide whether they will be retried.

A jury of farmers and laborers which had deliberated for 10 hours over the week-end was discharged when the foreman announced he believed it useless to require further deliberations.

Defense attorneys were expected to fight any effort by the government to try the case at the Elkins term of court and have already asked that bonds of $100,000 each for the men be lowered.

Each evening sees an increase in the crowds that are attending the services in Highland United Presbyterian church to hear Dr. H. H. Halley of Chicago give his splendid Bible lecture recitals, giving the Scriptures from memory.

An inspirational song service preceded the lecture each evening, and Tuesday evening the male quartet from the John Lockhart class of the First Presbyterian church sang two numbers. Dr. G. S. Bennett of the First Christian church announced the benediction.

This evening Dr. Halley will take up the Epistles; the four missionary societies of Highland church will attend in a body, and the special musical numbers will be sung by the choir of the Second United Presbyterian church.

Thursday evening the choir of the First Baptist church will sing.

G.O.P. Strongholds In State Are Crumpled

By WILLIAM J. KELLY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 7.—Political obscurity they experienced in Pennsylvania since back in the days of the Civil war was cast aside by Democrats today.

The Republican rule that thrived under the guiding hand of Penrose, Quay, the Vares and Mellons is no more. It was caught in the clutches of President Roosevelt's "New Deal" during yesterday's election and shattered like the walls of a glass house. In reality it was a house through which the Keystone state's political leaders passed in the heyday of Republicanism.

But today, new faces appeared on the political horizon. Far in the background stood President Franklin D. Roosevelt. On the battle lines were Joseph F. Guffey who became the first Democrat ever to win a Pennsylvania senatorial seat by defeating the Republican incumbent David A. Reed. Beside Guffey was George H. Earle, former ambassador to Austria, who soared to victory over Attorney General William A. Schnader in the gubernatorial race.

There was a strong possibility also that their ranks would be re-enforced by the Democratic candidates for lieutenant governor, secretary of internal affairs, and superior court judge, all of whom are leading their Republican adversaries. In addition, the debacle gave the Democrats control of the Pennsylvania delegation in congress and, perhaps in the final analysis, majorities in both houses of the state legislature.

The once-powerful strongholds of the Republicans virtually crumbled in defeat. Philadelphia, the city that usually gave G. O. P. candidates overwhelming majorities, bade farewell to Reed with a scant 4,000 vote lead. It was more gracious to Schnader but far from impressive.

Barely escaping with this county, the two candidates turned for support to the industrial regions and the rural sections. But their pleas fell on deaf ears in these districts.

Allegheny county, the second largest in the state, jumped aboard the Guffey-Earle band-wagon and soon had the Democrats in the driver's seat. This county gave Guffey a majority of approximately 80,000 and confirmed upon his companion a margin of 70,000. Other Democrats also swept to victory in this "work-shop" of America.

Other counties that swung to the "New Deal" supporters in no uncertain terms included, Elk, Erie, Beaver, Bedford, Berks, Carbon, Clearfield, Columbia, Lawrence, Greene, Fayette, Monroe, Montour, Westmoreland, York and Washington.

In addition to Philadelphia, Republicans held the upper hand in Bradford, Bucks, Chester, Crawford, Luzerne, Lackawanna, Huntingdon, Delaware, Dauphin, Montgomery, Snyder, Somerset, Susquehanna, Tioga, and Wyoming. The vote in others was close.

DEMOCRATIC ASSEMBLY FOR NEW YORK

Gov. Lehman Is Also Re-elected

Carries With His Re-election Democratic Legislature Returns Show

LEHMAN GIVEN HUGE MAJORITY

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Swept back into office on a Democratic tidal wave, Governor Herbert H. Lehman today had carried with him a Democratic assembly—something his two predecessors President Roosevelt and former Governor Al Smith never were able to accomplish.

With several hundred upstate districts missing, Governor Lehman's plurality over his Republican opponent, Robert Moses, as estimated at 820,000 with a possibility it might exceed his record breaking plurality of 847,000 of two years ago.

Lehman snowed Moses under in New York City to the tune of 800,462.

Control Legislature.

In addition to winning control of the assembly for the first time in 21 years, the Democrats increased their majority in the senate by three seats.

Senator Royal S. Copeland defeated his Republican opponent, E. Harold Cluett, Troy collar maker, by a plurality estimated at 600,000.

Governor Lehman also carried into office with him the entire state Democratic ticket and the two Democratic candidates at large, Mrs. Caroline O'Day and Matthew J. Merritt.

CONTROL OF STATE CONGRESS IS WON BY DEMOCRATS

district ,commonly known as the "horseshoe" district, which embraces Bradford, Columbia, Montour, Pike, Susquehanna, Sullivan, Wayne and Wyoming counties, with its first Democratic congressman in years.

Democratic leaders interpreted the smashing congressional victory as an overwhelming vote of confidence in President Roosevelt and his policies.

Heavy Democratic votes in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, in the hard and soft coal regions and in the industrial sections of western Pennsylvania, opened wide the congressional doors to an influx of Democrats

The result was more than state and national Democratic leaders anticipated. They had previously expressed satisfaction with being able to retain the 12 seats they held in the 73rd congress.

Three Win In Philadelphia.

The three victorious Democratic candidates in Philadelphia were J. Burrwood Daly, Frank J. G. Dorsey and Michael J. Stack.

One of the greatest upsets—and they were numerous in the congressional fights—was the victory of James H. Gildea, militant Coaldale editor, who was the Democratic nominee in the 13th district, comprising Schuylkill and Northumberland counties.

Gildea defeated State Rep. David W. Bechtel, chosen by Republican conferees following the death of Rep. G. Frank Brumm, the incumbent, who had been renominated. Gildea was swept into office along with the Democratic majority rolled up in Schuylkill county in whose northern section lies the mining village of Kelayres, scene of a wild massacre of five men when gunfire raked a Democratic parade Monday night.

J. Howard Swick, Republican congressman from the 26th district, Beaver, Butler and Lawrence counties, for four terms went down to a crushing defeat before Charles R. Eckert of Beaver, the Democratic nominee. Industrial unrest in the district was believed to have contributed in great measure to Swick's defeat.

Another veteran Pennsylvania congressman, Clyde Kelly, who held the Republican, Prohibition, Citizens and Independent nominations, was badly defeated by his Democratic rival, State Rep. James L. Quinn, in the 31st Allegheny district.., where Democras rolled up large majorities for the ticket.

In one of the strangest battles in the congressional election, Michael J. Muldowney, Republican candidate in the 32nd Allegheny district, was ousted from office by Theodore L. Moritz, Democrat, who is Mayor William N. McNair's secretary and man of all trades.

COUNTRY SWEPT BY DEMOCRATIC WAVE TUESDAY

to their number following the McKinley assassination.

The Republicans not only lost heavily in the senatorial and congressional contests, but in the governorship races as well.

Seasoned political observers could scarcely believe their eyes as the returns rolled in, recounting Democratic successes in territory considered doubtful or predominantly Republican.

Republican Senators Lose

While it will take the final count to make things official, the Democrats appear to have definitely defeated Republican senators in Connecticut, Indiana, Maryland, Missouri, New Jersey, New Mexico, Ohio, Rhode Island and West Virginia, for a net gain of nine seats. They already have 60 seats in the Senate, which gives them three more than two-thirds. And all this in addition to holding their own seats which were at stake in yesterday's balloting.

In three other Republican states—rock-ribbed Pennsylvania, Michigan and Delaware—Republican senators were teetering on the edge of defeat.

Senator David A. Reed was trailing Joseph F. Guffey in Pennsylvania, which almost qualifies for Ripley's "Believe It Or Not" column. Pennsylvania has never been represented in Washington by a Democratic senator. Even when the Democrats combined with the (T. T.) Roosevelt Bull Moosers they could not defeat old Boies Penrose. Yet today it appeared that Reed was whipped, although Guffey's election in all probability will be challenged.

If Reed's apparent defeat proves final, and in some Republican sources it is conceded, the New Dealers' cup will be filled to overflowing.

Concentrate On Trio

The Democrats concentrated their fire upon three G. O. P. senators—Reed in Pennsylvania, Fess in Ohio, and Robinson in Indiana. They were the most outspoken critics of the New Deal. They were dubbed the "Three Musketeers" in the senate, and they carried opposition from the senate floor to the hustings.

Apparently they all have been defeated.

Nothing could be calculated to give the Democratic New Dealers more satisfaction than the defeat of this trio—Reed, Fess and Robinson. In defeating Reed, the Democrats not only could knock off a severe and outstanding opponent of the New Deal, but a Republican presidential possibility to boot.

The Democrats not only gained in congress, but they fared pretty well in the governorships, thirty-three of which were at stake in the balloting.

Sinclair Defeated

They lost one over which they are shedding few tears—in California. Upton Sinclair, a Democratic convert from Socialism, eloped with the Democratic gubernatorial nomination on his ambitious "epic" plan for rehabilitating the downtrodden and those whom President Roosevelt has characterized as the "underpriviliged." Sinclair's candidacy tore California wide open and resulted in more of a class war than a political contest. Late returns indicate his defeat at the hands of Frank F. Merriam, conservative Republican, who succeeded to the governorship upon the death of the popular "Jimmy" Rolph.

Both parties view this election in the light of 1936, when a president, as well as a new congress, must be selected by the voters.

Had Senator Reed been re-elected by one of Pennsylvania's traditional Republican majorities undoubtedly he would have been a prominent candidate for the presidential nomination. As it is, he has been shuffled into the discard by the distribution of cards in the New Deal.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenburg of Michigan, looms as a potentiality, if the final returns from Michigan return him a victor on any substantial basis.

Wadsworth To Forefront

One of the new Republican presidential possibilities who came through the Democratic fire unscathed and untouched was Rep. "Jim" Wadsworth of New York. His loyal 39th district returned him to congress by a normal majority, while all about him Republicans were being snowed under.

Unquestionably, Wadsworth will be a marked man in the 74th congress, and in the presidential skirmishing for 1936. He is a man of knowledged ability, a former senator, a pioneer wet who chose to attack prohibition and go down to defeat on the issue in 1926, when it was politically more healthful to be dry. Wadsworth will be a conspicuous figure in the next congress as a result of the election.

There was little sectional in the Democratic sweep. It embraced the entire country.

Sweeps Country

Starting in normally Republican Maine last September, when a Democratic governor and two Democratic congressmen were elected, the Democratic tide moved through New England yesterday, down along the Atlantic coast, went westward into the pivotal states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, marched through the grain belt, crossed the Rockies and penetrated the northwest.

Assaying the causes of the G. O. P. debacle, the worst in history, Republican spokesmen were inclined today to put it down to:

First, the personal popularity of President Roosevelt.

Second, the financial benefits that have accrued to individuals and to states through expenditure of federal funds.

Nearly 20,000,000 persons are on federal relief rolls of one sort or another. Taking the hindsight viewpoint, the Republicans rather ruefully conceded today that it was hardly in the cards for these millions, many of whom are voters, to vote against their benefactors in Washington.

Or, as Al Smith sagely observed some weeks ago: "Nobody has ever yet shot Santa Claus."

They didn't shoot Santa Claus yesterday. Nor did they shoot many Democrats either. Mostly it was Republicans who got shot.

REPUBLICAN BARRIERS OF 50 YEARS BROKEN

Not even the first Roosevelt (T. R.) in his hey-day, plus Woodrow Wilson and the famous schism of 1912, could accomplish what the new deal accomplished yesterday.

The result:

The Democrats picked up 10 seats in the senate, increasing their total to 70, or four more than two-thirds. Neither party has ever approached those figures.

In the face of all precedent, the Democrats held their own in the house of representatives, if, indeed they did not increase their already overwhelming majority. It will take the final figures to tell the story, but it will not be surprising if they reveal 320 Democrats in the 74th Congress, as compared with the 313 Democrats elected two years ago in the Roosevelt landslide.

FIFTH VICTIM OF MASSACRE DIES OF WOUNDS

a preliminary hearing today if feeling subsides sufficiently in the township, still dazed by the suddenness with which death was visited upon the victims.

State police were in possession of what they described as an "arsenal" of "rifles, shotguns and revolvers found in the home of Joseph Bruno and in the apartment of his nephew, Paul, who lived across the street. It was from these two houses, according to witnesses, that the deadly stream of lead poured into the parade.

Kline township yesterday turned in a majority of 715 for the Democratic ticket and Kelayres gave the Democrats 662 votes as against 24 for the Republicans who under Bruno's rule had for years captured virtually all the votes.

DEMOCRATS ELECT STATE GOVERNOR AND U. S. SENATOR

tricts. He polled 1,404,869 votes against 1,339,870 for Attorney General William A. Schnader, the Republican candidate.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—Shedding its time-worn cloak of Republicanism, Pennsylvania at last succumbed to the lure of the new deal today.

In a stunning uprising against hoary tradition the nation's second largest state recorded a thumping triumph for President Roosevelt and the new Democratic regime by choosing Joseph F. Guffey, lusty champion of the national administration, for United States senate, and George H. Earle, erstwhile American minister to Austria, for the governorship.

Returns this morning in the tabulation of ballots cast in yesterday's epoch-making election served only to emphasize the decisiveness of the electorate's verdict.

With little more than a thousand of the state's 7,956 polling districts still unaccounted for, Guffey was enjoying a lead of more than 76,000 votes over his Republican adversary, David Aiken Reed, the commonwealth's incumbent senior senator whose distaste for the new deal never lacked blunt expression.

Earle Ahead

While not faring as well as his senatorial running mate, Earle was steadily drawing away from his Republican foe, Attorney General William A. Schnader. The Democratic candidate's margin over Schnader approached 30,000 ballots.

In cold figures the story of the disaster which overtook the entrenched Republicans in yesterday's dramatic election can be crisply told in this fashion:

Of Pennsylvania's 7,956 precincts 6,797 give:

For senator: Guffey 1,311,245; Reed 1,234,896.

For governor: Earle 1,293,979; Schnader 1,264,963.

Latest returns trickling in from all sections of the state also made it appear this morning that Guffey and Earle were carrying their lesser runningmates along with them on the road to victory.

Lieutenant-Governor

Thomas A. Kennedy, international secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers of America, enjoyed a lead of 30,850 ballots in his battle for the lieutenant-governorship with the Republican nominee, State Senator Harry B. Scott. In 5,627 precincts Kennedy had amassed an impressive total of 1,047,798 votes, as against 1,016,948 for Scott.

The same number of precincts accorded Thomas A. Logue, the Democratic candidate for secretary of internal affairs, a majority of 13,930 over his Republican opponent, M. Harvey Taylor, who also is chairman of the state G. O. P. committee. Logue's aggregate of votes was 1,026,604, while 1,002, 674 ballots were chalked up for Taylor.

A margin of 14,106 votes in 5,627 precincts was held by Chester H. Rhodes, the Democratic candidate for the superior court judge, over the Republican incumbent, Judge Frank M. Trexler. Rhodes had garnered 1,033,715 ballots, compared with 1,019,609 for the veteran Republican jurist.

Unparalleled Situation

Almost as unparalleled as the election of Pennsylvania's first Democratic senator was the startling overthrow of the Republican control of the state's congressional delegation. Returns today gave the Democrats eight additional congressmen, with the prospect that the party will capture three more seats, giving them sole control of Pennsylvania's congressional delegation, consisting of 34 members.

The Democratic party, through both Guffey and Davis L. Lawrence, state chairman, claimed a decisive victory today. Republican spokesmen failed to dispute the claim publicly, although they clung to the desperate hope that returns from the counties yet to be heard from, most of them embracing rural regions, may salvage at least part of the wreckage.

It was Allegheny county that turned the trick, aided and abetted by numerous other western and central areas of the state, where the working and agricultural classes still look to the New Deal to improve their lot.

Reed Gets Slight Lead

While Philadelphia, the largest of the state's 67 counties, accorded Reed a slim margin of little more than 4,000 votes and Schnader a better lead of more than 20,000, Allegheny, the second largest county, insubsequent returns administered a stinging defeat to the Republicans and overcame what little comfort the G. O. P. had derived from the eastern Pennsylvania returns.

Of the 946 voting districts in Allegheny county, 868 this morning contributed the following:

For senator: Guffey 210,961; Reed 130,128.

For governor: Earle 207,788; Schnader 138,580.

Fletcher Says You Don't Have To Stay Licked

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—"When you are licked, you are licked, but you don't have to stay licked."

That was the only statement forthcoming from Republican National Chairman Henry P. Fletcher today.

Senator Daniel O. Hastings of Delaware, the only other Republican leader to appear at GOP headquarters, said:

"Yesterday's election demonstrates that the new deal, like a dangerous disease, must run its course, and that the crisis has not yet been reached."

LAWRENCE COUNTY GOES DEMOCRATIC

one majority and did nearly the same thing in Ellwood City, Bessemer and Hillsville. In the northern and eastern precincts in New Castle Guffey held a slight edge in some precincts, but the precincts carried by David A. Reed were slight leads in most cases. In 89 precincts out of 90 in Lawrence county Joseph F. Guffey polled 13,570 votes, as against 9,641 for David A. Reed.

Schnader Fares Little Better

For governor William A. Schnader fared slightly better than his runningmate, but trailed his Democratic opponent. Mr. Schnader polled 10,183 votes as against 13,606 for George H. Earle. For lieutenant-governor Harry B. Scott, Republican, polled 9,541 as against 13,779 for Thomas Kennedy.

For secretary of internal affairs M. Harvey Taylor, Republican, polled 9,722 votes as against 13,228 for Thomas A. Logue. For judge of superior court Frank M. Trexler, present incumbent, polled 9,735 votes as against 13,476 for Chester H. Rhodes. The results of the race for Congress and General Assembly are seen in other columns.

Lawrence county was thought to be safe in the Republican column, but the Democratic sweep in the other counties seemed to be contagious and Lawrence swept along in the van.

The results of Tuesday's election gives Pennsylvania a Democratic administration for the next four years, although the state treasurer and auditor general's department will still be Republican.

Plaingrove township voted dry by a vote of 140 to 52. Slippery Rock township voted dry by a vote of 225 to 69. Scott township voted dry by a vote of 195 to 107. Three precincts out of four in Shenango township show that the township has gone wet. The three precincts total 168 dry and 295 wet. The fourth precinct will not overcome this wet lead.

RE-ELECT EROE IN NEW CASTLE

entirely on the Democratic wave he still had a lead of 1634 votes. Leta received a heavy vote in the fifth, seventh and eighth wards but not as big as was anticipated in those districts. Strickler was expected to make heavy inroads in the second, third and fourth wards and failed to do so.

Mr. Eroe served in the session of 1933 and the two special sessions following and now enters his second term. He will be accompanied by James B. Kelso in the second district, also a Democrat.

Although Joan of Arc is still a great figure after 500 years, her historical activity occupies less than two years.

Red Cross Roll Call Will Open Here On Sunday

Dinner Wednesday Evening Will Bring Workers Together For Instruction

HOPE TO ENROLL MANY MEMBERS

Plans will be completed for the annual Roll Call of the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross, which opens Sunday, November 11, lasting through Thanksgiving Day, when the annual dinner for the workers in the rural districts of the county will take place Wednesday at the Elks Home, at 6 p. m.

Headed by County Superintendent of Schools, John C. Syling, and his assistant, Alex McCready, of New Wilmington, the workers will start their task of enrolling the county residents next week, and will receive their final instructions at the dinner tomorrow evening.

An exceptional program has been arranged for the dinner, which will bring Dr. William DeKlein, medical director of the National Red Cross here to address the workers and the members of the executive committee of the chapter.

The Red Cross is supported in the city by the Community Chest, but depends on the annual Roll Call to enroll members in the district outside the city. This enables the Chapter to carry on its local program, and also assists with the national program of the American Red Cross.

Last year, the Red Cross assisted in 103 disasters through the United States and its possessions, in addition to furnishing assistance to 330,000 veterans or their families, and aiding 30,000 men in the regular service.

Red Cross volunteers made thousands of braille books, whereby the blind are able to read; taught life saving to 72,000 persons; trained 130,000 persons in First Aid; instructed 62,000 women and girls in Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick; and many other services.

CALLS ALL-BRAN NATIONAL NATURAL LAXATIVE

Delicious Cereal Checked His Constipation

Here is an unsolicited letter from Mr. Daniels:

"For many years I have been habitually constipated, and have used all sorts of laxatives. So, in fairness to Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, I heartily claim it to be a most wonderful remedy for constipation.

"Need I tell you that I have long since ceased using laxatives? Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is the National Natural Laxative. If it were used by every family in the United States for breakfast, we would have a much healthier race of people."—Mr. John Daniels, 1090 Third St., North Bergen, N. J.

Tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN furnishes "bulk" to exercise the intestines and vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Isn't this food much pleasanter than risking pills and drugs? Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

SURPRISING VICTORY TAKEN BY DEMOCRATS IN LAWRENCE COUNTY

Guffey And Earle Carry City And County—Eroe Is Re-elected

SWICK LOSING TO ECKERT IN DISTRICT

Kelso Appears Winner Over Cartwright For County Assembly Place

In one of the most surprising upsets in many years Lawrence County joined the Democratic ranks on Tuesday, returning substantial majorities for all of the candidates of the Democratic ticket both in state and national offices. Guffey, Earle, Eckert, Eroe, Kelso and the other candidates for the various offices were returned winners in this county.

At four o'clock this morning 62 precincts of the 90 in the county had been reported, of which all the 34 in the city were included. The 62 precincts reported showed a Democratic lead for all candidates save those for General Assembly running from 3,500 to 4,000.

City Goes Democratic

The city of New Castle went Democratic by a heavy lead, as did Ellwood City. The South Side precincts rolled up tremendous majorities for the Democratic candidates, running as high as seven to one. In the city Senator David A. Reed polled 4,643 votes and Joseph F. Guffey 7,331.

William A. Schnader polled 4,958 votes for governor and George H. Earle 7,268 in the city.

For Congress J. Howard Swick polled 4,871 votes and Charles R. Eckert 7,458.

For General Assembly William J. Eroe, Jr., Democrat, the present incumbent, was returned a winner with a vote of 5,757. Joseph Leta, Jr., the Republican candidate, polled 4,123 and Robert M. Strickler, Jr., running as a candidate of the Prohibition Party and Independent, polled 2,457. William Erk, running on the Labor ticket, polled 112 votes, and Samuel McKee, Socialist, 90 votes.

In the second district for General Asembly it appears that James B. Kelso, Democrat, has defeated Paul J. Cartwright, Republican. In the 28 rural districts reported out of 56, Kelso has 4,291 votes and Cartwright 2,587. There appears little likelihood that Cartwright can overcome this lead in the precincts yet to be heard from.

Totals for 62 Precincts

For the 62 precincts in the city and county Swick has a total vote of 7,943 and Eckert 12,520; Reed has 7,922 and Guffey 11,174, while Schnader has 7,884 and Earle 10,845.

Other candidates on the Republican and Democratic tickets followed along at about the same ratio as did the heads of the tickets. For Secretary of Internal Affairs M. Harvey Taylor polled 7,240 votes as against 10,914 for Thomas Logue, Democrat.

For judge of superior court Chester H. Rhodes, Democrat, polled 10,628 votes as against Frank M. Trexler, Republican, 6,988. For lieutenant-governor Thomas Kennedy, Democrat, polled 11,355, and Harry B. Scott 7,022.

In the 26th congressional district it appears that Dr. J. Howard Swick, Republican incumbent for the past eight years, has been defeated. In Butler county he was barely holding his own, while in his home county of Beaver reports said that he was trailing Charles R. Eckert by several thousand votes. In Lawrence county he will be second to Eckert by 4,500, Swick getting a total of 7,943 and Charles R. Eckert 12,520. This makes it appear certain that Eckert has been elected.

Ninety-one of 100 precincts in Beaver give Swick, Republican, 13,568; Eckert, Democrat, 25,536.

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 7.—Returns from 1,067 out of the 4,271 precincts in the state last night gave for U. S. senator: Truman (D.) 209,570; Patterson (R.) 91,532.

Donahey Leads Fess In Senate Contest In Ohio

Republican Candidate For Governor Has Slight Lead Over Davy

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 7.—Former Governor A. V. Donahey, Democrat, who got away to an early lead over U. S. Senator Simeon D. Fess, Republican, in returns from Ohio's senatorial contest, found his majority steadily increasing tonight as additional counties reported their vote.

At 11 p. m. Donahey was out in front of Fess, arch critic of the Roosevelt new deal, by more than 14,000 votes. The vote from 449 of Ohio's 8,559 precincts gave Donahey 49,841 and Fess 35,345.

The gubernatorial contest between Martin L. Davey, Democrat, and Clarence J. Brown, Republican, was a nip-and-tuck affair, with the Republican candidate holding a tenuous majority.

Returns from 449 precincts gave Brown (R.) 43,999 and Davey (D.) 43,551.

Close Race For U. S. Senator In Michigan

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Nov. 7.—Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R.) and Frank A. Picard (D.) were running neck-and-neck, according to early returns from 157 scattered Michigan precincts.

The 157 precincts gave Picard 26,670; Vandenberg 26,549.

Senator Vandenberg's apparent failure to pile up a strong majority in the outstate districts was counted as an indication of defeat, since Picard's greatest strength lies in the metropolitan district.

Merriam Is Re-elected Governor To Succeed Himself On Tuesday

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6.— Defeat of Upton Sinclair, Epic-Democrat candidate for governor in California by a plurality of upwards of 200,000 was indicated tonight.

Returns from 5,072 precincts of the state's 10,721 gave Gov. Merriam a lead of 87,000.

Republican headquarters claimed the margin of victory would be between 250,000 and 300,000.

Tabulation of 5,072 of the state's 10,721 precincts at 10:30 p. m. gave: Merriam (R) 493,199; Sinclair (D) 406,537; Haight (CP) 108,777.

Continues To Hold Lead

San Francisco, Nov. 7. —Gov. Frank F. Merriam, Republican tonight continued to hold a slightly growing lead over Upton Sinclair, Epic-Democrat, in California's hot governorship race.

With returns from 3,059 of the state's 10,721 precincts, many of them incomplete, Merriam had rolled up a lead of over 38,000 and in view of the fact that he continued to lead in Los Angeles county, he had apparently defeated Sinclair.

The vote for 3,059 precincts stood: Merriam 311,676; Sinclair 273,482; Haight 69,259.

Los Angeles, Nov. 6.—1876 of 3574 precincts in Los Angeles county gave:

Sweep In Many States Made By Democrats In Tuesday Election

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—A Democratic sweep, comparable to that of two years ago, appeared tonight to have been the result of today's balloting in the bitterly contested off-year election.

The Democrats are assured of retaining control of Congress.

While it will be some time before the exact figures on the partisan line-up of Congress are available, it was evident tonight that the Democrats have added to their majority in the Senate and that they have lost but little, if any, in the already heavily Democratic House. In the East, New York and Massachusetts went heavily Democratic.

Re-elect Lehman

The Democrats re-elected Gov. Herbert H. Lehman in New York by what appeared a near record vote, and re-elected Senator R. S. Copeland as well.

In Massachusetts they elected Mayor James M. Curley of Boston as governor and re-elected Senator Davis I. Walsh.

In New Jersey everything pointed to a sweeping Democratic victory, and the defeat of Senator Hamilton F. Kean, Republican.

Elect Ex-Gov. Donahey

The Democrats appeared to have elected Ex-Governor Donahey in Ohio to succeed another anti-new dealer, Senator Simeon D. Fess.

In Indiana, Sherman Minton, Democrat, was slightly leading another anti-new deal Republican, Senator Arthur Robinson.

In Missouri Judge Harry S. Truman, Democrat, was rolling up a commanding lead over Senator Patterson, Republican.

Illinois went heavily Democratic in the state-wide election of congressmen-at-large.

"Horse Race" in Two States

In Rhode Island and Connecticut, where Republican senators were up for re-election, there was every indication of a "horse race" in both states. It appeared that the final vote will be necessary to determine the winners in these states.

Philadelphia Is Carried By G. O. P. By Slight Margin

Reed Is Given Majority Of About 5,000 In Complete Tabulation

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—Philadelphia, the largest county in Pennsylvania, went Republican in today's election by a narrow margin.

Complete unofficial returns from the county's 1,283 voting districts late tonight produced a victory—but a hard-earned one—for United State Senator David A. Reed, running for re-election, Attorney General William A. Schnader, the gubernatorial nominee, and all the other Republican candidates for statewide office.

Shattering all precincts for this metropolis, a strong center of Republicanism for generations, the Democratic candidates came within a narrow margin of administering a defeat to their adversaries.

Senator Reed squeezed through to victory by the slender majority of only 4,086 votes over his Democratic rival, Joseph F. Guffey. A similar tight battle was waged between Schnader and George H. Earle, Democratic candidate for governor.

Final unofficial returns from all districts in the county give: Senator—Reed (R) 335,690; Guffey (D) 331,604.

Governor—Schnader (R) 344,048; Earle (D) 323,260.

Superior Court—Trexler (R) 339,259; Rhoads (D) 326,523.

Secretary of Internal Affairs — Taylor (R) 328,704; Logue (D) 324,024.

For Lieutenant Governor—Scott (R) 340,460; Kennedy (D) 324,538.

Michigan Swings Back To G. O. P. In Tuesday's Voting

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Nov. 7.—Michigan, traditional stronghold of the G. O. P., apparently was swinging back into the Republican ranks today.

Republicans led in the outstate, and the expected Democratic majority in the Detroit metropolitan area had failed to materialize at three a. m.

For senator 828 precincts, including 100 in Wayne county, gave Picard (D.) 121,284; Vandenberg (R.) 149,337.

APPROVE NEW DEAL

(International News Service)

HELEN, Mont., Nov. 7.—The New Deal was given hearty approval in Montana today in one of the largest votes in history. Scattered but incomplete returns from all sections of the state showed Burton K. Wheeler (D.) re-elected to his third term in the United States Senate. He was leading Former Federal Judge George M. Bourquin (R.) by three to one

New Wilmington Votes Out Liquor

Overwhelming Vote Against Sale Cast In Boro—Against Voting Machines

There will be no liquor or beer for sale in New Wilmington for the next four years. Neither will there be any voting machines. Both liquor and voting machines took a decisive beating in the election on Tuesday. In addition the swimming pool will be leased to the boro.

In the vote on liquor and beer sales the score was:

For the sale of liquor 37, against the sale of liquor 414.

For voting machines, 54. Against voting machines, 355. For the lease of the swimming pool, Yes 301, No, 144.

Earle Claims Election As State Governor

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—Despite the lead held by his Republican opponent in returns from more than half of the state's 7,956 precincts, George H. Earle, Democratic candidate for governor, early today claimed victory.

In a statement issued shortly after midnight, Earle declared.

"I am elected governor of Pennsylvania by the same approximate majority that the last Democratic governor, Robert E. Pattison, had, that is about 40,000.

Pinchot's Home Town Democratic

(International News Service)

MILFORD, Pa., Nov. 7. — Gov. Gifford Pinchot's home county went Democratic in yesterday's election, virtually complete returns showed today.

By small, but nonetheless effective, margins Pike county voters rendered majorities to both Joseph F. Guffey, senatorial nominee, and George H. Earle, gubernatorial candidate, on the Democratic ticket.

This, in spite of the fact that Governor Pinchot, the county's most distinguished resident, actively supported the Republican cause in the campaign.

RHODE ISLAND

(International News Service)

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 7.—The Democratic "New Deal" sweep in Rhode Island, with a plurality of between 25,000 and 35,000 votes, early today was carrying a United State senator, governor and an entire state ticket into office.

Ex-United States Senator Peter Goelet Gerry, (D.) appeared an easy victor over United States Senator Felix Hebert (R).

Three Democrats Win Congress Seats In Philadelphia

Gain Is Made By Democrats In Metropolitan G. O. P. Stronghold

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 7.—The New Deal tidal wave rolled over Philadelphia and swept three Democratic congressmen into office, displacing Republicans.

It was the first time in years that the state's heretofore acknowledged citadel of Republicanism had elected a congressional delegation of seven that was not 100 per cent G. O. P.

Incomplete but substantial returns showed the Roosevelt New Deal was to gain at least two more Democratic congressmen at the expense of the Republicans.

The Philadelphia Democratic winners were: Frank J. G. Dorsey, who defeated James J. Connolly, the Republican incumbent; Michael J. Stack, who defeated Robert L. Davis, the Republican nominee, and J. Burwood Daly, who defeated George W. Edmonds, a Republican incumbent.

Holt Is Leading In West Virginia

Youthful Democratic New Dealer Leads Dr. Henry Hatfield For Senate

(International News Service)

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 7.—Youthful Rush D. Holt, an out-and-out Democrat new dealer, continued to draw away from Dr. Henry D. Hatfield, staunch administration critic, tonight in their race for election as United States senator from West Virginia.

Although only 29 years old and his eligibility for the office a matter of question because of his age, Holt was running far ahead of his Republican opponent.

A total of 1,110 out of the state's 2,338 precincts showed the following results:

Holt, 240,926; Hatfield, 184,046.

Holt's campaign headquarters predicted that his majority would exceed 100,000 votes.

All six Democratic congressmen, candidates for re-election, were leading their Republican opponents as tabulation of the day's balloting progressed.

Kansas Remains Republican And Also Votes Dry

(International News Service)

TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 7.—Kansas remained Republican and dry on the basis of latest returns tonight which showed Gov. Alf. M. Landon, Republican incumbent, virtually assured of re-election and defeat of the proposal to repeal the state's 54-year-old bone dry law practically certain

SCHNADER—EARLE IN CLOSE BATTLE FOR STATE GOVERNOR

Schnader Has Slight Lead With Two Thirds Of State Reported

GUFFEY LEADS REED BY 16,000

First Time In Present Generation Democrat Has Won For Senate

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 7.—Fighting stubbornly to bring President Roosevelt's "New Deal" into Pennsylvania, Joseph F. Guffey, Pittsburgh Democrat, saw his lead over United States Senator David A. Reed, Republican incumbent, shrink to 16,000 votes at 4 a. m. today.

Final returns were awaited from 1,446 of the state's 7,956 precincts. Reed has not conceded defeat and Guffey has made no statement.

Attorney General William A. Schnader, Republican candidate for governor, still outdistanced his Democratic rival, George H. Earle. The 6,510 precincts gave Schnader 1,253,998 votes to Earle's 1,233,328.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7 —One of the nation's outstanding critic of President Roosevelt's new deal, David A. Reed, was being vehemently beaten back by the Democratic aspirant for his seat in the United States senate this morning as returns from yesterday's epochal election in Pennsylvania took a sudden and surprising turn.

After trailing his adversary through most of the night, Joseph F. Guffey, ardent champion of the president's recovery program, jumped swiftly into the lead this morning.

With nearly two thirds of the state's 7,956 precincts reporting Guffey grasped a 28,000 vote margin over Reed in one of the most surprising developments of this surprising election.

The battle between Reed, who has never minced words in his deprecation of new deal acts and Guffey, the national administration's patronage dispenser in this state, thus took its rightful place as the most thrilling encounter of the exciting contests culminated by the election of yesterday.

It marked the first time within the memory of the present generation that a Democrat has seriously challenged a Republican's right to a place in the senate as a representative of traditionally Republican Pennsylvania.

Guffey Forges Ahead

Pittsburgh, Nov. 7.—Swinging the torch of President Roosevelt's "New Deal" over Pennsylvania's electorate, Joseph F. Guffey, Democrat, forged steadily ahead at 3:30 a. m. today in his race for a United States senatorial seat against the incumbent Republican, David A. Reed.

Overcoming a lead of more than 4,000 votes given Reed by Philadelphia, Guffey increased his advantage to approximately 42,000 votes on returns from 6,347 of the state's 7,956 districts. His margin grew steadily as late returns trickled in from isolated regions and industrial arens.

Striving to emulate the achievement of his running mate, George H. Earle, Democratic candidate for governor, narrowed the margin between himself and Attorney General William A. Schnader, Republican aspirant to the governor's chair.

Schnader-Earle Close

Schnader saw his early lead tumbled while Earle's increased on the suburban vote. The Republican candidate polled 1,185,993 votes to 1,184,648 for Earle in 6,347 precincts.

State Senate Places Won By Democrats

Half Dozen Democrats Apparently Win Seats In State Body

By G. EVERETT DOYING
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Nov. 7. — At least half a dozen Democrats, including two from Philadelphia, apparently were swept into state senate seats now held by Republicans in yesterday's balloting, returns showed today.

Veteran Senator Bertram Frazier trailed John J. McCreesh, Democrat, by nearly 2,000 votes in complete unofficial returns from the Sixth Philadelphia District.

Likewise, Democratic candidate Walter S. Pytko was leading John J. McKinley, Republican, for the 8th Philadelphia District seat vacated voluntarily by Senator Thaddeus S. Krause.

Other Republicans trailing early this morning included:

Senators Joseph G. Armstrong and Morris Einstein, Allegheny; Chauncey W. Parkinson, Greene, and Harry Bell, Fayette.

In addition, Democratic candidates for the seats now held by Republican Senators William D. Pethick, Wayne, and Harry B. Scott, Centre, also were leading their Republican rivals in returns tabulated.

Republicans definitely had elected five incumbents: Senators Andrew J. Sordoni, unopposed in Luzerne; John W. Howell, Lackawanna; James S. Boyd, Montgomery, and Samuel W. Salus and George W. Woodward, Philadelphia.

REPUBLICANS WIN

(International News Service)

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 7.—New Deal candidates for major offices in New Hampshire appeared to have barely been nosed out of the decision of the electorate here as late returns today from 260 towns and wards out of 294 indicated that H. Styles Bridges, Republican candidate, would succeed Governor John G. Winant.

Latest returns, not including Democratic strongholds which might cut down the totals to require a recount, gave Bridges 73,199 as against John L. Sullivan Democrat, 66,694.

IOWA RESULTS

(International News Service)

DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 7.—Returns from 1,105 of Iowa's 2,452 precincts totaled, for governor:

Willie Leonhardt directed the play, the cast including Mildred Carson, who portrayed the part of Mrs. Harrison; Jimmy Bradford, Mr. Harrison; Donna Jean Beall, Mrs. Cadellor; Willie Leonhardt, Joan Clinton.

The plot concerned a group of gossips, who, as usual, get into much trouble, but as the various embarrassing situations are unravelled, everybody gets untangled and everything ends happily. The skit was humorous throughout, and was well received by the many attentive listeners.

Preceding the playlet, a string trio composed of Jean Wimer, Dorothy Baldwin, and Marjorie Young, rendered several musical selections. Miss Elizabeth Rose, choir director, sang a group of three songs, accompanied, on the piano by Ruth Sewell.

Tuesday Elections In U. S. Landslide For Democrats

Country Swept By Democratic Wave Tuesday

Election Result Is Unprecedented In History Of Nation

CONGRESS CONTROL MARGIN INCREASED

Many Veteran Republicans Go Down In Landslide Of Nation's Balloting

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—A smashing vindication of the Roosevelt new deal was rolled up today on a tidal wave of Democratic votes that swept the country from coast to coast.

No party in the country's history has ever ascended the political heights occupied by the Democrats this morning in the wake of yesterday's record balloting for an off year.

In the 74th Congress, the Democrats will have more than two-thirds of the Senate, the first time in history that one party has enjoyed such an advantage.

Add To Top-Heavy Majority

As for the House of Representatives, the so-called popular branch, it appeared today on the face of incomplete returns that the Democrats have actually added to their already top-heavy majority, instead of losing seats as the Republicans hoped and expected—and, in fact, as the Democrats themselves expected.

If the Democrats have increased their representation in the National House, as appears probable, it marks the second time in a century of politics that the party in power has increased its strength in an off-year. Bye-elections invariably have gone against the "ins." The single exception in a hundred years was in 1902 when the Republicans added

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Dear Pa Newc:

Concerning the art[illegible] in Tuesday's paper regarding the buzzard that was shot by Kenneth Schell, R. F. D. No. 1. No doubt this bird was an adult turkey buzzard and this bird has a large range. It's territory seems to be generally the tropical line and in summer time it ranges to the British provinces of North America. This bird is rarely known to venture eastward into the New England states, and I think the buzzard is quite out of its territory when it is found about these parts. The weight of an adult buzzard is about five pounds. The general color of the plumage is black mingled with brown. The back and shoulders are of a black hue spotted with bronze and green and purple. The bill of the male is pure white. There is one other bird that is taken for the buzzard, it is the black vulture and the only one of this species known, and is confined to the tropical portions of North America.

Control Of State Congress Delegation Won By Democrats

By SIDNEY H. EIGES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Nov. 7.—Their Republican opposition battered away by the new deal tidal wave in yesterday's balloting, Democrats today stepped into complete control of Pennsylvania's congressional delegation for the first time in a political age.

The Democrats increased their representation from 12 to 20 of the 34 members and were expected to win three additional seats as the day wore on.

The traditionally solid 100 per cent Republican representation of seven was shattered in Philadelphia and three Democratic candidates were swept into office as congressmen while four G. O. P. nominees achieved victory by dangerously small margins.

McFadden Defeated.

The major upset was the defeat of Rep. Louis T. McFadden of Canton, veteran Republican congressman, beaten by slightly more than 1,000 votes by C. Elmer Dietrich, Democrat of Tunkhannock.

McFadden, relentless sniper at the new deal, gained national attention several years ago by his abortive attempt to impeach President Hoover for which he was read out of the party for a time but recently had been reinstated.

McFadden's defeat gave the 15th

Republican Barriers Of 50 Years Broken

By GEORGE R. HOLMES

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Smashing through Republican barriers that have been impregnable for more than a century, Franklin D. Roosevelt and his new deal policies rolled up today the greatest political triumph that has been recorded in an off-year election since the Civil War.

Pennsylvania went Democratic. That fact alone tells the story of Tuesday's balloting. For when Pennsylvania fell there fell the citadel of Republicanism and those political precepts which have dominated the American government, with few exceptions, for 60 years.

Make Arrest In Kidnaping Of June Robles

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Oscar H. Robson has been arrested by Department of Justice agents charged with extortion in connection with the kidnaping of June Robles, 6, of Tucson, Ariz.

Robson was arrested on a charge of extortion under the Lindbergh law for demanding through the United States mails a ransom of $15,000 for the return of June Robles who was kidnaped from Tucson, Ariz., on April 25, last.

The girl was held for approximately 16 days in a virtual grave in the desert eight miles from Tucson.

Department of Justice agents under the direction of Joseph E. P. Dunn, head of the Los Angeles office of the division of investigation, compared numerous handwriting specimens with ransom notes written to Fernando Robles, father of the girl.

Handwriting of Robson was found to be identical with the penmanship of the extortion letters, according to the department.

Republican Wins Senate Seat In Vermont Battle

(International News Service)

MONTPELIER, Vt., Nov. 7.—One of the "new deal's" staunchest critics—Senator Warren R. Austin, Republican—today retained his senatorial toga, defeating his Democratic rival, Fred C. Martin, by a margin of 3,760 votes.

Vermont's lone Republican congressman and the entire G. O. P. state ticket were swept into office by comfortable margins.

Along with the other Republican candidates, Congressman J. Howard Swick was carried down to defeat in the Democratic landslide on Tuesday. In 270 precincts out of 275 in the Lawrence-Beaver-Butler district, the 26th Congressional District, Charles R. Eckert, Democrat polled 52,218 votes as against 34,456 for Dr. Swick. The vote by counties follows.

California Voters Turn Down Sinclair's "Epic" Program At Polls

By ELLIS H. MARTIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7.—The margin by which the voters of California rejected the candidacy of Upton Sinclair and his utopian epic plan to "end poverty in California" grew today as additional returns were tabulated.

Gov. Frank F. Merriam, Republican, was leading by 152,000 votes over the former Socialist who captured the Democratic nomination with 7,101 precincts of the state's 10,721 tabulated. Indications were his plurality would be well over 200,000. The vote stood:

Merriam (R) 632,985; Sinclair (D) 480,298.

Haight Poor Third

Raymond L. Haight, the third candidate, who ran as a "middle roader" on the Commonwealth-Progressive ticket, was a poor third polling 146,664 votes in the same number of precincts.

United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson, who had only nominal Socialist opposition, having won the Republican, Democratic and Progressive nomination, was given a huge testimonial vote which may exceed 1,500,000 votes.

Although they lost the governorship race the Democrats apparently gained some seats in the California congressional delegation.

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Nov. 7.—It's kinder early in the evening out here and not much news yet. I would rather have a man counting for me at the polls, than I would voting for me.

History has proven that there is nothing in the world as alike as two candidates. They look different 'till they get in, and then they all act the same.

I am anxious to see how they classify these newly elected. Some are Republicans, but New Dealers; some are Democrats, but not New Dealers; some are Democrats, just to use the label; some are Republicans, just to try and keep an old custom alive.

This next Congress is sure going to be a pack of mongrels. Yours.

U. S. SENATE TO HAVE SEVENTY DEMOCRATS

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Smashing all records since the birth of the republic, the Democratic party today apparently had won 70 seats in the senate of the 74th congress.

The Democrats shattered all modern precedents by capturing a two-thirds majority of the senate—the first held by either party since the Civil war when southern senators resigned their posts. It appeared the new senate would line up with:

70 Democrats, 24 Republicans, 1 Farmer-Laborite and 1 Progressive.

This would give the Democrats a plurality of 44 votes on partisan issues and four votes more than a two-thirds majority. It will give the Democrats a net gain of ten seats in yesterday's elections.

In 34 senatorial contests, the Republicans captured but five seats. These were in California, where Senator Hiram W. Johnson also won the Democratic nomination, Delaware, Michigan, North Dakota and Vermont. They lost 11 seats in all, 10 to the Democrats and one when "Young Bob" Lafollette changed from a Republican label to a Progressive standard in Wisconsin.

The Democratic gains were recorded apparently in Connecticut, Indiana, Maryland, Missouri, New Jersey, New Mexico, Ohio, Rhode Island, West Virginia and, of all places, Pennsylvania. The Keystone state, by choosing Joseph F. Guffey over David A. Reed, elected its first Democratic senator in history.

A number of Republican critics of the "new deal" went crashing to defeat. These included the venerable Republican sage, Senator Simeon D. Fess in Ohio, the lusty Arthur R. Robinson in Indiana and the sedate Felix Hebert in Rhode Island.

Kelso Winner For Legislature

Democratic Candidate For State Assembly Wins In County

LEADS CARTWRIGHT BY MORE THAN 2,300

Both seats in the general assembly from Lawrence county were won by the Democrats on Tuesday. In addition to the first district James B. Kelso of North Beaver township, Democrat won the second district seat and with William J. Eroe, Jr., will make a solid Democratic delegation in the house.

Mr. Kelso ran far ahead of his Republican opponent Paul J. Cartright of Ellwood City getting 6717 votes to Cartwright's 4376. Not only did Kelso win the rural vote but he won a smashing victory in Ellwood City, something unprecedented in Lawrence county politics. There is no record of a rural candidate on the Democratic ticket defeating an Ellwood Republican in the general election.

There were two other candidates for general assembly in the second district, Nelson on the Socialist ticket getting 92 votes and Peebles on the Prohibition ticket getting 382 votes.

Fifth Victim Of Massacre Dies Of Wounds

(International News Service)

HAZLETON, Pa., Nov. 7.—The fifth victim of the Kelayres election eve massacre died today in the Hazleton State Hospital.

He was Dominick Perna, 37, of Kelayres, among the first to be mowed down in the deadly cross fire of bullets that spat death into the ranks of Democratic marchers last Monday night.

Joseph Bruno, Republican "boss" of Kline township in which Kelayres is located, and a dozen others, mostly members of his family, were still held incommunicado at the Schuylkill county jail in Pottsville today in connection with the slayings and the wounding or more than a score of other persons, many of them women.

Perna, who lost a leg several years ago in a mine accident, was virtually torn to pieces by the hail of gunfire. The bullets riddled his chest, right arm, both hands and body.

Statements have been obtained from all those held, according to state police, and they may be given

Defeats Fess For Seat In U. S. Senate From State Of Ohio

DAVEY WINNER FOR GOVERNOR

By CARL L. TURNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 7.—Ohio responded generously today to the appeal of the national administration for support of the "New Deal."

By their ballots voters of the Buckeye state removed from the United States Senate one of the most persistent and vociferous critics of the president's recovery program, Sen. Simeon D. Fess, Republican.

His seat in the next congress will be occupied by Ex-Gov. A. V. "Honest Vic" Donahey, Democrat, who was swept into office by a landslide. His majority doubtless will approach 300,000, on the basis of latest returns.

Apparently the Ohio voters also decided to vest control of the state government in the hands of the Democratic party for another two years.

Davey Is Winner

With about two-thirds of the state's 8,559 precincts reporting, Martin L. Davey, Democratic nominee for governor, had rolled up a lead of 39,000 votes over his Republican opponent, Clarence J. Brown.

To make the Democratic victory almost complete, practically all of the 38 Democratic congressmen appeared to have been re-elected. Republicans gave them a scare in the sixth and fourteenth districts and in the twenty-first, the Democratic incumbent, Robert W. Crosser, was trailing Frank W. Sotak, (R) but the majority party leaders privately had anticipated the loss of at least four seats. Democrats chuckled at the difficulty in which Rep. Chester C. Bolton (R) found himself in seeking re-election in the twenty-second district. Bolton was chairman of the Republican national congressional campaign committee.

William J. Eroe, Jr., present Democratic assemblyman from New Castle, was re-elected Tuesday, November 6, for his second term. The complete vote from the 34 precincts of the city show Eroe getting 5757 votes, with Joseph Leta, Jr., Republican, in second place with 4123 votes.

Robert M. Strickler, Jr., who was defeated in the Republican primaries for the nomination ran in the general election on the Prohibition and Independent tickets. He polled 2457 votes.

William E. Erk, who polled 101 votes in the Republican primary, ran on the Labor ticket and increased his primary vote by 11, polling 112 votes in the general election. Samuel McKee, running as the candidate of the Socialist party, received 90 votes.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 7.—Assured of victory, Democratic candidates for U. S. senator and governor piled up a commanding lead today in the election that saw the overthrow of Republican dominance of Pennsylvania politics for approximately a half century.

Late returns left little doubt of the overwhelming victory scored by Joseph F. Guffey over Senator David A. Reed, Republican incumbent. Ballots cast in 7,319 of the state's 7,956 precincts gave Guffey 1,402,670 votes against 1,305,796, or a majority of 97,874 over his opponent.

Earle's victory in the gubernatorial race was not so overwhelming, but he managed to register a lead of 64,999 in the 7,319 dis-

Only One Wet Victory Seen In County Vote

All Townships Except Shenango Vote Dry In Tuesday Election

From the returns in Tuesday's election it appears that every district in Lawrence county voting on the local option in the sale of beer and liquor has voted dry with the exception of Shenango township. The figures show Pulaski township voting dry but it is said that there may be an appeal, due to the invalidating of a number of votes in New Bedford.

New Wilmington voted dry in stalwart fashion. The drys polled 414 and the wets 54. This was the most outstanding victory for the drys in the county. Washington township voted dry by a vote of 71 to 64, a narrow victory. Volant voted dry by a vote of 41 to 9.

Now we will hear the old Bronx cheer, and here and there we'll see some grins, for in elections as you know, some one loses and some one wins. And those who lost can tuck their wounds and wonder when the lightnin' struck, and those who won remember this, you've won a smile from Lady Luck. For victory is never safe, there's fight's to come and work to do, and there will come another day when some one else will battle through. So losers, winners, all of us, had better buckle down and say we're interested in our state, the weather's forty-six today.

Monday of this week a visitor in Gaston park asked me how long I expected the squirrels to stay there as he informed me that the fox and grey squirrels were great roamers. I informed the visitor that the squirrels would stay in the park as long as they were given protection and food. I showed the gentleman squirrels that had been in the park for three years. One grey squirrel that is minus his right forepaw has fed at a feeding station for over two years, and many other squirrels that come and bark for food at feeding time. The squirrel population at Gaston park is growing every year, as well as other wild life that inhabits the park district. A three hundred dollar fine is imposed upon any one who molests them.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—Attorney General William A. Schnader, Republican candidate for governor of Pennsylvania, early today declined to utter any prognostication regarding the ultimate outcome of the closely fought election.

"I will not say anything until the returns are in," Schnader told International News Service.

"The election is too close to warrant any statement at this time."

REPUBLICAN WINS VERMONT

(International News Service)

MONTPELIER, Vt., Nov. 7—With but one small town missing, United States Senator Warren R. Austin (R) today was re-elected by a narrow margin of 3,700 votes after the most bitterly contested election since the Civil war. He nosed out Fred C. Martin (D) who made the biggest inroads into G. O. P. strongholds in half a decade.

Congressman Charles A. Plumley (R) was re-elected by a plurality of 19,000 votes.

President Casts Ballot At Hyde Park Town Hall

Accompanied By First Lady And Mother—Rain Falls Steadily

(International News Service)

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Nov. 6.—Franklin D. Roosevelt, as an ordinary American citizen, cast his ballot in New York state's election in the village town hall today.

Accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, and the first lady, the executive motored the mile from his home to the town hall through a steady rain to vote.

The elder Mrs. Roosevelt was the first to enter one of the green curtained voting machine booths. When she came out, the president and his wife entered the two booths and voted.

After the voting, the president motored back to his comfortable home, and saw newspaper men for a few minutes.

"How did you vote, Mr. President?" was the first jocular query shot at the executive as he talked to reporters.

"How did I vote? Ha, ha," grinned the president.

As a matter of fact the president's vote was no secret. He announced before he left Washington that he intended supporting Governor Herbert Lehman for re-election. Later, it was learned, he also intended to vote for the re-election of Senator Royal S. Copeland.

COURTROOM BROADCASTING

RESOLUTIONS of the New York County Lawyers' Association condemning broadcasting of judicial proceedings will accord with what most persons regard as seemly, especially in cases where a person is on trial for his life or where the exploitation of scandal is the compelling cause of public interest. Even if both parties to a trial and the responsible presiding judge permitted such a broadcast, there are reasons of law, as well as considerations of property, which would make the experiment hazardous.

When the question of broadcasting the coming trial of Bruno Richard Hauptmann came up recently Governor Moore remarked decisively that, knowing the presiding judge as he did, he could say that the proceedings would be orderly and dignified and there would be no broadcasting.

There seems to be no record of broadcasting a court trial in this country, although American courts are not entirely exempt from the reproach of having at times permitted unseemly hippodroming of notorious cases. The soviet has used the radio in certain cases of supposedly "judicial" proceedings to make propaganda for its side. When it was assumed that General Smedley Butler faced a court-martial for certain remarks about Signor Mussolini, Secretary Adams promptly vetoed a tentative plan for broadcasting the proceedings. The radio has its place in educating on public matters. But it does not belong in the arrangements for fair, orderly and dignified procedure in a court of justice.

TRAIN TOMORROW'S DRIVERS TODAY!

High schools throughout the country are being called upon by leading educators to enact a major role in solving the automobile accident problem. Their is the task, it is said, to put a more careful and competent generation of motor car drivers on the streets and highways by making instructions in safe driving a credited part of the regular scholastic curriculum.

As a contribution to this cause, and to give the schools definite tools with which to work, the Education Division of the National Safety Council in New York City has prepared a textbook on the subject called: "Good Driving—A Manual for the High Schools." The book was prepared under the direction of a secondary school committee consisting of such men as Dr. Thomas Gosling, Director of the Junior Red Cross; Francis L. Bacon, principal of the Evanston, Ill., Township High School; Prof. E. K. Fretwell of Columbia, and Prof. Robbins B. Stoeckel of Yale.

In brief, the manual attempts to describe what an automobile is and how to operate it. It is illustrated with charts and photographs and contains a list of reference material for those who wish to develop special topics. Six units of instruction are outlined: Automobile in modern life, the automobile, the driver, the operation of an automobile on the highway, accidents, and accident prevention.

The importance of this work is emphasized by the fact that in some states there is no law to prevent a child from stepping from the tiller of his kiddie car to the wheel of a high powered automobile. Last year automobiles killed nearly 30,000 persons.

The opportunity for high schools to perform an invaluable service to humanity could hardly be greater.

A MARKET OF OPTIMISTS

The motor industry, largest user of steel, stands almost alone on the advanced path of recovery and plans more and better automobiles for 1935, and as a means to this the expenditure of many millions for plant alteration and expansion, and the spending for more business is not confined to makers of the less expensive models.

A manufacturer of a higher-priced car, selling only a few thousand automobiles a year, will expend more than $6,000,000 at once—to re-equip and expand its plant in preparation for increased operations during 1935. The company reports orders enough for two months' production.

The motor industry has many advantages peculiar to the nature of its product, but in the movement toward recovery it has one advantage originating in its market—it deals mainly with buyers who represent but one or two minds to be convinced a purchase is desirable and discreet. The motor industry sells the heaviest item that is added to possessions of a householder and enjoys the individual confidence and freedom of choice that goes with buying of shoes, hats and furniture.

The industry's success, contrasted with that of other heavy industry, is a moral tribute to the hope and courage of thousands of individual customers.

EVERYONE HIS OWN CENSOR

Otis Skinner contends that as the drama is "a mirror held up to nature" and portrays the trend of the times, any cleansing process in the stage must begin in the present-day social system.

Mr. Skinner makes it clear that he has no desire to justify vulgarity and indecency and he holds no brief for playwrights and managers who indulge in them for box-office purposes. He points to "Macbeth," "Hamlet" and "Romeo and Juliet" as proof that crime and sex have ever been present in the drama; but there ar right and wrong ways of presenting them.

Few will disagree with Mr. Skinner when he says that good taste must be the arbiter. He is opposed to the cinema play that "turns a gunman into a god." His contention is that this sort of crime in the drama, clothed in false glamour, is both inartistic and immoral. Naturally he has little faith in censorship. His remedy for the ills mentioned is to the point: "Each person should be a potential censor. If a bad play comes to your community, then stay away from it."

This is good advice, as theory. But it is not always possible to have fore-knowledge of a play's merits or demerits. In a broad way Mr. Skinner's ideas of censorship are sound. The difficulty is in having them effectuated by a sufficient number of playgoers to insure the desired result.

If it seems to be a fight, it's wrestling. If it seems to be wrestling, it's a fight. If it seems to be both, it's something about disarmament.

LOYALTY PAYS DIVIDENDS

One of the finest things in the world is loyalty.

Loyalty indicates appreciation and gratefulness for favors received.

People who truly love their families, their home towns and their country are going to be loyal whatever else they do.

Things may not go to suit them at times and reforms may be needed.

But loyalty demands other methods than turning traitor to get what is needed.

Because your parents do not willingly permit you to do certain things that they think are unwise and detrimental to your best good, you don't go outside and berate them, do you?

Not if you are loyal to those who fed, clothed, and housed you when you were helpless.

If it was their duty to care for and protect you when you were very young, it is certainly your duty to try other means to get larger liberties than talking behind their backs to our school friends.

If you think to improve your standing by tearing down the reputation that your elders have built up, you will find it works in reverse.

If your education does not teach you to respect age and revere your home, community and country with loyalty there is something wrong with you.

IMPERFECTIONS

Sometimes I bring home friends to dine
When she is not prepared
A very common fault of mine,
As she has oft declared.
And then again when she has planned
My favorite dish for me,
For reasons she can't understand
I don't come home for tea.

I leave the dresser drawers pulled out.
A careless man am I.
I toss discarded clothes about.
Which causes her to sigh.
I call to her to find my things,
Which I should plainly see,
A needless task, which often brings
Her scolding up to me.

As hand and foot she waits on me
She sadly shakes her head
Why must I so indifferent be
To everything she's said.
Why can't I look upon the shelf!
Does not the thought occur
That I should wait upon myself
Without disturbing her?

"Yet were I perfect," I reply,
"Another man I'd be
And you might soon begin to sigh
To know the old-time me.
Should I become the best of men
As soon as I was gone
You'd want the husband back again
Who needed waiting on."

There is said to be a cook on the U. S. S. Holland, who is literary and mixes authors with stew.

"Before I get breakfast, I read Bacon' he told the gobs in one of his desk lectures. "For dinner I consult Lamb. I never cook biscuits without reading Browning first."

"Listen, brother," a gob interrupted, "don't read Burns next time before you give us pancakes for breakfast."

He was an actor of the old school inspecting his "diggings". With a regal air he surveyed the bedroom and noted the absence of a washstand. In dignified tones he inquired: "And where do I perform my ablusions?"

"If it's a new trick, you don't do it here," replied the landlady, sharply, "you'll do it at the theater. I had two chairs busted by an acrobat last week."

The people again have spoken. Long live the people.

If anything goes wrong in the next two years the Republicans will not be blamed for it. There are no Republicans in office any more where they can do any good or any harm.

President Roosevelt is going to give all government employes the salaries back they were cut off of some time ago. There are several millions of them. Those not on the government payroll will have to get along the best they can.

The price of building roads has not come down since the World War. This is in spite of the fact that labor and materials have slumped quite a bit. It used to be that brick paving was put down for along about twelve thousand dollars a mile. There are streets in New Castle that were paved at that rate right now.

The country that finds it possible to follow out the dictates of all it's graduating essays is going to get well first.

Roosevelt has survived the final test. He raised the price of salt pork and still holds the Democratic vote.

So far we have heard nothing about the price of turkeys for Thanksgiving this year. We have not heard whether the turkeys are numerous or not. One thing we do know, however, is that a lot of people can get along without turks at Thanksgiving or at any other time for that matter.

I don't even feel sorry for the miser who hurried to the lecture advertised as free, only to learn it was spoken in a foreign language.

We have never heard of any one who really knew the address of Santa Claus.

The statement of that Hoosier schoolmaster that $50 more spent on the education of Dillinger might have "made him a useful citizen" looks to us like another of those Indiana idiocies.

Another fifty dollars wouldn't have made a dent in Dillinger's mental equipment.

It is a pretty good bet, as a result of Uncle Sam's experience, that the next countries that decide to war, will have to use their own money.

Maybe it would help the building trades if the government paid us to burn our houses.

The soldiers cannot be blamed for asking that the bonus be paid to them after the billions of dollars have been thrown out in Washington to those who have not the claim the soldiers have. The soldiers ought to have the bonus laws passed before they go to war. We base our opinion on the fact that we saw practically every soldier who left New Castle on his way to the war. This also includes the nurses we took in our automobile to the railroad stations at all hours of the night and early morning.

IN ALL FAMILIES

Dear Hints and Dints: Another family affair. It is Friday night. Mom has just cleared off the table and is preparing to wash the dishes.

Mom—"Sister, come here and wipe the dishes, there's plenty of time before getting ready for the dance."

Sister (upstairs doing nothing and enjoying doing it)—"Oh, Mom, I can't, I'm busy curlin' my hair. Get Willie to do it."

Mom—"Willie is going to his Boy Scout meeting and is getting into his uniform and—"

Sis—"Well, as Pop."

Mom (calling to Pop in living room)—"Pop, come out here and help me with these dishes, I'll never get over to Mrs. Breen's for that recipe tonight if you don't."

Pop—"Why in heck can't you get daughter to help you, this is the third time I've tried to read this radio article this evening."

Mom—"That's you all over. Whenever I want any help from you you're just to do this or that for the third time. I never saw a man as lazy as you are, I suppose you are afraid to get your hands wet. Why I ever married you is more than I can see. I wish they had had that companionate idea when we were first engaged, a trial like that would certainly show me where I made my first big mistake, why—"

Pop—"Alright, alright, save your breath, I'm coming, where's the dish towel, shall I pour hot water on these?"

Mom—"So you're over anxious to help now, are you? Well, let me tell you this—"

And so on.

LONGING

How cruel, indeed is Father Time!
How heartless and how stern!
O, if the joyous days of old
Might waken and return!
The maid with whom I used to go,
Who shielded me from strife,
Is somewhere in the great, wide world,
But she's somebody's wife.
How swiftly speed the changing years
From youth and dream and fun
Until we waken from our sleep
To find the glad days done,
Then memories are wonderful
And priceless as we go
Adown the trails alone which we
Were wont to love and know,
O, let the Light of Love be dim
'Neath Friendships glaring gleam.
And bring again the old delight
And youth's forsaken dream
Good times, free and evenings fleet—
I would I might renew
Acquaintance with the scene of old
Both lyric-like and true.

The World At A Glance

Can Hauptmann Be Convicted? Will Condon Swear To Identification? Backwoods' Jury To Demand "Facts"

Central Press
New York Bureau
235 East 45th street
By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—A reaction toward Bruno Richard Hauptmann is beginning to be felt in New York.

The state of New Jersey, gripped by the emotionalism that arose upon the arrest of Hauptmann as the "kidnaper of the Lindbergh baby", maneuvered to try Hauptmann for murder. The state of New Jersey has its wish. If emotionalism still holds sway on Jan. 2, Hauptmann may be convicted. But legal minds in New York say that so far the state has made no case—that is, no case based on facts.

And, from now on, emotionalism may swing the other way. Hauptmann's new counsel, Edward J. Reilly of Brooklyn, is a master-mind at creating emotional sympathy for a defendant. That might have been the reason why Mrs. Hauptmann deposed James M. Fawcett, a "civil" lawyer, for Reilly, a "criminal" lawyer.

And the associate counsel in New Jersey, Lloyd Fisher, of Flemington, N. J., where the trial will be held, may be expected to know the type of home folk on the jury very well.

Whereas Attorney General David T. Wilentz of New Jersey, who took the prosecution out of local hands to attend to himself, is likely to have an uphill fight with that backwoods jury.

THE JURY

The jury folk who will determine Hauptmann's fate will be of old American stock—but they may look with tolerance on this stolid German. Both they and he are stoics.

That jury will judge the case as a case, in spite of emotionalism on both sides—according to present indications.

It will demand the facts.

And facts in regard to Hauptmann are few and far between.

With the exception of the finding of the ransom money, the Lindbergh case remains a mystery.

Hauptmann may be the guilty man, but so far the assumption remains solely in the minds of people. There is no tangible evidence that Hauptmann ever was connected with the case, except the ransom money. Even the ladder has not been connected with Hauptmann, in spite of the fact that he is a carpenter.

That Hauptmann lived better, that he took trips, mean nothing much when one realizes he and his wife had $6,000 or so invested prior to the crime.

Besides, Hauptmann did not live very well. He and his wife lived frugally.

The defense is ready with all that—and more, too.

For example, the defense (no matter who the lawyer is) always has claimed that it has witnesses to prove that Hauptmann was in New York, not New Jersey, on the day and the evening of the crime.

LINDBERGH AND JAFSIE

Suppose the defense calls Colonel Lindbergh to the stand?

Can he identify Hauptmann?

No.

Suppose the defense calls Dr. John F. Condon, the "Jafsie" who paid the ransom in the New York cemetery, to the stand, if the prosecution will not?

Will he identify Hauptmann as the mysterious "John" to whom he handed over the money?

The prosecution is fearful that the defense will cause "Jafsie" to admit he is not certain. Yet the defense must meet the fact that Dr. Condon has announced he will swear that Hauptmann is the one person he contacted in the ransom payment—and there certainly are no witnesses to contradict that.

Dr. Condon visited Hauptmann in jail recently.

It was freely remarked that Dr. Condon finally had made a definite identification then.

But Hauptmann says Dr. Condon came to him to aid Dr. Condon, himself, in throwing light on the story.

Why?

In this queerest of all modern mysteries, Dr. Condon had begun to feel that some of the public was beginning to suspect he knew more than he had told! Thus, the veteran college instructor, worried and harassed, had come to seek the light of an accused man!

That Dr. Condon made a definite identification of Hauptmann seems hardly likely.

Now, of Colonel Lindbergh, who suffered the tragedy,does make an appearance, how much will that weigh with the jury?

If the defense calls him, evidently the defense believes the benefit will be with the defense, not with the prosecution. There is a shrewd psychology in that. The people of that region had looked upon the colonel's estate as an intrusion on their domain.

Readers may say: "What has that to do with this case?"

We merely can answer: "When a case rests on intangible evidence, emotional factors often are accepted as facts."

THE MONEY

Well, what of that ransom money found hidden away in the Hauptmann garage?

That certainly is damaging evidence—for an extortion case.

This, however, is a murder case.

What will the defense be on that?

The defense will blame a dead man—Isidor Fisch, the Bronx fur deal who died of tuberculosis on a trip to Germany.

What did Fawcett, Hauptmann's former counsel, say: Said he:

"I have received a number of letters from persons who said Isidor Fisch was frequently known as John Fisch. If I can establish this fact it will be one more link to indicate that Fisch, from whom Hauptmann received the ransom money, was the kidnaper 'John' of St. Raymond's cemetery (where 'Jafsie' paid the ransom)."

RANSOM NOTES

Then there are the ransom notes.

Assuredly—say experts — Hauptmann wrote those.

But the defense plans to call experts to prove—as assuredly—that Hauptmann did not write them.

Courts invariably are skeptical of the opinions of hand writing experts.

WHAT THEN?

There is no attempt here to build up a defense for Hauptmann.

We merely are giving an idea of what the defense will be—and we haven't mentioned the half of it (due to space limitations).

Nor have we mentioned all the arguments that the prosecution has at its command.

But we do know this—which worries police and prosecution — that Hauptmann underwent days of third degree, the most devastating kind, third degree of the mind, efforts to trip the mind and the tongue, day and night, and he came through admitting virtually nothing. Even on public cross-examination in his extradition hearing, he admitted nothing to incriminate him for murder.

And some of the most skilled police operatives believe that if Hauptmann was concerned in the kidnaping, he was only one of two or three. But they can't name the others. They are not even sure of the one.

TODAY Is The Day

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 7.

The World War Day By Day—Nov. 7, 1914—Virtually the entire town was in ruins from the bombardment. The defenders used nitro-glycerine plentifully and blew up what was left of the Iltis, Bismarck, Moltke and Kaiser forts. The wireless station hummed its last message to Berlin. Governor Meyer-Waldeck ordered white flags hoisted and sent an officer under a flag of truce to the Anglo-Japanese lines to arrange the surrender.

Thus terminated German rule in the Pacific. The fall of Tsingtau deprived Germany not only of the Kiaochow leasehold, her last possession on the Asiatic mainland, but of her only strategic possession outside of Europe.

The defense was hopeless from the first, and was made only for the honor of the German flag. For two months the German garrison almost wholly composed of 2,500 reservists who were living in China held out against the air, land and sea attacks of the 20,000 Japanese and 1,000 British and Indian troops. Japanese officers paid unstinted tribute to the bravery of the Germans, who fought tenaciously to the last, and courteously allowed the German officers the freedom of the town after the surrender.

Some day, American newspapers published President Wilsons proclamation of neutrality in the war between Turkey and the Central Powers. As Entente ambassadors departed bag and baggage, the American enjoy, Oscar Straus, became the protector of the interests of a half dozen governments.

History Up-to-Date—Nov. 7, 1811—William Henry "Tippecanoe" Harrison, 9th and shortest-termed President of the U. S. (one month), won his nickname. Aged 38, he led 300 regular infantry and cavalry and 500 militia to victory over 3000 to 5000 Shawnee, Creek and Seminole warriors led by Chief Tecumseh of the Shawnees, at Tippecanoe Creek, in Indiana. Tecumseh survived, to become a brigadier-general in the British army.

Nov. 7, 1874—The elephant became the symbol of the Republican party. It was first used to represent the party by Thomas Nast in Harper's Weekly of this date. The Democratic Donkey, also created by Nast was then four years old.

The ghouls were never punished for the crime.

Nov. 7, 1876—Ghouls perpetrated the most celebrated case of body-snatching in American history. The corpse of A. T. Stewart, New York merchant, was stolen from a downtown Manhattan graveyard, shipped to Canada, held for two years until $20,000 was paid by the family.

Nov. 7, 1917—Almost on the 70th anniversary of the issuance of the historic Manifest der Kommunisten by Henrich Karl Marx and Friedrich Engels, Bolsheviks in Petrograd rose in the epochal 25th of October Revolution (according to the Greek calendar.) Alexander Kerensky, dictator, proclaimed loudly to the population that he had taken the necessary measures to suppress any attempt at revolt. In reality he had no no troops back of him except two battalions of military cadets and a company of women soldiers. "The self-constituted commander-in chief of the Russian army relied on speeches against machine-guns, as the Chinese generals of 1860 had relied on painted dragons against the rifles of the English and French expeditionary force."

Bolshevik sailors surrounded the Winter Palace, and after a brief scrap with the women arrested the women. Kerensky had disappeared. He made good his escape by connivance of the chief of the British diplomatic mission, Bruce Lockhart

Gov. Lehman Is Also Re-elected

Carries With His Re-election Democratic Legislature Returns Show

LEHMAN GIVEN HUGE MAJORITY

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Swept back into office on a Democratic tidal wave, Governor Herbert H. Lehman today had carried with him a Democratic assembly—something his two predecessors President Roosevelt and former Governor Al Smith never were able to accomplish.

With several hundred upstate districts missing, Governor Lehman's plurality over his Republican opponent, Robert Moses, as estimated at 820,000 with a possibility it might exceed his record breaking plurality of 847,000 of two years ago.

Lehman snowed Moses under in New York City to the tune of 800,462.

Control Legislature.

In addition to winning control of the assembly for the first time in 21 years, the Democrats increased their majority in the senate by three seats.

Senator Royal S. Copeland defeated his Republican opponent, E. Harold Cluett, Troy collar maker, by a plurality estimated at 600,000.

Governor Lehman also carried into office with him the entire state Democratic ticket and the two Democratic candidates at large, Mrs. Caroline O'Day and Matthew J. Merritt.

CONTROL OF STATE CONGRESS IS WON BY DEMOCRATS

district ,commonly known as the "horseshoe" district, which embraces Bradford, Columbia, Montour, Pike, Susquehanna, Sullivan, Wayne and Wyoming counties, with its first Democratic congressman in years.

Democratic leaders interpreted the smashing congressional victory as an overwhelming vote of confidence in President Roosevelt and his policies.

Heavy Democratic votes in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, in the hard and soft coal regions and in the industrial sections of western Pennsylvania, opened wide the congressional doors to an influx of Democrats.

The result was more than state and national Democratic leaders anticipated. They had previously expressed satisfaction with being able to retain the 12 seats they held in the 73rd congress.

Three Win In Philadelphia.

The three victorious Democratic candidates in Philadelphia were J. Burrwood Daly, Frank J. G. Dorsey and Michael J. Stack.

One of the greatest upsets—and they were numerous in the congressional fights—was the victory of James H. Gildea, militant Coaldale editor, who was the Democratic nominee in the 13th district, comprising Schuylkill and Northumberland counties.

Gildea defeated State Rep. David W. Bechtel, chosen by Republican conferees following the death of Rep. G. Frank Brumm, the incumbent, who had been renominated. Gildea was swept into office along with the Democratic majority rolled up in Schuylkill county in whose northern section lies the mining village of Kelayres, scene of a wild massacre of five men when gunfire raked a Democratic parade Monday night.

J. Howard Swick, Republican congressman from the 26th district, Beaver, Butler and Lawrence counties, for four terms went down to a crushing defeat before Charles R. Eckert of Beaver, the Democratic nominee. Industrial unrest in the district was believed to have contributed in great measure to Swick's defeat.

Another veteran Pennsylvania congressman, Clyde Kelly, who held the Republican, Prohibition, Citizens and Independent nominations, was badly defeated by his Democratic rival. State Rep. James L. Quinn, in the 31st Allegheny district,, where Democrats rolled up large majorities for the ticket.

In one of the strangest battles in the congressional election, Michael J. Muldowney, Republican candidate in the 32nd Allegheny district, was ousted from office by Theodore L. Moritz, Democrat, who is Mayor William N. McNair's secretary and man of all trades.

COUNTRY SWEPT BY DEMOCRATIC WAVE TUESDAY

to their number following the McKinley assassination.

The Republicans not only lost heavily in the senatorial and congressional contests, but in the governorship races as well.

Seasoned political observers could scarcely believe their eyes as the returns rolled in, recounting Democratic successes in territory considered doubtful or predominantly Republican.

Republican Senators Lose

While it will take the final count to make things official, the Democrats appear to have definitely defeated Republican senators in Connecticut, Indiana, Maryland, Missouri, New Jersey, New Mexico, Ohio, Rhode Island and West Virginia, for a net gain of nine seats. They already have 60 seats in the Senate, which gives them three more than two-thirds. And all this in addition to holding their own seats which were at stake in yesterday's balloting.

In three other Republican states—rock-ribbed Pennsylvania, Michigan and Delaware—Republican senators were teetering on the edge of defeat.

Senator David A. Reed was trailing Joseph F. Guffey in Pennsylvania, which almost qualifies for Ripley's "Believe It Or Not" column. Pennsylvania has never been represented in Washington by a Democratic senator. Even when the Democrats combined with the (T. T.) Roosevelt Bull Moosers they could not defeat old Boies Penrose. Yet today it appeared that Reed was whipped, although Guffey's election in all probability will be challenged.

If Reed's apparent defeat proves final, and in some Republican sources it is conceded, the New Dealers' cup will be filled to overflowing.

Concentrate On Trio

The Democrats concentrated their fire upon three G. O. P. senators—Reed in Pennsylvania, Fess in Ohio, and Robinson in Indiana. They were the most outspoken critics of the New Deal. They were dubbed the "Three Musketeers" in the senate, and they carried opposition from the senate floor to the hustings.

Apparently they all have been defeated.

Nothing could be calculated to give the Democratic New Dealers more satisfaction than the defeat of this trio—Reed, Fess and Robinson. In defeating Reed, the Democrats not only could knock off a severe and outstanding opponent of the New Deal, but a Republican presidential possibility to boot.

The Democrats not only gained in congress, but they fared pretty well in the governorships, thirty-three of which were at stake in the balloting.

Sinclair Defeated

They lost one over which they are shedding few tears—in California. Upton Sinclair, a Democratic convert from Socialism, eloped with the Democratic gubernatorial nomination on his ambitious "epic" plan for rehabilitating the downtrodden and those whom President Roosevelt has characterized as the "underprivileged." Sinclair's candidacy tore California wide open and resulted in more of a class war than a political contest. Late returns indicate his defeat at the hands of Frank F. Merriam, conservative Republican, who succeeded to the governorship upon the death of the popular "Jimmy" Rolph.

Both parties view this election in the light of 1936, when a president, as well as a new congress, must be selected by the voters.

Had Senator Reed been re-elected by one of Pennsylvania's traditional Republican majorities undoubtedly he would have been a prominent candidate for the presidential nomination. As it is, he has been shuffled into the discard by the distribution of cards in the New Deal.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenburg of Michigan, looms as a potentiality, if the final returns from Michigan return him a victor on any substantial basis.

Wadsworth To Forefront

One of the new Republican presidential possibilities who came through the Democratic fire unscathed and untouched was Rep. "Jim" Wadsworth of New York. His loyal 39th district returned him to congress by a normal majority, while all about him Republicans were being snowed under.

Unquestionably, Wadsworth will be a marked man in the 74th congress, and in the presidential skirmishing for 1936. He is a man of knowledged ability, a former senator, a pioneer wet who chose to attack prohibition and go down to defeat on the issue in 1926, when it was politically more healthful to be dry. Wadsworth will be a conspicuous figure in the next congress as a result of the election.

There was little sectional in the Democratic sweep. It embraced the entire country.

Sweeps Country

Starting in normally Republican Maine last September, when a Democratic governor and two Democratic congressmen were elected, the Democratic tide moved through New England yesterday, down along the Atlantic coast, went westward into the pivotal states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, marched through the grain belt, crossed the Rockies and penetrated the northwest.

Assaying the causes of the G. O. P. debacle, the worst in history, Republican spokesmen were inclined today to put it down to:

First, the personal popularity of President Roosevelt.

Second, the financial benefits that have accrued to individuals and to states through expenditure of federal funds.

Nearly 20,000,000 persons are on federal relief rolls of one sort or another. Taking the hindsight viewpoint, the Republicans rather ruefully conceded today that it was hardly in the cards for these millions, many of whom are voters, to vote against their benefactors in Washington.

Or, as Al Smith sagely observed some weeks ago: "Nobody has ever yet shot Santa Claus."

They didn't shoot Santa Claus yesterday. Nor did they shoot many Democrats either. Mostly it was Republicans who got shot.

REPUBLICAN BARRIERS OF 50 YEARS BROKEN

Not even the first Roosevelt (T. R.) in his hey-day, plus Woodrow Wilson and the famous schism of 1912, could accomplish what the new deal accomplished yesterday.

The result:

The Democrats picked up 10 seats in the senate, increasing their total to 70, or four more than two-thirds. Neither party has ever approached those figures.

In the face of all precedent, the Democrats held their own in the house of representatives, if, indeed they did not increase their already overwhelming majority. It will take the final figures to tell the story, but it will not be surprising if they reveal 320 Democrats in the 74th Congress, as compared with the 313 Democrats elected two years ago in the Roosevelt landslide.

FIFTH VICTIM OF MASSACRE DIES OF WOUNDS

a preliminary hearing today if feeling subsides sufficiently in the township, still dazed by the suddenness with which death was visited upon the victims.

State police were in possession of what they described as an "arsenal" of "rifles, shotguns and revolvers found in the home of Joseph Bruno and in the apartment of his nephew, Paul, who lived across the street. It was from these two houses, according to witnesses, that the deadly stream of lead poured into the parade.

Kline township yesterday turned in a majority of 715 for the Democratic ticket and Kelayres gave the Democrats 662 votes as against 34 for the Republicans who under Bruno's rule had for years captured virtually all the votes.

DEMOCRATS ELECT STATE GOVERNOR AND U. S. SENATOR

tricts. He polled 1,404,869 votes against 1,339,870 for Attorney General William A. Schnader, the Republican candidate.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—Shedding its time-worn cloak of Republicanism, Pennsylvania at last succumbed to the lure of the new deal today.

In a stunning uprising against hoary tradition the nation's second largest state recorded a thumping triumph for President Roosevelt and the new Democratic regime by choosing Joseph F. Guffey, lusty champion of the national administration, for United States senate, and George H. Earle, erstwhile American minister to Austria, for the governorship.

Returns this morning in the tabulation of ballots cast in yesterday's epoch-making election served only to emphasize the decisiveness of the electorate's verdict.

With little more than a thousand of the state's 7,956 polling districts still unaccounted for, Guffey was enjoying a lead of more than 76,000 votes over his Republican adversary, David Aiken Reed, the commonwealth's incumbent senior senator whose distaste for the new deal never lacked blunt expression.

Earle Ahead

While not faring as well as his senatorial running mate, Earle was steadily drawing away from his Republican foe, Attorney General William A. Schnader. The Democratic candidate's margin over Schnader approached 30,000 ballots.

In cold figures the story of the disaster which overtook the entrenched Republicans in yesterday's dramatic election can be crisply told in this fashion:

Of Pennsylvania's 7,956 precincts 6,797 give:

For senator: Guffey 1,311,245; Reed 1,234,896.

For governor: Earle 1,293,979; Schnader 1,264,963.

Latest returns trickling in from all sections of the state also made it appear this morning that Guffey and Earle were carrying their lesser runningmates along with them on the road to victory.

Lieutenant-Governor

Thomas A. Kennedy, international secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers of America, enjoyed a lead of 30,850 ballots in his battle for the lieutenant-governorship with the Republican nominee, State Senator Harry B. Scott. In 5,627 precincts Kennedy had amassed an impressive total of 1,047,798 votes, as against 1,016,948 for Scott.

The same number of precincts accorded Thomas A. Logue, the Democratic candidate for secretary of internal affairs, a majority of 13,930 over his Republican opponent, M. Harvey Taylor, who also is chairman of the state G. O. P. committee. Logue's aggregate of votes was 1,026,604, while 1,002, 674 ballots were chalked up for Taylor.

A margin of 14,106 votes in 5,627 precincts was held by Chester H. Rhodes, the Democratic candidate for the superior court judge, over the Republican incumbent, Judge Frank M. Trexler. Rhodes had garnered 1,033,715 ballots, compared with 1,019,609 for the veteran Republican jurist.

Unparalleled Situation

Almost as unparalleled as the election of Pennsylvania's first Democratic senator was the startling overthrow of the Republican control of the state's congressional delegation. Returns today gave the Democrats eight additional congressmen, with the prospect that the party will capture three more seats, giving them sole control of Pennsylvania's congressional delegation, consisting of 34 members.

The Democratic party, through both Guffey and Davis L. Lawrence, state chairman, claimed a decisive victory today. Republican spokesmen failed to dispute the claim publicly, although they clung to the desperate hope that returns from the counties yet to be heard from, most of them embracing rural regions, may salvage at least part of the wreckage.

It was Allegheny county that turned the trick, aided and abetted by numerous other western and central areas of the state, where the working and agricultural classes still look to the New Deal to improve their lot.

Reed Gets Slight Lead

While Philadelphia, the largest of the state's 67 counties, accorded Reed a slim margin of little more than 4,000 votes and Schnader a better lead of more than 20,000, Allegheny, the second largest county, insubsequent returns administered a stinging defeat to the Republicans and overcame what little comfort the G. O. P. had derived from the eastern Pennsylvania returns.

Of the 946 voting districts in Allegheny county, 868 this morning contributed the following:

For senator: Guffey 210,961; Reed 130,128.

For governor: Earle 207,788; Schnader 138,580.

Fletcher Says You Don't Have To Stay Licked

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—"When you are licked, you are licked, but you don't have to stay licked."

That was the only statement forthcoming from Republican National Chairman Henry P. Fletcher today.

Senator Daniel O. Hastings of Delaware, the only other Republican leader to appear at GOP headquarters, said:

"Yesterday's election demonstrates that the new deal, like a dangerous disease, must run its course, and that the crisis has not yet been reached."

LAWRENCE COUNTY GOES DEMOCRATIC

one majority and did nearly the same thing in Ellwood City, Bessemer and Hillsville. In the northern and eastern precincts in New Castle Guffey held a slight edge in some precincts, but the precincts carried by David A. Reed were slight leads in most cases. In 89 precincts out of 90 in Lawrence county Joseph F. Guffey polled 13,570 votes, as against 9,641 for David A. Reed.

Schnader Fares Little Better

For governor William A. Schnader fared slightly better than his runningmate, but trailed his Democratic opponent. Mr. Schnader polled 10,183 votes as against 13,606 for George H. Earle. For lieutenant-governor Harry B. Scott, Republican, polled 9,541 as against 13,779 for Thomas Kennedy.

For secretary of internal affairs M. Harvey Taylor, Republican, polled 9,722 votes as against 13,228 for Thomas A. Logue. For judge of superior court Frank M. Trexler, present incumbent, polled 9,735 votes as against 13,476 for Chester H. Rhodes. The results of the race for Congress and General Assembly are seen in other columns.

Lawrence county was thought to be safe in the Republican column, but the Democratic sweep in the other counties seemed to be contagious and Lawrence swept along in the van.

The results of Tuesday's election gives Pennsylvania a Democratic administration for the next four years, although the state treasurer and auditor general's department will still be Republican.

Plaingrove township voted dry by a vote of 140 to 52. Slippery Rock township voted dry by a vote of 225 to 69. Scott township voted dry by a vote of 195 to 107. (International News Service)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa.—Mrs. Joseph Bevilacqua, 36, of Simpson, is making her rounds without a bullet she had carried in her head since she was 18 years old.

The bullet lodged in the woman's head during a shooting affray along a street in her native village in Italy. She suffered no pain until recently and doctors decided to operate.

The missile, of a steel composition, was found flattened against a bone near the base of the brain.

Mr. Eroe served in the session of 1933 and the two special sessions following and now enters his second term. He will be accompanied by James B. Kelso in the second district, also a Democrat.

The club season is getting underway with a vim this month, many big meetings being scheduled on this month's calendar.

Perhaps the most outstanding club event of November, will be County Day for the Lawrence County Federation of Women's clubs, which will take place in Highland U. P. church, on November 16. Sessions will open at 10 in the morning, with luncheon at 12:30, and an afternoon meeting at 2.

Nineteen clubs will be represented, a large crowd being expected to attend. There will be speakers of prominence on the day's program who will bring interesting messages of club work.

Nineteen clubs will be represented, a large crowd being expected to attend. There will be speakers of prominence on the day's program who will bring interesting messages of club work.

On November 13, a meeting of the Executive board of the Federation, will be held at the home of Mrs. D. N. Keast, 302 East Wallace avenue. At this gathering there will be in attendance the presidents of the various clubs, heads of different departments, and elected officers. Mrs. A. P. Treser, president of the Federation will preside.

These two meetings precede the opening of the season, proper, by the whole southwestern district which will have its district meeting in Pittsburgh, on November 20. Sessions will open at 9:30 in the morning, in the ballroom of the William Penn hotel, under the guidance of Mrs. Richard B. Perry, president of the South western district. Speakers will be the newly elected state officers, and district chairmen will be introduced at this time.

There will be fourteen counties represented at the Pittsburgh meeting, among which will be a large delegation from the Lawrence county club. Mrs. Louis H. Gordon has been named to head the transportation committee.

B. P. W. CLUB HAS GATHERING MONDAY

"Vocational Education" was the subject of a most interesting address delivered before a gathering of Business and Professional Women's club members Monday evening at the Y. W. C. A. by Miss Marjorie Rhodes, assistant principal of the New Castle senior high school.

Other features of the evening program which followed dinner were short talks on: "Child Labor," by Edythe Dunlap; "Boy and Girl Scouts," by Mrs. Mary Guy; "Schools in the Depression," by Miss Jessie Jenkins, and general vocational education, by Miss Mary Vandivort and Miss Lucile Lutton. Informality and discussion prevailed during the talks.

The emblem committee of the club was instructed to include donations of food supplies for the Margaret L. Henry home when preparing for the annual Christmas party. Miss Iretta Dart made an announcement concerning articles by Dr. C. C. Green which will appear in The News.

An invitation from the Chamber of Commerce to join in the move to aid the Federal Housing Commission was read. The club was invited to attend the meeting which is to be conducted at the Cathedral on November 19.

The evening's program was in charge of the education committee of which Miss Laura Blucher is chairman.

Special guests were Miss Dorothy Bechman of Greenville, Miss Agnes Elwinger and Miss Green of Butler, and Miss Margaret Toepfer of New Castle.

Birthday Event

Phylis Jean Rodgers was a charming little hostess Saturday afternoon, when she entertained twelve children in honor of her birthday, at her home on Ray street. Games and music enlivened the hours, with prizes awarded to Maxine Lytle, Katheryn Doutt and Ida Mae Ashton.

When time for refreshments came, the children marched to the dining room where a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Rodgers and Mrs. Charles Stritmater. The birthday cake was moulded in the shape of a lamb and brought forth many squeals of delight from the children.

The little guest of honor was showered with lovely gifts.

PLEASING PROGRAM AT CURRENT EVENTS '06

Miss Laura Stevenson and Miss Jeanette Pattison shared, as guests, with Current Events '06 members, in hearing a pleasing program yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. George R. McClelland, on Pine street.

Verses of scripture were quoted in response to roll call, after which there was an interesting discussion of current topics and a parliamentary drill directed by Mrs. T. A. Gilkey. Light refreshments were served during the social period.

The next meeting will be on November 19, at the home of Mrs. J. L. McConaghy, of Norwood avenue.

WOMAN'S CLUB TAKES TRIP THROUGH EUROPE

"Are the governments of the world serious in their wish for peace" was the underlying thought in the interesting talk on "Europe Today" given by E. C. Ramsey, newspaper man and traveler as he spoke Monday afternoon before the members of the Woman's club in the Highland church.

Mrs. Archibald Davis presided over the business meeting, at which time 22 new members were voted into the club and 4 old members reinstated.

The various department heads reported on the activities of the departments and announced programs for the winter, after which Mrs. R. S. Tannehill, chairman of the International Relations department, introduced the speaker.

Mr. Ramsey made a colorful picture as he appeared in his Holland costume, red blouse with embroidered collar, full black trousers, astrakhan cap and wooden shoes. He has traveled the past fourteen years in the European countries and Russia as newspaper correspondent and he said truly, he thought the world has gone mad and instead of nations trying to understand each other and promoting peace through this understanding, they are further apart than they were during the days of the world war.

He went on to say that each country wishes peace, but, he added, their own particular kind of peace, while they go on adding to their armaments and training.

He spoke of various ways in which a friendly understanding can be promoted and some of the things he mentioned are being done, such as economic projects, social projects and athletic contests, such as the Olympic, where the youth of the countries meet in friendly contest.

There are more causes for war at the present time in the European countries than there were in 1914; there is more secret diplomacy and more men under military training than there were at that time.

In urging the women to promote peace he said the nations would have to stop glorifying war and educate the younger people to the horrors of war; to glorify leadership, education and service.

Mr. Ramsey answered many questions for the club women at the adjournment of the meeting.

The next meeting of the club will be November 19, at which time Herbert Clarence White will be the speaker. He will have slides and give a talk on "With the Camera in the Enchanted Empire".

JUNIOR GUILD HAS ANNIVERSARY DINNER

On November 5, 1931 a band of fourteen girls of the St. Andrew's Episcopal church formed the Junior Guild of the church and for the past three years have worked diligently in promoting the spiritual activities for the advancement of church work.

Monday evening a prettily appointed dinner in the church dining room celebrated their third birthday and the table was appointed in blue and white, the guild colors. A large birthday cake on which glowed three candles, and single silver candelabra, the white tapers tied with blue maline, formed a pretty centerpiece. A delicious dinner menu was served. The committee on arrangements included Anne Hitchen, Mrs. Katherine Mayer and Mrs. Ethel Evans.

Miss Myrna Whiting acted as pianiste for the pep singing and at intervals during the evening; Katherine Hetrick gave a reading, "Not Understood" and Mrs. William Wignall, organizer of the group, gave an encouraging talk.

Miss Hitchen called a business meeting at conclusion of dinner with Mrs. May Perry conducting a devotional period, after which reports were given of the past year's work. An election resulted in Ethel Evans being named president; Katherine Smith, secretary and Katherine Mayer, treasurer.

Mrs. May Perry of Sewickley Heights, was a special guest and the places arranged about the table were for the same group which assembled three years ago.

House Control For Democrats

Election Yesterday May Give Democrats Control Of Legislature

UPHEAVAL WAS UNPRECEDENTED

By G. EVERETT DOYING
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Nov. 7.—On the crest of a New Deal juggernaut, Democrats apparently swept into numerical control of the state house of representatives today, at the same time destroying the two-thirds Republican majority in the state senate.

Neither accomplishment has been duplicated by the Democratic party in Pennsylvania since the turn of the century.

Bolstered by an unanimous Democratic delegation to the General Assembly from Allegheny county, on the basis of nearly complete returns from yesterday's election, the heretofore minority element in the house was practically certain to exceed the constitutional majority of 105.

The Democratic membership in the senate, now seven, likely will be increased at the next session to beyond the present estimated minimum of 17 seats.

Probable Makeup

With only 72 districts—40 now held by Republicans and 29 by Democrats—undecided this morning, the membership of the General Assembly convening on January 1 stood:

Democrats 75.

Republicans 61.

In the present assembly those same seats are held by 37 Democrats and 99 Republicans, thus creating a gain for the Democrats of 38 seats.

By holding all the Democratic seats yet undecided—a feat not improbable on the face of mounting majorities for the party ticket as a whole—and winning just one more Republican seat, the Democrats will have reached a membership of 105 in the house.

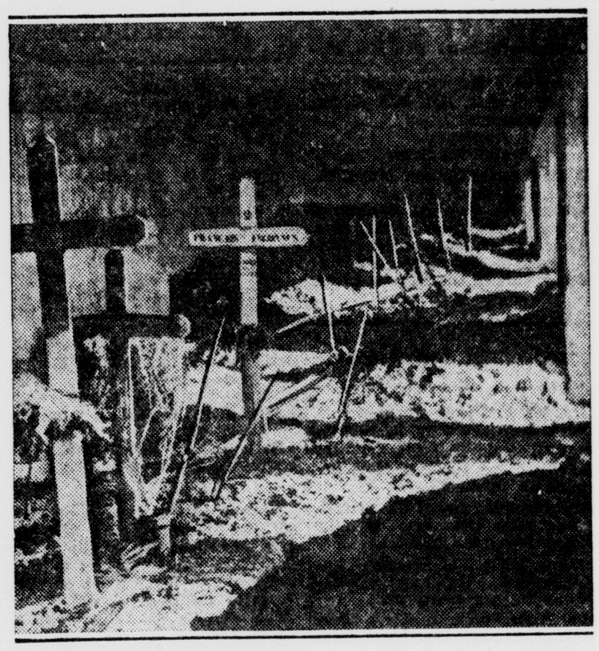
Democrats were leading in nearly a dozen Republican districts as the day wore on.

Tabulations of unofficial returns showed that Republican incumbents successful in their quest for another term number 40 from the 136 districts accounted for. Half as many Democratic incumbents also were re-elected. Republicans were elected to 19 seats held in the existing legislature by Republicans and the same was true of 15 Democrats. Republicans gained two Democratic seats and lost 40 of their own.

Unprecedented as was the complete Democratic sweep of the 27 Allegheny county seats in the house chamber, it was no greater surprise than the unseating of 10 Republicans in Philadelphia to increase the Democratic party's membership in the delegation from the eastern metropolis to 16. The remaining Democratic gains were scattered throughout the state.

House gains by the Democrats were no more startling, however, than the toppling of at least half a dozen stalwart Republican leaders in the senate. These incumbents were trailing far behind, in most cases, their Democratic opponents. Four other Republican candidates seeking election to seats voluntarily abandoned by their G. O. P. holders were defeated by Democrats.

Is "Trench of Bayonets" a Hoax?



Hotel and tourist interests at Verdun, France, are alarmed over rumors that the famed "trench of bayonets" there, shown above, does not contain bones of a company of poilus said to have been buried alive when their trench collapsed but is merely a stack of abandoned rifles and bayonets. Thousands of American tourists yearly visit the trench which is protected from weather by a concrete canopy erected by contributions of American school children. (Central Press)

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Seventh Ward Takes Count Honors Again

Call At 7:25 Last Night Brought First Tally From Fire House Precinct

Precinct No. 1 of the seventh ward, located at the Cherry street fire station, was first with the latest last night, so far as The News' tabulation of election returns were concerned.

A telephone rang in the editorial rooms at 7:25 p. m. and on the other end of the wire a member of the election board announced that district's governorship tally—it was 271 for Earle and 95 for Schnader.

Within a moment or two another phone rang and then another, and within a short time all three precincts of the seventh ward, always the first section to report, had their first counts in.

From other sections of the city the returns began to stream in at eight o'clock, and throughout the evening the return "scorekeepers" kept pencils sailing. In some of the larger districts the election boards completed their counts in record time.

Your Wrong If You Believe—That it gets too cold for snow to fall.

This is disproven by the fact that snow falls in the coldest parts of the world. However, many of the heaviest snows do fall during milder periods of winter. This, it is explained by the Weather Bureau, is because most rains or snows come on the easterly to southerly winds. Cold winds, then, are from the wrong directions to bring much snow.

Also, you're wrong if you believe—That aheavy coat of fur upon animals forecasts a severe winter.

That water rots the hair and causes baldness.

Revolutionary oils give new protection against severe winter conditions

USERS SAVE MORE THAN OIL COSTS

CHANGING piston rings is costly business. That's why motorists welcome the new ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS for Winter. These oils have such extremely high film-strength that they definitely minimize wear . . . particularly under severe operating conditions such as the warming-up period on cold days, when piston wear can be 65 times greater than normal.

Between engine pistons and cylinder walls, the clearances are less than the thickness of a piece of paper. The thin film of motor oil in that space must be strong enough to prevent metal-to-metal contact under all conditions; otherwise, costly wear results.

The high film-strength of ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS for Winter means an extra margin of safety . . . for your engine . . . and for your purse! In fact, we believe you will get ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS practically "for nothing" throughout the life of your car, because of the large savings they should bring in repair bills. Cold weather is here. Give your car this new protection right now. * * * For best results, drain your crankcase before putting in the correct winter grade of the new ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS.

Restore Back Pay Under NRA Code

Feuchtwanger Informed That Millions Are Restored To Workers

According to a bulletin received by Marcus Feuchtwanger, local NRA chairman, millions of dollars have been restored in back pay, since the creation of the Compliance Division of the NRA on October 26, 1933.

The division has been instrumental, the bulletin states, in restoring approximately two millions in back wages to many thousands of workers in the NRA codes. This sum represents the difference between the wages actually paid to workers and the amounts they should have received under applicable code provisions.

In addition to this figure, 16 code authorities report that up to September 29, 1934, they had effected wage restrictions amounting to $523,119.59 which was paid to approximately 70,000 workers.

HOUSEWIFE. Mrs. C. Daly says: "I keep house—like millions of other women. And we all know how much energy a woman has to put into that job! My recipe for renewing energy is to smoke a Camel. Camels do pick up my energy when I'm tired, and they have such a mild flavor."

STEEPLECHASE RIDER. Crawford Burton: "Whether I'm tired from riding a hard race, or from a crowded business day, I feel refreshed and restored just as soon as I get a chance to smoke a Camel."

NO REGIMENTATION NEEDED

SOME time ago the New York newspapers carried notices of the death of Franklin Simon, well known merchant of the nation's metropolis and founder of one of the city's big department stores. Mr. Simon, according to the dispatches, was a man of vision. He was credited with having been the first of the New York business men to visualize the future and to perceive that Fifth Avenue, above 34th Street, would become the city's fashionable shopping district. He acted accordingly, built his business there, began offering fashionable styles at what were considered reasonable prices, and became one of New York's merchant princes.

All of which led the New York Times to state: "One thought forces itself to the front of the mind in surveying the rise of a business like that built by Mr. Simon. It would have been impossible had he been hampered at every step by government regulation and meddlesomeness. What need of imposing a 'code' on a man like him? He was his own code, always one of honor and humanity."

Of course the regimenters, who like to talk about the age of competition without government interference as the day when we were ruled by the law of the jungle, would say that Mr. Simon's case was the exception which proves the rule. But this is not true. Greed and graft in business are exceptions and not the rule. There are thousands of business men of real integrity all over this nation. They gain success not by using the tooth and claw, and not by leaning on the government for support. They work long and patiently without watching the clock, practice the rules of honesty and fair dealing, and do not waste their time and money in the fond belief that in the long run Uncle Sam will take care of them anyhow.

DEATH IN HASTE

It is haste that causes most fatal automobile accidents.

This is the conclusion to be drawn from an analysis of figures collected by statisticians of an insurance company.

The figures related to accidents occurring last year and were obtained from official sources in various centers. They dealt particularly with fatal accidents of the kind in which the driver was at fault. In 33 per cent of these cases, the driver was found to have been exceeding the speed limit. The same percentage held with respect to the driver's trying to take the right-of-way when he was not entitled to it. In more than five per cent of the cases, the driver was guilty either of passing a standing street car, cutting in, passing another car on a curve or hill or passing on the wrong side. Cases in which the driver went completely off the highway amounted to more than 18 per cent. Nine per cent of the accidents were charged simply to reckless driving.

The various causes listed when lumped together, the insurance company statisticians emphasized, could be labeled "heedless, needless haste."

In other words, more than 90 per cent of the accidents studied were caused by drivers being "in a hurry"—their overeagerness to get to some place or to no place in particular.

The lesson is very plain—less hurry and less speed.

A SWAT IN TIME

Perhaps we can blame the sun spots (if there are any visible now). Perhaps the moon is off her proper course. Perhaps it has resulted from the depression. Perhaps it is the weather. Perhaps we have become careless and neglected our duties. Or perhaps, after all, it has resulted from a hundred and one other causes.

But, nevertheless, we are certain that there have been more pesky, dirty, troublesome flies this season than in many years.

It is too late to bother now about the cause of our plight, but definite action can be taken to prevent its recurrence. Scientists tell us that the early winter fly is the greatest menace of them all. Before the winter is over he will have provided for the birth of about one hundred million children or other descendants, who will bother us next spring.

We can see that these flies are different now than they were early in the summer. They have lost their pep and agility. Now they lazily hover near the ceiling or amble slowly across the window pane. It seems that they are glad to be inside, where it is warm and where their endless system of propagation can flourish.

Our moral must now be evident. Instead of killing two birds with one stone, we now have the opportunity of killing hundreds of millions of potential flies with but a single stroke, (if we are good swatters).

PRESIDENTIAL YEARNING

The hidden ambitions of successful men are interesting things, when we can find out about them. Many an industrial leader secretly wishes he had become a prospector or a musician; many a general would be a locomotive engineer or an Arctic explorer if he followed the dictates of his own heart.

But the most surprising of all these suppressed desires is the one recently attributed to the late President Coolidge.

Arthur Hopkins, theatrical producer, says that Mr. Coolidge always wanted to be an actor. Mr. Hopkins says that he and John Barrymore learned this, some years ago, while guests of President Coolidge at a White House luncheon.

The president, he says, not only wanted to be an actor, but was convinced that he would have been a pretty good one.

Few men ever win more success than Mr. Coolidge found in his chosen field of politics. It is strange indeed to learn that beneath it all there lurked a hidden yen for the glamour of footlights and grease paint.

We hope we're not shot for asking, but is that love affair on the coast McAdoo about nothing?

Washington reports that Tugwell's part in the AAA will be behind the scenes. The farmers remaining behind the plow.

The government will employ an army of 25,000 to discover what the depression and the drought have done to the farmers. The farmers, meanwhile, will continue to find out for themselves.

UNDERSTAND THE TRUTH BEHIND THE HURTING CRITICISM

Aren't you too sensitive and easily hurt?

Reprimanded in a way you know you deserve, you are offended at the person who really is doing you a favor.

Needed reproof is valuable to the person who receives it.

Do you ever welcome criticism in such a spirit?

You may have been for some years, unfortunately, in a position that did not permit anyone to criticize you.

But for this you might be much more perfect in many ways than you are today.

You might be more enlightened, more tolerant, more just.

Criticism brings out the best that is inside.

Otherwise there is inferior drifting instead of superior acting.

Most criticism fails of good results because it is not done in a friendly and helpful manner.

The censor is too personal and tinged with anger, perhaps, and criticism should be in the right spirit to be constructive.

Personal likes or dislikes should not temper complaints.

On the other hand, if you are criticized, be wise enough to see the justice of it and profit by it by forgetting the spirit in which it is given.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THAT GOMORRAH

Recent protests by the better class of Chicago citizens over the wave of crime stimulated by legal liquor, recall the visit to that city of John Burns, British labor leader. While making a speech at a labor mass meeting, a man in the audience got up and introduced himself as the chief of police.

"You are quoted in the newspapers as saying that Chicago is a pocket edition of hell," the chief accused him. "If you made that remark, you must withdraw it or you cannot continue your speech."

Mr. Burns was not dismayed in the least. "If that is what the papers said," he replied to the chief, "I have not been correctly quoted. What I said was, that hell is a pocket edition of Chicago."

After the laughter had subsided there was no further interruptions.

Weekly Health Talks

"Prize fighters are able to take physical punishment that would kill the average man. Over a series of years they have so developed the protective muscles of their bodies that the steam hammer blows to which they have to submit in most instances do not result in serious injury. But even this type of man can be badly injured and fatally so, as the records will show. It follows that if any one sustans a severe blow on any portion of the body, the extent of the injury, even though appearing to be slight on the surface, should be ascertained by seeking professional advice," state Dr. Theodore B. Appel, State Secretary of Health.

"Recently a man died following a blow that ruptured his bladder. Skull injuries that do not even seriously bruise the scalp have caused severe concussion of the brain. Skulls can even be fractured with the outward evidences of injury being exceedingly slight.

"While the body is marvelously constructed to give maximum protection to the internal organs, and this even under unusual circumstances, this fact by no means should be relied upon when one has received a severe blow, even though the surface injury be slight.

"Hospitals contain many records where the neglect of a supposedly superficial blow that had seriously involved the liver, brain, bladder, spleen or some other internal organ directly resulted in death.

"For instance, the other day a man tripped over a chair, struck a wooden stool and did not even get a black and blue spot to prove his casualty. He gave the matter no further thought for the time being. What he unfortunately did not know was that he had slightly ruptured his liver. And he gradually bled to death.

"Of course, most blows or body bumps are superficial. One gets a discolored skin at the point of contact, and in due time the thing clears up. But this fact should by no means deter one from seeking professional advice immediately when he has received a hard blow on the head or on the trunk of the body, even though the injury marks may be faint.

"There is perhaps better than a fifty to one chance that the injury is as superficial as it appears to be. However, though the odds are thus much in one's favor against serious injury, no one has any logical right to act upon that assumption.

"It certainly will not cost much to be assured that the blow or injury is of little consequence. On the other hand, if things are worse than they appear to be, one's life may be saved for his trouble."

The use of the word "certainly" as a means of emphasis in relation to matters on which no doubt has been cast, is a colloquialism, and its over-use is monotonous.

For sterling drama, nothing exceeds a little act which took place yesterday afternoon when a 4 year old boy got loose in the glassware department of a local store. And when the 4 year old passed happily out the front door without having broken a single piece, the clerks heaved sighs of relief and prayed to a kind Providence to send nothing worse than a bull or an earthquake the next time. It was really very amusing to a disinterested party to watch the thrill of maternal pride in the knowingness of the child as he explored with supreme indifference the shelves of delicate ware, and the despairing intensity of the clerks on the other hand who were forced to look on and even smile for fear of losing a sale.

AND NOW I'LL TELL ONE

Speaking of preachers, Henry Ward Beecher was said to have been the highest paid preacher of his day Not only was he able to preach a sermon that lifted the soul heavenward, but he was gifted with a fund of humor that kept his congregation in fine spirits. You may be sure that there was no sleepers in the pews of his famous church. In private gatherings, the Reverend Doctor was a delight. For he was never averse to telling anecdotes in which the joke was on himself. One of these stories, which he was fond of telling was about the time he was walking through Brooklyn Heights—one of Brooklyn's ritzy sections where the homes were, for the most part, in brown stone architecture with a stairway leading to the "parlor floor." It was at that period in American history when door-bells were rung by pulling at a knob. The Doctor noticed at the door of one of the homes, two little boys trying hard to reach the doorbell, but try as they would, they were just too short to give the knob the necessary horizontal pull. Soft in heart, like most preachers, the Reverend gentleman climbed the stairs and asked the boys whether he could help them, to which they gladly assented. A long pull and a strong pull from the able Doctor and from the inside came the jangle of the bell, whereat the boys, turning on their heels, started down the stairs, calling back to their Good Samaritan, "Come on, Mister—run like hell!"

Most European Governments Shaky Soviet Russia's Most Secure U. S. S. R. Sees German-Japan Alliance

Central Press

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—No government in Europe is safe, except that of Soviet Russia.

And Soviet Russia believes it is threatened by a war.

A Soviet government document, just received in the United States, alleges that Germany and Japan have formed an alliance to "drive Russia out of Europe and to cut it off in the Orient."

No one ever has accomplished that task. No one probably ever will. Many have tried.

Germany, so the allegations go, would try to sweep into Russia from the west, winning Poland over by promising her a large slice. Japan would attend to the far East.

But, as a former European correspondent pointed out to me today, the peoples of all countries yearn for peace. Even with the virus of nationalism and hatred and emotionalism being poured into them now by militaristic governments the people still yearn for peace.

Wherever there is fighting it is because people are trying to throw off oppressive governments.

CRY FOR LIBERTY

And Japan will hardly fight—unless the government sees in a "patriotic" war the only means of preserving itself. The Japanese people, beset by famine and financial troubles, are in no mood to listen to further demands from a top-heavy and expensive government.

And what would the voice of Italy be if Premier Benito Mussolini permitted it to be heard?

Nor would Chancellor Adolf Hitler be constructing bomb-proof cellars if he considered his government safe.

In Austria a militaristic minority killed off many of the best of the people or drove them from their homes. When the Socialists of Austria, equivalent to our Democrats, were swept from being, an oppressive darkness settled on the land—but, some day, there will be light again.

Spain, too, is governed by dark reaction. A people maddened by despair may rise to bloody acts, and in freeing themselves, go beyond the limits of social reform.

These are no imaginations, but the reports of trained observers.

ENGLAND, TOO

Much is made of England's apparent prosperity.

But information from Englishmen themselves, English writers on economics for example, indicate that England is yet to see her New Deal.

The poor in England not only are many, but very poor. And, if there is real wealth flowing into England, the majority of people are dissatisfied with its distribution.

Labor is winning all the bye elections and scored significant victories in the recent municipal elections. The Tory government may be out within a year.

FRANCE

France, and its allied countries of Belgium and Holland, are undergoing financial throes that presage severe governmental eruptions. It is a lossup whether France will swing to fascism, or to the left. Present cabinet developments point to eventual extreme divisions.

U. S.

Seldom has any American administration except Lincoln's undergone such attacks as the Roosevelt administration — and yet won so many victories.

No administration ever has had its ear closer to the ground. Wall Street has begun to be fascinated (and horrified) by the administration's ability to sense the opinions of the masses.

BRECKENRIDGE

In the heat of a national congressional campaign, one candidacy seems to have been overlooked by the people—but not by the administration.

Colonel Henry Breckenridge, attorney and friend of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, carried on a more slashing anti-Roosevelt campaign in running for U. S. senator in New York as an Independent and did the Republicans. The Republicans, realizing the popularity of President Roosevelt, often pulled their punches.

Breckenridge not only did not pull his punches, but added a few. And the administration thought many of them were "below the belt."

Breckenridge, ostensibly a Democrat, went far to the right of even the most conservative Republicans.

But the administration observed one thing — even though Colonel Lindbergh hauled Breckenridge around in his plane during the campaign, the presence of Colonel Lindbergh did not seem to add to the vote-getting possibilities of Colonel Breckenridge.

TODAY Is The Day

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 6

The World War Day-By-Day—Nov. 6, 1914—Karl Hans Lody died for his country, the first German spy to be shot in the Tower of London.

At the war's outbreak the German intelligence service of England collapsed at one blow: that is, just when Geremany needed it most the supply of news failed. Berlin, for instance, did not know until the men were in the firing line, of the movement of the first 100,000 of the British Expeditionary Force to France.

Britain had spotted all German intelligence men, kept tabs on them, and cleverly bided its time. When war became assured, it quietly arrested and isolated them; and to conceal this fact continued to send false reports in their name to Wilhelmstrasse!

Thus Lody's job was doubly dangerous when he arrived in England in the guise of a neutral American, with a stolen American passport bearing the name of Charles A. Inglis. He acted the part of an American well, from experience. When a disability caused his retirement from the German navy with the rank of lieutenant, he had become an agent for a German steamship line in the U. S. He had acquired an American wife, an American accent.

Lody was in Berlin that fateful August 1. As he was medically unfit for active service, he was selected to go to England as a spy, to report movements of the British fleet and its losses. He traveled by way of Norway to Edinburgh, which put him in the proximity of the most important British naval base, and sent his information by letter or telegram to one Burchard in Stockholm, by whom it was forwarded to Berlin.

A telegram aroused suspicion of him: "Mustcancel, Johnson last four days very ill. Shall start shortly." This was an indication to Berlin that the British fleet was to leave the Firth of Forth in four days. He was not aware that Britain was scrutinizing all correspondence for the Scandinavia.

Britain's radio and telegraph systems are controlled by her post office. Her "black chamber" gets a copy of every message transmitted or received in times of war or emergency. Every piece of mail also is gone over for possible secret messages.

When Lody noticed for the first time he was being observed, he boldly went to the police and complained of the annoyance, they were causing him, an innocent American subject. The police did not drop their surveillance, but they were more careful about it, for they weren't sure yet. This enabled Lody to disappear from Edinburgh. When his trail was picked up next he was in London reconnoitring the defensive measures being taken against Zeppelin attacks. A letter he sent to Karl I. Stammer in Berlin, signed Nazi, was intercepted and his fate was sealed.

His judges were Maj. Gen. Lord Cheylesmore and eight other officers. One of the most distinguished men at the British bar, George Elliott, was assigned as counsel. Elliott lauded him as a hero, saying, "I defend him as a man faithfully devoted to his land ....Many would gladly do for England what he has done for Germany, and may actually be doing it at this moment. Whatever his

(All Europe is waiting for Americans to start collecting art again. Dr. Wilhelm Valentiner.)

When both capital and labor
Shall decide once more to neighbor
And to share each other's troubles.
Man to man and heart to heart again;
When the poor man and the scholar
Know the value of a dollar:
When a profit isn't shameful
We may start collecting art again.

When the generation younger
Isn't faced by cold and hunger
And we see a sign of business
Back in office, shop and mart again:
When to reap is not a blunder
And we've done with plowing under.
Tell the waiting Europeans
We may start collecting art again.

When we hire the men we're laid off;
When the war debts have been paid off;
When the mortgage has been lifted
And our idle factories start again:
When it's safe once more to borrow,
And with faith we face tomorrow;
When our earnings meet our taxes
We may start collecting art again.

But I fear 'tis truth I'm stating
'Tis a long time they'll be waiting
Ere to hand them hard-earned dollars
We shall ever think it smart again.
Until friendship we're assured of,
This is one disease we're cured of.
They may never live to greet us
When we start collecting art again.

DUTCH LUNCHEON AT FIELD CLUB

Election day affected the women yesterday quite as much as the men, evidently, for attendances at most of the regular parties were smaller than usual.

The Dutch luncheon-bridge at the Field club drew fewer of the younger society matrons than for a long time, just two tables being in play. Hostesses were Mrs. W. D. Cobau and Mrs. R. G. Campbell.

However, the luncheon was delicious, and an enjoyable afternoon was spent in contract competition. The awards were captured by Mrs. R. L. Preston and Mrs. Paul Jarvis.

Costume Party

Great hilarity reigned Tuesday evening as the members of the Dorcas class of the First Congregational church arrived at the home of Cecelia Hughes, Clearview avenue, each characterizing a different personality by their costume.

A period of games followed the doffing of masques, with Mrs. R. T. Williams and Mrs. Carl Sweet winning prizes.

Plans were made for a Christmas party and election of officers December 4 at the home of Betty Isaacs, Reynolds street.

Mrs. Jack Hubbard of Kittanning, a former member of the class, was a guest.

Mrs. Daniel Hughes and Betty Hughes assisted the hostess in serving refreshments.

Hi-Point Bridge

Members of the Hi-Point Bridge club met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Robert Sadler, Pearson street. Honor scores were won by Henrietta Bishop, Mrs. William Back and Mrs. Cora Fisher, for which each was given a prize.

In serving lunch at a late hour, the hostess was assisted by Mrs. Robert LeMaster and Mrs. Earl Wallover.

The next meeting, planned to take place in two weeks, will be held at the home of Mrs. LeMaster on Pearson street, with Miss Bishop, hostess.

Kard Klub.

Mrs. Arthur Scott was showered with dainty handkerchiefs in honor of her birthday by associates in the Kard Klub, assembled Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Earl M. Druschel on the Mt. Jackson road.

Mrs. W. J. Cauffield was a special guest, and concluding several rounds of cards delicious refreshments were served with the assistance of Mrs. Louise Ridley.

On November 20 Mrs. Dora Broadus, Fourth avenue, will entertain.

Surprise Party

About 74 persons gathered in the King Humbert hall, Division street, recently at a surprise party honoring Raymond Peluso, president of the Umberto Primo society.

Following dinner, Angelo Fiallo, toastmaster of the evening, introduced Mr. and Mrs. Michael Conti, Guy Casalerno and Raymond Peluso who responded with brief addresses. Dancing and music were enjoyed until a late hour.

1919 Kensington Meets

An enjoyable meeting of the 1919 Kensington was held Tuesday in the home of Mrs. J. A. McFall, Winter avenue. The pastimes were music, chat and cards.

In two weeks, the members will gather with Mrs. M. J. Young, Hillcrest avenue.

Social Event

Tuesday evening a social affair was held at the Keystone A. C. clubrooms for the benefit of the Sacred Hearts basketball team.

Cards and music were the chief pastimes, prizes in 500 going to Mrs. Ralph DiMucci, Carl Perrett and Joseph Aiello. Refreshments were served at a later hour.

Dance Hall Floors Are Being Taxed

Police Chief Sends Notices That Dance Tax Must Be Paid

Proprietors of beer gardens who maintain a dance floor for patrons must pay a license of $15 per year and a permit fee of $1 each night, if dancing is permitted, according to a notice sent by Chief of Police John F. Haven to the different proprietors today.

Many of the beer places throughout the city have space allotted for dancing and all of them will have to comply with the state law before November 10, the chief of police announced today.

The act of 1931 provides that any dance to which the public generally may gain admission with or without the payment of a fee, is a public dance and in order to hold such a dance, a permit is required for which the fee is $1 for each public dance.

Under this ruling, according to the chief, any person who has a place where customers or patrons can dance, must pay a fee of $1 for each dance, which would be for each day when dancing is permitted.

The act also requires that the place must be licensed and that the license fee is $15 a year and it can only be licensed after the mayor has caused a thorough inspection to be made to see that it is a safe place from a fire and health standpoint and that it is conducted in an orderly and lawful manner.

The mayor has the authority, at any time,. to revoke the license and stop dancing in the place if he believes that any ordinance is being violated or any rule, regulation or law is being broken, the law declares.

In some of the beer parlors here dancing is permitted every night in the week. In some other places dancing occurs semi-weekly. Most of the dance floors are crowded with dancers at these times.

COURTROOM BROADCASTING

RESOLUTIONS of the New York County Lawyers' Association condemning broadcasting of judicial proceedings will accord with what most persons regard as seemly, especially in cases where a person is on trial for his life or where the exploitation of scandal is the compelling cause of public interest. Even if both parties to a trial and the responsible presiding judge permitted such a broadcast, there are reasons of law, as well as considerations of property, which would make the experiment hazardous.

When the question of broadcasting the coming trial of Bruno Richard Hauptmann came up recently Governor Moore remarked decisively that, knowing the presiding judge as he did, he could say that the proceedings would be orderly and dignified and there would be no broadcasting.

There seems to be no record of broadcasting a court trial in this country, although American courts are not entirely exempt from the reproach of having at times permitted unseemly hippodroming of notorious cases. The soviet has used the radio in certain cases of supposedly "judicial" proceedings to make propaganda for its side. When it was assumed that General Smedley Butler faced a court-martial for certain remarks about Signor Mussolini, Secretary Adams promptly vetoed a tentative plan for broadcasting the proceedings. The radio has its place in educating on public matters. But it does not belong in the arrangements for fair, orderly and dignified procedure in a court of justice.

TRAIN TOMORROW'S DRIVERS TODAY!

High schools throughout the country are being called upon by leading educators to enact a major role in solving the automobile accident problem. Their is the task, it is said, to put a more careful and competent generation of motor car drivers on the streets and highways by making instructions in safe driving a credited part of the regular scholastic curriculum.

As a contribution to this cause, and to give the schools definite tools with which to work, the Education Division of the National Safety Council in New York City has prepared a textbook on the subject called: "Good Driving—A Manual for the High Schools." The book was prepared under the direction of a secondary school committee consisting of such men as Dr. Thomas Gosling, Director of the Junior Red Cross; Francis L. Bacon, principal of the Evanston, Ill., Township High School; Prof. E. K. Fretwell of Columbia, and Prof. Robbins B. Stoeckel of Yale.

In brief, the manual attempts to describe what an automobile is and how to operate it. It is illustrated with charts and photographs and contains a list of reference material for those who wish to develop special topics. Six units of instruction are outlined: Automobile in modern life, the automobile, the driver, the operation of an automobile on the highway, accidents, and accident prevention.

The importance of this work is emphasized by the fact that in some states there is no law to prevent a child from stepping from the tiller of his kiddie car to the wheel of a high powered automobile. Last year automobiles killed nearly 30,000 persons.

The opportunity for high schools to perform an invaluable service to humanity could hardly be greater.

A MARKET OF OPTIMISTS

The motor industry, largest user of steel, stands almost alone on the advanced path of recovery and plans more and better automobiles for 1935, and as a means to this the expenditure of many millions for plant alteration and expansion, and the spending for more business is not confined to makers of the less expensive models.

A manufacturer of a higher-priced car, selling only a few thousand automobiles a year, will expend more than $6,000,000 at once—to re-equip and expand its plant in preparation for increased operations during 1935. The company reports orders enough for two months' production.

The motor industry has many advantages peculiar to the nature of its product, but in the movement toward recovery it has one advantage originating in its market—it deals mainly with buyers who represent but one or two minds to be convinced a purchase is desirable and discreet. The motor industry sells the heaviest item that is added to possessions of a householder and enjoys the individual confidence and freedom of choice that goes with buying of shoes, hats and furniture.

The industry's success, contrasted with that of other heavy industry, is a moral tribute to the hope and courage of thousands of individual customers.

EVERYONE HIS OWN CENSOR

Otis Skinner contends that as the drama is "a mirror held up to nature" and portrays the trend of the times, any cleansing process in the stage must begin in the present-day social system.

Mr. Skinner makes it clear that he has no desire to justify vulgarity and indecency and he holds no brief for playwrights and managers who indulge in them for box-office purposes. He points to "Macbeth," "Hamlet" and "Romeo and Juliet" as proof that crime and sex have ever been present in the drama; but there ar right and wrong ways of presenting them.

Few will disagree with Mr. Skinner when he says that good taste must be the arbiter. He is opposed to the cinema play that "turns a gunman into a god." His contention is that this sort of crime in the drama, clothed in false glamour, is both inartistic and immoral. Naturally he has little faith in censorship. His remedy for the ills mentioned is to the point: "Each person should be a potential censor. If a bad play comes to your community, then stay away from it."

This is good advice, as theory. But it is not always possible to have fore-knowledge of a play's merits or demerits. In a broad way Mr. Skinner's ideas of censorship are sound. The difficulty is in having them effectuated by a sufficient number of playgoers to insure the desired result.

If it seems to be a fight, it's wrestling. If it seems to be wrestling, it's a fight. If it seems to be both, it's something about disarmament.

LOYALTY PAYS DIVIDENDS

One of the finest things in the world is loyalty.

Loyalty indicates appreciation and gratefulness for favors received.

People who truly love their families, their home towns and their country are going to be loyal whatever else they do.

Things may not go to suit them at times and reforms may be needed.

But loyalty demands other methods than turning traitor to get what is needed.

Because your parents do not willingly permit you to do certain things that they think are unwise and detrimental to your best good, you don't go outside and berate them, do you?

Not if you are loyal to those who fed, clothed, and housed you when you were helpless.

If it was their duty to care for and protect you when you were very young, it is certainly your duty to my other means to get larger liberties than talking behind their backs to our school friends.

If you think to improve your standing by tearing down the reputation that your elders have built up, you will find it works in reverse.

If your education does not teach you to respect age and revere your home, community and country with loyalty there is something wrong with you.

IMPERFECTIONS

Sometimes I bring home friends to dine
When she is not prepared
A very common fault of mine,
As she has oft declared.
And then again when she has planned
My favorite dish for me.
For reasons she can't understand
I don't come home for tea.

I leave the dresser drawers pulled out.
A careless man am I.
I toss discarded clothes about,
Which causes her to sigh.
I call to her to find my things.
Which I should plainly see,
A needless task, which often brings
Her scolding up to me.

As hand and foot she waits on me
She sadly shakes her head
Why must I so indifferent be
To everything she's said.
Why can't I look upon the shelf!
Does not the thought occur
That I should wait upon myself
Without disturbing her?

"Yet were I perfect," I reply.
"Another man I'd be
And you might soon begin to sigh
To know the old-time me.
Should I become the best of men
As soon as I was gone
You'd want the husband back again
Who needed waiting on."

FARSEEING "GOB"

There is said to be a cook on the U. S. S. Holland, who is literary and mixes authors with stew.

"Before I get breakfast, I read Bacon" he told the gobs in one of his desk lectures. "For dinner I consult Lamb. I never cook biscuits without reading Browning first."

"Listen, brother," a gob interrupted, "don't read Burns next time before you give us pancakes for breakfast."

BEING CAREFUL

He was an actor of the old school inspecting his "diggings". With a regal air he surveyed the bedroom and noted the absence of a washstand. In dignified tones he inquired: "And where do I perform my ablusions?"

"If it's a new trick, you don't do it here," replied the landlady, sharply, "you'll do it at the theater. I had two chairs busted by an acrobat last week."

The people again have spoken. Long live the people.

If anything goes wrong in the next two years the Republicans will not be blamed for it. There are no Republicans in office any more where they can do any good or any harm.

President Roosevelt is going to give all government employes the salaries back they were cut off of some time ago. There are several millions of them. Those not on the government payroll will have to get along the best they can.

The price of building roads has not come down since the World War. This is in spite of the fact that labor and materials have slumped quite a bit. It used to be that brick paving was put down for along about twelve thousand dollars a mile. There are streets in New Castle that were paved at that rate right now.

The country that finds it possible to follow out the dictates of all it's graduating essays is going to get well first.

Roosevelt has survived the final test. He raised the price of salt pork and still holds the Democratic vote.

So far we have heard nothing about the price of turkeys for Thanksgiving this year. We have not heard whether the turkeys are numerous or not. One thing we do know, however, is that a lot of people can get along without turks at Thanksgiving or at any other time for that matter.

I don't even feel sorry for the miser who hurried to the lecture advertised as free, only to learn it was spoken in a foreign language.

The soldiers cannot be blamed for asking that the bonus be paid to them after the billions of dollars have been thrown out in Washington to those who have not the claim the soldiers have. The soldiers ought to have the bonus laws passed before they go to war. We base our opinion on the fact that we saw practically every soldier who left New Castle on his way to the war. IN ALL FAMILIES

Dear Hints and Dints: Another family affair. It is Friday night. Mom has just cleared off the table and is preparing to wash the dishes.

Mom—"Sister, come here and wipe the dishes, there's plenty of time before getting ready for the dance."

Sister (upstairs doing nothing and enjoying doing it)—"Oh, Mom, I can't. I'm busy curlin' my hair. Get Willie to do it."

Mom—"Willie is going to his Boy Scout meeting and is getting into his uniform and—"

Sis—"Well, as Pop."

Mom (calling to Pop in living room)—"Pop, come out here and help me with these dishes. I'll never get over to Mrs. Breen's for that recipe tonight if you don't."

Pop—"Why in heck can't you get daughter to help you, this is the third time I've tried to read this radio article this evening."

Mom—"That's you all over. Whenever I want any help from you you're just to do this or that for the third time. I never saw a man as lazy as you are, I suppose you are afraid to get your hands wet. Why I ever married you is more than I can see. I wish they had had that companionate idea when we were first engaged, a trial like that would certainly show me where I made my first big mistake, why—"

Pop—"Alright, alright, save your breath, I'm coming, where's the dish towel, shall I pour hot water on these?"

Mom—"So you're over anxious to help now, are you? Well, let me tell you this—"

And so on.

The maid with whom I used to go,
Who shielded me from strife,
Is somewhere in the great, wide world,
But she's somebody's wife.
How swiftly speed the changing years
From youth and dream and fun
Until we waken from our sleep
To find the glad days done,
Then memories are wonderful
And priceless as we go
Adown the trails alone which we
Were wont to love and know,
O, let the Light of Love be dim
'Neath Friendships glaring gleam,
And bring again the old delight
And youth's forsaken dream
Good times, free and evenings fleet—
I would I might renew
Acquaintance with the scene of old
Both lyric-like and true.

We have often wondered why some enterprising merchant did not display a machine gun in his window. Everybody reads about them but very few people have seen one. Of course those who have had them poked in the faces by bandits do not want to see them.

The World At A Glance

Can Hauptmann Be Convicted?
Will Condon Swear To Identification?
Backwoods' Jury To Demand "Facts"

Central Press
New York Bureau

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—A reaction toward Bruno Richard Hauptmann is beginning to be felt in New York.

The state of New Jersey, gripped by the emotionalism that arose upon the arrest of Hauptmann as the "kidnaper of the Lindbergh baby", maneuvered to try Hauptmann for murder. The state of New Jersey has its wish. If emotionalism still holds sway on Jan. 2, Hauptmann may be convicted. But legal minds in New York say that so far the state has made no case—that is, no case based on facts.

And, from now on, emotionalism may swing the other way. Hauptmann's new counsel, Edward J. Reilly of Brooklyn, is a master-mind at creating emotional sympathy for a defendant. That might have been the reason why Mrs. Hauptmann deposed James M. Fawcett, a "civil" lawyer, for Reilly, a "criminal" lawyer.

And the associate counsel in New Jersey, Lloyd Fisher, of Flemington, N. J., where the trial will be held, may be expected to know the type of home folk on the jury very well.

Whereas Attorney General David T. Wilentz of New Jersey, who took the prosecution out of local hands to attend to himself, is likely to have an uphill fight with that backwoods jury.

THE JURY

The jury folk who will determine Hauptmann's fate will be of old American stock—but they may look with tolerance on this stolid German. Both they and he are stoics.

That jury will judge the case as a case, in spite of emotionalism on both sides—according to present indications.

It will demand the facts.

And facts in regard to Hauptmann are few and far between.

With the exception of the finding of the ransom money, the Lindbergh case remains a mystery.

Hauptmann may be the guilty man, but so far the assumption remains solely in the minds of people. There is no tangible evidence that Hauptmann ever was connected with the case, except the ransom money. Even the ladder has not been connected with Hauptmann, in spite of the fact that he is a carpenter.

That Hauptmann lived better, that he took trips, mean nothing much when one realizes he and his wife had $6,000 or so invested prior to the crime.

Besides, Hauptmann did not live very well. He and his wife lived frugally.

The defense is ready with all that—and more, too.

For example, the defense (no matter who the lawyer is) always has claimed that it has witnesses to prove that Hauptmann was in New York, not New Jersey, on the day and the evening of the crime.

* * *

LINDBERGH AND JAFSIE

Suppose the defense calls Colonel Lindbergh to the stand?

Can he identify Hauptmann?

No.

Suppose the defense calls Dr. John F. Condon, the "Jafsie" who paid the ransom in the New York cemetery, to the stand, if the prosecution will not?

Will he identify Hauptmann as the mysterious "John" to whom he handed over the money?

The prosecution is fearful that the defense will cause "Jafsie" to admit he is not certain. Yet the defense must meet the fact that Dr. Condon has announced he will swear that Hauptmann is the one person he contacted in the ransom payment—and there certainly are no witnesses to contradict that.

Dr. Condon visited Hauptmann in jail recently.

It was freely remarked that Dr. Condon finally had made a definite identification then.

But Hauptmann says Dr. Condon came to him to aid Dr. Condon, himself, in throwing light on the story.

Why?

In this queerest of all modern mysteries, Dr. Condon had begun to feel that some of the public was beginning to suspect he knew more than he had told! Thus, the veteran college instructor, worried and harassed, had come to seek the light of an accused man!

That Dr. Condon made a definite identification of Hauptmann seems hardly likely.

Now, of Colonel Lindbergh, who suffered the tragedy,does make an appearance, how much will that weigh with the jury?

If the defense calls him, evidently the defense believes the benefit will be with the defense, not with the prosecution. There is a shrewd psychology in that. The people of that region had looked upon the colonel's estate as an intrusion on their domain.

Readers may say: "What has that to do with this case?"

We merely can answer: "When a case rests on intangible evidence, emotional factors often are accepted as facts."

THE MONEY

Well, what of that ransom money found hidden away in the Hauptmann garage?

That certainly is damaging evidence—for an extortion case.

This, however, is a murder case.

What will the defense be on that?

The defense will blame a dead man—Isidor Fisch, the Bronx fur deal who died of tuberculosis on a trip to Germany.

What did Fawcett, Hauptmann's former counsel, say? Said he:

"I have received a number of letters from persons who said Isidor Fisch was frequently known as John Fisch. If I can establish this fact it will be one more link to indicate that Fisch, from whom Hauptmann received the ransom money, was the kidnaper 'John' of St. Raymond's cemetery (where 'Jafsie' paid the ransom)."

RANSOM NOTES

Then there are the ransom notes.

Assuredly—say experts — Hauptmann wrote those.

But the defense plans to call experts to prove—as assuredly—that Hauptmann did not write them.

Courts invariably are skeptical of the opinions of hand writing experts.

WHAT THEN?

There is no attempt here to build up a defense for Hauptmann.

We merely are giving an idea of what the defense will be—and we haven't mentioned the half of it (due to space limitations).

Nor have we mentioned all the arguments that the prosecution has at its command.

But we do know this—which worries police and prosecution — that Hauptmann underwent days of third degree, the most devastating kind, third degree of the mind, efforts to trip the mind and the tongue, day and night, and he came through admitting virtually nothing. Even on public cross-examination in his extradition hearing, he admitted nothing to incriminate him for murder.

And some of the most skilled police operatives believe that if Hauptmann was concerned in the kidnaping, he was only one of two or three. But they can't name the others. They are not even sure of the one.

TODAY Is The Day

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 7.

The World War Day By Day—Nov. 7, 1914—Virtually the entire town was in ruins from the bombardment. The defenders used nitro-glycerine plentifully and blew up what was left of the Ittis, Bismarck, Moltke and Kaiser forts. The wireless station hummed its last message to Berlin. Governor Meyer-Waldeck ordered white flags hoisted and sent an officer under a flag of truce to the Anglo-Japanese lines to arrange the surrender.

This terminated German rule in the Pacific. The fall of Tsingtau deprived Germany not only of the Kiaochow leasehold, her last possession on the Asiatic mainland, but of her only strategic possession outside of Europe.

The defense was hopeless from the first, and was made only for the honor of the German flag. For two months the German garrison almost wholly composed of 2,500 reservists who were living in China held out against the air, land and sea attacks of the 20,000 Japanese and 1,000 British and Indian troops. Japanese officers paid unsolicited tribute to the bravery of the Germans, who fought tenaciously to the last, and courteously allowed the German officers the freedom of the town after the surrender.

Some day, American newspapers published President Wilsons proclamation of neutrality in the war between Turkey and the Central Powers. As Entente ambassadors departed bag and baggage, the American enjoy, Oscar Straus, became the protector of the interests of a half dozen governments.

History Up-to-Date—Nov. 7, 1811—William Henry "Tippecanoe" Harrison, 9th and shortest-termed President of the U. S. (one month), won his nickname. Aged 38, he led 300 regular infantry and cavalry and 500 militia to victory over 3000 to 5000 Shawnee, Creek and Seminole warriors led by Chief Tecumseh of the Shawnees, at Tippecanoe Creek, in Indiana. Tecumseh survived, to become a brigadier-general in the British army.

Nov. 7, 1874—The elephant became the symbol of the Republican party. It was first used to represent the party by Thomas Nast in Harper's Weekly of this date. The Democratic Donkey, also created by Nast was then four years old.

The ghouls were never punished for the crime.

Nov. 7, 1876—Ghouls perpetrated the most celebrated case of body-snatching in American history. The corpse of A. T. Stewart, New York merchant, was stolen from a downtown Manhattan graveyard, shipped to Canada, held for two years until $20,000 was paid by the family.

Nov. 7, 1917—Almost on the 70th anniversary of the issuance of the historic Manifest der Kommunisten by Henrich Karl Marx and Friedrich Engels, Bolsheviks in Petrograd rose in the epochal 25th of October Revolution (according to the Greek calendar.) Alexander Kerensky, dictator, proclaimed loudly to the population that he had taken the necessary measures to suppress any attempt at revolt. In reality he had no no troops back of him except two battalions of military cadets and a company of women soldiers. "The self-constituted commander-in chief of the Russian army relied on speeches against machine-guns, as the Chinese generals of 1860 had relied on painted draxons against the rifles of the English and French expeditionary force."

Bolshevik sailors surrounded the Winter Palace, and after a brief scrap with the women arrested the women. Kerensky had disappeared. He made good his escape by connivance of the chief of the British diplomatic mission, Bruce Lockhart

Hopes Women Will Adopt This Habit As Well as Men

Glass of hot water each morning helps us look and feel clean, sweet, fresh.

Happy, bright, alert—vigorous and vivacious—a good clear skin; a natural, rosy complexion and freedom from illness are assured only by clean, healthy blood. If only every woman and likewise every man could realize the wonders of the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place.

Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking, each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds; and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.

Farm Calendar

Timely Reminders From The Pennsylvania State College School Of Agriculture

Store Winter Vegetables—Store beets, carrots, turnips, cabbage, celery, and potatoes in a cool, slightly moist place, onions in a dry cool place, and pumpkins, squash, and sweet potatoes in a dry, fairly warm place.

Feed Syrup To Bees—To prevent dysentery, feed each colony of bees from 10 to 12 pounds of sugar as a thick syrup. This syrup can be made from 2½ parts of white granulated sugar and one part of water by volume. Heat only enough to dissolve the sugar and make a smooth syrup.

Plant Spring-flowering Bulbs—Bulbous materials can be planted outdoors for early spring blooming. Some of the smaller bulbs, such as scillas, grape hyacinths, crocuses, and snowdrops, may be planted under shrubs or in the rock garden.

Produce Winter Eggs—Records kept on Pennsylvania flocks show that winter egg laying is necessary for the highest and most profitable egg production. The high-producing flocks laid practically two and one-third dozens more eggs per hen during the months of good prices than did the low-producing group of flocks.

Feed To Meet Needs—Dairymen who produce the cheapest milk weigh or measure the grain for each cow. Guernseys and Jerseys should receive one pound of grain for three pounds of milk produced, while Holsteins should get one pound of grain for 3½ or 4 pounds of milk. The amount will vary somewhat with the richness of the milk.

Rural People Stage Plays—Considerable dramatic talent is coming to light among rural people. Groups select their own plays and choose a local person for director. They enter county tournaments from which the winners go to district tournaments and the winner of the latter participate in the state tournament.

Vast Audiences Acclaim John Charles Thomas

Will Be Heard In Concert At Cathedral Auditorium November 22

Over a hundred and ten thousand people, crowded the great open air stadium, in the Soldiers Field at Chicago for the fifth annual Chicagoland Music Festival concert held in August, at which John Charles Thomas, the eminent American baritone, was the featured soloist, and the only professional artist engaged for this gala program.

"The finest of all American baritones, and one of the greatest in the whole world of opera and concert," was the statement of Edward Moore, well known commentator on musical events for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, in his review of the program. Moore added further that "Thomas was the great hit of the program, and he comes nearer to being a whole opera cast in himself than any other singer alive today."

Last year he appeared as the only soloist with the Metropolitan opera orchestra and chorus at a popular concert in the arena of the Madison Square Garden in New York, and an audience of over ten thousand insisted, with deafening applause, whistling and cheering, that the artist add half a dozen encores to his scheduled numbers.

Approximately seventeen thousand people were in the Hollywood Bowl in Los Angeles last summer for the concert at which Thomas was the soloist with the Bowl Philharmonic Orchestra, and the not-to-be-denied demand for encores continued so long that the final numbers of the scheduled program had to be elliminated because of the lateness of the hour.

Later in the same season in Los Angeles, Thomas sang for over six thousand in the Shrine Auditorium at a regular concert and within a week appeared before two audiences each of over four thousand, one on the campus of Standard University, and the other at the University of California.

John Charles Thomas will be heard in concert at the Cathedral on Thursday, November 22nd. Ticketrs are $2.20, $1.65, $1.10 and 85c, including tax. Reserved seats now on sale at Snyder Piano Co.

THIRTY MILLION VOTERS CASTING BALLOTS IN U. S.

this year of 1934 is no normal year, and not being a normal year, all the signs and portents by which politicians usually take their bearings, go by the boards.

It is not normal for upward of 20,000,000 people to be on the dole in this country. It is not normal for upward of 10,000,000 people to be unemployed. It is not normal for industry to be regimented as it is today; for agriculture to be coddled and subsidized as it is today; for the federal government to be as intimate in the affairs of the average citizen as it is today.

By and large, the Republicans have conducted their campaign with the object of creating individual resentment against this condition of affairs. Their principal candidates and speakers have inveighed against it; have sought to arouse a feeling of revulsion against the encroachments of the federal government into the fields of private initiative and enterprise.

New Deal At Stake

The results of today's balloting will determine how successful they have been; will determine whether the new deal will continue its experimental way, or lapse into the more familiar channels of "rugged individualism" and normal industrial self-government.

Whatever happens, it is hardly in the cards for the Republicans to win control of the 74th congress, which meets in January. The existing Democratic majorities are too great to overturn, except in the event of a political miracle which no one—including the Republicans—expects.

The chief Republican hope is to cut down these existing Democratic majorities; to make a showing sufficiently large as to impress the country with the sentiment against the new deal; against the existing order of things.

To do that, the Republicans must make serious inroads into the Democratic majority in the house of representatives, and win some of their more important senatorial contests.

The present membership of the house of representatives is 309 Democrats, 114 Republicans, five Farmer-Laborites, and seven vacancies.

See G. O. P. Gain

The most optimistic—and it is optimistic—Republican prediction is a gain of from 60 to 70 seats in the house. Granting the prediction came true, the Democrats still would have a comfortable majority.

In the senate, the lineup is 60 Democrats, 30 Republicans, and one Farmer-Laborite.

Here the situation, from the Republican standpoint, is even more hopeless than the house. Thirty-four senators are up for election. Those in the deep south are safely Democratic. And the Democrats are reasonably certain of winning Republican seats in Maryland, New Jersey, Missouri, Ohio and Indiana. They have favorably regarded chances for victory in Rhode Island, West Virginia and Connecticut. They may lose in New Mexico and Wyoming.

In any event, barring those same political miracles that no one expects, the Democrats stand to pick up from four to six seats in the senate, which will insure them control of the upper house until 1940. In the 74th congress they will have two-thirds of the senate, or very close to it, thereby breaking a record of years standing.

Hopeless as regards the senate, the chief Republican hopes center in the house, all of whose members are up for election. In the elections to the house, rather than the senate, do the politicians consider the real test of the new deal's popularity.

The maximum Republican hope, as stated by Chairman Henry P. Fletcher, is sixty to seventy seats now held by Democrats. Privately, the Republicans figure on about twenty to forty.

The curtain never fell on a stranger off-year election.

Curiously apathetic in some states, the campaign has been red-hot in others. California has been torn asunder by the gubernatorial candidacy of Upton Sinclair, the reconstructed Socialist, who ran off with the Democratic nomination. Pennsylvania has been rent by the senatorial conflict between David A. Reed, the Republican incumbent, and Joseph F. Guffey, the Democratic aspirant.

It is symptomatic of the general confusion and criss-crossing of old and reliable landmarks, that the Democrats figure they have a real chance of unhorsing Reed in Pennsylvania this year. The mere suggestion of a Democratic senator from rock-like Republican Pennsylvania would be fantastic in normal years. But this is not a normal year.

Accuse Three Of Theft Of Scales

Large Scales Stolen From Jones Property On New Bedford Road

TRIO APPREHENDED BY POLICE WORK

Paul Kish, Steve Markovitch and Frank Haluk, of Youngstown, are held in the Lawrence county jail on charges of breaking, entering and larceny, the result of the theft of a Pitles farm scale, weighing 2,400 pounds and of several tons capacity, from the John Jones property at the junction of the New Castle-New Bedford and Five Points road at 2 a. m. Monday. The theft was solved, arrests made and scales recovered by state police, constables and Youngstown detectives within 36 hours. The scales were valued at $200.

According to State Trooper William Roswell, who was aided by Constables J. D. Fallon and Jess Kennedy in the investigation, Kish is a coal hauler and recently went to Jones who operates a gasoline station at the intersection of Route 422 and the Five Points road. He represented himself as a "feed man" from Salem, O. He borrowed a tape measure from Jones in the rear of who's property the scales were located. They were used for weighing coal. Kish was driving a big truck.

On Monday night Kish is alleged to have driven to the Jones station and to have purchased gasoline, and at 2 a. m. the Jones family heard their dogs barking. Believing that the dogs were barking at hunters they paid small attention to the noise, but when they awakened at 7:30 a. m. Tuesday, discovered the scales which weighs 2,400 pounds had been dismantled and hauled away. They notified the state police here and Roswell was assigned to the investigation. Fallon and Kennedy were called in as aides.

While Roswell was making the investigation the same truck which Kish is alleged to have driven to the gasoline station, traveled along Route 422 and it was located at the Cupling mine, loaded with coal. Markovitch and Haluk were placed under arrest and when Kish came to inquire into a charge that his truck had been overloaded, he also was placed under arrest by Roswell.

The three men were grilled and later Roswell and Constable Kennedy with Detectives Lewis Colavin and Earl Hoffman, of the Youngstown police department, visited the home of Ernest Tacsik, 204 North Maryland avenue, Youngstown. They found the girders of the scales in the cellar and other parts of the scales in a garage at the Tacsik prope[illegible] They were recovered and brought here.

The three men will get a hearing on the charges either today or tomorrow, according to State Trooper Roswell.

On Court House Hill

For the first time in may months Deputy Sheriff Elmer Taylor reports that there are no women in the county jail. There are 26 male prisoners.

The case of W. L. Harris against The Ellwood Taxi company, motion of plaintiff for judgment for want of a sufficient affidavit of defense, was submitted to court on briefs, without argument, yesterday.

Arguments were heard by Judge R. L. Hildebrand yesterday in the case of Frank Rocco against the Aetna Standard Engineering company of Ellwood City, in which there is a motion for a new trial. Plaintiff claims that his property adjoining the engineering company's plant has been damaged by the vibration of the plant and the operation of a crane and crusher, used in crushing scrap iron.

County Sealer of Weights and Measures, L. W. Houk, has submitted his report for the month of October. It shows that Houk was most active in inspecting gasoline and oil pumps. Of the latter 320 inspected were all found to be correct. Out of 180 gasoline pumps, three were found to be incorrect and 68 were adjusted. Five coal scales inspected were found to be correct. One platform scale was found to need adjustment. Out of 649 liquid measures five were found to be incorrect. Of 15 avoirdupois weights, two were incorrect.

Letters of administration in the estate of the late Mrs. Clarissa Duff of the sixth ward, have been issued by Register and Recorder Hanna, to C. W. Duff.

Letters showing that the inheritance tax has been paid on a property in Wayne township, this county, were filed by heirs of the late Julia Bozik of Forward township, Allegheny county.

In the estate of the late Michael Burick of Shenango township, letters of administration. C. T. A. have been issued to Steve Burick.

Application for letters in the estate of the late Rosa Caprosa of Ellwood City, has been made by Vincenzo Caprosa.

Judge R. L. Hildebrand has issued an order to the jury commissioners, directing that they place 1300 names in the jury wheel for the coming year. This is the same number as were placed in the wheel last year, some of which are still in the wheel. The jury commissioners will select the names from the registry lists in the different precincts of the city and county, and also from names sent in by members of the county committees and others. The names must all be checked by the jury commissioners to see if the persons are properly registered and are eligible for jury duty.

Prothonotary R. M. Campbell and members of his force were busy today taking in election returns and certifying for payments the accounts of the judges of election making returns. After the bills are approved they are taken to the county commissioners office where they are certified to the county controller, who gives a warrant on the treasurer for payment of the election expenses. Returns are made in two envelopes, together with unused ballots and other supplies. One of the envelopes is sealed and is not to be opened until the official count is made. The other envelope is left open for the inspection of any one who may be interested in the returns.

Judges Hildebrand and Chambers will hold a session of common pleas court, beginning on Monday, November 12. This is for the trial of civil cases. It will be the last common pleas session before the regular quarter sessions court in December.

CUT THIS OUT

Excellent Recipe For Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness And Head Noises

If you know of some one who is trouble with Catarrhal Deafness, head noises or ordinary catarrh cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. Scientists for a long time past have recognized that catarrh is a constitutional disease and necessarily requires constitution treatment.

Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear which frequently means total deafness, or else the disease may be driven down the air passages towards the lungs which is equally as dangerous. The following formula which is used extensively is a constitutional treatment and should prove especially efficacious to sufferers.

Secure from Eckerd's or your druggist 1 ounce of Parmint (Double strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and hearing improve as the inflammation in the eustachian tubes is reduced. Parmint used in this way acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system and has a tonic action that helps to obtain the desired results. The preparation is easy to make, costs little and is pleasant to take. Every person who has catarrh or head noises or is hard of hearing should give this treatment a trial.

OILS GET TOUGH; GIVE ENGINES NEW WINTER PROTECTION

High film-strength serves to minimize wear during crucial warming-up period

CUTS REPAIR BILLS TO THE BONE

IT'S news when oils get as tough as ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS for Winter. Good news . . . because that toughness means longer life for automobile engines and lower upkeep for automobile owners.

Winter is just around the corner. Cold weather is already here. Your car needs the protection of these new oils just as quickly as you can provide it . . . because piston wear can be 65 times greater than normal during the warming-up period on cold days! Only an extremely thin film of oil is present on the cylinder walls when a cold engine is started; and if this oil-film is not tough enough to prevent metal-to-metal contact, scoring and scuffing can easily be caused.

ATLANTIC has discovered a way to give its oils so tough a film that we believe it the greatest improvement in motor oils since the invention of the automobile. Change to these oils now. The amount you SAVE on repairs should more than pay for the oils throughout your ownership of the car. * * * For best results, drain your crankcase before putting in the correct winter grade of ATLANTIC MOTOR OIL.

ENDEAVORERS HAVE SCAVENGER HUNT

The rain did very little to dampen the ardor of the searchers Monday evening, who left the Central Presbyterian church at 8 o'clock on a scavenger hunt. The members of the Christian Endeavor society were loaded into 7 cars, each group given a list of what was to be brought in, and out they started.

After a search here and there delving into strange places, Dr. C. B. Wingerd and his group returned, weary but successful in getting all the articles suggested: a spinning wheel, a watch that wound with a key; a burned out radio tube, a city directory 5 years old; a telephone directory 2 years old; a Liberty 2 years old; a protractor, knitting needle, iron helmet, knapsack, inner tube and burned out light bulb.

As the other groups returned, much merriment was caused by the tales of the hunt and then all were invited to the dining room where Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Campbell had prepared a "hamburg fry" for the hungry group. Martha Cwisher and Viola Maxwell were the committee on arrangements.

MRS. LEWIS ATTENDS BRILLIANT WEDDING

Using the same ring that had been used at the wedding of the bride's maternal grandmother 65 years ago, Miss Gertrude Marjorie Davis, of Norwood, Pa., a niece of Mrs. J. C. Lewis of Edison avenue, was united in marriage to George Edmund Johnson, of Prospect Park, Pa., Saturday evening, November 3.

Mrs. Lewis was among the large number of guests at the wedding, a brilliant affair in the Norwood Methodist Episcopal church, with the Rev. George Conners, pastor, as officiant.

The bride was distinctively beautiful in a white satin gown, made on Princess lines with long train. Her veil was tiara style, held in place with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white orchids, roses and lilies of the valley and her only jewel was a platinum dinner ring, the gift of the groom.

Miss Ruth Davis, her sister, was maid of honor, wearing a gown of royale purple velvet with matching hat and gold Grecian slippers. Junior bridesmaids were Virginia Jamison of Norwood and Rilla Cluley of Prospect Park. Little Jean Cluley, niece of the groom, was flower girl, and Russell E. Teasdale of Mt. Lebanon, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer. Bridesmaids were classmates of the bride, including Ruth Riggall, Ruth Hicks, Eleanor Fowler of Prospect Park, and Mrs. Elsie Trumbo of Baltimore, Md. The bridal party was beautifully gowned in modish transparent velvets while the children wore dainty frocks and suits. Dr. Joseph Miller of Philadelphia was best man.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Jessie Davis, the bride's older sister, sang several nuptial melodies, accompanied by Miss Jane Meyers of Coraopolis, Pa., who played a lovely program of wedding music.

Supplementing the ceremony, a reception for 150 guests was held at the Norwood Century club. The bride and groom departed, later, on a trip to Montreal, Canada, concluding which they will reside at Aldan, Pa.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Mozart Davis of Norwood, a suburb of Philadelphia, former residents of Pittsburgh. She is a graduate of West Chester State Teachers college, and has been teaching for the past four years in the Norwood schools. She is well known in New Castle, where she has visited frequently at the Lewis home. Mr. Johnson attended Drexal Institute and now holds a responsible position with the Westinghouse company.

WARNER BROS.' INTIMATE MUSICAL SUCCESSOR TO "DAMES"

QUOTA CLUB HEARS HEAD OF SCHOOLS

A beautiful "November" table greeted the eyes of the members of the Quota Club Monday evening as they gathered in the private dining room at the Elk's club for the weekly dinner meeting. A centerpiece formed of a basket of fruit was artistically arranged by Mrs. Orra Snyder, Miss Marian Ferver, Dr. Rozella Popp and Miss Hannah Trodden were the hostesses.

The speaker of the evening was Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of the New Castle schools, who spoke most interestingly on the Federal Emergency Relief Education, giving the Quotarians an enlightening picture of the object of the project.

Miss Katherine Hite presided at the business session when plans were made to attend the Harrisburg celebration November 24 in honor of Myrtle B. Duke, past international president.

The members will again assemble next Monday evening in the club dining room.

Thirty Gather

The Sturdevant home on West Garfield avenue was a beautiful setting Monday evening for the meeting of thirty Queen Esther society members of the Third United Presbyterian church and their teacher, Mrs. Bernard Hook.

Hostesses of the evening were the Misses Grace and Eva Houk and Mrs. Robert Allshouse, the latter of Youngstown, O.

The evening's work was in charge of the president Miss Pearl Colnot. Miss Thelma Rose led the scripture. A number of beautiful selections were rendered by a quartet comprised of Miss Kitty Hopper, Mrs. Ed. O'Neill, Miss Reba Sines and Mrs. Mac McDermott. Last but not least, and coming as a complete surprise to Mrs. Allshouse, was the entrance of her five year old daughter, Donna Jean, with an umbrella full of lovely handkerchiefs. This shower was presented to Mrs. Allshouse, who recently moved from New Castle to Avondale avenue, Youngstown, O. Mrs. Allshouse responded graciously.

Games and contests were enjoyed and prizes were won by Mrs. Ed. O'Neill and Miss Lilly Davies. Activities were in charge of Miss Kitty Hopper, Mrs. William McBride and Miss Reba Sines.

At a seasonable hour a delicious repast was served and the hostesses were assisted by Mrs. Fred Sturdevant.

The next meeting will be in the form of a Christmas party on December 2 with Mrs. Clarence Love, Mrs. Lloyd Wimer and Miss Lilly Davies as hostesses. The place will be arranged later.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Porter, were pleasantly surprised by relatives on Saturday afternoon in their home at Walmo, when they assembled to help celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary. Twenty participated, and after an informal period of pastimes dinner was served. The guests of honor were presented with a lovely dinner set and other gifts appropriate to the occasion. Those in attendance were Mrs. J. B. Love, Mr. and Mrs. John McGrath, of New Castle, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnston and Mrs. Mayme Robins, of Sharpsville, Mrs. Jennie Thompson, Ernest Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. David Thompson and children of Pulaski, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Porter, Lois and Elizabeth Porter, Mrs. Edith Polen, of East Palestine, O. and others from the immediate vicinity.

Polish Falcon Club

The Komisya Sokolic, of the Polish Falcons Nest 146, held a business and social session, recently at the Falcon Hall, on Miller street.

After routine business had been transacted, the members heard a very interesting talk on Poland, by Miss Matilda Pigon. She gave a description of Warsaw, the capital city and spoke about the beautiful city of Krakow.

Refreshments were served by Miss Klara Kielar, Mrs. Catherine Klamut and Mrs. Anna Glerad, the social hour being enlivened by games.

The next meeting is scheduled for Friday, November 16 with the hostesses: Misses Mary Mazurkiewicz, Helen Noga and Matilda Pigon.

Today Is The Day

fate may be, he will meet it as a brave man."

Lody himself, in his farewell letter to his wife, gratefully admitted he had received a fair hearing.

Sir Robert Baden-Powell writes, "In the Lower House they spoke of him as a patriot who had died on the battlefield of his country."

History Up-To-Date—Nov. 6, 1638—James Gregory was born in Aberdeen, one of a Scottish family which produced 14 notable men of science. He was 25 when he invented the reflecting telescope, to which we owe our intimate knowledge of other universes. He was using it to show some of his students the satellites of Jupiter when he was suddenly struck with blindness. The shock killed him a few days later.

Nov. 6, 1865—The warship without a country ended its career. The Confederate privateer Shenandoah, Capt. Waddell, put in at Liverpool and was seized by British authorities. Waddell explained that he destroyed more than 30 federal ships in the Pacific in June, July and August before he learned the war had ended in May.

The Shenandoah, the most destructive of all Confederate ships, never touched a Confederate port.

Nov. 6, 1894—Citizens of Brooklyn and other neighboring towns voted to make New York the world's largest city, by approving consolidation.

But Brooklyn is still the third largest community in the United States, the seventh largest in the world.

Notable Nativities—It is a day conspicuously identified with musical history—it is the anniversary of the death of Tschaikovsky, and the birthday of Antoine Sax, John Philip Sousa and Ignace Paderewski.

Antoine Sax, b. 1814, in Belgium. He was 21 when he discovered a new principle in the making of wind instruments, namely, that it is the proportions given to a column of air vibrating in a sonorous tube that determine the timbre. Hence the wide throat of the saxaphone, which he invented. Sax was 40 when Sousa was born, and 46 when Ignace Paderewski came into the world in Poland. Little Ignace wanted to be a violinist, but a great teacher of the violin in Berlin told him, "You will never be a musician." Saint-Saens called him "a genius who happens to play the piano." Next to playing the piano, he likes to play billiards.

Other notable nativities:

Sir John Alcock, b. 1892, British airman, first to make a non-stop flight across the Atlantic, in 1919. He died the same year in a crash in France.

Edsel Ford, b. 1893, automotive scion....John Francis Neylan, b. 1885, eminent Pacific coast lawyer ....Ernest M. Hopkins, b. 1877, educator....Harold Ross, b. 1892, in Aspen, Colorado, editor of The New Yorker....Tony Canzoneri, b. 1908, prize-fighter....Francis Lederer, b. 1906, Bohemian-born Hollywood actor....Walter Johnson, b. 1887, baseball player and manager....Mathew M. Neely, b. 1874, senator from West Virginia....Louis Murphy, b. 1875, senator from Iowa.

You're Wrong If You Believe—That because of gas, liquid fire, bombs, machine guns, etc., the death rate in the World War was the highest in history.

Conrad A. Henrich, McKeesport, Pa., doubts this statement.

The total number of deaths was, of course higher, but this was due to the fact the greatest number of men, who ever went to war, were engaged. The death rate per 1,000 was smaller than in many previous wars. Only about eight per cent of the wounded failed to survive. Eighty per cent of the wounded were able to return to service, thanks to modern surgery and asepsis.

Also, you're wrong if you believe—That cocoa is made from cocoanut.

That Balboa discovered the Pacific Ocean.

That bloodhounds are dependable trackers of men.

Must Give Way To Fire Trucks

Motorcycle Patrolman To Arrest Erring Autoists For Interference

"Fire trucks, police cars and ambulances have the right of way here and whenever an autoist hears a siren or sees one of them coming the autoist should pull to the right side of the street and if necessary stop and let them go by" said Chief of Police John Haven today in commenting upon the desire that none of the trucks or cars suffer interference.

It is said that the motorcycle patrolman will answer fire alarms and arrest any autoist who interferes with the progress of the fire trucks.

On almost every fire calls at least two trucks respond, the one from the immediate section of the blaze and the service truck from the central fire department. As a rule the car of the chief or assistant chief of the fire department precedes the fire trucks. As his siren and also that of the trucks blows there is scarcely any excuse for blocking the fire equipment. Automibiles which follow the trucks to a blaze interefere with the firemen and their drivers will be arrested it is said.

Male Drivers In Most Accidents

Failure of motorists to live up to their responsibilities as users of the highways, rather than defective equipment or ordinary traffic hazards, is the most frequent cause of accidents.

R. W. Bolsinger, president of the New Castle Motor Club, bases his statement on recent accident studies made by the National Headquarters of the American Automobile Association.

"These studies" he said, "serve to emphasize the part that carelessness and disregard for the rights of others plays in the staggering toll of fatalities and injuries resulting from highway mishaps. For example, a study of 1933 accidents shows that in eight out of ten the vehicles involved were going straight ahead. In an equal number, the weather was clear and the surface of the highway dry. And in more than nine out of ten, the vehicles were in apparently good condition.

"Male drivers are involved in 91.69 per cent of accidents and female drivers in the remaining 8.31 per cent."

"Other interesting statistics with regard to highway accidents were cited as follows:

"More people were killed and injured in highway accidents on Sundays than any other day of the week. This is due to the greater use of rural highways and concentration of traffic on highways leading to resorts and play places.

"The danger hour for accidents is from five to six o'clock in the afternoon, although there are more deaths from accidents which occur between seven and eight o'clock in the evening."

DEVELOPED BY AMERICAN INITIATIVE

THE telephone was invented in America.

American enterprise and initiative took it and from it developed telephone service as we know it today.

Fundamental research and discovery provided the equipment.

Then, energetic promotion of the telephone business made industry conscious of the value of this entirely new method of rapid personal communication.

THE usefulness of the telephone in the home was also demonstrated—it enlarges horizons, it breaks the monotony of house work for wives and mothers, it extends friendships and social contacts, contributing to greater comfort and ease of living.

Rural America was approached—and the farmer quickly sensed the advantage of telephone service. American rural life today enjoys a communication service practically unknown in the rest of the world.

AMERICAN initiative with American inventive genius and American business methods has produced—and will continue to produce—the best telephone service in the world. Every Pennsylvania Bell Telephone user shares in that service. We urge its broader and broader use because telephone service as America knows it contributes much to the American way of living.

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF PENNSYLVANIA

Associated with the Bell System — participating in and benefiting from the telephone research, telephone development and nation-wide telephone experience which have given America the world leadership in telephone service.

House Control For Democrats

Election Yesterday May Give Democrats Control Of Legislature

UPHEAVAL WAS UNPRECEDENTED

By G. EVERETT DOYING
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Nov. 7.—On the crest of a New Deal juggernaut, Democrats apparently swept into numerical control of the state house of representatives today, at the same time destroying the two-thirds Republican majority in the state senate.

Neither accomplishment has been duplicated by the Democratic party in Pennsylvania since the turn of the century.

Bolstered by an unanimous Democratic delegation to the General Assembly from Allegheny county, on the basis of nearly complete returns from yesterday's election, the heretofore minority element in the house was practically certain to exceed the constitutional majority of 105.

The Democratic membership in the senate, now seven, likely will be increased at the next session to beyond the present estimated minimum of 17 seats.

Probable Makeup

With only 72 districts—40 now held by Republicans and 29 by Democrats—undecided this morning, the membership of the General Assembly convening on January 1 stood:

Democrats 75.
Republicans 61.

In the present assembly those same seats are held by 37 Democrats and 99 Republicans, thus creating a gain for the Democrats of 38 seats.

By holding all the Democratic seats yet undecided—a feat not improbable on the face of mounting majorities for the party ticket as a whole—and winning just one more Republican seat, the Democrats will have reached a membership of 105 in the house.

Democrats were leading in nearly a dozen Republican districts as the day wore on.

Tabulations of unofficial returns showed that Republican incumbents successful in their quest for another term number 40 from the 136 districts accounted for. Half as many Democratic incumbents also were re-elected. Republicans were elected to 19 seats held in the existing legislature by Republicans and the same was true of 15 Democrats. Republicans gained two Democratic seats and lost 40 of their own.

Unprecedented as was the complete Democratic sweep of the 37 Allegheny county seats in the house chamber, it was no greater surprise than the unseating of 10 Republicans in Philadelphia to increase the Democratic party's membership in the delegation from the eastern metropolis to 16. The remaining Democratic gains were scattered throughout the state.

House gains by the Democrats were no more startling, however, than the toppling of at least half a dozen stalwart Republican leaders in the senate. These incumbents were trailing far behind, in most cases, their Democratic opponents. Four other Republican candidates seeking election to seats voluntarily abandoned by their G. O. P. holders were defeated by Democrats.

Is "Trench of Bayonets" a Hoax?

Hotel and tourist interests at Verdun, France, are alarmed over rumors that the famed "trench of bayonets" there, shown above, does not contain bones of a company of poilus said to have been buried alive when their trench collapsed but is merely a stack of abandoned rifles and bayonets. Thousands of American tourists yearly visit the trench which is protected from weather by a concrete canopy erected by contributions of American school children. (Central Press)

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Seventh Ward Takes Count Honors Again

Call At 7:25 Last Night Brought First Tally From Fire House Precinct

Precinct No. 1 of the seventh ward, located at the Cherry street fire station, was first with the latest last night, so far as The News' tabulation of election returns were concerned.

A telephone rang in the editorial rooms at 7:25 p. m. and on the other end of the wire a member of the election board announced that district's governorship tally—it was 271 for Earle and 95 for Schnader.

Within a moment or two another phone rang and then another, and within a short time all three precincts of the seventh ward, always the first section to report, had their first counts in.

From other sections of the city the returns began to stream in at eight o'clock, and throughout the evening the return "scorekeepers" kept pencils sailing. In some of the larger districts the election boards completed their counts in record time.

Your Wrong If You Believe—That it gets too cold for snow to fall.

This is disproven by the fact that snow falls in the coldest parts of the world. However, many of the heaviest snows do fall during milder periods of winter. This, it is explained by the Weather Bureau, is because most rains or snows come on the easterly to southerly winds. Cold winds, then, are from the wrong directions to bring much snow.

Also, you're wrong if you believe—

That aheavy coat of fur upon animals forecasts a severe winter.

That water rots the hair and causes baldness.

Revolutionary oils give new protection against severe winter conditions

USERS SAVE MORE THAN OIL COSTS

CHANGING piston rings is costly business. That's why motorists welcome the new ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS for Winter. These oils have such extremely high film-strength that they definitely minimize wear . . . particularly under severe operating conditions such as the warming-up period on cold days, when piston wear can be 65 times greater than normal.

Between engine pistons and cylinder walls, the clearances are less than the thickness of a piece of paper. The thin film of motor oil in that space must be strong enough to prevent metal-to-metal contact under all conditions; otherwise, costly wear results.

The high film-strength of ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS for Winter means an extra margin of safety . . . for your engine . . . and for your purse! In fact, we believe you will get ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS practically "for nothing" throughout the life of your car, because of the large savings they should bring in repair bills. Cold weather is here. Give your car this new protection right now. * * * For best results, drain your crankcase before putting in the correct winter grade of the new ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS.

Eighty-five women—the machinery which runs the Girl Scout organization in New Castle and Lawrence county—met for dinner in the First Presbyterian church Tuesday evening, at 6:30 o'clock.

The meeting proved to be enthusiastic as well as enjoyable. It brought together the New Castle Girl Scout Council, the New Castle Girl Scout Leaders' Association, troop committee members of the city, and troop leaders from New Wilmington, Pulaski and Volant. This group is working together in the common aim to continue the expansion of the city and county troops and to offer an active program with the betterment of the scouts and service to the community in mind.

Dinner was prepared by the mothers of the Cardinal Troop No. 7 girls, with Mrs. Ira Ramsey as head of the dining room. This troop is captained by Mrs. George Ferver. Miss Mary Grimes and Miss Olive Webb are first lieutenant and secretary respectively.

Pep singing was led by Miss Elizabeth Reis.

Separate business meetings of the council and leaders' association were conducted in the course of the evening. Mrs. Thomas Clark was accepted as a new council member.

Later the guests met together again for games and a social period, in charge of Miss Emily Rice, Miss Helen Wilson and Mrs. Sidney Smith.

New Castle will have a part time Girl Scout director in January and February, Miss Eleanor Lefever, who will offer instruction and direction to the local leaders.

Restore Back Pay Under NRA Code

Feuchtwanger Informed That Millions Are Restored To Workers

According to a bulletin received by Marcus Feuchtwanger, local NRA chairman, millions of dollars have been restored in back pay, since the creation of the Compliance Division of the NRA on October 26, 1933.

The division has been instrumental, the bulletin states, in restoring approximately two millions in back wages to many thousands of workers in the NRA codes. This sum represents the difference between the wages actually paid to workers and the amounts they should have received under applicable code provisions.

In addition to this figure, 16 code authorities report that up to September 29, 1934, they had effected wage restrictions amounting to $523,119.59 which was paid to approximately 70,000 workers.

HOUSEWIFE. Mrs. C. Daly says: "I keep house—like millions of other women. And we all know how much energy a woman has to put into that job! My recipe for renewing energy is to smoke a Camel. Camels do pick up my energy when I'm tired, and they have such a mild flavor."

Education Week Is Being Observed

Sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's clubs, education Week is being observed this week, with the schools of the cities holding special programs all during the week. The chief objective in the week's observation will be to interest the parents of the city in their schools. Visiting days will be announced and it is hoped that all parents will manage to attend at least one school during the week.

Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of New Castdle Schools has prepared a series of short articles.

The first one which bears on the "Increased Responsibility of The Public Schools" follows:

In the development of the public schools of this country, each decade has enlarged our conception of their function, and the constantly increasing complexities of modern life have presented new responsibilities. The original purpose of public education to promote literacy and provide an enlightened citizenship has been enlarged until the schools are now called upon to recognize a very definite social and political relationship and transform themselves into specific institutions for the advancement and welfare of the state. They are now recognized by all thoughtful people as an indispensable agency in an enlightened democracy.

During the World War President Wilson told us that we were fighting "to make the world safe for democracy." The public schools and the higher institutions of learning are called upon "to make democracy safe for the world." It is a platitude to say that if we are to have universal suffrage we must have an enlightened electorate. However much we may give play to our emotions regarding the sovereign ballot the regrettable fact still remains that a few citizens vote and many are voted. Democracy will never be safe for the world until a safe majority of our citizens are able and willing to vote and vote with intelligence.

Income Limited

The present economic crisis has seriously limited the available income of the schools and at the same time it has added to their responsibilities to a degree not realized by those not closely connected with their operation. With greatly reduced facilities there is a very distinct necessity for more service. Crowded classrooms attended by large numbers of undernourished and scantily clad children, limited educational supplies and other factors present problems which the general public does not fully appreciate. Nevertheless the rational patriotism and professional devotion of the teachers of America have made them willing to bear their burdens cheerfully and carry on like true soldiers in the public service. They have recognized in this great crisis an opportunity to exemplify in their own lives the principles of patriotism which they have endeavored to inculcate in the lives of their pupils.

The sober judgment of the American public is beginning to assert itself and the people are coming to realize that the public schools are able to render an indispensable service during great crisis in the lives of the people. Thousands of children in the great urban centers find in the public schools physical comforts, a human touch, and a character development which no other institution provides. This is true under normal social and economic conditions, but it is especially true in times of great distress.

It has been said that the future of America depends upon the children of today. It is a better statement of the case to say that the future of America depends upon what the responsible citizens of today do with the children of today. More and more the public is beginning to grasp that thought and as a result increased responsibilities are placed upon the schools.

The increased responsibility of the schools is the result of a constantly increasing recognition of their importance on the part of the general public. The demand for service by the schools has increased so rapidly during recent years that school authorities have found it impossible to meet that demand because of financial limitations.

WILL ALLOW SLED RIDING ON SOME STREETS

Council Plans To Take Action

Will Designate Streets For Coasters — Fix Auto Speed Limit

CITY WILL NOT BE RESPONSIBLE

Owing to the proximity of winter weather and its accompanying snowfalls, members of council yesterday viewed certain thoroughfares which the Parent-Teachers association months ago asked council to set aside for sled riding purposes, this winter.

Council indicated today that, at a future meeing, a bill would be submitted designating certain streets on which sled riding will not be prohibited. The bill to be introduced will also designate the speed of automobiles and trucks on such streets.

By having the bill provide that sled riding is not prohibited on the streets, the measure once enacted into a city law will not make the city liable for accident as the city cannot close any street to traffic for sled riding purposes, according to Solicitor White.

Create Speed Limit

The only way the city can close a street is on account of danger. If a person owns property along a street access to and from the property cannot be prohibited, hence council's intention of passing a measure stating that "sled riding is not prohibited" and creating a speed limit on such streets.

Streets Mentioned

Council indicated today that the proposed ordinance will say that sled riding is not prohibited on thoroughfares as follows:

Lathrop street, East Washington to William streets.
Stanton avenue, from Rose avenue south.
Delaware avenue, Moody to Park avenue.
Leasure avenue, Albert street to Highland avenue.
"Snakes Rest" hill, leading from Wilmington avenue into the hollow.
Locust street, from Moody avenue south.
West Rebecca Way, east to Harbor street.
West North street.

"We are going to arrange things this winter, so that, there will be no sled riders hitching sleds to automobiles or trucks" said Solicitor White in commenting on the proposed city law. "If anyone is caught doing so he or she will be taken into custody, his sled confiscated and he or she will be turned over to the juvenile officer or held at the city police station until their parents call for them and agree that their children will stop the practice. Autoists who permit hitching to their cars will be fined," he said.

Council has not acted officially on the matter but according to Councilman Davies it will be brought before the body in official meeting in the near future. Council is decided that it will take no action that will make the city responsible for accidents.

Japan's Common Sense.
Upton Sinclair News.
How Many Would Die?
Smuggling Chinese.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

JAPAN IS busy fortifying South Sea islands that she holds under mandate of the League of Nations, and complaint is made aimlessly.

Nothing to surprise anybody in that fortification news. Japan is an intelligent country.

It takes a country with statesmanship in the dodo class, like ourselves, to possess Guam, and fail to fortify the place because polite Britishers, acting as mouthpiece for Japan, requested us not to do so.

IT IS ONLY fair to tell Japan and other countries, beginning to look upon the United States as an "easy mark," easy to rob by borrowing money, easy to beat in war, that we are not as weak in all lines as we are in statesmanship.

We are fairly able inventors, and good manufacturers. Among the men that patrol the highways of California and other states, typical of American youth, you could easily select 1,000 that, on even terms, could beat two thousand of any other country. And this is mentioned as plain matter of fact, free from boasting.

ALSO, OUR Japanese friend, for whom we have only the kindest feelings, are warned to look with suspicion on national cocksureness, based on conquest of China and Russia.

Beating China was about as dangerous and difficult as for a mouse to gnaw holes in a large cheese.

And beating Russia under the Czars and Grand Dukes was beating nothing at all.

Nobody questions the great fighting power of Japan, but it has still to be tested and proved. A trial with new Russia under Stalin would be enlightening.

NO COMPARISON between the fighting power of Japan and the United States is necessary because there will never be any such FIGHTING and comparisons, as Samuel Johnson remarked, are odious.

Friendliness is shown in the greeting given by Japan to our national hero, "Babe" Ruth.

Sixty-five thousand Japanese paid good yen to see Ruth play baseball in Tokio, and Ruth's victory by 17 to 1 was applauded heartily.

It will not always be 17 to 1. Those that have watched the Japanese swim, play tennis, etc., know that if Japan wants to play baseball Japan WILL play baseball.

FOR YOUR information, without any guarantee from one who has not visited California since the campaign began, the best informed man in that state sends this message:

"Upton Sinclair will NOT be elected."

If the prediction proves accurate, it means postponement of an experiment that may have to come sooner or later.

It might have been a little expensive, but perhaps it would have been as well to make that experiment along with others. The wise surgeon performing a major abdominal operation "snips off" the vermiform appendix as he passes it.

PRESIDENT KNUBEL, of the United Lutheran Church of America, worries about the future of religion. Anti-religious forces, he says, are growing constantly in this and other countries, hundreds of millions of people are "spiritually blind." The Rev. Dr. Knubel asks:

"How do you know that in two years from now you might not be asked to die for your faith?"

Let ue hope it will not be as bad as that, while wondering respectfully how many would be willing to die, or like the ancient martyrs, court death for the sake of martyrdom?

THERE ARE various ways of making a living in America, that finds it so difficult to conquer lawlessness. One way is to smuggle in Chinese, inflicting fearful hardships upon the unfortunate immigrant Chinese, and charging them from $1,000 to $1,500 for bringing them here.

Smuggling Chinese is connected with the opium traffic; while smuggling Chinese you can also smuggle with each one a considerable amount of opium.

Federal agents looking for opium found eighteen frightened Chinese in an isolated house in New Jersey, guarded by a powerful Negro from Trinidad and five police dogs that would have mangled the unfortunate creatures had they tried to escape. Friends expected to bring the fee for smuggling them in failed to appear, hence their detention.

The eighteen were included in a party of thirty-eight Chinese, taken from China one month ago, hidden in the hold of a freight steamer. Four, becoming very ill, were thrown overboard; sixteen, whose friends paid the smuggling fee, were liberated.

This will interest Attorney General Cummings and President Roosevelt.

THE ACHIEVEMENT of the admirable fliers, Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith and his pilot, Capt. P. G. Taylor, proves that the United States knows how to build airplanes.

The plane that came across the Pacific from Honolulu, 2,408 miles, in 15 hours, beating by ten hours the best record, is an American Lockheed plane, built at Glendale, Cal., and the engine was built by the American Pratt & Whitney Aircraft company.

If the United States should ever get really interested in building the world's greatest air fleet, as it will do, or bitterly regret it, the material is at hand.

FAST COMMERCIAL flying will take a new start when Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, best American air fighter developed in the big war, starts to beat the Pacific-to-Atlantic flight record with a transport plane, carrying six passengers besides himself and two other pilots, with a dead load of 5,750 pounds.

Rickenbacker's plan is to fly at an average height of seventeen thousand feet, pilots and passengers supplied with oxygen artificially. Rickenbacker hopes to fly the 2,626 miles in less than ten hours.

EVERY WEEK, according to their able guardian, Dr. Defoe, the five little Dionne quintuplet girls look more and more alike.

Necklaces and lockets with their initials will be fastened around their little necks to avoid mistakes.

The five babies are now more than five months and one week old, proving what good care will do. Before the Dionne girls arrived, no quintuplets had ever lived as much as fifty minutes.

Illicit Traffic In Drug Broken Up In Larger Cities

START DRIVE ON PEDDLERS

HARRISBURG, Nov. 7.—Harold V. Smith, chief of the State Health Department's narcotic division, today reported that while the large city rings dealing in the illicit marihuana traffic have been broken up, a State-wide drive is now under way to eliminate activities of peddlers in many less populous centers.

Facts reaching the narcotic division, based on investigations made by both Federal and State agents, reveal a larger traffic in the sale of these insanity-provoking cigarettes than was at first expected.

"While effective measures have been taken in the large cities to limit the activities of centralized rings dealing in marihuana cigarettes, nevertheless there has developed a net work of activities, State-wide in scope, that has developed a real problem for Federal and State enforcement officers," said Smith. "The effect of this weed upon persons using it is a release of normal inhibitions. It is therefore being introduced to groups of young men and women as a stimulating and unrestraining whoopee adjunct.

"The Department of Health and Federal officials have repeatedly warned parents, as well as school children, concerning the direful consequences of the use of marihuana. Repressive measures, often quietly undertaken and quietly concluded, have been successful. However, the real weapon against this traffic lies in an informed public. Parents and teachers should advise their children to avoid any advances made by strangers or even friends to use cigarettes containing marihuana."

Campaign In Behalf Of Two Issues At New Wilmington

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Nov. 7.—Westminster College students and members of the New Wilmington high school students body were actively engaged in political campaigning on Monday night and early Tuesday. The college band, directed by Professor D. O. Cameron, headed a parade through New Wilmington and Lawrence county on Monday night; while the high school band, directed by Elizabeth Rose, headed a parade early Tuesday.

Two local issues brought out the college and high school students. One was the local option vote concerning the sale of intoxicating liquors in the college town. New Wilmington voted out liquor selling. The second local issue was the acquistion of the swimming pool by the borough. The outdoor swimming pool, built by the swimming pool association with private subscriptions and the sale of bonds, would be taken over by the borough. This issue was also won.

Westminster College students and officials were vitally interested in both issues, desiring that no liquor be sold in town and that the town acquire the outdoor swimming pool.

Mix Best Cough Remedy At Home. Easy! Big Saving!

Beats Them All For Quick, Lasting Relief.

If you want the best remedy for severe coughs, mix it at home. Once tried, you'll never use any other kind, and it's so simple and easy.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. A child could do it. No cooking needed.

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. This is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, famous for its healing effect on throat and bronchial membranes.

Put the Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make a full pint of really better medicine than you could buy ready-made for four times the money. It never spoils, and tastes fine.

And for quick, lasting relief, it has no equal. You can feel it penetrating the air passages in a way that means business. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm, soothes and heals the inflamed membranes, makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep.

Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded.

Dance Hall Floors Are Being Taxed

Police Chief Sends Notices That Dance Tax Must Be Paid

Proprietors of beer gardens who maintain a dance floor for patrons must pay a license of $15 per year and a permit fee of $1 each night, if dancing is permitted, according to a notice sent by Chief of Police John F. Haven to the different proprietors today.

Many of the beer places throughout the city have space allotted for dancing and all of them will have to comply with the state law before November 10, the chief of police announced today.

The act of 1931 provides that any dance to which the public generally may gain admission with or without the payment of a fee, is a public dance and in order to hold such a dance, a permit is required for which the fee is $1 for each public dance.

Under this ruling, according to the chief, any person who has a place where customers or patrons can dance, must pay a fee of $1 for each dance, which would be for each day when dancing is permitted.

The act also requires that the place must be licensed and that the license fee is $15 a year and it can only be licensed after the mayor has caused a thorough inspection to be made to see that it is a safe place from a fire and health standpoint and that it is conducted in an orderly and lawful manner.

The mayor has the authority, at any time, to revoke the license and stop dancing in the place if he believes that any ordinance is being violated or any rule, regulation or law is being broken, the law declares.

In some of the beer parlors here dancing is permitted every night in the week. In some other places dancing occurs semi-weekly. Most of the dance floors are crowded with dancers at these times.

Saar Vote In January May Begin New War In Europe, Rotary Hears

Before the New Castle Rotary club, meeting in The Castleton on Monday, an American newspaper correspondent to European countries prophesized that Sunday, January 13, 1935 "may be the day of the beginning of a new world catastrophe unless the powers of England, France and Italy band themselves together to tell Hitler to stay in his own backyard."

Saar Vote Is Factor

E. C. Ramsey, a resident of Titusville and correspondent for a syndicate subsidiary to the Associated Press, made the declaration and he elaborated his startling prediction this way:

"On that day the German residents of the Saar valley will go to the polls and vote for one of three things, to have the Saar continued under the present League of Nations administration, to return to German allegiance, or to submit to the allegiance of France.

"The vote result will decide things—and unfortunate it will be if she votes for French or German allegiance! Hitler of Germany will act if the Saar votes any way except to continue under the League's supervision."

Herr Hitler, whom Mr. Ramsey himself describes as a "political spasm," may unleash a new world conflict as a result of that vote that day, in the opinion of the speaker. Only the united stand of the other European powers can be counted on to stop him—"to tell him to stay in his own backyard."

France Demands Cash

Ramsey said that if the election is favorable to Germany, France shall demand the immediate payment in gold for the Saar—and Germany, the speaker said, could not pay it. France has served notice "that Germany shall not touch it until she lays down the hard gold."

For almost two hours the Rotarians, soldierly attentive to the speaker who brought to them a first-hand picture of conditions throughout the troubled continent, heard the newsman describe "European leaders as wanting peace, but each of them peace of their own kind."

He asserted that "understanding" is the need in the European chaos of today, an understanding that will allow the leaders of all the countries to appreciate the problems of each other.

Premier Mussolini drew considerable attention during the address, and the turbulent state of affairs between Japan and Russia was noted.

War In Every Quarter

"I've come direct from Europe and I've found there is evidence of war in every quarter," Mr. Ramsey told the clubmen. "Everyone is talking peace and preparing for war."

Of Hitler the speaker later said: "Personally, I think he's a political spasm. He'll probably die in convulsions some day. And you know he's throwing some nasty fits these days."

For half an hour after finishing his prepared address Mr. Ramsey answered a barrage a questions fired by his listeners.

Guests for the day included Rotarian Bert Stevenson, of San Juan, Porto Rico, here for his annual visit; Rotarian M. Cannon, Jr., of Syracuse, N. Y., and Alvin Shenkan, son of Rotarian Emanuel Shenkan of this city.

Ministers Hear Dr. H. H. Halley

Plans Are Being Made For Union Thanksgiving Service

Dr. H. H. Halley, Bible recital-lecturer, of Chicago, who is conducting a series of services in Highland U. P. church, was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Ministerial Association Monday.

Dr. Halley, who was introduced by Rev. D. M. Ferguson, chose as his subject, "If I Were a Pastor Again". He stressed the importance of people going to church because they want to, rather than through a sense of duty, and spoke of the pulpit as being the teaching agency of the church.

The devotional period, conducted by Dr. C. H. Heaton, was followed by a business session presided over by the president, Dr. G. S. Bennett.

A committee was named for the Union Thanksgiving service, in which the downtown and Northside churches will participate: Dr. C. H. Heaton, Dr. N. A. White, Dr. C. B. Wingerd.

The program committee announced that for the next meeting, on November 19, Police matron, Mrs. Minnie McKibben, will be present and give a talk on some phase of her work.

Thru the courtesy of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce the Association has been warned regarding certain parties that are selling "Go to Church" stamps. This is a racket that has been worked in other cities of Pennsylvania, and the association desires to protect the various church societies from these out of town promoters. Details of this matter can be had from the secretary or the Chamber of Commerce.

Local friends are circulating petitions, and hope to have 1,000 signatures in Grove City within ten days.

Pleading guilty to killing Hoffman and Coast, and wounding a third man, Ziccardi gave himself up to officers immediately after the fight at the mine, and he entered a plea of self-defense at the trial held in Franklin.

Ask Donations For Henry Home

Friday And Saturday Are Donation Days For Local Home

GOOD RESPONSE IS ANTICIPATED

There can be nothing of much greater importance in a community than caring for its children. Every parent is or should be alive to the vital necessity of building his children physically, mentally and morally. Unfortunately there are some little tads who do not know a mother's or a father's care. Such youngsters as these must depend upon the Margaret L. Henry Childrens Home for care and affection, for food and clothing and all the things that go with a home.

Some of the finest characters in New Castle give their time and ability to the Home. Creed, sect or religion are not considered in the makeup of the officers. The president of the Home is Marcus Feuchtwanger. The Honorary President is David S. Pyle. C. L. McMillen is the secretary, Thomas W. Dickey is treasurer, and the directors are the following. Rufus C. Patterson, Samuel Klafter, Joseph Hannon, Alex Crawford Hoyt, Judge R. L. Hildebrand, Judge James A. Chambers, Roger W. Rowlend, Frank A. Schulz, James W. Barnes, Fred C. Wolford, George T. Weingartner and Robetr L. Wallace.

Need Help

These men have carried the load. Some little help is given the home by the county, enough for the maintenance of about 11 children. The rest of the 50 or more that are guests must depend upon the beneficence of such agencies as the Community Chest and the generosity of private citizens.

Each year it has been customary for the people to donate fruit, vegetables and sugar to the home and the women in charge have canned the donations for the winter months. This year these donations are not forcoming and it now becomes necessary to ask the general public for contributions of canned goods.

Friday and Saturday of this week, November 9 and 10, has been set as Donation Days for the Margaret L. Henry Home. Dried fruits and vegetables. macaroni and spaghetti, corn meal, soap powder, canned fruits and canned vagetables, jellies, jams and preserves, pickles or chowder, black and white sewing machine thread No. 60, white boil proof elastic ¼ inch, all of these things are needed. Citizens are asked to bring or send their contributions to 6 West Washington street. Charles W. Read has been appointed chairman of the Donation Days.

For the purpose of gathering the contributions in and seeing that arrangements are made for collecting contributions the following committee of men and women has been named by Mr. Read. Mr. and Mrs. James W. Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Dickey, Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Feuchtwanger, Mr. and Mrs. A. Crawford Hoyt, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Klafter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Read, Mr. and Mrs. Bart Richards, Mr. and Mrs. Roger W. Rowland, Mr. and Francis E. Sowersby, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Wolford and Robert L. Wallace.

PRINCETON

Anna Fishburn spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Shaffer.

Mrs. Mary White, who has been ill for the past two weeks, is still confined to her bed.

Mr. and Mrs. Lafe Shaffer were dinner guests Sunday, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Shaffer.

Mrs. Margaret Wilson, who recently moved to Dayton, Pa., and been very ill, is improving in health.

Rev. McBride and Elmer Baird of Lowellville, were guests of Mr. Baird's relatives in this vicinity, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Fisher and family of Portersville, were guests in the home of Mrs. Margaret Myers, on Sunday.

The Women's Missionary Society of the Princeton church will meet all day Thursday, November 15 with Mrs. Adda Wilson.

Evangelistic meetings conducted by Rev. Loy Mershimer began Friday in the Presbyterian church and will continue every night this week.

The Young People's Council of the Slippery Rock district met Monday evening in the Princeton church, after a fine program the evening was spent socially with refreshments served at the close.

LONG TIME OFFICE HOLDER LOSES

(International News Service)

MARTINEZ, Cal., Nov. 7.—R. R. Veale, sheriff on Contra Costa county for the last 44 years, apparently was doomed for defeat today in his race for re-election. A check of 95 of 155 precincts gave John Miller 5,299 votes and Veale 3,946.

Sheriff Veale is the "grand old man of sheriffs" in America, having held office for a longer period than any other peace official.

The state of Delaware still retains the whipping post as a means of punishment for criminals.

Accuse Three Of Theft Of Scales

Large Scales Stolen From Jones Property On New Bedford Road

TRIO APPREHENDED BY POLICE WORK

Paul Kish, Steve Markovitch and Frank Haluk, of Youngstown, are held in the Lawrence county jail on charges of breaking, entering and larceny, the result of the theft of a Pitles farm scale, weighing 2,400 pounds and of several tons capacity, from the John Jones property at the junction of the New Castle-New Bedford and Five Points road at 2 a. m. Monday. The theft was solved, arrests made and scales recovered by state police, constables and Youngstown detectives within 36 hours. The scales were valued at $200.

According to State Trooper William Roswell, who was aided by Constables J. D. Fallon and Jess Kennedy in the investigation, Kish is a coal hauler and recently went to Jones who operates a gasoline station at the intersection of Route 422 and the Five Points road. He represented himself as a "feed man" from Salem, O. He borrowed a tape measure from Jones in the rear of who's property the scales were located. They were used for weighing coal. Kish was driving a big truck.

On Monday night Kish is alleged to have driven to the Jones station and to have purchased gasoline, and at 2 a. m. the Jones family heard their dogs barking. Believing that the dogs were barking at hunters they paid small attention to the noise, but when they awakened at 7:30 a. m. Tuesday, discovered the scales which weighs 2,400 pounds had been dismantled and hauled away. They notified the state police here and Roswell was assigned to the investigation. Fallon and Kennedy were called in as aides.

While Roswell was making the investigation the same truck which Kish is alleged to have driven to the gasoline station, traveled along Route 422 and it was located at the Cupling mine, loaded with coal. Markovitch and Haluk were placed under arrest and when Kish came to inquire into a charge that his truck had been overloaded, he also was placed under arrest by Roswell.

The three men were grilled and later Roswell and Constable Kennedy with Detectives Lewis Colavin and Earl Hoffman, of the Youngstown police department, visited the home of Ernest Tacsik, 204 North Maryland avenue, Youngstown. They found the girders of the scales in the cellar and other parts of the scales in a garage at the Tacsik prop[illegible] They were recovered and brought here.

The three men will get a hearing on the charges either today or tomorrow, according to State Trooper Roswell.

CUT THIS OUT

Excellent Recipe For Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness And Head Noises

If you know of some one who is trouble with Catarrhal Deafness, head noises or ordinary catarrh cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. Scientists for a long time past have recognized that catarrh is a constitutional disease and necessarily requires constitution treatment.

Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear which frequently means total deafness, or else the disease may be driven down the air passages towards the lungs which is equally as dangerous. The following formula which is used extensively is a constitutional treatment and should prove especially efficacious to sufferers.

Secure from Eckerd's or your druggist 1 ounce of Parmint (Double strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and hearing improve as the inflammation in the eustachian tubes is reduced. Parmint used in this way acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system and has a tonic action that helps to obtain the desired results. The preparation is easy to make, costs little and is pleasant to take. Every person who has catarrh or head noises or is hard of hearing should give this treatment a trial.

OILS GET TOUGH; GIVE ENGINES NEW WINTER PROTECTION

High film-strength serves to minimize wear during crucial warming-up period

CUTS REPAIR BILLS TO THE BONE

IT'S news when oils get as tough as ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS for Winter. Good news . . . because that toughness means longer life for automobile engines and lower upkeep for automobile owners.

Winter is just around the corner. Cold weather is already here. Your car needs the protection of these new oils just as quickly as you can provide it . . . because piston wear can be 65 times greater than normal during the warming-up period on cold days! Only an extremely thin film of oil is present on the cylinder walls when a cold engine is started; and if this oil-film is not tough enough to prevent metal-to-metal contact, scoring and scuffing can easily be caused.

ATLANTIC has discovered a way to give its oils so tough a film that we believe it the greatest improvement in motor oils since the invention of the automobile. Change to these oils now. The amount you SAVE on repairs should more than pay for the oils throughout your ownership of the car. * * * For best results, drain your crankcase before putting in the correct winter grade of ATLANTIC MOTOR OIL.

WIDESPREAD HUNT FOR MISSING NEW YORK GIRL

High School Girl Missing For Week

Disappeared After Hallowe'en Party—May Be Kidnap Victim

ADOPTED DAUGHTER OF WEALTHY MAN

(International News Service)

NEW YORK Nov. 6—Thought to be the victim of either an organized kidnap ring or a madman, pretty Jane Merrell, 14 year old Forest Hills high school student, today was the object of one of the most widespread police hunts in a metropolitan history.

The girl, an adopted daughter of a wealthy realty owner, disappeared on Halowe'en while garbed in a masquerade costume which she had worn at a party for 20 of her young friends in her home.

Kept Disappearance Secret

For four days police kept the news of her disappearance a secret, but when an intensive hunt had failed to uncover a single clue as to her whereabouts the girl's absence was made known.

Merrell told the police that at the conclusion of the Hallowe'en party in his home, Jane and her friends decided to make a round of visits to other homes in the neighborhood in accordance with Hallowe'en custom. Her friends, impatient, went on ahead and she to join them at the first stop.

She was not seen again after leaving the house.

Report Girl Home

New York, Nov. 6.—Fourteen-year-old Jane Merrell, object of a city-wide search since her disappearance in Ragamuffin costume on Hallowe'en, was back at her home today after being found, according to reports, on 79th street between Second and Third avenues.

A mysterious ban of details of her return was clamped down by police who declined to vouchsafe any information concerning her whereabouts during the five-day search. It was stated only that she had been found by Detective Edward Collins.

After questioning by police, Jane was taken to the home of her foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Merrell, in Forest Hills.

35,000,000 Will Vote. Important Issue In Florida.

Never Pay The U. S. A. Earth Surgery Some Day.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

THIS IS an important election year. Thirty to thirty-five million voters will vote for thirty-four United States Senators, thirty-three governors and four hundred and thirty-two members of the House of Representatives in forty-seven states, Maine having already voted.

Before the elections forty-nine million citizens registered, only one million less than two years ago when Mr. Roosevelt was running against Mr. Hoover, but five million more than registered in 1928, when Mr. Hoover was elected. Such heavy registration shows unusual interest in politics.

By Wednesday you will know what the voters think they want, although you will not know why more than the ten millions that registered did not take the trouble to vote. That is a secret of the American character.

IN THIS election Florida has been much interested in the vote for a constitutional amendement expected to take a large part of the moving picture industry from Hollywood to Florida.

This amendment would exempt from all taxation of every kind any moving picture enterprise in Florida for the next fifteen years, no taxes on payrolls, personal property, real estate profits, or anything.

FLORIDA HAS in hand a much more important proposition, one that will mean infinitely more to Florida's prosperity and sets a good example for other states. It is the proposition to exempt from taxation homes not exceeding a certain reasonable amount in value.

Tax-exempt homes of modest value would enable a father and mother to be sure of raising a family without having the roof and the rest of the house taken away by tax collectors.

THERE ARE no taxes on churches. Buildings in which the souls of men are saved should not be taxed.

There are no taxes on orphan asylums or schools not operated for profit in which children are educated.

Could there be anything more idiotic than taxing heavily, far more heavily than the rich man's house, in proportion to value, the home in which a father and mother raise a family of children?

Would the founder of Christianity who said "Suffer little children to come unto Me and forbid them not" have approved of taxation on the house in which the father and mother of these children work to bring them up for the benefit of the state? Is anything more sacred, even the church, orphan asylum or school, than the protection, care and raising of children?

Every Florida man and woman voting to exempt modest homes from taxation will have cast a vote for civilization and human decency.

The announcement that a man may live, work and spend his accumulations in a modest home in Florida, free from taxation, will do more to develop that state in population and prosperity than anything else that could possibly happen.

YOU REMEMBER, it is not long ago, how eagerly American financiers were lending to anybody in Europe, Asia, Africa or South America that would borrow.

Among other sums lent, eight thousand million marks about two billions of dollars, were sent in private, long and medium term loans to Germany, interest of these loans amounting to five hundred million marks, about one hundred and twenty-five million dollars a year.

Germany at first announced that it would pay only forty per cent of the interest on this loan. Now it announces that it will not pay anything, interest or principal.

ON THE DAWES and Young loans, representing our national loans to Germany, all payments were stopped, some time ago.

Whatever you do, DON'T PAY THE UNITED STATES seems to be the established European policy.

Germany's recently announced intention to pay monies borrowed in England makes the motto the more interesting. The "no payment" affects the United States only.

Germany, dissatisfied with the quantity of goods the United States buys from Germany, hopes the "no pay" policy will compel larger purchases.

Perhaps President Roosevelt will find some adequate reply to this German announcement. Grover Cleveland would have found a reply.

IN SLIGHT harmless earthquakes in the state of Washington, nobody was hurt, a few pictures rattled on the walls.

The learned G. E. Goodspeed, professor of geology, says "there is a big fault" running north and south at a place where old Mount Si joins with a more recent geological formation of cascade mountain rock.

The rock settles at the "fault," shakes the earth, produces the earthquake. Fortunately Washington has deep alluvial soil that takes up the shock.

Perhaps in the millions of years ahead of us science will engage in "earth surgery," cutting out the earthquake-producing "faults" as dentists operate on teeth or tree surgeons on trees. Control of the sea, the earth and its climate have hardly begun.

PETROGRAD reports a treasure buried long ago, eleven hundred silver coins and many pieces of plain silver. The coins are Saxon, Danish, Czech, Italian, some with eleventh century dates.

A hunter digging a hole in the forest to set a bear trap found the treasure near Lake Ladoga. It may have belonged to merchants afraid of bandits.

Such treasures are found frequently near the Baltic. An ancient German law to which Goethe refers in the second part of Faust permitted the farmer to keep for himself all treasure turned over by his plow. If found otherwise it belonged to the ruler of the state.

The idea of the plow was to persuade farmers to plow deep, increasing fertility, more important to the nation's wealth than any buried treasure.

One of the cars extends the entire width of Liberty street with sidewalks included.....J. A. Prater, of Wabash avenue used to live in Missouri and has been through the famous Jesse James underground tunnel. The tunnel extended from Jesse James' home to the barn and was used successfully as a means of escape when in a "tight place." Mr. Prater talked to James' mother and found her very likeable.. ..Dave Kyle, out the Mt. REPORT LESS BUNNIES

Hunters report that rabbits seem to be not as plentiful this year as in previous seasons. Although many have been bringing home the limit each day, others have hunted without getting a shot. Pheasants appear to be plentiful in spite of last year's open season. Lawrence county was unusually well stocked with these birds from the Jordan State Game farm this year. Some quail and some squirrels have been brought home by Mahoningtown hunters from the local vicinity.

Tiny Baby Shows Excellent Progress

Baby Born Sept. 29, Weighing Two Pounds And Six Ounces Gains Steadily

One of the smallest babies born in New Castle in some years and, incidentally, the youngest patient in the New Castle hospital, is Fred Benninghoff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Benninghoff, of 101 West Wallace avenue, who weighed two pounds and six ounces, on Saturday morning, September 29, the date of his birth.

Five hours after his birth, the infant became a patient in the New Castle hospital. Since then, the baby has spent the first 39 days of his life in an attractive incubator in the maternity department of the institution. He will be kept in this for the next four or five weeks, the attending physician stated. This morning the infant was placed on a scale and tipped the beams at three pounds and two ounces.

The baby is fed daily through an infant feeder. Medical men of the city and vicinity are watching with interest this unusual case. The attending physician stated today that due to the scientific improvement of medical science, during the past few years, the baby has a normal chance for life. The painstaking efforts of attendants of the hospital has been an aid to the continual growth of the child.

HELPS WHOLE FAMILIES

Attention, MOTHERS, to what every doctor knows to be a fact, and what they say to avoid

If you have children who are occasionally constipated, you should know this.

If you are "not yourself" because of a constipated condition, don't blame it on your blood condition, or your age, but first try this treatment that safely relieves sluggishness in children or adults.

The Proper Treatment

You can't safely relieve the bowels with any medicine if you can't regulate the dose. To regulate dosage, you should have a liquid laxative. When necessary to repeat, you can gradually reduce the dose. And that is the secret of safe relief from a sluggish, constipated condition at any age.

A liquid laxative can be measured. Its action can be thus controlled. If properly made, of such natural laxative elements as senna and cascara, it forms no habit — even in the youngest child. And such a laxative will help the bowels to help themselves.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is an approved liquid laxative containing herbs, active senna, and cascara, and is the one widely used. You can always obtain it at any drug store. Why not make the "liquid test" which has attracted so much attention of late? It helps nearly everyone who tries it. It may make you feel better overnight. The children will like it, too; Syrup Pepsin has a delightful taste.

If you will risk sixty cents to discover the safe, pleasant action of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, we believe bowel worries will be over for your household.

BE CAREFUL

IF any laxative is dipsetic (makes you thirsty).

IF it affects your appetite.

IF you need more today than the first time you took it.

IF it drains the system (by too watery a movement).

IF a bad "burning" is felt.

IF there is severe griping.

Safeguarding Health Of School Children

Safeguarding the health of school children is one of the most important functions of education. In the following article Dr. Mary J. Baker, director of health for the New Castle public schools, discusses the subject.

SAFEGUARDING THE HEALTH OF SCHOOL CHILDREN

The modern trend in health work among school children has so definitely and directly changed its course in the past few years that the whole educational system has been affected by it.

The new thought in the development of a health education program that will safeguard the health of school children is to produce a scientific program of recognized educational value emphasizing hygiene, health citizenship and attitudes, along with the development of a progressive and corrective education program and health service.

The part education plays in producing a nation of healthy people is larger than the public realizes and it is very necessary that any growing program be based on actual needs as shown by incontrovertible facts, rather than upon general theories. As a result the threefold idea as mentioned above has been developed.

The aims of the health instruction program are vital to any community. These aims are: first, to instruct children so that they may conserve and improve their own health; second, to establish in them the habits and principles of living that will assure abundant vigor and vitality through their entire life, thus providing the basis for the greatest possible happiness and service in personal, family and community life; third, to improve the individual and community life of the future and thus develop a healthier nation and race.

Physical education is passing from the contortionistic stage into a scientific program that will be of value to every school child in correcting those postural defects which are already present and prevent others from developing. The new program plans to give to every child the same opportunity for competitive and constructive play, thereby offering the greatest good possible to the greatest number possible.

Adequate health service to safeguard the child's health includes first-class periodic health and dental examinations and first aid and accident prevention, as well as disease prevention. Due to lack of funds and the slow education of the laity, this service has not been developed to its full possibilities Nevertheless, its growth has been so rapid as to amaze the profession as well as the general public.

The New Castle public schools are giving their pupils the benefit of all aspects of this well-rounded program in so far as their curtailed budget allows. The platoon system used in New Castle makes it possible to have competent health teachers who not only teach health education and supervise the play periods, but who also aid in carrying out the health service program.

At the present time we have a vaccination law that gives adequate protection against smallpox. Sixty-five per cent of our children are protected against diphtheria, having been immunized by our present health service. The dental program, while limited greatly, has been adequate in caring for several thousand children who otherwise would have been without any dental care.

In its present status our health education program for safeguarding the health of our school children emphasizes all aspects of health—physical, mental, social and moral.

Roosevelt Views Democratic Gains With Quiet Ease

Spends Day At Home With Family As He Receives Returns Of Election

(International News Service)

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Nov. 7.—Tired, but supremely happy, President Roosevelt remained silent within his comfortable home on the Hudson river here today, and watched late returns roll into reveal the most sweeping Democratic victory in decades.

Only members of the President's family heard the executive's naturally jubilant comments upon the results of the most important test of the new deal in the regard of the people.

Mr. Roosevelt was awake early and while still in bed scanned the newspapers showing startling Democratic gains in hitherto Republican strongholds.

Schnader Not Yet Conceding His Defeat

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—Still refusing stubbornly to concede defeat without qualification, Attorney General William A. Schnader, Republican candidate who in the face of latest returns was unsuccessful in his attempt to win the governorship of Pennsylvania, today nevertheless indirectly congratulated his Democratic adversary, George H. Earle.

"I fought a hard clean fight, enjoyed every minute of it and have no regrets," the attorney general declared in a statement issued at his hotel here.

"I am happy to have made thousands of new friends," Schnader continued, "to all of my friends, old and new, who worked so hard in my behalf, and to the host of voters who supported me I extend my hearty thanks.

"On the face of returns I am defeated. If I am, I congratulate Mr. Earle heartily. But, my friends in certain parts of the state advise me not to concede the correctness of the returns.

"Until I look into the reasons for their thus advising me, I shall have nothing further to say."

Girl's Screams Bring Police

Man Is Held And Girl Is In Hospital As Result Of Response

Gladys Adams, formerly of 907 Twenty-Sixth street, Beaver Falls, but who has recently lived on the second floor of the old State Bank building in South Jefferson street, is in the Jameson Memorial hospital and A. E. Kelly, alias A. E. Kelarn, who came here from Beaver Falls, is in the city jail charged with suspicion and will be held pending the outcome of the girl's injuries.

According to the city police report, Kelly is alleged to have administered a beating to the girl about 4 a. m. today and it is possible that she has a fracture of the skull. Her face was badly swollen and it is said that the inside of her mouth was lacerated.

Lieutenant Elder and Patrolmen Thomas and Harper were on the Public Square at 4 a. m. when they heard a girl scream. They entered the second floor above the State Bank and found both Kelly and Miss Adams in a room where Miss Adams had been living, it is said.

Both were taken to the city police station. Kelly was locked up and a physician had Miss Adams sent to the Jameson Memorial hospital.

The cause of the quarrel was not brought out when Kelly appeared before Mayor Mayne in police court.

According to Kelly he formerly lived at 3214 Fourth avenue, Beaver Falls, and also in Cleveland. His home is in New Kensington and he is a landscape engineer by occupation, he told the mayor.

State Democrats Are Jubilant

Victories Are Claimed For Entire State Ticket By Lawrence

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 7.—Supreme joy came to Pennsylvania's Democrats today as this rock-ribbed Republican state tumbled into the Democratic ranks for the first time in ages.

So great was their jubilation that the Democrats ignored final returns and proclaimed themselves victors. While Joseph M. Guffey, Pittsburgh, graciously acknowledged his triumph in the senatorial race over the Republican stalwart, Senator David A. Reed, David L. Lawrence, Democratic state chairman, claimed victories for "the entire Democratic ticket".

Both he and Guffey said the outcome was a victory for President Roosevelt and the "New Deal".

"While complete figures are not available," Lawrence said, "it appears that the next legislature will be Democratic and that a majority of the Pennsylvania delegation in Congress will also be Democratic."

He predicted Guffey's majority would reach 100,000 and Earle's 50,000.

Guffey regarded the outcome as "notice to every reactionary in America that the people are back of the President and his program."

For the people of Pennsylvania, Lawrence regarded it as a "red-letter day, marking the emancipation of millions from the yoke of the Mellon-Grundy industrial and financial autocracy."

Guffey thanked his supporters and assured them he will go "to Washington to represent and serve them—all of them."

Must Give Way To Fire Trucks

Motorcycle Patrolman To Arrest Erring Autoists For Interference

"Fire trucks, police cars and ambulances have the right of way here and whenever an autoist hears a siren or sees one of them coming the autoist should pull to the right side of the street and if necessary stop and let them go by" said Chief of Police John Haven today in commenting upon the desire that none of the trucks or cars suffer interference.

It is said that the motorcycle patrolman will answer fire alarms and arrest any autoist who interferes with the progress of the fire trucks.

On almost every fire calls at least two trucks respond, the one from the immediate section of the blaze and the service truck from the central fire department. As a rule the car of the chief or assistant chief of the fire department precedes the fire trucks. As his siren and also that of the trucks blows there is scarcely any excuse for blocking the fire equipment. Automibiles which follow the trucks to a blaze interefere with the firemen and their drivers will be arrested it is said.

Male Drivers In Most Accidents

Failure of motorists to live up to their responsibilities as users of the highways, rather than defective equipment or ordinary traffic hazards, is the most frequent cause of accidents.

R. W. Boisinger, president of the New Castle Motor Club, bases his statement on recent accident studies made by the National Headquarters of the American Automobile Association.

"These studies" he said; "serve to emphasize the part that carelessness and disregard for the rights of others plays in the staggering toll of fatalities and injuries resulting from highway mishaps. For example, a study of 1923 accidents shows that in eight out of ten the vehicles involved were going straight ahead. In an equal number, the weather was clear and the surface of the highway dry. And in more than nine out of ten, the vehicles were in apparently good condition.

"Male drivers are involved in 91.69 per cent of accidents and female drivers in the remaining 8.31 per cent."

"Other interesting statistics with regard to highway accidents were cited as follows:

"More people were killed and injured in highway accidents on Sundays than any other day of the week. This is due to the greater use of rural highways and concentration of traffic on highways leading to resorts and play places.

"The danger hour for accidents is from five to six o'clock in the afternoon, although there are more deaths from accidents which occur between seven and eight o'clock in the evening."

DEVELOPED BY AMERICAN INITIATIVE

THE telephone was invented in America.

American enterprise and initiative took it and from it developed telephone service as we know it today.

Fundamental research and discovery provided the equipment.

Then, energetic promotion of the telephone business made industry conscious of the value of this entirely new method of rapid personal communication.

THE usefulness of the telephone in the home was also demonstrated—it enlarges horizons, it breaks the monotony of house work for wives and mothers, it extends friendships and social contacts, contributing to greater comfort and ease of living.

Rural America was approached—and the farmer quickly sensed the advantage of telephone service. American rural life today enjoys a communication service practically unknown in the rest of the world.

AMERICAN initiative with American inventive genius and American business methods has produced—and will continue to produce—the best telephone service in the world. Rickenbacker Plans New Hop

Will Make One-Stop Flight Across Continent With Eleven Passengers

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 6.—A spectacular one-stop flight from Los Angeles to New York in a high-powered, twin-motor passenger airplane carrying eleven persons will be attempted some time this week by Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, famous flyer, in an effort to smash the transcontinental record of thirteen hours and two minutes which he established last February.

Rickenbacker said today he hopes to streak on a "bee line" from coast to coast in about twelve hours, making one stop at Kansas City for refueling.

This will be the first time a passenger plane will make the transcontinental flight with but one stop.

Trees Planted On Watersheds

Companies Realize Importance Of Protecting Source Of Supply

HARRISBURG, Nov. 6.—"Water companies in Pennsylvania, both private and municipal, realize the importance of a complete forest cover on their watersheds," said Director Charles R. Meek of the Bureau of Forest Extension. "During 1934, thirty-three privately owned water companies and forty municipalities purchased over 1,100,000 trees from the Department of Forests and Waters, most of which were planted about reservoirs, along streams and near springs."

The largest planting was made by the Hanover Municipal Water Works with 160,000 seedlings and transplants. Following closely was the City of Franklin which planted 140,000.

"For watersheds," Mr. Meek continued, "evergreens are preferred as the needles are not likely to accumulate in the water. Experience has shown that red, white, pitch, Banks, and Scotch pines are preferable and can be planted anywhere in the State with reasonable assurance of success."

Seedlings for reforestation purposes may be purchased from the Department of Forests and Waters at $2 per thousand, and transplants at $5 per thousand.

Income Tax Ruling Made

Taxpayers Can Deduct Charitable Gifts From Capital Gains In Reports

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—The supreme court today ruled that taxpayers can deduct charitable gifts from capital gains in making their income tax returns.

Three cases involving the question were before the court on appeal of the government, all from the second circuit court of appeals in New York. The government sought to compel taxpayers to use the maximum 15 per cent charitable deduction allowed by law only against ordinary net income, excluding capital gains taxes at a different rate.

Wealthy taxpayers chiefly are affected. Under the decision the government may lose large sums in taxes.

For a Bad Cough, Mix This Better Remedy at Home

Quicker, Lasting Relief. Big Saving! No Cooking!

Here's an old home remedy your mother knew, but, for real results, it is still the best thing ever known for severe coughs. Try it once, and you'll swear by it.

It's no trouble at all. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking is needed—a child could do it.

Now put 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of actually better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for four times the money. It keeps perfectly, tastes fine, and lasts a family a long time.

And there is positively nothing like it for quick action. You can feel it take hold instantly. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm, soothes and heals the inflamed membranes, and clears the air passages. No cough remedy, at any price, could be more effective.

Pinex is a compound of Norway Pine, in concentrated form, famous as a healing agent for throat and bronchial membranes. It is guaranteed to please you, or money refunded.

Titans Prepare For Waynesburg Game

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Nov. 7. Coaches Bill and Tom Gilbane and a squad of 24 Westminster College players will leave here late Friday afternoon for Waynesburg where Frank Wolf's Waynesburg College Yellowjackets will be played Saturday in an important district game.

The Titans, with three victories and one tie game in competition with teams in their own class, face the outstanding small-college eleven in Waynesburg. The Jackets defeated Geneva 19-0 last Saturday, and Westminster looks for the hardest game on the schedule.

No injuries resulted from the Grove City game last Saturday, and the Gilbane brothers will probably start the same eleven men who faced the Grovers. These include Arrowsmith, Sweeney, Laraway, and Staples in the backfield; and Austen, Watt, Burry, Young, Helmick, Straw, and Franklin on the line.

The Titans will travel by bus and will make their headquarters Friday night and Saturday morning either in Washington or in Waynesburg. A large crowd of students will follow the team, but most of these will not leave until Saturday morning.

Following the Waynesburg game, the Titans play Muskingum on Friday afternoon, November 16; and Geneva at home on November 24 to close the hard ten-game schedule.

New Castle, Sharon Prepare For Battle

New Castle High Faces Tough Battle At Sharon Saturday; Orange Team Anxious

New Castle High school "Red Hurricane" football team will find an anxious eleven in Sharon High Saturday waiting for revenge for the defeat handed them last year at Taggart Stadium.

It is no secret that Coach Dave Stewart would like to win the New Castle game more than any one on the 1934 schedule. Sharon came here last year with a highly touted team and took a licking, and for that reason they would like to even things up with the Lawrence Countians.

With Raskowski, Fleming, Cox, Donegan and Steritz not likely to see action against Sharon, the locals are going to be up against tough opposition.

The game Saturday will start at 2:30 o'clock. The game will be played in the new Sharon High stadium.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

While hunting on a farm near Waynesburg, Pa., Jim Kent, a constable of that district, shot four times and killed six squirrels which may not be good arithemetic but appears to be exceptional shooting. His first shot brought down a pair of bushytails. His second and third were good for singles and on the fourth shot he doubled again. He has refused to name the spot where he made his record.

Staging one of his sensational stretch finishes, C. V. Whitney's Equipoise splashed mud and water in the faces of five rivals to win the Whitney gold trophy, headline event of the United Hunts one day meeting at Belmont park yesterday.

Back from a tour of Ireland, England and France, which he postponed until he could regain his welterweight title from Barney Ross, Jimmy McLarnin bounded ashore at New York City and announced he would like to take a few more cracks at Ross.

Dizzy and Paul Dean, hurling aces for the World championship Cardinals conferred with President Sam Breadon anent their 1935 salary yesterday, reached no decision and will not go into a huddle with Breadon again until next January. Dizzy wants $25,000, and Paul, $15,000, for next year.

The best conditions for growing lilies of the valley are found in a location where there can be heat below, light from above and shade from the sides. PISTONS CAN WEAR 65 TIMES FASTER ON WINTER DAYS

Atlantic Winter Oils minimize this danger by providing higher film-strength

IMPROVEMENT HAILED AS REVOLUTIONARY

WINTER puts a tremendous strain on your automobile. Tests show that piston wear can be 65 times greater than normal during the warming-up period on cold days. That's when you need an oil that gives an extra margin of protection. And you get it . . . with the new ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS for Winter!

These oils have a remarkable new characteristic . . . EXTREMELY HIGH FILM-STRENGTH. They will prolong the life of the working parts of your engine, and should definitely mean fewer repair bills for you.

Film-strength is important because if an oil is not strong enough, it is apt to allow metal-to-metal contact in your engine . . . and costly wear is caused. This is particularly true during cold weather.

Play safe! Don't gamble with your engine . . . it's too expensive. Change now to the correct winter grade of the new ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS. * * * You will get the best results if you use them undiluted, so we suggest that you be sure to drain your crankcase before putting in ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS for Winter.

WILL ALLOW SLED RIDING ON SOME STREETS

Council Plans To Take Action

Will Designate Streets For Coasters — Fix Auto Speed Limit

CITY WILL NOT BE RESPONSIBLE

Owing to the proximity of winter weather and its accompanying snowfalls, members of council yesterday viewed certain thoroughfares which the Parent-Teachers association months ago asked council to set aside for sled riding purposes, this winter.

Council indicated today that, at a future meeing, a bill would be submitted designating certain streets on which sled riding will not be prohibited. The bill to be introduced will also designate the speed of automobiles and trucks on such streets.

By having the bill provide that sled riding is not prohibited on the streets, the measure once enacted into a city law will not make the city liable for accident as the city cannot close any street to traffic for sled riding purposes, according to Solicitor White.

Create Speed Limit

The only way the city can close a street is on account of danger. If a person owns property along a street access to and from the property cannot be prohibited, hence council's intention of passing a measure stating that "sled riding is not prohibited" and creating a speed limit on such streets.

Streets Mentioned

Council indicated today that the proposed ordinance will say that sled riding is not prohibited on thoroughfares as follows:

Lathrop street, East Washington to William streets.

Stanton avenue, from Rose avenue south.

Delaware avenue, Moody to Park avenue.

Leasure avenue, Albert street to Highland avenue.

"Snakes Rest" hill, leading from Wilmington avenue into the hollow.

Locust street, from Moody avenue south.

West Rebecca Way, east to Harbor street.

West North street.

"We are going to arrange things this winter, so that, there will be no sled riders hitching sleds to automobiles or trucks" said Solicitor White in commenting on the proposed city law. "If anyone is caught doing so he or she will be taken into custody, his sled confiscated and he or she will be turned over to the juvenile officer or held at the city police station until their parents call for them and agree that their children will stop the practice. Autoists who permit hitching to their cars will be fined," he said.

Council has not acted officially on the matter but according to Councilman Davies it will be brought before the body in official meeting in the near future. Council is decided that it will take no action that will make the city responsible for accidents.

Japan's Common Sense.

Upton Sinclair News.

How Many Would Die?

Smuggling Chinese.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

JAPAN IS busy fortifying South Sea islands that she holds under mandate of the League of Nations, and complaint is made aimlessly.

Nothing to surprise anybody in that fortification news. Japan is an intelligent country.

It takes a country with statesmanship in the dodo class, like ourselves, to possess Guam, and fail to fortify the place because polite Britishers, acting as mouthpiece for Japan, requested us not to do so.

IT IS ONLY fair to tell Japan and other countries, beginning to look upon the United States as an "easy mark," easy to rob by borrowing money, easy to beat in war, that we are not as weak in all lines as we are in statesmanship.

We are fairly able inventors, and good manufacturers. Among the men that patrol the highways of California and other states, typical of American youth, you could easily select 1,000 that, on even terms, could beat two thousand of any other country. And this is mentioned as plain matter of fact, free from boasting.

ALSO, OUR Japanese friend, for whom we have only the kindest feelings, are warned to look with suspicion on national cocksureness, based on conquest of China and Russia.

Beating China was about as dangerous and difficult as for a mouse to gnaw holes in a large cheese.

And beating Russia under the Czars and Grand Dukes was beating nothing at all.

Nobody questions the great fighting power of Japan, but it has still to be tested and proved. A trial with new Russia under Stalin would be enlightening.

NO COMPARISON between the fighting power of Japan and the United States is necessary because there will never be any such FIGHTING and comparisons, as Samuel Johnson remarked, are odious.

Friendliness is shown in the greeting given by Japan to our national hero, "Babe" Ruth.

Sixty-five thousand Japanese paid good yen to see Ruth play baseball in Tokio, and Ruth's victory by 17 to 1 was applauded heartily.

It will not always be 17 to 1. Those that have watched the Japanese swim, play tennis, etc., know that if Japan wants to play baseball Japan WILL play baseball.

FOR YOUR information, without any guarantee from one who has not visited California since the campaign began, the best informed man in that state sends this message:

"Upton Sinclair will NOT be elected."

If the prediction proves accurate, it means postponement of an experiment that may have to come sooner or later.

It might have been a little expensive, but perhaps it would have been as well to make that experiment along with others. The wise surgeon performing a major abdominal operation "snips off" the vermiform appendix as he passes it.

PRESIDENT KNUBEL, of the United Lutheran Church of America, worries about the future of religion. Anti-religious forces, he says, are growing constantly in this and other countries, hundreds of millions of people are "spiritually blind." The Rev. Dr. Knubel asks:

"How do you know that in two years from now you might not be asked to die for your faith?"

Let us hope it will not be as bad as that, while wondering respectfully how many would be willing to die, or like the ancient martyrs, court death for the sake of martyrdom?

THERE ARE various ways of making a living in America, that finds it so difficult to conquer lawlessness. One way is to smuggle in Chinese, inflicting fearful hardships upon the unfortunate immigrant Chinese, and charging them from $1,000 to $1,500 for bringing them here.

Smuggling Chinese is connected with the opium traffic; while smuggling Chinese you can also smuggle with each one a considerable amount of opium.

Federal agents looking for opium found eighteen frightened Chinese in an isolated house in New Jersey, guarded by a powerful Negro from Trinidad and five police dogs that would have mangled the unfortunate creatures had they tried to escape. Friends expected to bring the fee for smuggling them in failed to appear, hence their detention.

The eighteen were included in a party of thirty-eight Chinese, taken from China one month ago, hidden in the hold of a freight steamer. Four, becoming very ill, were thrown overboard; sixteen, whose friends paid the smuggling fee, were liberated.

This will interest Attorney General Cummings and President Roosevelt.

THE ACHIEVEMENT of the admirable fliers, Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith and his pilot, Capt. P. G. Taylor, proves that the United States knows how to build airplanes.

The plane that came across the Pacific from Honolulu, 2,408 miles, in 15 hours, beating by ten hours the best record, is an American Lockheed plane, built at Glendale, Cal., and the engine was built by the American Pratt & Whitney Aircraft company.

If the United States should ever get really interested in building the world's greatest air fleet, as it will do, or bitterly regret it, the material is at hand.

FAST COMMERCIAL flying will take a new start when Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, best American air fighter developed in the big war, starts to beat the Pacific-to-Atlantic flight record with a transport plane, carrying six passengers besides himself and two other pilots, with a dead load of 5,750 pounds.

Rickenbacker's plan is to fly at an average height of seventeen thousand feet, pilots and passengers supplied with oxygen artificially. Rickenbacker hopes to fly the 2,626 miles in less than ten hours.

EVERY WEEK, according to their able guardian, Dr. Defoe, the five little Dionne quintuplet girls look more and more alike.

Necklaces and lockets with their initials will be fastened around their little necks to avoid mistakes.

The five babies are now more than five months and one week old, proving what good care will do. Before the Dionne girls arrived, no quintuplets had ever lived as much as fifty minutes.

Illicit Traffic In Drug Broken Up In Larger Cities

START DRIVE ON PEDDLERS

HARRISBURG, Nov. 7.—Harold V. Smith, chief of the State Health Department's narcotic division, today reported that while the large city rings dealing in the illicit marihuana traffic have been broken up, a State-wide drive is now under way to eliminate activities of peddlers in many less populous centers.

Facts reaching the narcotic division, based on investigations made by both Federal and State agents, reveal a larger traffic in the sale of these insanity-provoking cigarettes than was at first expected.

"While effective measures have been taken in the large cities to limit the activities of centralized rings dealing in marihuana cigarettes, nevertheless there has developed a net work of activities, State-wide in scope, that has developed a real problem for Federal and State enforcement officers," said Smith. "The effect of this weed upon persons using it is a release of normal inhibitions. It is therefore being introduced to groups of young men and women as a stimulating and unrestraining whoopee adjunct.

"The Department of Health and Federal officials have repeatedly warned parents, as well as school children, concerning the direful consequences of the use of marihuana. Repressive measures, often quietly undertaken and quietly concluded, have been successful. However, the real weapon against this traffic lies in an informed public. Parents and teachers should advise their children to avoid any advances made by strangers or even friends to use cigarettes containing marihuana."

Campaign In Behalf Of Two Issues At New Wilmington

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Nov. 7.—Westminster College students and members of the New Wilmington high school students body were actively engaged in political campaigning on Monday night and early Tuesday. The college band, directed by Professor D. O. Cameron, headed a parade through New Wilmington and Lawrence county on Monday night; while the high school band, directed by Elizabeth Rose, headed a parade early Tuesday.

Two local issues brought out the college and high school students. One was the local option vote concerning the sale of intoxicating liquors in the college town. New Wilmington voted out liquor selling. The second local issue was the acquistion of the swimming pool by the borough. The outdoor swimming pool, built by the swimming pool association with private subscriptions and the sale of bonds, would be taken over by the borough. This issue was also won.

Westminster College students and officials were vitally interested in both issues, desiring that no liquor be sold in town and that the town acquire the outdoor swimming pool.

Mix Best Cough Remedy At Home. Easy! Big Saving!

Beats Them All For Quick, Lasting Relief.

If you want the best remedy for severe coughs, mix it at home. Once tried, you'll never use any other kind, and it's so simple and easy.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. A child could do it. No cooking needed.

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. This is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, famous for its healing effect on throat and bronchial membranes.

Put the Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make a full pint of really better medicine than you could buy ready-made for four times the money. It never spoils, and tastes fine.

And for quick, lasting relief, it has no equal. You can feel it penetrating the air passages in a way that means business. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm, soothes and heals the inflamed membranes, makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep.

Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded.

Japan Denies Islands Are Being Fortified

By JAMES R. YOUNG
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1934, By International News Service)

TOKYO, Nov. 6.—Japan is "fortifying" her mandated islands in the Pacific with factories, and the "gunpowder" stored there is nothing more formidable than sugar, an official spokesman for the Japanese navy told International News Service today.

His half-facetitious statement was prompted by renewed charges voiced at Geneva that Japan is strengthening her military and naval position by erecting fortifications on the former German island possessions in the Pacific that were given to her under mandate at the close of the World war.

Ever since the issue was first raised more than a year ago, Japan has steadfastly insisted that she is violating no provisions of the mandate by improving and developing the islands placed under her charge.

The allegations voiced before the League of Nations mandates commission at Geneva that fortifications are being built are naturally of great interest to the United States, as the Japanese islands are close to the Philippines and the American island of Guam.

The Geneva commission has called upon the Japanese government for an official explanation, and it may safely be assumed that Tokyo's formal answer will be identical with the navy office's statement to International News Service—namely that factories do not constitute fortifications and sugar could never be used as gunpowder.

Despite all charges and inferences to the contrary, Japan insists she has never violated the international regulations imposed under the mandates and has never restricted international traffic. The government makes the significant point, however, that all ports in the mandates are not equipped for the entrance and clearance of foreign vessels.

This point may be brought out in answer to the report that an American vessel carrying scientists was not permitted to dock in the Ladrone islands, the group Japan was accused of fortifying before yesterday's session of the league mandate's commission.

Cow On Highway, Auto Is Wrecked

Hromyak Swerves Machine, Plunges Into Pole On Mt. Jackson Road

Two automobile accidents in which no persons were injured occurred during the past 24 hours on Lawrence County highways, according to State Highway patrolmen. One of the accidents was caused by a cow which was on the highway.

According to Patrolman Stoopes, Joseph Hromyak, 105 West Wallace avenue, was driving on the Mt. Jackson road near where a turn is made for Petersburg, O.

He saw a cow on the highway and in an effort to avoid hitting the bovine swerved his car and it struck a telephone pole almost completely ruining his automobile, according to Stoopes.

Patrolman Hoyman, reported that Miss Elva Caplan, Wampum, was driving beyond Willow Grove toward Wampum on Route 18 and the lights from the machine of J. A. Mielke, R. D. 8, New Castle, blinded her.

Miss Caplan's car which was ascending the hill and Mielke's auto which was descending the hill, collided. No one was injured.

Editor Is Heard At U. C. T. Rally

Recovery Is Businessman's Job, Columbus Man Declares At Dinner

Upon the shoulders of America's businessmen—its salesmen, its merchants and its manufacturer's—rests the job of restoring business prosperity to the nation, James G. Daly, Columbus, editor of "Sample Case" national salesmen's magazine, declared before a dinner audience of 60 local members of the United Commercial Travelers at the Elks club last night.

The editor challenged the group to "get together" to form a united front in the drive to restore the economic order as it once was.

Around the dinner tables as Mr. Daly spoke, sat the members of the New Castle Council, No. 408 U. C. T. and guests who came from the New Castle district and other points. Two visiting U. C. T. officers were also present.

Presiding as chairman of the program was Charles A. Brookover past senior councillor of the local group. Judge R. Lawrence Hildebrand, who delivered a short address, introduced Mr. Day.

Devoting his message to a timely topic for businessmen, Editor Daly, the supreme junior councillor of the national U. C. T. organization and a leader in its drive to revive business, asserted emphatically that "it's up to businessmen to set the country right again."

Wyatt R. Campbell was chairman of arrangements for the evening.

Editor Daly speaks tonight before a booster rally sponsored by the United Commercial Travelers at Beaver Falls. He also spoke here before a mass meeting of men's Bible classes of the city churches at the First M. E. church on "We Like Sheep Have Gone Astray."

W. O. "Red" Williams led the pep singing last night with E. E. Branstetter as pianist.

Textile Workers Must Be Re-Hired

Textile Strike Cannot End Satisfactorily Until Workers Are Re-Hired

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—The textile strike cannot be satisfactorily ended and peace restored to the industry until all workers who left the plants during the strike, and who did not engage in lawless violence, are returned to their former positions.

This announcement was made today by the textile labor relations board, which said that this was a fundamental issue which must be met.

"The board expects the industry to reemploy those who were in the mills before the strike without further delay, and without discrimmination," the statement said. "Other important matters concerning the industry demand the attention of the board and should receive it."

The textile strike was terminated in September. In the majority of mills those who went out on strike have been taken back without question, but the board is still receiving numberous complaints that strikers are not being rehired and that many are being evicted from company houses.

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 6—An appeal to Pennsylvanians to contribute to the annual Red Cross roll call for funds was issued today by Gov. Gifford Pinchot in a statement pointing out that the organization's responsibilities are even greater now than usual.

"In addition to helping individuals and families, the Red Cross work of service to veterans, public health nursing, home hygiene, first aid, life saving and junior Red Cross must go on," the governor said. "I urge every Pennsylvanian who can possibly do so to contribute to the Red Cross for 1935 so that a great and good work can go on."

The drive for funds is from November 11 to Thanksgiving day.

Believe Koppel Man Is Suicide

Recover Body Of Batista Benetti In Beaver River In Koppel Yesterday

THOUGHT TO HAVE JUMPED FROM BRIDGE

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 7.—The body of a man, who was only identified this morning was recovered from the Beaver river, two miles below Koppel, yesterday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock. He was Batista Benetti, aged about 50 of Koppel.

The circumstances of the case point to a suicide. Mr. Jacobs, a foreman of the P. and L. E. Railroad found a Stetson hat and overcoat of a man on the Koppel bridge yesterday afternoon. Other evidence near-by and on the banks of the river indicated that someone had jumped off the bridge.

When the body of the man had been recovered and identified, officials interviewed the family of the man and proclaimed the suicide theory a certainty. Benetti had been despondent over ill health and had been sulky of late. He is survived by his widow and five children.

Ellwood City Is Democratic

Democratic Candidates Carry Every Ward In Surprise Election Here Tuesday

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 7.—Ellwood City, which has been a Republican stronghold for years, has gone Democratic in a big way after Tuesday's election.

The Democrats won out in the city nearly 3 to 1. Their candidates carried every ward. Even the third ward, which has always polled a strong Republican vote, went Democrat to the above ratio.

Paul Cartwright, Republican nominee for the state legislature, did not carry his city or his own ward. A big vote was cast in the city. The total was 3,367. The vote by wards was as follows: First 664, second (first precinct) 629, second precinct 235, third ward 649, fourth (first precinct 425, second precinct 424, fifth 341.

With one exception the surrounding vicinity went Democrat. The Republican candidates in Perry township (precinct 1) won out, except in the race for assembly second district, where Kelso defeated Cartwright. The remainder of Perry, Wayne townships and Ellport voted Democrat. Figures appear in a chart elsewhere in this issue.

Ellwood To Meet New Brighton Hi

Benedictmen Hope To Redeem Themselves At Lincoln Field On Saturday

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 7.—With only two games left to play and being put in an embarrassing position, the Ellwood City high eleven has settled down to some hard work in an effort to redeem itself for its showing against Aliquippa high last Saturday, when New Brighton invades this city on Saturday.

The locals are priming for New Brighton and are showing some of their former zip, pep and determination. The Ellwoodians realize that they will be up against a tough proposition next Saturday with New Brighton. The Roarkmen have come along gradually to be rated as a formidable foe. They lost to Ambridge 6-0, where Aliquippa lost 14-0. New Brighton presents a hard running backfield led by Teddy Mujwit, sensational performer. If the Tubers are to stop the Crimson they will have to prepare a defense for him.

Local fans and supporters of the Benedict eleven are disappointed with its showing. They are convinced that the team has strength and ability, but has lost its spark for no apparent reason. They are being accused of laying down. The team does not relish this at all and has made it known by its workouts on the field. An altogether different and improved performance is expected Saturday.

New Homes and Old in Egypt was the topic for discussion and it was presented in an interesting manner by Miss Ruth Badger as leader. Plans were made for the annual thank offering which will be held on Sunday, November 11.

Following an informal social period a tempting luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. James Hazen and Mrs. Lester Pander. The next meeting will be a Christmas party to be held on Tuesday, December 4, at the home of Mrs. Francis Kirk in Wurtemburg.

Duplicate-Contract Club Has Meeting

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 7.—Mrs. Ray Aylesworth dispensed charming hospitality last evening when she entertained the members of the Duplicate-Contract club at her home on Beachwood boulevard. Mrs. Howell Jenkins was a special guest.

Large Crowds Of Young People Turn Out For New Orchestra And Chorus

With various groups filling every part of the building the Y. W. C. A. resembled a school and conservatory of music Tuesday night.

There was a huge turn-out of young men and women for the orchestra and chorus. The orchestra, organized a week ago, is under the supervision of Prof. Jos. F. Replogle, while the chorus, organized last night, is in charge of Mrs. Replogle. Both are being very enthusiastically received. More members will be accepted for both musical groups and another meeting will be held next Tuesday. Mrs. Robert Fleming donated to the orchestra a large amount of sheet music.

At the same time a class in review shorthand was being conducted by Miss Genevieve Riddle and was attended by fifty young women. Simultaneously the True Blue Circle, composed of Shenango Pottery girls, enjoyed an evening of recreation.

A few hours previously 100 Girl Reserves from Benjamin Franklin junior high enjoyed roller skating and bowling in the gymnasium.

The young people of New Castle are showing great interest in the various classes offered by the "Y." They are fortunate in having expert teachers volunteer their leadership, making possible the classes free of any fees.

This afternoon the home-making class will meet for a demonstration of the care of electrical equipment, while on Thursday afternoon the class in remodeling of clothes will meet, followed in the evening at 7:30 o'clock by the gym class.

Colleges Charge Too Much Money For Grid Games

Would Have Bigger Crowds At Reduced Prices, Says Davis J. Walsh

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—College football, which is succeeding in not making much money this year in a very furious way, is seriously alarmed, they tell me, by the shortage of sucker money at this time and is wondering just what can be done about it. I don't profess to know what can or will be done about it, only what won't. They won't reduce the price of tickets, this suggestion being in line with that impulsive, broad-minded way I have with other peoples money.

Nevertheless, the answer is found in the 15,000 to 25,000 crowds where back in the flash era you couldn't get in without a dispensation from Washington, and in the play those dollar seats get back there behind the end zone where you see the ball game strictly on the bias. Even in this case, they're asking too much for too little.

Prices Too High

It isn't that football interest is off! On the contrary, it was never so tremendous as it has been this season, with millions being bet every Saturday in pools and handbooks. But at $3.50 and $4.40 a ticket, it's simpler to read the papers the next morning.

The crowds at both ends of the Pitt Stadium and the acres of empty seats along the sidelines were a rebuke to the management at the recent Pitt-U. S. C. game. Considering its background, it might have sold the place out, if the price was right. The same thing happened with Columbia and Cornell on Saturday, with only 15,000 in the stands. There's more than 15,000 Columbia men alone on the campus of any given school day.

Many Empty Seats

On the same afternoon, Harvard and Princeton, re-united after eight years, played to a half-empty stadium. So did Yale and the Army a few weeks ago, with Fordham and Tennessee doing only 25,000 Saturday.

The big ten seems to be having a fair year on the books but the west coast crowds are not what they were, if accounts of the big games out there are credible. Of course, you can't sell U. S. C. on its record this year and California, I suspect, couldn't even be given away. But in the days of the gold rush out there they were asking in August for tickets in November.

Probably the only sections that have not felt the pinch are the south and certain spots in the middle west. The south, for instance, never went for the big money idea. It, therefore, can get a bottle of rubbing alcohol without going to the First National Bank.

King Levinsky To Seek Annulment

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—If King Levinsky, the heavyweight ex-fish peddler, has his way he will get an anullment of his marriage to Roxanne Eveleyn Glickman, fan dancer.

Levinsky today had an answer to his wife's suit for divorce on file. She had charged cruelty and infidelity. The heavyweight charged in his answer that the marriage was part of conspiracy to exploit his name.

Ralph Miller Shoots Red Fox

Ralph Miller, of Vine street, this city, was the first to bag a fox in this vicinity this year, he having brought down a red fox on the first day of the season, according to reports received today. He was hunting with Kenneth Smith of Aliquippa in the vicinity of Slippery Rock. Last hunting season they were hunting together on the first day, and Smith got a fox.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Primo Carnera, former heavyweight champion who was decrowned by Max Baer, has turned his fists again toward making a livelihood and his next opponent will be Victorio Campolo, Argentina heavyweight. They have been matched for a 12 round battle at Buenos Aires. The arena in which they will fight has a capacity of 40,000. The date of the bout is November 24.

Mexico City detectives are searching for W. H. Hollifield, of Los Angeles and two Mexicans, promoters of the Arizmendi-Armstrong bout held at Mexico City. Each of the principals was to have been paid $10,000. The promoters took a fade-out powder, and the fighters didn't get their $10,000, each.

Young Peter Jackson, lightweight who proved a phenom in California, muffed his first chance in New York when he dropped a decision but his pleading has earned him a chance to redeem himself at Madison Square garden. His opponent will be Tony Falco of Philadelphia who set back Jackson for the loss of his first decision in the east.

The Cincinnati National Football franchise and players will be transferred to St. Louis this week...Dizzy and Paul Dean have now turned their thoughts toward what salary they will ask for next season. They would like $40,000 between them, $25,000, for Dizzy and $15,000, for Paul.

The Cement City pig skin chasers will pin their hopes on Frankie Navarro and Alfred Glass, who rate among the best football players turned out at Bessemer in some years. Bessemer's line is loaded with power this year. New Brighton is the only eleven boasting of a triumph over Coach Fredericks' combination.

Andrews, Unions Are Deadlocked

Two New Castle Bowling Teams Tied For First Place

ANDREWS HIGH FOR ONE GAME

In the Beaver-Lawrence County Tenpin league there still exists a tie for first place between the Andrews Unions, both from New Castle. The best matches of the week were furnished by the tailenders, the Webbers getting 2752 against West Aliquippa's 2873, both of these totals being high for the past week's bowling. In this match Shaffolo again was the class of the setto, getting a 644 total, Carl being a second best with 590 for his team. In the first game West Aliquippa totalled 1040 to win its only game, while the Webbers, by rolling three consistent 900 scores, managed to win the odd game. Holcomb with a 591, showed his team-mates the way, followed by Bauer with 566.

The Unions-Ludwig games furnished the most excitement and hair-raising finish when after each team had put a game in the win column the third game ended in a tie, necessitating a roll off in which the visitors won by seven pins, principally due to Minor striking out in the extra frame. For the Unions, Thompson's efforts were noteworthy in that he scored 12 consecutive strikes, they coming, however, in two separate games. His total of 631 was high for the match, Morrow being an able assistant in their wins with a 583. For Ludwig, Merle again showed his teammates the way with a 562, closely followed by Wires 556 and Martin 545.

The Andrews team won the odd game from the American Legion team with a 2712 against the Legion's 2646. Zahorsky with a 608, the best of the match, tried to stave off defeat, but the concerted effort of Picarro and McCormick with 593 and 554 respectively were not to be denied. Cline, a newcomer in the Andrews lineup, got off to a good start with a 194.

At Ellwood City, the visiting Beaver Falls Boosters dropped two games to Captain McDonald's Shelby team, in which the winners in the total score excelled only by 29 pins. McDonald's 580 was high for the match while Vollmer's 544 was second best. But two double centuries were cracked in the three games, one by McDonald, 216, and the other by Kerstatter, 200.

The team standing at the end of the fifth week's competition is as follows:

Team Standing	W.	L.	Pct.
Andrews	10	5	.666
Unions	10	5	.666

New Castle Will Play At Sharon

"Red Hurricane" Starts Preparing For Invasion Of Sharon Saturday

New Castle high school "Red Hurricane" football team will go to Sharon Saturday for a tussle with the big Orange and Black clad warriors of Sharon high. Coach Phil Bridenbaugh started practice this afternoon. The squad was given a rest Monday after the hard battle with New Kensington.

New Castle will be rather well crippled up for the game at Sharon, with Captain Raskowski, Fleming, Cox, Siritz and Donegan doubtful to see action in the game.

Coach Bridenbaugh will start to build a new team this week. The coach was not well pleased with the 0-0 tie with New Ken high. Sharon will give New Castle a tough engagement at the new spacious Sharon high stadium.

Injured Lions May Play Against Penn

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Nov. 6.—Unless more Penn State football players are injured during the coming week of practice, the Nittany Lions should be able to put their most powerful lineup of the season on Franklin Field this Saturday for the University of Pennsylvania game.

In addition to Captain Merrill Morrison, halfback, who has been out of the last three encounters, two wingmen, Frank Smith and Lee Sunday, should be off the disabled list. Smith is a regular while Sunday is a first line reserve end.

Morrison could have played against Syracuse Saturday, but Coach Bob Higgins thought it best not to take any chances with the Nittany leader in hopes that he will be in fine mettle for the Quaker game. Morrison will be playing in his home town this week, having graduated from Central High School with Lou Kreizman, regular Nittany guard.

Shenango-Union To Play Friday

Union High Will Go To Shenango High Field For Game Friday Afternoon

Shenango high football team and Union high gridders will battle it out Friday afternoon for second place in the county championship race. Both teams have lost to Bessemer high which leaves the Fredericks coached team the titleholders. The game at Shenango will start at 3 o'clock.

Coach Davey Boyd is drilling the Unionites hard this week in preparation for the game, and Coach Eddie Raney is also giving Shenango a lot of attention this week.

EINTRACHTS TO MEET

The members of the Eintrachts young men's basketball team will have a practice session tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Eintracht hall with Coach Norman Buckingham directing the rehearsal. It is important that all members of the floor team report tonight. The Eintrachts expect to put a winning team on the floor this season.

QUICK KICKS

The unbeaten and untied list of major football teams has now dwindled to nine, with Army, Dartmouth and Chicago having been eliminated last Saturday. Only Navy, Princeton, Syracuse, Tulane, Alabama, Minnesota, Illinois, Michigan State and Washington remain....Lieutenant-Commander John H. Brown, Jr., football officer at the Naval Academy, was an all-American guard there in 1913 and was line coach in the three following years...Coach Carl Snavely likes his North Carolina football players to be rough and tough but he will not let them swear or drink beer...Minnesota's victory over Michigan was their first on their home field over the Wolverines since 1892...Gil Dobie, Cornell mentor, has coached more undefeated football teams than any coach in the "big time", an even dozen...Julie Bescos, captain and end at Southern California, kept in condition during the summer by digging ditches.

When Charles Goodwin, star end of the West Virginia U. team, was a freshman he was too confident to suit Coach Earle Neale, so the coach made him walk the campus with a sign on his back reading, "I'm Cocky". The next week Goodwin wore a sign of his own design which read, "I'm Still Cocky."...Buzz Borries of the Navy has scored ten touchdowns this season and averaged ten points a game...When Detroit and Michigan State play their football game, the Titans will be quiet familiar with the plays of their foe. The entire Detroit team scouted State in the Carnegie Tech game...Although Columbia has an enrollment of 35,000 students, a majority of them are taking post graduate work and are ineligible for football...The Wake Forest college line this year averages 207 pounds and the entire first team averages 199 pounds.

Dick Harlow, coach at Western Maryland, has worked a defense against forward passing that draws the guards back and gives him more men to cover passes than there are receivers...Some of Frank Carideo's Missouri squad got in shape this summer by carrying equipment to regions infected with mosquitoes...Eugene "Scrapiron" Young, the Notre Dame trainer who dashes out on the field to fix up the football team during time-out periods, was formerly a two-miler on the Irish track team...Northwestern has defeated Notre Dame only once since they began playing in 1898...Toots Douglas, who played football for Tennessee and Navy, once made a kick that covered 108 yards...There were some 2,000,000 bricks used in the construction of the Notre Dame stadium. If they were laid end to end they would stretch from the campus to Cleveland, a distance of 300 miles.

When St. Mary's, from away out on the Pacific coast, played its first game of intercollegiate football it was defeated by the University of California....Football is still considered as the most dangerous sport with polo second and wrestling third....Sewanee's football team played Texas, Tulane, Louisiana, Mississippi, and the Texas Aggies on five successive days in 1889 and beat them all....Jim Thorpe scored a total of 198 points for the Carlisle Indians in 1912....Fred Poole, Iowa State punter, averaged 54.4 yards against Iowa, which is one of the best punting records in modern football....Jack Dodd, Nebraska freshman, can kick a football equally well with either foot ....To pass the time away on bus rides, a favorite diversion of football players used to be to try and write down, from memory, all the states of the union. Yale players were doing it one day and one of the fellows came out a little better than the others. However, his teammates protested when they learned he had included Southern California and Tulane.

Morris-Harvey Is Next For Crimson

Coach Bill Amos Will Shift Starting Lineup This Week, Not Satisfied

GROVE CITY, Nov. 6.—The Crimson football squad went back to pre-season methods today as Coach Bill Amos inaugurated a week of practice in preparation for the Morris-Harvey game Saturday. The daily drills will consist largely of tackling and blocking, for the Grover coach was thoroughly displeased with this type of play in Saturday's 2-2 deadlock with Westminster.

Monday was a holiday to permit the Crimson gridders to recover from the bruising battle with the Titans, but the pressure was redoubled when the players reported today. Beaten by a weak Allegheny club, and tied by Westminster, the success of the Grove City season hinges on the last two games, and especially with the Thiel game, so that Amos is redoubling his efforts to correct glaring faults in fundamentals.

The tackling dummy was brought out for the first time in a month, and this work is to be supplemented with long sessions of tackling and blocking work on the field. All linemen are slated for strenuous work, since the Crimson backs were afforded scant protection in the Westminster game.

Grovers Start Floor Practice

Coach Bob Thorn Calls Out Candidates For Grove City Basketball Team

GROVE CITY, Nov. 6.—More than 40 candidates are expected to report to Bob Thorn this evening, in response to the first call for basketball practice. With only Tomko, Soich and Trembath left from the regulars of last season, there will be keen competition on the squad.

Until after Thanksgiving, when the football men will report for indoor work, three evenings will be used each week for basketball practice.

YOUNG PIRATES WIN TWO

Young Pirates over the week end won two football games, handing the Mercer All-Stars a 21 to 6 defeat Saturday and the Colored All-Stars 18 to 0 Sunday. Captain Granato played a fine game against both teams. The Young Pirates are out for the city junior championship.

Waynesburg To Prepare To Meet Titans Saturday

Spectators Will Watch Battle Between Two Diminutive Halfbacks

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Nov. 6—Football rivalry between Waynesburg and Westminster College will be renewed at Waynesburg Saturday November 10, when the Jackets and Titans meet in a pre-Armistice Day clash.

The game holds plenty of "fan appeal" in that a lively battle between two of the district's diminutive halfbacks "Rabb" Currie of Waynesburg and Ray Sweeney of Westminster is expected to rival in interest the game itself.

Both of these youths have been outstanding ball carriers in western Pennsylvania the past few seasons and their grid exploits will live long after they have hung up their spangles for the last time. It will be the next to final appearance on the Waynesburg home grounds of the speedy Rab and the fact that he will be pitted against his prototype from New Wilmington adds much interest to the game.

Waynesburg and Westminster last played in 1932, when the Yellow Jackets took a fiercely fought game by a six to nothing count at Westminster. The upstate school is still smarting under the sting of that two year old setback and naturally will be pointed to avenge the defeat.

A triumph for either eleven in the Waynesburg-Westminster encounter will add much to their final district standing this year as both clubs have been leaders in minor college ratings in recent seasons.

The game will mark the first appearance in Waynesburg of Westminster's new football mentors, the Gilbane brothers and the critical Greene county grid fans are anxious to witness the system of play taught by the two former Brown University stars and to compare it with the original "Krazy Kwilt" system devised by Frank Wolf, the resourceful Waynesburg coach.

Correct this sentence: "It was a clean game," said the coach, "without unnecessary roughness".

THERE and HERE

In Algiers the people who have something to sell cry their wares from a little stall in the market place. And those who buy saunter from stall to stall making their purchases.

But in New Castle we arrange things somewhat better. The purchaser can review every offer from his easy-chair, simply by reading the brief, pointed descriptions in the Classified Columns.

Ask Donations For Henry Home

Friday And Saturday Are Donation Days For Local Home

GOOD RESPONSE IS ANTICIPATED

There can be nothing of much greater importance in a community than caring for its children. Every parent is or should be alive to the vital necessity of building his children physically, mentally and morally. Unfortunately there are some little tads who do not know a mother's or a father's care. Such youngsters as these must depend upon the Margaret L. Henry Childrens Home for care and affection, for food and clothing and all the things that go with a home.

Some of the finest characters in New Castle give their time and ability to the Home. Creed, sect or religion are not considered in the makeup of the officers. The president of the Home is Marcus Feuchtwanger. The Honorary President is David S. Pyle. C. L. McMillen is the secretary, Thomas W. Dickey is treasurer, and the directors are the following. Rufus C. Patterson, Samuel Klafter, Joseph Hannon, Alex Crawford Hoyt, Judge R. L. Hildebrand, Judge James A. Chambers, Roger W. Rowland, Frank A. Schulz, James W. Barnes, Fred C. Wolford, George T. Weingartner and Robetr L. Wallace.

Need Help

These men have carried the load. Some little help is given the home by the county, enough for the maintenance of about 11 children. The rest of the 50 or more that are guests must depend upon the beneficence of such agencies as the Community Chest and the generosity of private citizens.

Each year it has been customary for the people to donate fruit, vegetables and sugar to the home and the women in charge have canned the donations for the winter months. This year these donations are not forcoming and it now becomes necessary to ask the general public for contributions of canned goods.

Friday and Saturday of this week, November 9 and 10, has been set as Donation Days for the Margaret L. Henry Home. Dried fruits and vegetables, macaroni and spaghetti, corn meal, soap powder, canned fruits and canned vagetables, jellies, jams and preserves, pickles or chowder, black and white sewing machine thread No. 60, white boil proof elastic ¼ inch, all of these things are needed. Citizens are asked to bring or send their contributions to 6 West Washington street. Charles W. Read has been appointed chairman of the Donation Days.

For the purpose of gathering the contributions in and seeing that arrangements are made for collecting contributions the following committee of men and women has been named by Mr. Read. Mr. and Mrs. James W. Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Dickey, Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Feuchtwanger, Mr. and Mrs. A. Crawford Hoyt, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Klafter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Read, Mr. and Mrs. Bart Richards, Mr. and Mrs. Roger W. Rowland, Mr. and Francis E. Sowersby, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Wolford and Robert L. Wallace.

PRINCETON

Anna Fishburn spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Shaffer.

Mrs. Mary White, who has been ill for the past two weeks, is still confined to her bed.

Mr. and Mrs. Lafe Shaffer were dinner guests Sunday, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Shaffer.

Mrs. Margaret Wilson, who recently moved to Dayton, Pa., and been very ill, is improving in health.

Rev. McBride and Elmer Baird of Lowellville, were guests of Mr. Baird's relatives in this vicinity, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Fisher and family of Portersville, were guests in the home of Mrs. Margaret Myers, on Sunday.

LONG TIME OFFICE HOLDER LOSES

(International News Service)

MARTINEZ, Cal., Nov. 7.—R. R. Veale, sheriff on Contra Costa county for the last 44 years, apparently was doomed for defeat today in his race for re-election. A check of 95 of 155 precincts gave John Miller 5,299 votes and Veale 3,946.

Sheriff Veale is the "grand old man of sheriffs" in America, having held office for a longer period than any other peace official.

The state of Delaware still retains the whipping post as a means of punishment for criminals.

Japanese Will Renounce Treaty

Japan's Future Naval Policy Has Already Been Decided Upon, Is Report

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 6—So positive is Japan's intention to denounce the Washington treaty, with its 5-5-3 naval ratio, before the end of this year, that naval authorities in Tokyo have completed technical preparations for the step, it was stated today in a Reuter dispatch from Tokyo.

The impasse brought about in the London preliminary naval conversations by Japan's demands for "equality of security" has brought Japan to the final decision to abbrogate the treaty and risk a ship-building race with the United States and Great Britain.

Japan's future naval policy has already been decided upon by naval members of the supreme war council, Reuter's said.

Confirmation of her future policy now awaits only the approval of the emperor's privy council.

Decision of Japan not to renew the Washington treaty, due to expire in 1936, will not affect holding of the 1933 naval conference.

Stock Market Is Dull Today

Election Virtually Ignored In Transactions In Market Today

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The stock market virtually ignored the election results by turning dull and sluggish today with considerable profit taking.

U. S. Steel and Bethlehem after opening moderately higher turned dull and yielded part of their gains. The motor shares including Chrysler and General Motors were heavy and dipped moderately.

Such selling as did make its appearance seemed to center on the railroad shares. There was little to feature the utility shares.

Liquor shares were strong under the leadership of Scheneley apparently reflecting the west victories in Kansas and three other states.

Rail equipments were firm under the lead of Pullman.

Safeguarding Health Of School Children

Safeguarding the health of school children is one of the most important functions of education. In the following article Dr. Mary J. Baker, director of health for the New Castle public schools, discusses the subject.

SAFEGUARDING THE HEALTH OF SCHOOL CHILDREN

The modern trend in health work among school children has so definitely and directly changed its course in the past few years that the whole educational system has been affected by it.

The new thought in the development of a health education program that will safeguard the health of school children is to produce a scientific program of recognized educational value emphasizing hygiene, health citizenship and attitudes, along with the development of a progressive and corrective education program and health service.

The part education plays in producing a nation of healthy people is larger than the public realizes and it is very necessary that any growing program be based on actual needs as shown by incontrovertible facts, rather than upon general theories. As a result the threefold idea as mentioned above has been developed.

The aims of the health instruction program are vital to any community. These aims are: first, to instruct children so that they may conserve and improve their own health; second, to establish in them the habits and principles of living that will assure abundant vigor and vitality through their entire life, thus providing the basis for the greatest possible happiness and service in personal, family and community life; third, to improve the individual and community life of the future and thus develop a healthier nation and race.

Physical education is passing from the contortionistic stage into a scientific program that will be of value to every school child in correcting those postural defects which are already present and prevent others from developing. The new program plans to give to every child the same opportunity for competitive and constructive play, thereby offering the greatest good possible to the greatest number possible.

Adequate health service to safeguard the child's health includes first-class periodic health and dental examinations and first aid and accident prevention, as well as disease prevention. Due to lack of funds and the slow education of the laity, this service has not been developed to its full possibilities. Nevertheless, its growth has been so rapid as to amaze the profession as well as the general public.

The New Castle public schools are giving their pupils the benefit of all aspects of this well-rounded program in so far as their curtailed budget allows. The platoon system used in New Castle makes it possible to have competent health teachers who not only teach health education and supervise the play periods, but who also aid in carrying out the health service program.

At the present time we have a vaccination law that gives adequate protection against smallpox. Sixty-five per cent of our children are protected against diphtheria, having been immunized by our present health service. The dental program, while limited greatly, has been adequate in caring for several thousand children who otherwise would have been without any dental care.

In its present status our health education program for safeguarding the health of our school children emphasizes all aspects of health—physical, mental, social and moral.

Roosevelt Views Democratic Gains With Quiet Ease

Spends Day At Home With Family As He Receives Returns Of Election

(International News Service)

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Nov. 7.—Tired, but supremely happy, President Roosevelt remained silent within his comfortable home on the Hudson river here today, and watched late returns roll into reveal the most sweeping Democratic victory in decades.

Only members of the President's family heard the executive's naturally jubilant comments upon the results of the most important test of the new deal in the regard of the people.

Mr. Roosevelt was awake early and while still in bed scanned the newspapers showing startling Democratic gains in hitherto Republican strongholds.

Schnader Not Yet Conceding His Defeat

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—Still refusing stubbornly to concede defeat without qualification, Attorney General William A. Schnader, Republican candidate who in the face of latest returns was unsuccessful in his attempt to win the governorship of Pennsylvania, today nevertheless indirectly congratulated his Democratic adversary, George H. Earle.

"I fought a hard clean fight, enjoyed every minute of it and have no regrets," the attorney general declared in a statement issued at his hotel here.

"I am happy to have made thousands of new friends." Schnader continued, "to all of my friends, old and new, who worked so hard in my behalf, and to the host of voters who supported me I extend my hearty thanks.

"On the face of returns I am defeated. If I am, I congratulate Mr. Earle heartily. But, my friends in certain parts of the state advise me not to concede the correctness of the returns.

"Until I look into the reasons for their thus advising me, I shall have nothing further to say."

Girl's Screams Bring Police

Man Is Held And Girl Is In Hospital As Result Of Response

Gladys Adams, formerly of 907 Twenty-Sixth street, Beaver Falls, but who has recently lived on the second floor of the old State Bank building in South Jefferson street, is in the Jameson Memorial hospital and A. E. Kelly, alias A. E. Kelarn, who came here from Beaver Falls, is in the city jail charged with suspicion and will be held pending the outcome of the girl's injuries.

According to the city police report, Kelly is alleged to have administered a beating to the girl about 4 a. m. today and it is possible that she has a fracture of the skull. Her face was badly swollen and it is said that the inside of her mouth was lacerated.

Lieutenant Elder and Patrolmen Thomas and Harper were on the Public Square at 4 a. m. when they heard a girl scream. They entered the second floor above the State Bank and found both Kelly and Miss Adams in a room where Miss Adams had been living, it is said.

Both were taken to the city police station. Kelly was locked up and a physician had Miss Adams sent to the Jameson Memorial hospital.

The cause of the quarrel was not brought out when Kelly appeared before Mayor Mayne in police court.

According to Kelly he formerly lived at 3214 Fourth avenue, Beaver Falls, and also in Cleveland. His home is in New Kensington and he is a landscape engineer by occupation, he told the mayor.

Baugham was headed toward New Castle, followed by a car driven by Dale Gilliland, 248 East Neshannock avenue, New Wilmington. Governor Pinchot On Fishing Trip

(International News Service)

MILFORD, Pa., Nov. 7.—Unable to "stand Guffey or Earle" during the heated political campaign, Gov. Gifford Pinchot turned to a fishing trip today to ease his sorrow over the Democratic win scored in yesterday's balloting.

Although the chief executive was not delighted by the victories Joseph F. Guffey in the senatorial race or George H. Earle in the gubernatorial contest, he urged Republicans to cooperate with them in obtaining social legislation, contending the G. O. P. is honor-bound, even in defeat, to carry out their platform promises.

State Democrats Are Jubilant

Victories Are Claimed For Entire State Ticket By Lawrence

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 7.—Supreme joy came to Pennsylvania's Democrats today as this rock-ribbed Republican state tumbled into the Democratic ranks for the first time in ages.

So great was their jubilation that the Democrats ignored final returns and proclaimed themselves victors. While Joseph M. Guffey, Pittsburgh, graciously acknowledged his triumph in the senatorial race over the Republican stalwart, Senator David A. Reed, David L. Lawrence, Democratic state chairman, claimed victories for "the entire Democratic ticket".

Both he and Guffey said the outcome was a victory for President Roosevelt and the "New Deal".

"While complete figures are not available," Lawrence said, "it appears that the next legislature will be Democratic and that a majority of the Pennsylvania delegation in Congress will also be Democratic."

He predicted Guffey's majority would reach 100,000 and Earle's 50,000.

Guffey regarded the outcome as "notice to every reactionary in America that the people are back of the President and his program."

For the people of Pennsylvania, Lawrence regarded it as a "red-letter day, marking the emancipation of millions from the yoke of the Mellon-Grundy industrial and financial autocracy."

Guffey thanked his supporters and assured them he will go "to Washington to represent and serve them—all of them."

But in New Castle we arrange things somewhat better. The purchaser can review every offer from his easy-chair, simply by reading the brief, pointed descriptions in the Classified Columns.

G.O.P. Strongholds In State Are Crumpled

By WILLIAM J. KELLY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 7.—Political obscurity they experienced in Pennsylvania since back in the days of the Civil war was cast aside by Democrats today.

The Republican rule that thrived under the guiding hand of Penrose, Quay, the Vares and Mellons is no more. It was caught in the clutches of President Roosevelt's "New Deal" during yesterday's election and shattered like the walls of a glass house. In reality it was a house through which the Keystone state's political leaders passed in the heyday of Republicanism.

But today, new faces appeared on the political horizon. Far in the background stood President Franklin D. Roosevelt. On the battle lines were Joseph F. Guffey who became the first Democrat ever to win a Pennsylvania senatorial seat by defeating the Republican incumbent David A. Reed. Beside Guffey was George H. Earle, former ambassador to Austria, who soared to victory over Attorney General William A. Schnader in the gubernatorial race.

There was a strong possibility also that their ranks would be re-enforced by the Democratic candidates for lieutenant governor, secretary of internal affairs, and superior court judge, all of whom are leading their Republican adversaries. In addition, the debacle gave the Democrats control of the Pennsylvania delegation in congress and, perhaps in the final analysis, majorities in both houses of the state legislature.

The once-powerful strongholds of the Republicans virtually crumbled in defeat. Philadelphia, the city that usually gave G. O. P. candidates overwhelming majorities, bade farewell to Reed with a scant 4,000 vote lead. It was more gracious to Schnader but far from impressive.

Barely escaping with this county, the two candidates turned for support to the industrial regions and the rural sections. But their pleas fell on deaf ears in these districts.

Allegheny county, the second largest in the state, jumped aboard the Guffey-Earle band-wagon and soon had the Democrats in the driver's seat. This county gave Guffey a majority or approximately 80,000 and confirmed upon his companion a margin of 70,000. Other Democrats also swept to victory in this "work-shop" of America.

Other counties that swung to the "New Deal" supporters in no uncertain terms included, Elk, Erie, Beaver, Bedford, Berks, Carbon, Clearfield, Columbia, Lawrence, Greene, Fayette, Monroe, Montour, Westmoreland, York and Washington.

In addition to Philadelphia, Republicans held the upper hand in Bradford, Bucks, Chester, Crawford, Luzerne, Lackawanna, Huntingdon, Delaware, Dauphin, Montgomery, Snyder, Somerset, Susquehanna, Tioga, and Wyoming. The vote in others was close.

Titans Prepare For Waynesburg Game

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Nov. 7. Coaches Bill and Tom Gilbane and a squad of 24 Westminster College players will leave here late Friday afternoon for Waynesburg where Frank Wolf's Waynesburg College Yellowjackets will be played Saturday in an important district game.

The Titans, with three victories and one tie game in competition with teams in their own class, face the outstanding small-college eleven in Waynesburg. The Jackets defeated Geneva 19-0 last Saturday, and Westminster looks for the hardest game on the schedule.

No injuries resulted from the Grove City game last Saturday, and the Gilbane brothers will probably start the same eleven men who faced the Grovers. These include Arrowsmith, Sweeney, Laraway, and Staples in the backfield; and Austen, Watt, Burry, Young, Helmick, Straw, and Franklin on the line.

The Titans will travel by bus and will make their headquarters Friday night and Saturday morning either in Washington or in Waynesburg. A large crowd of students will follow the team, but most of these will not leave until Saturday morning.

Following the Waynesburg game, the Titans play Muskingum on Friday afternoon, November 16; and Geneva at home on November 24 to close the hard ten-game schedule.

THE SPORT PATROL

By JOHN J. MAHER, JR.

MEMORY LANE

Most of us believe that the sport heroes shall linger in the memories of the fans down through the ages but such is not the case. The greatest of the stars and the feats they performed are erased from the memory in time, and it doesn't take very long for them to be forgotten either.

Here are twenty questions with which you can brush up on your memory work. If you can get fourteen of them right you deserve promotion:

1—What was the result of the Peter Jackson-Jim Corbett fight of May, 1890?

2—Who captained the famous "Four Horseman" Notre Dame team of 1924?

3—Who won the world's singles tennis title in 1933 at Wimbledon, England?

4—Who was the first woman to swim the English Channel?

5—Who were the 1924 World Series winners?

6—With whom did Charlie Grimm begin his major league career?

7—In what year was the first Dempsey-Tunney championship fight held?

8—Who led the American league in batting in 1922?

9—In what year did Hal Rhyne first play in the major leagues?

10—Who was named as Poland's outstanding athlete for 1933?

11—In what sport did the following become famous: De Hart Hubbard, Duke Kahanamoka, Frank Taberski, Tommy Milton?

12—In what round did Gene Tunney knock out Tommy Gibbons in 1925?

13—Who won the Boston Marathon last April?

14—Who managed the Brooklyn baseball team in 1900?

15—Where and to whom did Battling Siki lose the light heavyweight title?

16—What university did Walter Eckersall attend?

17—Who played in the 1925 Rose Bowl game and who won?

18—What universities did the following track stars attend: Henry Brocksmith, Frank Wykoff, Eddie Tolan, Emmett Toppino, Bill Carr, Carl Coan, and Ralph Hill?

19—How many times has Pitt played in the Rose Bowl games and how many of the games did they win?

20—What university did Ted Lyons of the Chicago Whitesox attend?

THE ANSWERS

1—Halted in the sixty-first round and declared "no contest."
2—Adam Walsh.
3—Jack Crawford of Australia.

UPHOLDS THE NAME - By Jack Sords

The best conditions for growing lilies of the valley are found in a location where there can be heat below, light from above and shade from the sides. Over a radiator, not so close as to be too hot, is a good situation; the sides can be shaded by fastening a cylinder of paper around the container so that the light strikes from above.

The game Saturday will start at 2:30 o'clock. The game will be played in the new Sharon High stadium.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

While hunting on a farm near Waynesburg, Pa., Jim Kent, a constable of that district, shot four times and killed six squirrels which may not be good arithemetic but appears to be exceptional shooting. His first shot brought down a pair of bushytails. His second and third were good for singles and on the fourth shot he doubied again. He has refused to name the spot where he made his record.

Staging one of his sensational stretch finishes, C. V. Whitney's Equipoise splashed mud and water in the faces of five rivals to win the Whitney gold trophy, headline event of the United Hunts one day meeting at Belmont park yesterday.

Back from a tour of Ireland, England and France, which he postponed until he could regain his welterweight title from Barney Ross, Jimmy McLarnin bounded ashore at New York City and announced he would like to take a few more cracks at Ross.

Dizzy and Paul Dean, hurling aces for the World championship Cardinals conferred with President Sam Breadon anent their 1935 salary yesterday, reached no decision and will not go into a huddle with Breadon again until next January. Dizzy wants $25,000, and Paul, $15,000, for next year.

PISTONS CAN WEAR 65 TIMES FASTER ON WINTER DAYS

Atlantic Winter Oils minimize this danger by providing higher film-strength

IMPROVEMENT HAILED AS REVOLUTIONARY

WINTER puts a tremendous strain on your automobile. Tests show that piston wear can be 65 times greater than normal during the warming-up period on cold days. That's when you need an oil that gives an extra margin of protection. And you get it . . . with the new ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS for Winter!

These oils have a remarkable new characteristic . . . EXTREMELY HIGH FILM-STRENGTH. They will prolong the life of the working parts of your engine, and should definitely mean fewer repair bills for you.

Film-strength is important because if an oil is not strong enough, it is apt to allow metal-to-metal contact in your engine . . . and costly wear is caused. This is particularly true during cold weather.

Play safe! Don't gamble with your engine . . . it's too expensive. Change now to the correct winter grade of the new ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS. * * * You will get the best results if you use them undiluted, so we suggest that you be sure to drain your crankcase before putting in ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS for Winter.

Dispute Arises Over Vote In Shenango Township Precinct

County Home Residents Are Refused Right To Vote In Township

Some dispute developed early today in the voting in the Second Precinct of Shenango township when the residents of the County Home attempted to vote. Fifty-six of them had been registered in the precinct but when fifteen of them went to the polls today the board refused to permit them to vote on the grounds that they were not legal residents of the township and were not entitled to vote there.

County Solicitor William McElwee was asked for an informal opinion in the question and said, "while this is not a formal, written opinion, I believe that the guests of the County Home are not entitled to vote in Shenango township. They are entitled to register and vote in the precinct from which they came, but I believe the board was right in refusing them ballots."

If any of the guests attempt to vote this afternoon the board will refuse them the right, and immediately after a petition will be presented to the court asking for a ruling in the matter.

Gas Price War Has Been Licked

Secretary Ickes Reports Victory In Forcing End Of Gas Price War

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—In a whirlwind campaign of little more than a week, the oil administration headed by Secretary of Internor Ickes was able to report today on the eve of the elections that it had completely "licked" the hot oil and gas price war situation.

The campaign is now in its second phase, a series of arrests and grand jury indictment of various East Texas operators and others in the oil industry on counts varying from violation of the labor provisions of the oil code, to attempting to ship illegally produced oil out of the state.

Modification of various government contract forms and other certificate requirements announced by Secretary Ickes were interpreted as reflecting confidence that for time one of the most serious challenges to stabilization of the oil business has been met.

Donora Youth Is Slugging Victim

Mysterious Attacker Is Hunted By Police; Youth Clubbed With Revolver

(International News Service)

DONORA, Pa., Nov. 6.—Eleven-year-old Joseph Suarez' story of how he was slugged, gagged and bound by a short, stockily-built man today sent Donora police searching for the mysterious attacker.

The unconscious youth, who said he had been clubbed by a revolver, was found in the yard of the Suarez home by his father, Raphael, on his return home from work.

Joseph said he was accosted by the man, who with drawn revolver, told him:

"Come along with me and don't make any noise, or I'll kill you."

In the Suarez back yard, the lad was knocked to the ground, his mouth filled with dirt and a gag of rags and newspapers and left unconscious.

State Elections Bitterly Fought

New York, Ohio, Illinois, Wisconsin, Etc., Naming Officials

LAFOLLETTE PARTY FACES GREAT TEST

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—New York voters trekked to the polls today to elect a governor and other state officials, United States senator, 45 congressmen, a new chief judge of the court of appeals and two associate judges, 201 members of the legislature, numerous supreme court justices and a small army of local officials.

Indications pointed to the re-election of Governor Herbert H. Lehman, Democrat, and the entire state ticket, by a substantial plurality.

Melvin C. Eaton, Republican state chairman, declared Robert Moses, G. O. P. candidate for governor, would defeat Governor Lehman by at least 100,000.

Ohio On Spot

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 6.—Pivotal Ohio which two years ago returned a 74,000 majority for Franklin D. Roosevelt, went to the polls today to record a verdict on his "new deal."

Concensus of political observers was that it would be in the president's favor, though probably not without some reservations.

Defeat of Republican Senator Simeon D. Fess, who finds little to commend and much to abhor in the "new deal," was predicted on all sides, with the betting here about 3 to 1 on ex-Gov. A. V. "Honest Vic" Donahey, Democrat.

While they are passing judgment on Fess and Donahey, Ohio's two and a half million voters will elect either former Lieutenant Gov. Clarence J. Brown, Republican, or former Democratic Congressman Martin L. Davey, as governor for the next two years.

The Democrats' anticipated success in the U. S. senatorial contest was expected to be tinctured by the loss of a few of their congressional seats. Republicans, left with but six seats after the 1933 landslide, hoped to add at least four more today.

Fair In Chicago

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—Fair weather promised an outpouring of 3,000,000 or more voters in Illinois today as the polls opened with Democratic leaders confidently predicting victory in the off-year election.

Interest throughout the state centered in the battles over congressional seats, which were the objects of furious campaigns that were waged until the eleventh hour. The governorship is not at stake.

Twenty-five district congressmen and two congressmen-at-large are to be elected. Nineteen Democrats and eight Republicans make up the present Illinois delegation in the national house of representatives.

Hot Contest

(International News Service)

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 6—Wisconsin voters went to the polls today to decide a hotly-contested governorship test which saw the new LaFollette third party confronted with its severest test.

Opposing the new third party candidate for the governorship, Philip LaFollette, were: A. G. Schmedeman, the incumbent Democratic governor; Howard T. Greene, Republican, and George A. Nelson, Socialist.

United States Senator Robert M. LaFollette was virtually assured of re-election at the head of his party, but a close fight was anticipated in his brother's bid for the governorship.

Olson Or Regan

(International News Service)

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 6.—Minnesota was expected today to re-elect its Farmer-Laborite governor, Floyd B. Olson, over John E. Regan, Democrat, and Martin A. Nelson, Republican.

Fair weather promised a large vote.

Observers foresaw a close race between United States Senator Hendrix Shipstead, Farmer-Laborite; Einar Hoidale, Democrat, and N. J. Holmberg, Republican, for the senatorship.

RAIL ENGINEER HEARD BY LIONS

Chief Engineer R. P. Forsberg Of P. & L. E. Makes Noon Address

"Some of the Foundation Stones Upon Which a Successful American Railroad is Built" was the topic of an address which R. P. Forsberg, Pittsburgh, chief engineer of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, delivered before the Lions club meeting Tuesday.

Choosing four of the outstanding ones—the physical side, character, service and courtesy—Mr. Forsberg, speaking under the auspices of the speakers' committee of the Committee on Public Relations of the Eastern Railroads, discussed for 30 minutes the far-reaching benefits which they yield. The talk was highly inspirational and likened individuals to railroads.

"That railroad that forgets service or courtesy or any of the other foundation stones is paying small dividends, if any, to its stockholders," the railroad officer declared, "and is in danger of being taken over by the sheriff."

The club was informed that "Donation Days" for the Margaret L. Henry Children's home will be held November 9 and 10. Inter-club events with the Meadville Lions were also announced.

Discharge Jury In Kidnap Case

Jury At Wheeling Unable To Agree On Fate For Two Men In Kidnap Plot

(International News Service)

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 6.—Their fate undecided by a deadlocked jury, Thurman Brown and Harry Thornton, charged with conspiring to kidnap Mrs. Elizabeth Bloch Harriss, tobacco heiress, today awaited the decision of the United States attorney's office to decide whether they will be retried.

A jury of farmers and laborers which had deliberated for 10 hours over the week-end was discharged when the foreman announced he believed it useless to require further deliberations.

Defense attorneys were expected to fight any effort by the government to try the case at the Elkins term of court and have already asked that bonds of $100,000 each for the men be lowered.

Believe Koppel Man Is Suicide

Recover Body Of Batista Benetti In Beaver River In Koppel Yesterday

THOUGHT TO HAVE JUMPED FROM BRIDGE

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 7.—The body of a man, who was only identified this morning was recovered from the Beaver river, two miles below Koppel, yesterday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock. He was Batista Benetti, aged about 50 of Koppel.

The circumstances of the case point to a suicide. Mr. Jacobs, a foreman of the P. and L. E. Railroad found a Stetson hat and overcoat of a man on the Koppel bridge yesterday afternoon. Other evidence near-by and on the banks of the river indicated that someone had jumped off the bridge.

When the body of the man had been recovered and identified, officials interviewed the family of the man and proclaimed the suicide theory a certainty. Benetti had been despondent over ill health and had been sulky of late. He is survived by his widow and five children.

The Democrats won out in the city nearly 3 to 1. Their candidates carried every ward. Even the third ward, which has always polled a strong Republican vote, went Democrat to the above ratio.

Paul Cartwright, Republican nominee for the state legislature, did not carry his city or his own ward. A big vote was cast in the city. The total was 3,367. The vote by wards was as follows: First 664, second (first precinct) 629, second precinct 235, third ward 649, fourth (first precinct 425, second precinct 424, fifth 341.

Ellwood To Meet New Brighton Hi

Benedictmen Hope To Redeem Themselves At Lincoln Field On Saturday

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 7.—With only two games left to play and being put in an embarrassing position, the Ellwood City high eleven has settled down to some hard work in an effort to redeem itself for its showing against Aliquippa high last Saturday, when New Brighton invades this city on Saturday.

The locals are priming for New Brighton and are showing some of their former zip, pep and determination. The Ellwoodians realize that they will be up against a tough proposition next Saturday with New Brighton. The Roarkmen have come along gradually to be rated as a formidable foe. They lost to Ambridge 6-0, where Aliquippa lost 14-0. New Brighton presents a hard running backfield led by Teddy Mujwit, sensational performer. If the Tubers are to stop the Crimson they will have to prepare a defense for him.

Local fans and supporters of the Benedict eleven are disappointed with its showing. They are convinced that the team has strength and ability, but has lost its spark for no apparent reason. They are being accused of laying down. The team does not relish this at all and has made it known by its workouts on the field. An altogether different and improved performance is expected Saturday.

With various groups filling every part of the building the Y. W. C. A. resembled a school and conservatory of music Tuesday night.

There was a huge turn-out of young men and women for the orchestra and chorus. The orchestra, organized a week ago, is under the supervision of Prof. Jos. F. Replogle, while the chorus, organized last night, is in charge of Mrs. Replogle. Both are being very enthusiastically received. More members will be accepted for both musical groups and another meeting will be held next Tuesday. Mrs. Robert Fleming donated to the orchestra a large amount of sheet music.

At the same time a class in review shorthand was being conducted by Miss Genevieve Riddle and was attended by fifty young women. Simultaneously the True Blue Circle, composed of Shenango Pottery girls, enjoyed an evening of recreation.

A few hours previously 100 Girl Reserves from Benjamin Franklin junior high enjoyed roller skating and bowling in the gymnasium.

The young people of New Castle are showing great interest in the various classes offered by the "Y." They are fortunate in having expert teachers volunteer their leadership, making possible the classes free of any fees.

Red Cross Roll Call Will Open Here On Sunday

Dinner Wednesday Evening Will Bring Workers Together For Instruction

HOPE TO ENROLL MANY MEMBERS

Plans will be completed for the annual Roll Call of the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross, which opens Sunday, November 11, lasting through Thanksgiving Day, when the annual dinner for the workers in the rural districts of the county will take place Wednesday at the Elks Home, at 6 p. m.

Headed by County Superintendent of Schools, John C. Syling, and his assistant, Alex McCready, of New Wilmington, the workers will start their task of enrolling the county residents next week, and will receive their final instructions at the dinner tomorrow evening.

An exceptional program has been arranged for the dinner, which will bring Dr. William DeKlein, medical director of the National Red Cross here to address the workers and the members of the executive committee of the chapter.

The Red Cross is supported in the city by the Community Chest, but depends on the annual Roll Call to enroll members in the district outside the city. This enables the Chapter to carry on its local program, and also assists with the national program of the American Red Cross.

Last year, the Red Cross assisted in 103 disasters through the United States and its possessions, in addition to furnishing assistance to 330,000 veterans or their families, and aiding 30,000 men in the regular service.

Red Cross volunteers made thousands of braille books, whereby the blind are able to read; taught life saving to 72,000 persons; trained 130,000 persons in First Aid; instructed 62,000 women and girls in Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick; and many other services.

West Pittsburg

TO THE PEOPLE OF LAWRENCE COUNTY

When you have dry cleaning problems to solve, bring them to our plant office where experience heads of all departments are at your service without obligation.

A complete Dry Cleaning Service for Ladies', Men's and Children's Garments and furnishings, including quick, emergency service, is taken care of in our own plant, one of the largest and finest equipped plants in Pennsylvania.

Our Form Pressing Department has made the biggest hit with Men and Young Men.

One of the pleasures of wearing a new suit is that it fits you so well. The maker designed and pressed it to fit your form, but you are responsible for keeping its original shape. All the tailoring, skill and ingenuity that the maker can put into the finest suit can be spoiled by flat pressing and its form fit appearance destroyed.

Thorough Dry Cleaning and 100% Formprest service on our famous battery of ten machines, where each machine is especially designed for every part of your garment, is your guarantee that the smart lines of your suit can be maintained. This cannot be done by ordinary flat pressing.

Try our factory job on men's felt hats and note the difference. They're cleaned, blocked, resized and repowdered on a complete factory unit.

A complete Furrier's Department for cleaning, glazing, repairing and altering fur garments is in charge of an expert furrier who will help you with your fur problems without obligation.

Garments may be left at our plant office on Lawrence street, also at our conveniently located branch office at 105 N. Mill street.

CALLS ALL-BRAN NATIONAL NATURAL LAXATIVE

Delicious Cereal Checked His Constipation

Here is an unsolicited letter from Mr. Daniels:

"For many years I have been habitually constipated, and have used all sorts of laxatives. So, in fairness to Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, I heartily claim it to be a most wonderful remedy for constipation.

"Need I tell you that I have long since ceased using laxatives? Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is the National Natural Laxative. If it were used by every family in the United States for breakfast, we would have a much healthier race of people."—Mr. John Daniels, 1090 Third St., North Bergen, N. J.

Tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN furnishes "bulk" to exercise the intestines and vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Isn't this food much pleasanter than risking pills and drugs? Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Stock Market Is Dull Today

Election Virtually Ignored In Transactions In Market Today

(Intern. [illegible] News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The stock market virtually ignored the election results by turning dull and sluggish today with considerable profit taking.

U. S. Steel and Bethlehem after opening moderately higher turned dull and yielded part of their gains. The motor shares including Chrysler and General Motors were heavy and dipped moderately.

Such selling as did make its appearance seemed to center on the railroad shares. There was little to feature the utility shares.

Liquor shares were strong under the leadership of Schenley apparently reflecting the west victories in Kansas and three other states.

Rail equipments were firm under the lead of Pullman.

Oh, My Eye, What Bottles Of Rye

PITTSBURGH—A total of 17,000 bottles—not a milk container in the lot—were retrieved by the city bureau of sanitation in the Pitt stadium following the recent Pitt-Minnesota football game.

Most of the bottles, chiefly whisky enclosures, were reclaimed by bottle firms who hauled them away without expense to the city.

Customer: Waiter! What has happened to this lobster? It's a claw short.

Waiter: Sorry, sir, but they're so fresh and full of life that they fought amongst themselves in the kitchen.

The fact that married people have their differences makes them all alike.

LAMPSHADES ARE MADE OF PAPER

We have lampshades in all our homes made of fine china, glass or parchment, but these pretty shades are made of paper. The one the lady is admiring is made of crepe paper, although it suggests raffia. The pleated shade, left, is in brown and white. And the third is crocheted paper bands basted together in loop design and then fagoted. The shades are made over wire.

G.O.P. Strongholds In State Are Crumpled

By WILLIAM J. KELLY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 7.—Political obscurity they experienced in Pennsylvania since back in the days of the Civil war was cast aside by Democrats today.

The Republican rule that thrived under the guiding hand of Penrose, Quay, the Vares and Mellons is no more. It was caught in the clutches of President Roosevelt's "New Deal" during yesterday's election and shattered like the walls of a glass house. In reality it was a house through which the Keystone state's political leaders passed in the heyday of Republicanism.

But today, new faces appeared on the political horizon. Far in the background stood President Franklin D. Roosevelt. On the battle lines were Joseph F. Guffey who became the first Democrat ever to win a Pennsylvania senatorial seat by defeating the Republican incumbent David A. Reed. Beside Guffey was George H. Earle, former ambassador to Austria, who soared to victory over Attorney General William A. Schnader in the gubernatorial race.

There was a strong possibility also that their ranks would be re-enforced by the Democratic candidates for lieutenant governor, secretary of internal affairs, and superior court judge, all of whom are leading their Republican adversaries. In addition, the debacle gave the Democrats control of the Pennsylvania delegation in congress and, perhaps in the final analysis, majorities in both houses of the state legislature.

The once-powerful strongholds of the Republicans virtually crumbled in defeat. Philadelphia, the city that usually gave G. O. P. candidates overwhelming majorities, bade farewell to Reed with a scant 4,000 vote lead. It was more gracious to Schnader but far from impressive.

Barely escaping with this county, the two candidates turned for support to the industrial regions and the rural sections. But their pleas fell on deaf ears in these districts.

Allegheny county, the second largest in the state, jumped aboard the Guffey-Earle band-wagon and soon had the Democrats in the driver's seat. This county gave Guffey a majority of approximately 80,000 and confirmed upon his companion a margin of 70,000. Other Democrats also swept to victory in this "work-shop" of America.

Other counties that swung to the "New Deal" supporters in no uncertain terms included, Elk, Erie, Beaver, Bedford, Berks, Carbon, Clearfield, Columbia, Lawrence, Greene, Fayette, Monroe, Montour, Westmoreland, York and Washington.

In addition to Philadelphia, Republicans held the upper hand in Bradford, Bucks, Chester, Crawford, Luzerne, Lackawanna, Huntingdon, Delaware, Dauphin, Montgomery, Snyder, Somerset, Susquehanna, Tioga, and Wyoming. The vote in others was close.
